The Misses Emerald Hasecoeter, Lucille Turner, and Myral Weeghman were guests of the school yesterday. The high school paper, "The Pierian," which was edited by Misses Lucille Townsend and Mildred Kuhn, Messrs. Hubert Wann and Stonehill Keats will be out in about a week. It is expected that the paper will contain several attractive features. Several young athletes will be awarded "R's" for their efficiency, after a meeting of the board, which decides who are eligible. The junior class is preparing for a class picnic. The school will close Monday afternoon for Decoration day.

SNELL CLAIMS A SHARE OF GREAT SPRINGER ESTATE

of his death he was the owner of one tract of land including 144 square miles, another of 3,600 acres and sixty-two small farms. On a part of this land the city of Wilmington, Delaware now is located.

Expect Success. It is to obtain the combined fortunes created by the old Baron back in Sweden and Germany and that of his son Charles, in this country, that the Springer heirs now are striving. The grant of land owned by Charles Springer, which was made to the colony was for ninety-nine years. This lease expired in 1880. The organization of heirs has begun a systematic attempt to secure the fortune. They expect success although it is claimed by those opposing them the statute of limitations and other technical requirements have made their claims void. Several firms of attorneys are associated in the work and they keep sending out flattering reports about the probable early settlement.

POSTPONEMENT. Owing to the recent heavy rains the sale of lots in Highland has been postponed until June 5th. A. P. Shalley & Co.

DEMENTED WOMAN WAS GIVEN HELP

Sent on Her Way to Far Off Mississippi.

Wandering about in the Panhandle railroad yards apparently in a deranged state of mind, Lizzie Grey, colored was taken into custody by the police last midnight. She claimed to be from Cleveland, Miss. She said she had been working at Chickaberry but was unable to tell where the place is or what state it is in. She claimed she got on a train and was put off here. She was given transportation to Indianapolis by the township trustee, as she said she wanted to get back to Mississippi.

A LATIN PLAY IS TO BE PRODUCED

Club at Earlham Will Again Attempt a Very Difficult Drama.

FOLLOWS ANCIENT STYLE

IN ONLY A FEW PLACES IN AMERICA HAS SUCH A PRODUCTION BEEN PRODUCED AND IT WILL BE WATCHED.

Three hundred invitations in Latin have been sent out by the Latin club of Earlham college for a performance in English and Latin of "Trinummus of Plautus." The play is to be given at the college on next Saturday night. The play is unusual inasmuch as it will be an attempt at an accurate presentation along the old Roman lines. The costumes and the scenery, the music and the acting will be as nearly as possible archeologically correct.

Although it is customary for Greek and Latin plays to be given at the English universities of Cambridge and Oxford, there have been very few attempts made in this country, owing to the great difficulties of the performance and Earlham has been the only college in Indiana to attempt it. The acting of a Latin play, necessarily, has to be full of understanding of the text. To be intelligible to the audience the acting must be good pantomime, since most of the audience must follow the play in this way.

Part is in English. Part of the play will be given in English, for which the translations of the play have been made very successfully as acting versions by members of the Latin club, under the supervision of Prof. C. K. Chase of the college. He has also given much time and attention to the play. In this he is not without experience, as he put on the production of the "Captivi," also by Plautus, a few years ago at Earlham, which was then regarded as an unusual success. Several instructors from the various colleges were present to see the play.

It was customary in the old Roman plays to have much of the dialogue accompanied by music somewhat like our comic opera. Music will be used at the performance next Saturday night written by the late Prof. Allen of Harvard, who made an exhaustive and authoritative study of the old Latin music.

The whole affair promises to be a great success and one which will reflect credit on the Latin club and Prof. Chase, in spite of the difficulties which such a thing entails.

BOY GETS CHANCE

Story of Homeless Lad Touched Hearts of Judge and Prosecutor Deeply.

