GIVE A LOVING CUP

Milton, Ind., July 22.—The Christian Sunday school as a token of their appreciation of the retiring superintendent, F. M. Jones presented him a loving cup. The cup is of silver, gold lined. It is ten inches high including the base. On it is the inscription, "Presented F. M. Jones by the Christian Sunday school as a token of appreciation of valued services, July 1909." The presentation address was made by Mrs. J. L. Manlove and worded in her usual beautiful language. It was responded to gracefully, yet feelingly, by Mr. Jones, who was completely surprised. Mr. Jones has served the school twenty-one years having accepted the office at the time that Mrs. Sarah Peters, now Mrs. Thaddeus Gordon resigned to go to Indianapolis to take the position of matron at the deaf and dumb institute. During that time he has ever given the Sunday school his faithful service, never being absent except under necessity.

FIFTIETH BIRTHDAY

Milton, Ind., July 22.—The fiftieth birthday of Albert Wilson of Doddridge, was celebrated in a pleasant manner by a surprise party given in his honor Sunday. The invited guests were Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Pinnick, Mrs. Susan Wilson, mother of Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Zeller, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Roark, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Wessler, Mrs. Susan Wilson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilson and son, Mrs. Emma Ferguson and grandchildren, Robert and Harold McDaniel, Miss Lulu Ferguson and Dr. C. A. Roark. Mr. Wilson's birthday came on Saturday, and he stated that if they had come on that day he would not have been surprised, but as it was he was completely and happily surprised. The dinner was one of those affairs that make the mouth water to think of, to say nothing of the eating.

MOTHER OF THAW WRITES ON CASE

She Issues a Book Which Is Entitled "The Secret Unveiled."

DEALS WITH FAMOUS CASE

SHE STATES HER SON'S IMPRISONMENT IS ILLEGAL AND THAT JEROME BELIEVES THAT HE IS SANE.

New York, July 22.—Harry Thaw's mother has issued her book in which she attacks the courts, District Attorney Jerome and all others connected in any way either with the prosecution of her son for the murder of Stanford White or with keeping him in the asylum at Matteawan since he escaped conviction on the plea of insanity. She has mailed copies to many newspapers. The title is "The Secret Unveiled." She says:

It is Cowardly.

"When I returned from Europe in July, 1906, I found a cowardly combination of men of professional standing, with disappointed blackmailers, perjurers and others all working in the interest of the very rich companions of Stanford White to prevent a trial which would result in exposure. They set to work to blacken the reputation of my son, an average young man with a chivalrous nature. Then the entire family living and dead was attacked by slanderous falsehoods. They pretended my son had delusions regarding those three infamous denizens of Stanford White and his companions in their orgies. Judge from the unlooked-for disclosures and from the powerful influence of these miserable degenerates of the corruption behind this persecution."

It is Illegal.

She declares Thaw's confinement in Matteawan "illegal imprisonment that would wreck most men of fortune." Criticizing the courts she says the "five appellate judges handed down three separate opinions, two of which must be wrong. The opinion of Judge Dowling was based on the testimony of one of the most unreliable witnesses in the case. There could be no denunciation too severe for a Russian judge who would dare sustain a sentence so unjust and cruel and so violative of every constitutional safeguard. Every doctor who has examined my son, 17 in all, say 'Thaw was and is sane.' He never had any delusions and no paranoid whatever. Nothing is more obvious than that Jerome believes him sane, or he would not have so persistently sought to prevent a hearing on his sanity." No attempt is made at a real review of the case. Mrs. Thaw only quotes from the arguments used in her son's defense.

HAGERSTOWN IN NEED OF MORE MEN

Car Company Enlarges and Adds More Men.

Hagerstown, Ind., July 22.—The Light Inspection Car Co. is repairing its buildings on the east side of Washington street and placing new machinery, preparatory to taking on a force of fifty or more new men. Among the improvements to the factory is the bridge overhead between the two buildings which is completed.

There was never such a demand for houses to rent in Hagerstown as at present. Several new ones have been built to meet the requirements but the supply is yet under the demand and more will be required before the newcomers can find accommodations. A number of additional residences will be put up this fall.

PINCH GYPSY WOMAN

Arrested by Marshall Drischell For Alleged Theft of Money.

A LINEMAN WAS A VICTIM

Milton, Ind., July 22.—A gypsy woman has been arrested by Marshall Drischell of Cambridge City and charged with the theft of money from the cook of a gang of Western Union telegraph linemen, who have been working in this vicinity for some time. The woman is accused of taking a gold watch that was in the trunk, also. She was taken to Cambridge City. It is probable that some sensational developments may result if the case comes to trial. The woman claims the cook or other members of the gang were indebted to her.

The gypsies have been camping near here for some time. They are not very desirable residents, but have not been found committing any misdemeanors. It is claimed the woman had been working about the camp of the linemen.

ALL NIGHT BAKERIES.

Where New Yorkers Can Have Want Supplied at Any Hour.

Among the many places of business of one and another sort that in a great city are kept open all night are bakeries.

The bakery is a peculiarly domestic business establishment, supplying mostly home wants, and as most people work days and sleep nights it might be supposed that there would be no occasion to keep bakeries open nights, but here, where with the city's manifold industries there must be a large number of people working at all times to keep things going, there are bakeries that do keep open and find trade at all hours.

Some of these all night bakeries have lunch room attachments, where people stop in to eat going to or from work, while others do a bakery business only. At either customers come in at all hours of the night to buy things to carry away, just as people do at any hour of the day, for the people who go to work at midnight or at 1, 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning want bread and bakery stuff before they go, just the same as do those who begin their labors at 7, 8 or 9, and there is likely to be in their neighborhood an all night open bakery where they can regularly supply their wants.

