

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR THE FACTORY

Success of Automatic Tool Works Anticipated From The Very Start.

INVENTOR AT THE HEAD

WM. BOCKHOFF HAS SEVERAL PATENTS USED ON CASH REGISTERS WHICH ARE PAYING HIM NEAT ROYALTIES.

Congratulations on the success of the South Side Improvement association in securing the National Automatic Tool Works of Dayton, have been extended the officials by local citizens who are familiar with the concern and the men back of it. William Bockhoff president of company is an old Richmond boy and no doubt love for this city prompted him to do it a good turn when he had the opportunity. As one of the leading sub-officials of the National Cash Register works of Dayton, Mr. Bockhoff has had ample opportunity to display his business ability.

In this respect neither have his local friends nor the head officials of the Cash Register works been disappointed. Although it is understood that his position with the company is not one commanding a big salary, yet inventions and improvements on the company's product, for the use of which the Cash Register works pays a royalty, have netted him a good income. The present style of money drawers used in every register put out by the company, is his patent, on which he receives a royalty of $1 and $2 according to the size of the register, for every machine sold. A well known local wholesale dealer who is well acquainted with Mr. Bockhoff said that he was practically the brains and energy of the company today. It is understood on good authority that Mr. Bockhoff has invested all his money in the tool works which is to locate in this city. His associates are also men of business standing and backed by capitalists.

Persons who are interested in the growth of the city and not particularly in the South Side say that the factory is sure to be a success under the management as announced recently. The company's present location on a third floor of a factory building in Dayton can not be enlarged and no other suitable place can be found there in which to place the concern.

ALDRICH'S BLUFF PROMPTLY CALLED IT WAS REPORTED

If the president did not refrain from upsetting the agreements they were reaching. To this the president is said to have retorted that if no bill was passed at this session he would call another extra session in October.

Under Great Strain.
Such colloquies as this convey an idea of the severe tension under which the leaders of the republican party have been working in order to accomplish the so-called "downward revision." When submitting to executive pressure for free hides the senate conferees were forced to abandon some of the western senators who had supported the finance committee through thick and thin while the tariff bill was under discussion in the senate, and they found themselves in an awkward position with respect to getting a majority vote for the report.

It was absolutely necessary to make concessions as to other schedules in order to make sure of a sufficient number of votes for the final passage of the bill. The most convenient way of accomplishing this result was to bring into camp enough of the western senators who could be partially reconciled for the loss of the duty on hides by an increase in the lumber rate. Consequently they boosted that duty up to $1.40, and when the house conferees demurred the situation was explained to them in such a convincing way that they acquiesced in the increase.

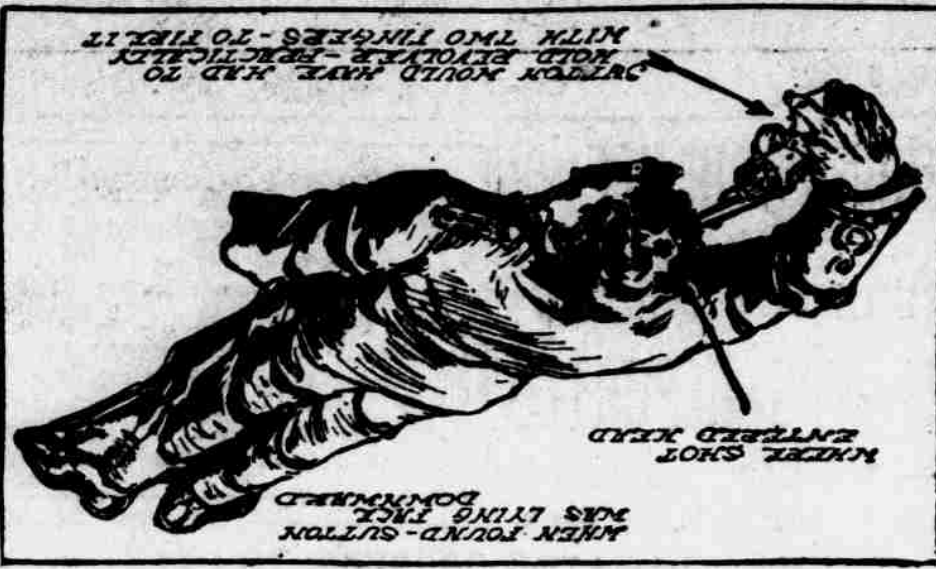

Obstacles Too Great.
It would be easy enough to get $1.25 on lumber through the house, but the obstacles in the senate were of a more serious character. Senator Aldrich believes the president did not understand this delicate and complicated situation when he told a number of congressmen that anything above $1.25 on lumber would not meet with his approval; hence the sharp dialogue between the senator and the president yesterday afternoon. Last night the matter had been fully elucidated to the president, but if he should not be converted to the conferees' view there will be trouble not now anticipated for the bill.

