

The Rosenbloom-Buntin Store

MR. RUDOLPH G. LEEDS HAS TAKEN POSSESSION

FOR IMMEDIATE AND COMPLETE SLAUGHTER

A wintry April, a stormy May, a rainy June — in other words, the most deterrent weather ever known in this part of the country clogged the normal outlet, and ROSENBLOOM-BUNTIN, having prepared, on a prodigious scale, for the biggest Spring and Summer business in its career, is stuck with an enormous stock on hand. Mr. Rudolph G. Leeds, who has been connected with the store in a financial capacity, has taken full possession of the entire stock and has decided to dump it on the market. With the announcement of retiring this firm from the retail business, and with this advertisement, he gives to this city and surrounding country a rousing
