

BIG DELEGATION TO HAGERSTOWN

Young Men's Business Club
Will Make Demonstration at the Fair.

TO ADVERTISE FESTIVAL

TOWN WILL BE COVERED WITH THE RED, WHITE AND BLUE
TAGS NOTIFYING VISITORS OF LOCAL EVENT.

Hagerstown will be tagged from one end of the place to the other and particularly the fair grounds, by a delegation of members of the Young Men's Business club, upon its visit to the Hagerstown fair next Thursday. The tagging will be for the purpose of advertising the Fall Festival, to be held here October 6, 7 and 8.

The tags are very attractive, being a two and a half inch disk, the color scheme of which is red, white and blue, with red and blue predominating. The letters are in white. Around the outer edge is a blue field representing a belt. The tags contain the following inscription: "Fall Festival, October 6, 7, 8, 1909, in the Industrial and Agricultural Belt, Richmond, Indiana. Earnest, Persistent, Energy, Progressiveness," and on the other side in a white field the words "Turn me over." Twenty-five thousand such tags have been printed. J. A. Spekenhler, chairman of the advertising committee, which prepared the tags states that it is probable even the above number will not be sufficient.

Verbal Invitations.

Besides tagging the town of Hagerstown, the local delegation will also talk and talk, long and well, inviting the visitors to the fair to come to this city and witness the biggest industrial demonstration ever made in Eastern Indiana. Insatiation of this claim, it is expected that the employees of every factory and mercantile concern in the city will turn out in the big labor parade, to be held on the evening of the day known as the Industrial Day of the Fall Festival.

There will be a meeting of the committees and others interested in the Festival Friday evening at the Masonic Temple at which time reports will be made and the premium lists possibly announced.

IS STILL IN BED.

Sheriff Meredith's condition has not improved as rapidly as he expected. He is under the care of a physician and an abscess is threatened. The bone seems to have been injured by the blow, when the ball struck him.

SIGN A CONTRACT TO BRING LARGE CONCERN TO CITY

National Automatic Tool Company of Dayton, O., Brought Here by South Side Improvement Association.

TO FINISH FACTORY BY DECEMBER FIRST

Under Terms of the Contract
The Plant Is to Give Employment to a Hundred Men—Is a Big Deal.

The contract between the South Side Improvement association and the Industrial Realty Company whereby the National Automatic Tool Company, of Dayton is secured for this city was signed this noon. The factory is to be in operation December 1, 1909. It is stipulated in the contract employment must be furnished for 100 men. The company engages in the manufacture of tool machinery. The deal just closed includes two companies—the Industrial Realty Co. and the tool company. The industrial organization will be located here and conduct its business from this city. It engages in the laying out of divisions, locating factories and booming the real estate of towns. It is incorporated for $50,000. The incorporators are C. F. Hawekotte, Cincinnati; Edward Busch, Dayton; J. C. Bockhoff, H. C. Hawekotte and William Bockhoff, of Indianapolis.

Large Capital Stock.
The tool company, which has been in business at Dayton is incorporated for $250,000. The officers are: William F. Bockhoff, president; Edward Busch, vice president; J. Howard Smith, secretary and treasurer. Among the prominent stockholders are William Pflum, William Bippus, P. N. Sigler, H. C. Hitchcock, Allan N. Jordan. The first two named gentlemen are connected with the National Cash Register company at Dayton and Mr. Sigler is an attorney. Mr. Hitchcock is the general agent of the Day Time Recorder company at Dayton. Mr. Jordan owns the Washington hotel at Portsmouth, Ohio.

The improvement association provides the building and factory site, makes arrangements for railroad facilities and pays $20,000 in cash when the machinery is started.
What Is Manufactured.
The Tool Company manufactures high grade automatic machinery and multiple spindle, multiple speed drilling machines. The business is increasing so rapidly that they have been compelled to seek quarters which will take care of their future needs. The factory will, as fast as possible, put on new help and it is probable that it will employ 150 men in the course of the next year.
William Bockhoff is president and owns controlling interest in both companies. He began his business career in this city in the spring of 1882, operating a grocery on South 11th street for seven years. In 1888 he purchased a cash register for his grocery and was so well pleased with it, that he soon sold his store and began selling cash registers. He will leave the employ of the National Cash Register Company July 31st, when he will have been connected with the business for 21 years in various positions as sales agent, agency instructor, district manager and head of the invention department. He is an inventor and owns the patent on the highest type of cash register made by the National company.