NO SUN IN HIS WORLD

Judicial clemency was exercised in the case of Roy Johns, the little boy charged with the theft of a bicycle by Judge Converse and Prosecutor Ladd, this afternoon. The boy's story elicited the sympathy of the court officials and the lad's employer to the extent all united in his behalf. He was allowed to go upon promise of good behavior, after the evils of his way had been pointed out. The boy has been buffeted about from pillar to post, fired from home and thrown out of jobs until the silver lining of the clouds of despair have been coated with sable and he had lost faith in mankind.

Georgia Firemen Make Proposition to Government to Protect the Mails.

MAY MEAN SETTLEMENT

Atlanta, Ga., May 27.—Georgia railroads are still tied up by the strike and the only communication between towns on the road is by automobiles which carry provisions and mails. The firemen have signified a willingness to run a train consisting of nothing but a mail car and the government may accept the offer. The road has been tied up for five days. Negotiations for a settlement are still progressing, but the outcome is uncertain.

POLICE BELIEVE IT

Story of Man Who Shot Wife Thinking Her Burglar Was Given Credence.

SHE HELD LIGHTED MATCH

Indianapolis, May 27.—George W. Thompson, forty-nine, a millwright, who shot and instantly killed his wife, when he mistook her for a burglar at their apartments in East Tenth street late last night, was released from custody today. The police are satisfied that Thompson, who was greatly in fear of burglars told a truthful story of the tragedy. Mrs. Thompson was same age as her husband, and was formerly Mrs. Jennie Bickers of Covington. She entered her bedroom carrying a lighted match when her husband suddenly awoke, and mistaking the match for a dark lantern, grasped his revolver and instantly fired twice, shooting his wife in the heart.

IS A LARGE CLASS

The class at the Garfield school, ready for entrance to high school will be one of the largest in the history of the school. There are more than eighty pupils who are candidates for graduation and Prof. N. C. Heironimus expects most of them to graduate from the graded section of the public schools.

Last evening a reception was given at the Garfield building by the class at which the invited guests were their parents, members of the faculty of both Garfield and high school and Superintendent T. A. Mott.

DRYS CARRY A WET STRONGHOLD

Efforts of Liberal Business Men of Anderson Offset By Women.

ANDERSON IS DAMP SPOT

OUTSIDE OF THE COUNTY SEAT, EVERYTHING ELSE WENT AS DRY AS SAND—OTHER STATE OPTION RESULTS.

Anderson, Ind., May 27.—Unable to withstand the campaign made by the women and children, the liberal element of Madison county yesterday lost the most notable local option battle yet fought in Indiana. The complete returns show that the women have run up a majority of 1,470 against the saloons.

This county was regarded until recently as an almost impregnable stronghold of the "wet" element. The business men here have been successful in killing off remonstrances against applicants for liquor licenses, and the saloon keepers as a rule have not been of the ultra-odious brand.

When the election was called the Anti-Saloon Leaguers set to work to make a perfect organization in every precinct. The result indicates that they succeeded beyond their expectations, as Alexandria, which was counted on for a "wet" majority of several hundred, gave a "dry" majority of 108. Elwood, another large city, went dry by nearly 1,000 majority.

Towns Aid Dry Vote. The smaller cities and towns added to the dry avalanche so that the wet majority in Anderson was insufficient to overcome the odds.

The election here marked the beginning of the anti-saloon crusade in the large wet centers, so both sides fought every inch of the way.

It was not, however, until the women began to take a hand that the tide turned against the liberals and the liquor interests. It was apparent to many that the drys would win when thousands of women and children paraded the streets of Elwood, Alexandria and Anderson last Saturday.

The women not only paraded, but they preached and prayed with their men folk. They helped get out the vote today and served choice viands to the voters and the workers.

Mrs. Mowery, one of the workers, showed the grit and determination of the women by making a twenty-mile trip with her eighty-four-year-old father to register his vote.

Farmers Scared Hunyaks. In Alexandria it was thought that an effort would be made to vote the Hunyaks employed in the factories. Twenty husky farmers, armed with hickory clubs, stood around the voting place and scared away the few foreigners who presented themselves.