SUDDEN DEATH OF POPULAR DEALER

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Bell was accompanied home by Mr. Haughton and appeared to be in his usual good health. However, during the day, he complained about the heat, but not in such a manner as to lead his friends to believe that he was suffering from it. About 1:30 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Bell was awakened by her husband's struggles and heavy breathing. She spoke to him but received no answer. She summoned a physician and members of the family, but before they arrived he died. Death was pronounced as due to heart trouble.

Several years ago Mr. Bell was overcome by the heat and since that time has always been affected by either very hot or cold weather. Mr. Bell was formerly superintendent of the Henley Roller Skate factory, this city and afterwards purchased the Thomas Morris nurseries east of the city. As proprietor of these he obtained a wide acquaintance in the county and did an extensive business not only in this county, but throughout the middle west. He was regarded as a business man of high character and standing.

News of his sudden death spread rapidly over the city this morning and his friends were greatly surprised.

NEED MORE TEACHERS

Five additional teachers will be employed for work in the schools of the county next year. Two schools that were abandoned some time ago will be reopened. Teachers will be added in Franklin, Greene, Washington and Wayne townships. The health officer claimed accommodations were too crowded and this accounts for the additions. The abandoned schools reopened are the Wallace in Washington, and Fairview, in Wayne.

REPAIRS TO SCHOOLS

Numerous repairs are being made to the township schools by Trustee Howarth. When school opens in the fall the pupils at some of the buildings will hardly recognize the places. New roofs, paint, new pumps, furnaces and other things are being added.

IS RICHMOND DAY AT COUNTY FAIR

Local Delegation Overran the Town, Tagging Everything Within Their Reach.

WERE CORDIALLY RECEIVED

FALL FESTIVAL BEING ADVERTISED IN THOROUGH MANNER BY DELEGATION FROM THIS CITY.

(Staff Correspondence.)

Hagerstown, Ind., July 29.—This was Richmond day at Hagerstown Fair. The little town about noon was invaded by a delegation of Quaker City people, 300 strong. All wore yellow badges of the Young Men's Business club, and each was armed with umbrellas, and red, white and blue Fall Festival tags. No sooner had the Richmond crowd arrived in town than it began to get busy. There was no parade or demonstration of any kind. The boosters were there on a business mission, to advertise the festival, so they had no time to waste in parades. Promptly on setting foot in Hagerstown they spread all over its confines, men, women and children were each and every one adorned with a yellow badge while every dray, rig, automobile, telephone post, fence and house was decorated with red, white and blue tags. A half hour after the arrival of the Richmond delegation Hagerstown looked like a rainbow. The Richmond crowd at the fair this afternoon overshadowed even Hagerstown's. One could not turn around without colliding with a Richmond man. Hagerstown people were extremely cordial in their reception and assured members of the Richmond delegation they would lend a helping hand to make the Fall Festival a success.

IS TO INVESTIGATE

Another Committee Will Make Inquiries Into Proposition For Franchise.

WATERWORKS PROPOSITION

The proposition of a franchise to be given the Richmond City Water Works Company by the city of Richmond will be investigated by a municipal research committee, including three members of the Commercial club and the Young Men's Business Club. A called meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. B. C. will be held next week at which time a committee of three will be chosen to cooperate with the Commercial club committee in the matter. The Commercial club committee includes Pettis A. Reid, William Dudley Foulke and Timothy Nicholson.

The directors of the Y. M. B. C. have been asked also to take some action relative to the use of voting machines at elections in this county in the future. A communication from the county commissioners asking for the club's consideration has been received by secretary E. H. Harris.

RAILROAD CASE NOW HEADED FOR SUPREME COURT

Indianapolis, Ind., July 29.—The Richmond Commercial club today filed an amended complaint with the railroad commission against the Pennsylvania and C. & L. roads praying for a general interchange of freight traffic. This step will lead the case into the United States Supreme court.

