CUBS TRIM PIRATES.

Pittsburg, May 29.—The world's champions fought Pittsburg a desperate battle today and won in the eleventh by a terrific batting assault, 8 to 3. In the presence of President Taft, Secretary Knox and 15,000 other plain or partly adorned Americans, the leaders opened the Pirates new $1,000,000 park, battled through eleven fierce and strenuous innings, and although the Cubs won, Pittsburg gave notice that they will protest the game. DODGERS WIN BOTH.

Boston, May 29.—The Dodgers beat the Doves twice today the score being the same for each game, 4 to 1. Boston outbatted the Dodgers in the first but the bingles came at the wrong time. Boston could not hit Wilhelm in the second while Ferguson was wild. Score:

First Game. R. H. E.

MOORE STOOD FIRM.

New York, May 29.—The Giants with Bugs Raymond in the box lost to Philadelphia today, 3 to 2. Three errors by the home team and inability to hit Moore, who relieved Sparks, contributed to the defeat. A great Saturday afternoon crowd witnessed the game. Score:

TIGERS CLOUT WALSH.

Detroit, May 29.—Detroit, enthused by a vast matinee crowd—seven thousand bugs—claimed the second game of the series on the Sox today, by a count of four to three. That large blonde athlete, Mr. Willet, who was put to rout the last two times he tackled the Sox muzzled them with seven swats, so widely scattered they didn't do much good. On the other hand, Mr. Walsh was stung hard enough to raise blisters. His old friend Schaefer was in the going with three, including a pair of doubles. Score:

With Roosevelt in the Jungles.

Nairobi, East Africa, May 29.—The Roosevelt party will leave here on June 2, via Railbe for the Sotik District to the south of Nairobi. Mr. Roosevelt, who is now the guest of George MacMillan, is engaged in literary work. Among other things he is writing a book. The naturalists of the expedition are engaged in packing up the specimens already secured, which will be shipped out on the next steamer.

AVIATION IS NOT YET SUCCESSFUL

Naval Lieutenant Davis Gives His Opinion on Aerial Navigation.

TALKS OF FLEET'S TOUR

HE ALSO SAYS THAT THE PRACTICABILITY OF AIRSHIPS REMAINS TO BE DEMONSTRATED—REFUTES TORIES.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 29.—Aviation as an adjunct to the naval service is a long way from having reached practicability, and, notwithstanding the wonderful accomplishments of the Wright brothers and the other builders, it is premature to talk of the use of airships in warfare. This is the opinion of Lieut. R. H. Davis of the Marine Corps, who is in Minneapolis on two months' leave of absence and is the guest of Walter Pooler. Lieut. Davis, who is a son of Representative Charles Davis and a former resident of St. Peter, was attached to the battleship Virginia and made the world tour with the fleet. He will remain here for a time and will be taken over the golf links at the Minnikahda Club.

Lieut. Davis went over the links at the various clubs in the different countries where the fleet touched, and is said to play a strong game. Some of the local golfers are anxious to have a try against him on the Minnikahda course.

Battleships Not Hurt by Voyage.

The recent criticisms that have been so widely circulated in effect that the fleet as a result of the world tour has suffered greatly and that some of the ships have been rendered worthless is not only false, Lieut. Davis said, but it is vicious. The Vermont and the Georgia, after the prolonged sea service, steamed from Portsmouth to New York at a rate better than nineteen knots, or a speed greater than was called for in the specifications when the keels of these ships were laid. Lieut. Davis said, should be a sufficient answer.

"Every one in the service has an interest in the work of the aviators," said Lieut. Davis, "and we are watching the new developments. It is realized in the navy that possibilities remain that are beyond computation, and in view of the wonderful things the Wrights and others have done no one dares say what may be done next."

Inapplicable to Warfare. "I think however, that there is perhaps some little tendency to overestimate. Navigation of the air, in so far as its applicability to warfare is concerned, to naval warfare at least, is in the experimental stage. There might be such later perfection of flying apparatus as would revolutionize the service, but I think we are a long way from that as yet."