From 2 to 5 a. m. are the hours that mark low ebb in the all night bakery trade, but customers are dropping in all night long.—New York Sun.

"Entertaining job that chap has," remarked a man to a companion at a wild beast show. "What's entertaining about feeding the lions?" was the question that followed.

"He keeps the table in a roar!" responded the joker.—London Mail.

WORK IS COMPLETED

Preble Grand Jury Adjourned After Finding Four True Bills.

MURDER, RAPE AND ARSON

Eaton, O., July 22.—The grand jury which had been in session for the past three days completed their work at noon Wednesday and have filed a report of their session. Besides the charge of first degree murder returned against Harry Rife, slayer of Mrs. Lida Gilmore Griswold, three other true bills were found. They are:

Samuel C. Siders, murder in the second degree. At a preliminary hearing given Siders he was charged with assault. During a fight Siders had with John Mann, the latter was struck on the head with a pick handle, receiving injuries from which he died about a week after the occurrence.

William Duggins, charged with arson. He was charged with having caused a fire that destroyed a building occupied by his barber shop, which was to have been sold the day following the fire, to satisfy a claim assessed against him by the common pleas court.

Arthur Garner was indicted on the charge of rape.

The report of the jury states a visit had been made to the jail and its condition inquired into. They found every regulation of the judge had been complied with, and every detail correct. The jury recommended that the iron work on the interior of the bastille be repainted and a small amount of plastering be done in the women's department.

A PRETTY SINGER

—SHE BE MISSING

Well Known Indianapolis Woman Thought to Have Eloped With a Teacher.

LEAVES HUBBY AND SON

MAN, MRS. GEO. E. MAURICE IS THOUGHT TO HAVE GONE WITH IS NORMAN KENT, PROMINENT VOCAL TEACHER.

Indianapolis, July 22.—Mrs. George E. Maurice, contralto soloist in St. John's Catholic church, is missing from her home, 924 Udell street. She was last seen on July 11, when Norman Kent, her voice teacher and tenor in the same church choir, disappeared. The two have been closely associated in musical work for three years. Kent was a frequent visitor at the Maurice home.

James Brannon, 1006 Udell street, Mrs. Maurice's father, is at a loss to explain her disappearance. He said he knew Kent well and never suspected him of intending to entice his only daughter away from her husband and young son.

Wanted Boy Cared For.

Mrs. Maurice called on her father about July 11 and told him she was going away for a brief visit with relatives. She asked him to care for the boy, Maurice, the woman's husband, travels for Hollweg & Rees, 128 South Meridian street, and will not return to this city until Saturday. He came home last Saturday and was surprised to find his wife missing, according to Brannon.

The police say that Mrs. Maurice was the heavily veiled companion of Kent mentioned in an anonymous communication received by them. They have been looking for her quietly and intended to keep the matter a secret.

Many people with chronic throat and lung trouble have found comfort and relief in Foley's Honey and Tar as it cures stubborn coughs after other treatment has failed. L. M. Ruggles, Reasnor, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It stopped the hemorrhages and pain in my lungs and they are now as sound as a bullet." A. G. Luken & Co.

ANCIENT GUNS.

Remarkable Weapons That Were Used by the Turks and Chinese.

At the siege of Rhodes the Turks constructed mortars by hollowing out cavities in the solid rock at the proper angle, and in the arsenal at Malta is a trophy of the long and glorious defense of Valetta in a Turkish gun, about a six pounder, composed of a copper tube coiled over with strong rope and "jacketed" with rawhide. In the same collection are some antique "quick firers," breechloaders, with small bores and immensely long barrels, like punt guns. The Malay pirates put great trust in the long brass swivel guns called "lelas," and in Borneo these lelas were used as a kind of currency, large sums being estimated in guns.

The Chinese cast excellent bronze guns (there is a fine specimen of them in Devonport dockyard), but so little did they understand gunnery that in the so called "opium war" the forts of the Bocca Tigris, defending the Canton river, had the guns built immovably into the walls. The Sikh gunners opposed to England in the two Punjab wars, though they loaded with amazing recklessness, shoveling in the powder from open boxes, stuck to their guns to the last. The blood of the first man killed was smeared on the gun, and the whole detachment died beside it sooner than retreat.—Chambers' Journal.

Too Much of a Tonic.

When Mr. Chinchin returned home from Chinchin & Chinchin's the other day he found his wife lying worn out upon the sofa.

"Nothing wrong, I hope!" he exclaimed.

"I'm afraid I shall have to stop that tonic the doctor prescribed for Tommy," Mrs. Chinchin faintly murmured. "Why? Isn't he any better?" asked Chinchin.

"Oh, yes, but I think the tonic must be too invigorating. Why, he has slid down the banisters six times this morning, broken the hall lamp, two vases, a water jug and a looking glass, tied a tin can to the cat's tail and scribbled his name on the drawing room paper. Of course it's very gratifying, but I don't feel I could stand much more, so I think I'll stop the tonic."

Bats Inside Bamboo.

The cutting down of a clump of bamboo in the royal botanical gardens, Singapore, shows that the hollows in the stems of these plants may afford a dwelling place for bats. On the splitting of a joint three bats flew out, and it was perceived that others were within. Care was taken to prevent further escape, and later examination of the joint revealed the presence of twenty-three bats in the hollow. Four of these were adult females and nineteen young ones. Other bamboo joints were also found to contain a number of bats. The species is known as Vesperugo pachypus.—London Scape.

The Proper Question.

The man with the glassy eye and preternaturally solemn demeanor put down a sovereign at the booking office at Charing Cross and demanded a ticket. "What station?" snapped the booking clerk. The would be traveler staid himself. "What stations have you?" he asked, with quiet dignity.—London Globe.