In the future Mr. Bockhoff will give his entire time to the local companies. The contract of the South Side Improvement Association is that the realty company must complete by December 1st, 1909, at least one two-story building, 45x200 or its equivalent and stipulates the number of men that must be employed in a given time. The contract also stipulates that the factory must be in operation by December 1st, 1909.

ROELL IS DELEGATE

To Attend State Meeting of St. Joseph's Benevolent Association.

MEET IN RICHMOND 1910

Rev. F. A. Roell, pastor of St. Andrew's church, was selected as delegate to the Central association of St. Joseph's Benevolent association which meets at Indianapolis September 13-24, at the meeting of the local organization last evening. The state federation which meets in this city next year at which time the golden anniversary will be celebrated, will be in session at Indianapolis at the same time as the Central Association. It will be attended by a large delegation of members of the local organization. The Richmond City Band will accompany the local delegation to Indianapolis. The report of the treasurer for the fiscal year showed that $750 had been expended for sick benefits and $1,500 for deaths.

OFFER POSITION TO PROF. MILLER

Wanted as Head of the High School Department.

Prof. Guy D. Miller, who has charge of the commercial department of the public school at Bradford, Pa., has been tendered the position as head of the local department to succeed Prof. Albert Jones, who resigned in order to accept a position at Chicago. Prof. Miller desires to change his present location and presented excellent references to Superintendent Mott. The system of short hand will be changed, the Pitman system being substituted for the Cross Electric system. It is expected that word will be received from Prof. Miller soon in order that a contract may be entered into if he accepts the position.

EVIDENCE SHOWS MISSING GIRL A VICTIM OF BRUTE

Discovery Made Today Points To Fact That Woman at Burlington, N. J. Hotel Met With Foul Play.

SHE IS BELIEVED TO BE A PROMINENT WOMAN

It Is Thought That After She Was Slain the Murderer Carried Body to Lake in a Pine Swamp.

(American News Service)
Burlington, N. J., July 27.—Conclusive evidence was unearthed today to show that the young woman who disappeared from the Metropolitan Inn at Burlington on Thursday night last, was killed and her body thrown into Rose Pond in the pine swamp about ten miles from here.
Part of her clothing was found on the bank of the pond and today an attempt was made to drag the slimy pond.
Signs of a struggle indicate that the girl was dragged from a buggy and thrown into the pond.
Other startling disclosure points to the conclusion that the girl was the wife of a prominent New Yorker who had separated from her because of her affection for a man answering the description of her companion at the hotel.

Signs of Struggle.
The signs of a struggle in the swamp was discovered while searching in the neighborhood of the spot where a buggy, tied by the girl was deserted.
From the place where a struggle had evidently taken place the footprints of a man led into the swamp. After following these footprints a short distance, the posse found also the footprints of a woman. A little further on the footprints of both a man and a woman were plainly visible and from the way these were mixed up the posse judged that the man and woman were struggling as they went into the swamp and it was concluded that the woman was being forced along against her will.

The footprints were lost by the officers when hard ground was reached, but they were convinced that the Rose Pond, about a mile from the roadway in the direction of the swamp was the destination of the couple. The discoveries made on the bank of the pond showed that this conclusion of the searchers was amply justified.

Findings Footprints.
On the bank of the pond were found a number of footprints and what was still more startling, there was a trail that was evidently made by a body dragged along the road. The footprints and the trail of the body led right to the edge of the water. Searching along the bank, the officers found several hairpins, two side combs, a black knitted cape like that worn by the girl when she left the hotel on Thursday morning, and a number of pieces of a woman's lingerie.

John Fitzgerald and his sister Lizzie, who live about a quarter of a mile from the pond say they heard screams that seemed to come from the direction of the pond on Thursday night between 11 and 12 o'clock. Mrs. Hudson Payne who lives a short distance from the Fitzgeralds says she also heard screams at the same hour. The two families had discussed the screams before any news of the probable murder had reached them.