Two or three arrests were made for illegal voting, but the election was unusually quiet considering the determination manifested by both sides.

OWEN IS DRY AGAIN.

Spencer, Ind., May 27.—Owen county, which has been dry for two years, voted "dry" again yesterday by a majority of 908. There was no opposition on the part of the liberal element.

CRAWFORD DRY BY 815.

English, Ind., May 27.—The anti-saloon element carried Crawford county easily yesterday, the "dry" majority being 815. The county was made dry nearly two years ago.

FINAL SESSION HELD YESTERDAY

Sunday School Convention at Williamsburg Was Greatest Success.

LAST PROGRAM GOOD ONE

SEVERAL INTERESTING ADDRESSES AND REPORTS WERE MADE TO THE DELEGATES—GREENSBORO IS NEXT.

Williamsburg, Ind., May 27.—The closing session of the forty-ninth annual convention of the Wayne County Sunday School Association, held at the Friends' church of this place, was featured by addresses by the Rev. J. W. Zerbe of the Fountain City M. E. church, and the Rev. C. D. Meigs of Indianapolis; also special musical numbers. The convention proved to be one of the most successful ever given, both from the interest displayed and the number attending. The convention will be held at Greensfork next year.

The session opened last evening with a special song service, led by Mr. Tracy of Richmond, and was followed by devotional services led by Timothy Nicholson, also of Richmond.

Address by Zerbe.

Rev. J. W. Zerbe in his address emphasized the importance the Sabbath school had in Jewish tradition, as shown by the Old Testament. The New Testament also shows the spirit of instruction. He declared that the Sunday School has a great work for training children to save them from evil influences and to develop their character. "How to Fish for Men and Women, and Land Them in the Sunday School" was the subject of a very interesting address by Rev. C. D. Meigs. He made a plea for the mothers and fathers to identify themselves with Sunday School work. He stated that the Sunday school needed the mothers and fathers, and that they needed the Sunday school. "Organization is the way to do it," he said, and continuing, "Go after them, one at a time."

The resolutions committee presented resolutions which were adopted by the convention. The convention closed with benediction by Rev. Robert Keats, of Richmond.

Make Investigation. The township investigation was made at the afternoon session resulting as follows: Fourteen of the fifteen township organizations were represented; one city organization; twenty institutes in the county; 275 delegates to the county convention; fifty-one schools; five teachers' training classes; twenty-four home departments; and thirty-five cradle roll departments. Other matters considered at this session included the routine business. The report of the finance committee was that each school gives three cents towards financing the association. There are 503 members already registered.

In his principal discourse in the afternoon, Rev. C. D. Meigs spoke on the subject, "A Sleeping Giant at the Church Door, Who? Why?" In an address earlier in the afternoon he used as his theme, "Get Acquainted With Jesus Christ." The Sunday School management was discussed by Rev. C. H. Fimick, Rev. George Burnie and others. The subject was subdivided into the following divisions: "The Superintendent, Qualifications, the Session Program, and the Teacher, a Factor in a Good Session."

Officers elected at the morning session were installed to serve for the ensuing year. The special song services, led by Lee B. Nusbaum of Richmond, was a feature of the afternoon session.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Guild have gone to Indianapolis for a visit.

Deaths and Funerals. JOY—James B. Joy, aged 58, died last night at his home north of Chester. He is survived by a wife and seven children. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, sun time, at the Friends' church at Chester. The burial will be at Fountain City.

The Obliging Office Boy. A dapper young fellow met with rather a humiliating experience the other day. The dapper young fellow has a "best girl." And "she" happened one day recently to call him up at the place of business where he poses as a "clerk." The office boy answered the phone.

"Is Mr. L. there?" chirped a delightfully feminine throat, and the office boy recognized the voice as one which called rather frequently.

Quicker than a flash the office boy came back at her in a very polite tone of voice.

"Yes; he's out sweeping the sidewalk, but if you'll hold the line a minute I will call him."

"She" banged down the receiver.
