Several Local Teachers Go to Attend National Educational Meeting.

SIDE TRIPS ARE PLANNED

Several teachers in the public schools have left for Denver, Colo., to attend the National Education Association meeting, which convenes in that city Saturday and adjourns a week later. Others of the local delegation, which will be in attendance, will leave either today or tomorrow. A round trip fare of $30 has been offered by the railroad companies. After the adjournment of the association, some of the local teachers who are Elks will go to Los Angeles to attend the grand lodge meeting, which convenes a week later. Others will also attend the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle.

SENATOR PROCTOR WAS LIKE DANIEL IN DEN OF LIONS

hibit and only Maine already in the deserting mod remains.

No great statesman ever indorse, no president of the United States ever went so far as to say that it would be in keeping with the constitution, the declaration of Independence or Sermon of the Mount. If Mr. McWhirter says at Lincoln indorsed prohibition I will refute that statement in my rebuttal. There is nothing in any of these documents in liberty which would say to man, you may take a drink if you wish, or leave it alone. I see every man has a right to take it or leave it alone.

Prohibition has never been enacted in any state without attendant hysteria, passion and prejudice. You may excite hysterical women, send children forth with banners, "Vote Yes for Me" as they did in Tennessee, but in the end you will find the states dropping back to the licensed saloon. The world is made up of diverse kinds of people, with diverse kind of tastes, and you can not choke prohibition down their throats before men personally have decided not to drink, and then there will be no need of prohibition.

McWhirter's Address.

Now hear the results where prohibition has led a trial. Judge whether the people have been right in driving the liquor traffic from their midst. Let us take for example Worcester, Mass., a city of 128,000 inhabitants. Under license this city had arrests in 1907 of 2,18 drunks, and under prohibition in 1908, 842; 287 disturbers of the peace in 1907 against 174 in 1908. Total arrests for all crimes, 9,875; reduced under prohibition to 6,400, a decrease of one-third.

Atlanta, Georgia, with more than 100,000 inhabitants, has this record taken from the Daily Georgian. It says: "Whatever may be the sinister motives of croakers against the success of prohibition in Georgia, the logic of simple facts can not be overcome by either thirsty complaints or doleful prophecies. The records of the police courts of Atlanta show that during the current year 1908 the number of cases have been reduced nearly one-half. This in itself deals an effective blow to the higher critics of prohibition. Again the prediction in regard to vacant stores and offices has failed to materialize. Another wholesome sign of upward trend is found in the prices

AILMENTS OF MEN HAPPILY OVERCOME

SUCCESSFULLY TRIED BY MANY.

Undoubtedly the following prescription will work wonders for that great class of men who, through dissipation of their natural strength, find themselves in their "second childhood" long before the three score and ten allotted to life's pleasures and enjoyments are reached.

It is presumed to be infallible, and highly efficient in quickly restoring in "nervous exhaustion," weak vitality, melancholia and the functions.

First get fifty cents' worth of compound fluid balmwort in a one-ounce package, and three ounces syrup sarsaparilla, compound; take home, mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardomom). Mix all in a six ounce bottle, shake well, and take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring followed by a drink of water.

By mixing it at home no man need be the wiser as to another's shortcomings, and expensive fees are avoided.

Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health, and all the happiness accompanying it, the above home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

which real estate commands in the local market."

What Nelson Says.

Judge Thomas A. R. Nelson of Knoxville, Tennessee, a dry city, says: "If larger attendance at Sunday school and other church services; if larger and more regular attendance at day schools by better shod, better clad and cleaner children; if $14,000 more money for increased room and better equipment and larger pay for teachers; if 60 per cent decrease in arrests; if decrease in even greater percentage in homicides and all grades of crime; if a million dollars annually spent in the necessities of life, which were formerly spent for liquor, indicate failure, then prohibition has failed."