"There is much in print about the experiments of Germany and France with airships with the idea of applying them to military uses, but our own government, I am sure, although it has not much to say, is fully up with it, if not in advance of the European powers in knowledge of all that relates to aviation and the latest developments."

"I think the memory of our reception in Japan is imbedded deepest. Australia gave the fleet a magnificent reception. So, indeed, did all the countries where we touched. But the Japanese carried hospitality to the farthest point, and we were fairly overwhelmed with dinners, receptions and other attentions."

WABASH DEFEATS EARLHAM OUTFIT

White Pitched Classy Baseball But He Was Not Given Any Support.

BINGLES QUITE SCARCE

VISITORS PLAYED AN ERRORLESS GAME AND WERE GREATLY FAVORED THROUGHOUT BY OLD DAME FORTUNE.

Playing the classiest kind of baseball, Wabash defeated Earlham on Reid Field, yesterday evening by a score of 3 to 0. It was much the same old story that has often been told concerning the local college boys—White pitched ball that would win most games, but he really couldn't do it all. Aside from Shortstop Jones, however, Earlham put up a very creditable fielding game, and it was principally the inability to hit which lost them the game.

Wabash played an errorless game, took advantage of every turn of fortune, and pulled off a few clever tricks, all of which combined to give them a merited victory. Irwin, too, performed in the pitcher's box in a way to give his teammates confidence and he showed the happy faculty of getting better as the game progressed.

Weed Janitor Gone. All the scoring was done in the fifth and sixth innings. In the fifth inning, Starbuck, Wabash's first baseman, drove a ball to center field that was a legitimate two bagger. The weed janitor at the Quaker institution is now away on a vacation, the net result of which was that Starbuck was resting on the bench when the sphere was found, thus getting credit for a home run.

In their next half Warbritten secured a pretty hit and Bridge was saved by Jones' misplay at short on his grounder. Herron singled and both Warbritten and Bridge scored. White's good pitching, Harrell's pretty throws to second base, and Hancock's batting were the bright spots in Earlham's play.

NOTES OF THE GAME. Earlham lost a good chance to score in the eighth inning when French hit for two bases, but was caught soon after between second and third bases. In the ninth inning White wasted a pretty single by being caught napping away from the bag at first.

Ash, a one armed fielder for Wabash, excited much comment by his good work. "Red" Iretton, the "red" being short for "Every Ready," officiated behind the catcher, recovering many balls, some of them hurled deep in the grass and weeds. Iretton could have done much better work if he had been provided with a uniform. No offense was intended by the Earlham management. It is understood, in not furnishing Iretton a suit, it was merely an oversight. He will probably get his "E" this year.

Yesterday's Scores.
Starr Piano 7; Y. M. C. A. 5 (10 innings).
Athletics 4; Easthaven 2 (10 innings).

The city base ball league had an auspicious opening yesterday afternoon. Both games went ten innings and in the final round of both of the winning teams scored twice. The Starr Piano boys met the Y. M. C. A. at Athletic park and the Easthavens and Athletics nines tied up on the hospital diamond. The contest at the park was notable mainly for the number of errors piled up by the association players. It took a strong rally for the musicians to enable them to pull ahead.

Will Be Success.

It is believed that this year's league will prove a success. The officers intend to enforce the rules and prevent rowdy work. It is believed the young men participating in the game are playing solely for the sport and as there is no money in the contests it is expected everything can be kept clean. The players are selected from the city and no out of town residents are permitted to play. Nearly all of the players on the Starrs are employees at the piano factory. The Easthavens team is composed of attendants at the hospital. The Athletics is a town nine and the Y. M. C. A. is made up of members of that organization.

In the extra inning of the Starr-Y. M. C. A. game, the two runs were registered on a two base hit by Lichtenfels. The pitching of Marine won the contest for the musicians. His high fast ball had the association batters faded to a frazzle. Hiatt pitched good ball and his support lost the game. The score:

Miller in Form.

The Easthaven-Athletics game was the better of the two. Easthaven made a number of errors and some of them figured in the scoring. Yaggi allowed 10 hits but they were scattered out pretty well. Miller, who did the twirling for the Athletics, was in rare form and held the shugging hospital boys to six safe ones. Score:
