speech on the subject of young men entering the ministry. He declared that the young men of today are as brave as those of former years, and that the hardships of the ministry as opposed to the glamour of commercial life will not deter them from taking up the work of Christ. He said that the time had come, however, when the preachers should stop whining about poor pay, and instead, ask for more salary in a dignified manner, which he said they would be given.

SYNOD NOTES.

Under the direction of Director Lee B. Nusbaum, a pleasing musical program was rendered at the First English Lutheran church last night, in connection with the services. The Apollo Club, and the Gettysburg Chorus, assisted by Mrs. Krueger, separately furnished selections, and then the two organizations joined and gave a thirty minutes' impromptu program which was most delightful.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.
The general synod, yesterday afternoon, in a most important session, went on record as to the nature of its Lutheranism. A thesis was presented by Dr. L. S. Keyser, of Canal Dover, Ohio, who was the official representative to the last session of the General Council, bearing on the difference in the confessional basis between the General Synod and the General Council. The resolution which Dr. Keyser presented with his thesis and which were adopted by a rising vote, are as follows:

"Resolved, That inasmuch as the Augsburg confession in the original generic confession of the Lutheran church was accepted by Luther and coadjutors and subscribed to by all Lutheran bodies the world over, we therefore deem it an adequate and sufficient standard of Lutheran doctrine. In making this statement however, the General Synod in no wise means to imply that it ignores, rejects, repudiates or antagonizes the secondary symbols of the Book of Concord, nor forbids any of her members from accepting or teaching all these, in strict accordance with the Lutheran regulating principle of justifying faith. On the contrary, she holds these symbols in high esteem, regards them as a most valuable body of Lutheran belief, explaining and unfolding the doctrines of the Augsburg confession and she hereby recommends that they be diligently and faithfully studied by our ministers and laymen.

What the Bible is.
"Whereas, the phrase, 'The Word of God' as contained in the commercial scriptures of the old and new testament," occurs in our formula of confessional subscription, and

"Whereas, When our fathers framed this language, the theological distinction between the two statements, 'The Bible is the word of God,' and 'The Bible contains the word of God,' had not yet been made, or at least was not yet in vogue, and therefore there could have been no intention on their part of committing the General Synod to lax of heretical views of the inspiration of the sacred scriptures, but, on the contrary, a sincere desire to put her firmly on the true doctrine of biblical inspiration, and

"Resolved, That we here with declare our adherence to the statement, 'The Bible is the word of God,' and reject the errors implied in the statement, 'The Bible contains the word of God.'

"This is to be printed in all future editions of the Augsburg Confession, whether in separate form or in the books of worship."

ANSWERED THE LETTER.

The Way a Brooklyn Politician Once Won a Bet.

There is, or was a few years ago, a neatly framed letter hanging in the consulting room of a Brooklyn doctor which he found in his mail one winter morning. It ran as follows:

Princeton, Jan. 12, 1886.
Dear Sir—I cheerfully accede to your request and acknowledge the compliment paid to my wife and daughter by bestowing their names upon your own twin daughters, and I hope these children may be spared to be of constant comfort to their parents. Sincerely yours,
GROVER CLEVELAND.

The young doctor's brain whirled. Being a bachelor and having no acquaintance with the former president, he could not understand it at all.

The mystery was solved when a friend of the doctor's, a Brooklyn politician, met him. The politician had made a bet with a cynical acquaintance that any American statesman would personally reply to a courteous letter from the humblest of his countrymen. The cynic took him up and named Grover Cleveland. The terms of the bet were that the answer to a letter mailed on Jan. 3 must be received before Jan. 25. Signaling the young doctor's name, the politician wrote of how his marriage had been blessed by twin daughters. Would it be asking too much for an autograph letter to frame which the sweet twins could look upon and read when they grew up and cherish ever afterward?

Mr. Cleveland courteously and promptly answered the letter, and the politician won his bet.—New York Tribune.

GOLD MEDAL FLOUR

CRUELITIES IN CHINA.

Torture of Prisoners Carried to Point of Refinement.

HOME OF THE WATER DEATH.

A Worse Infliction Than That of Being Tied to a Beam by the Thumbs and Big Toes—The Batinado and Flogging With Split Bamboo.

China is a land of contradictions and mysteries. It bristles with surprises. The phlegmatic nature of its natives is in marked contrast to their inherent cruelty.

"What a poor, weak looking baby!" you might say if a Chinaman about his offspring, and he will merely shrug his shoulders in reply. Meet him in a month's time and ask him how the youngster is getting on.

"The disease was a fatal one," he will answer, with another significant shrug. If the child were a girl you could safely draw your own conclusions as to its fate. John Chinaman has no use for deformed or very sickly children, particularly girls.

Torture of prisoners has been carried to a point of refinement. One of the most terrible was surely the one in which a man was placed so that his head jutted protruded at the top, while his toes only touched the ground sufficiently to prevent dislocation of the neck.

His hands were bound behind him so that he could not relieve himself, and he was left to be jeered at by the public until hunger and exhaustion put an end to his sufferings.

The day of the batinado, too, is by no means over. The prisoner is strung up in a reverse condition and the naked soles of his feet are pounded with a cane, with the result that the victim seldom recovers.

But the more common form of flogging is to beat the thighs with the concave side of a split bamboo, which cuts at every stroke into the flesh.

China, by the way, was the home of that terrible death by water drops. The criminal head was placed on a low hard block, and drops of water at short intervals were allowed to fall from a height on to his forehead—far, far worse infliction than that of being tied to a beam by the thumbs and big toes.

The canque is regarded as a comparatively mild sort of punishment. This consists of a wooden collar, about four feet square and four inches thick, which is placed over the prisoner's head, so that its full weight falls on the shoulders.

A description of the offense is also attached to the victim's body, and as he cannot feed himself he has to rely on the public for sustenance.

Conservative to a degree, it is not surprising to find that the wheelbarrow as a passenger conveyance is still in vogue, as, too, is the ferry, consisting of a light canoe, towed across the water by a number of swimmers.

Machinery for the most part is despised, and the mill, still used for winnowing the staple diet, rice, is of the simplest and most out of date description possible.

The rice is placed in a cement basin, over which is a heavy stone at the end of a long lever. This is worked up and down by two boards, in the form of a cross, attached to the axle of a huge hand turned wheel.

For simplicity of keeping a city informed of the time Canton would be hard to beat. In one of the temples are four large earthen jars on successive shelves.

CATHOLICS TRIED WHIP PROTESTANTS

Religious Riot Occurs in Scottish Village.

Edinburgh, June 9.—Twenty people were injured in a religious riot between Catholics and protestants at Motherwell last night. The Catholics broke up a meeting of protestants in the public park and the latter, after a general fight drove them from the field and were