Letters Are Found.
Further proof that the young woman came from New York has been found in a pair of new tan shoes taken from her suitcase. These shoes were purchased at 1456 Third avenue, New York. They had never been worn. Assistant States Prosecutor Wheelock states that he is hard at work trying to follow up a number of letters found in the woman's suitcase. He says several names are mentioned in these letters and believes the people mentioned can do much toward clearing up the mystery. He refuses to give out these names now because he fears suspicion might be thrown on innocent persons.
The man who accompanied the girl to the hotel registering as Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins, New York, took his suitcase away from the hotel Thursday morning saying he was going to catch a train for New York. Whether or not he really caught the train is a matter of doubt.

BUSINESS IS DULL DURING THE SUMMER

Postoffice Sighing for Worlds To Conquer.

After a remarkable business for 11 months, the regular summer lull in business at the postoffice has commenced. Postmaster J. A. Spekenhler is not discouraged because a lull has been experienced. The outlook for business commencing about September 1 is brighter than usual. A large number of the manufacturing concerns of the city are preparing to send out circulars and catalogues advertising their business. Mr. Spekenhler stated that the months of July and August were usually the poorest of the year in postal circles.

THIEVING STILL BEING REPORTED

Would it not be advisable for the Y. M. C. A. officials to employ a detective to ferret out some of the thieving mysteries which have been of frequent occurrence? is the question asked.

The last theft coming to the public's attention was that of $17 belonging to Robert Thompson, living in West Richmond, which was taken by a most brazen thief. In fact this robbery is the boldest yet reported. The association is responsible for the loss and will make it good, according to a statement of one of the officials this morning.

Find Money Gone.
During the latter part of last week, young Thompson left his pocket book containing $17 at the desk with Philip Johnson, one of the clerks. Thompson went to the basement and took a swim and later upon going to the desk for his money, discovery was made that it was missing. It had been placed in one of the drawers behind the counter by Johnson. Thompson made complaint to the officials and was promised that his loss would be made good. Mr. Goodwin, secretary of the association, stated this morning that the officials had a faint suspicion as to who the thief was.

There have been a number of robberies at the association both in the dormitory section as well as in the locker rooms. Money has not been the particular object of the thieves, as articles of wearing apparel and the like have been taken.

SUTTON INQUIRY IS HALTED TODAY

(American News Service)
Annapolis, Md., July 27.—Inquiry into the death of Lieut. Sutton was perhaps permanently halted today when Judge Advocate Leonard's motion to make all eyewitnesses to the tragedy defendants, was adopted by the naval court. This action came shortly after Mrs. Sutton (the mother) had been called to the stand and a letter from her to the navy department was read, in which she declared her son had been murdered. The status of the case is that it may be reopened whenever Lieut. Roelker, one of the eyewitnesses can be located. He has disappeared and may never be found. The sudden halting of the case was a great disappointment to the Suttons, who had no opportunity to present a large mass of evidence they claim to have gathered.

WILL LOCATE HERE ADAMS IN EUROPE?

Dr. David Dougan, of Denver, Colo., formerly of this city, will within a few days close a deal for the property located at the northwest corner of West Third and National avenue, which is known as the "Old Lamb Homestead." According to friends it is the intention of Dr. Dougan to raze the present property and erect a large palatial residence. He intends to divide his time between this city and Denver. Members of the Lamb family stated today that the deal had not been completed, but would be within a few days. The amount which Dr. Dougan intends to spend on his new home is not known. Dr. Dougan is a retired banker, having but a short time ago disposed of his interests in one of the leading banking institutions of Colorado. He is several times a millionaire.

Frank R. Adams, the bond salesman, who received so much notoriety in this city and state following the suicide of a Mrs. Frank R. Adams at Indianapolis, has left for parts unknown so far as local friends are aware. A report was current at the Westcott hotel where he always stayed when in this city, that he had gone to Europe. A traveling man who knows Adams spread the report at the hotel, although the attaches of the place give the story little credence. Adams' first wife and the only one he acknowledged lives at Delaware, O.

GOODWIN SECRETARY.

George L. Goodwin, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., which organization is managing this year's chautauqua assembly, has been selected as secretary of the Chautauqua association to succeed E. K. Shera. Mr. Shera's duties prevent him taking an active part in the management of the assembly.

GIVEN A DIVORCE.

In the Wayne circuit court this afternoon, Elizabeth Brown was granted a divorce from Edward Brown. She was given the custody of the minor child, also.