W. P. Chandler, chief of police, says: "We have had a dry town more than a year and this city is better off in every way. Our city is one hundred per cent better morally than when saloons were here. It is true we make arrests, and some for drunkenness; but where in days of the saloon we made from one hundred and fifty to two hundred and fifty arrests a week we make now rarely fifty including all manner of cases. There are hundreds of children in Knoxville with clothes and something to eat, who formerly went hungry and almost naked."

The Knoxville Sentinel says: "The hire prophecies made for Knoxville have not been accomplished. The 114 places formerly occupied by saloons are all occupied now by other business. The business of the city has gone ahead in spite of the general depression of last year."

The Supreme Good.

Government must stand for the greatest good. This is the supreme principle which has been incorporated in the common law. It is on this ground that the supreme court has declared that there is no inherent right in citizenship to sell intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. Such right can exist only by statute, presumably safeguarded from danger to public welfare. If a wrong could be safeguarded at all such a statute might stand. But experience has demonstrated that wrong can never be successfully regulated. The rights of the public are greater than statute law. They will find expression in revolution if revision does not meet the intelligent demand for recognition of the right. Right and wrong precede constitutions and statutory law and can not be superceded by them.

Basis of Saner Laws.

Whatever is injurious to the community to the extent of taking life, depriving men of liberty and destroying the pursuit of happiness can not remain lodged in the law. Its temporary lodgment does not alter hurtful results, nor does it insure against advanced legislation. Wider experience and self preservation become the basis of saner laws. We are now at this stage of human progress in solving the liquor problem.

Tried upon the tests of constitutional government which must promote peace, insure domestic tranquility and protect life and property the liquor traffic stands condemned and will meet its death.

Prohibition only can accomplish the destruction of this greatest foe of civilization. Nor will it be the first time that prohibition has accomplished what compromise has failed to do. Human slavery met its Waterloo, not on the field of compromise, but in the hot arena of prohibition.

Compromise is "hope deferred and maketh the heart sick." It ought to. There can be no rest until a question of right and wrong is settled by prohibiting the wrong. England's oppression and taxation without representation had no rest under compromise—Theft no law of compromise—

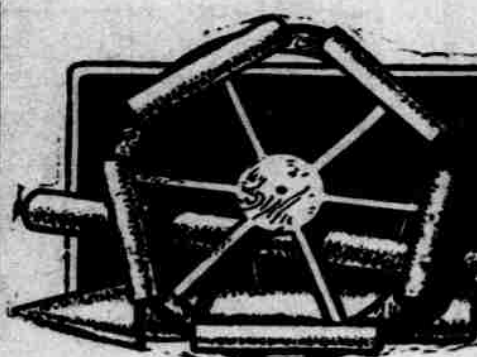

Want to be strong?

Eat more Quaker Oats. Eat it for breakfast every day. This advice is coming from all sides as a result of recent experiments on foods to determine which are the best for strength and endurance. It has been proved that eaters of Quaker Oats and such cereals are far superior in strength and endurance to those who rely upon the usual diet of heavy, greasy foods.

When all is said and done in the cereal food question, the fact remains that for economy and for results in health and strength, Quaker Oats stands first of all. It is the most popular food in the world among the foods sold in packages.

THE THEATER

NEW PHILLIPS.

All Week—High Class Vaudeville.

The New Phillips.

That the New Phillips is getting something good as a headliner for these last three days of the season is shown by the following from the Dayton Daily News:

It is a great show of mystery, music, mirth and skill that the Lyric is putting on this week to houses of such magnitude that they threaten to fairly bulge the walls. The big mystery feature is the much heralded "Mysterious Crucible," which easily lives up to its advance reputation by disclosing one of the most entertaining and at the same time amazing twenty minutes ever known to the vaudeville stage. In fact, after witnessing Prof. Van Dorn's wonderful experiments that apparently put to rest nature's own laws regarding heat and cold, one wonders if there is anything more to be known in the