NEGRO CLEANED UP WHOLE BUNCH

"Double-barrel" Edmunds Is Brought to Task for Whipping Two Men.

TESTIMONY LAUGHABLE

WITNESSES TALKED OF KNOCKING HEADS OFF AND STRENGTH OF SAMPSON AS SHOWN BY EDMUNDS.

Randall Edmunds, negro, pugilist, baseball player and shine, demonstrated his prowess as a fighter last Saturday night on E. Wayne avenue, between D and E streets, knocking Otis McKinney in the gutter and putting Wiley Thompson out of commission. Edmunds and McKinney were both arraigned in police court this afternoon. The former acted as his own attorney and asserted that he acted in self defense. Byram Robbins, represented McKinney. McKinney was found not guilty and after receiving a lecture from Judge Converse was let go.

The testimony of the case was very amusing. Fremont Webster, colored, who was a witness of the affair, in telling his version of the fight, stated that Edmunds was the aggressor. He stated that Mrs. McKinney had asked her husband to go home and Edmunds had also told him to go with her, when McKinney wanted to stay. The fight resulted from this difference of opinion between Edmunds and McKinney. Webster stated that Edmunds knocked McKinney's head off and then put Thompson in the gutter. Thompson who testified also, remarked as to the severity of the attack of Edmunds. He said he was hit in the jaw and landed against a scaffolding of a new building with sufficient force to knock the building down. In cross examining Thompson, Edmunds asked him several questions and attacked the integrity of the witness, causing Thompson to reply, "I am swearing by my hand."

When Edmunds went on the stand in his own behalf, he declared that McKinney became abusive and that Thompson held him so that McKinney could hit him. The witness stated that he succeeded in breaking loose from Thompson and putting both in the gutter. After accomplishing this feat, Edmunds ran to the Louck and Hill lumber yards, North Third street and hid for several hours, arriving home late and with his shirt torn off his back.

BUSINESS CRISIS RAGES AT TIPTON

(American News Service)
Tipton, Ind., July 29.—Nothing has been heard as to the whereabouts of the movements of Noah Marker, the absconding employee of the First National bank. The opinion prevails that he is now beyond the boundary line of the country. Photographs are in the hands of the federal authorities and Pinkertons.

It has developed that Marker had been preparing for ten days to leave the country providing he failed in the attempt to scoop together enough money to make good his then existing shortage. No official information is forthcoming pending the completion of the examination but it is reliably stated that checks as well as notes were forged by Marker. A shortage of something in excess of $110,000 is traceable to Marker and in addition the bank has a hundred to a hundred and fifty thousand dollars tied up in "bad" loans.

It is conceded that a business crisis exists in Tipton, but confidence prevails that the storm will be weathered if any success in collections is met with.

COUNTY FAIR ON AT HAGERSTOWN

Hagerstown, Ind., July 29.—Yesterday really marked the opening of the twentieth annual fair of Wayne county. Weather conditions were good and the racing of the afternoon was fair. The attendance was the smallest that it has been on a Wednesday for several years. Several reasons are given, among them the fact that no family tickets were issued. Another reason was that the farmers have been put back with their work on account of the wet weather and many were too busy to quit their work. The fair is clean in every way and it is a noticeable thing about the fair that there is no gambling and no booze on the grounds as has been the case a few years ago.

THAW SEES VICTORY

(American News Service)
White Plains, N. Y., July 29.—Harry Thaw went into today's battle of wits with Jerome confident of success and well pleased by his showing in yesterday's progress. Jerome had planned to let loose his heaviest artillery today and Thaw was ready for the attack.

"I can read my victory in the face of Justice Mills," said Thaw. "He has been most considerate and his advice on perplexing matters while on the stand has aided me in presenting my case under the best possible auspices. The congratulations and kind words of members of my family and friends have also been potent arguments in favor of my release. Instead of despondency and depression they are almost ready for exultation." "We haven't got more than half through with Thaw," said District Attorney Jerome, putting significant emphasis on the "half."

Extravagant.
Stranger (in Dreamhurst)—Is there a place here where I can get a square meal? Uncle Welby Gosh—Yes, sir. There's a restaurant round the corner where you can get the best meal this side of Chicago if you don't mind the price. It's a little expensive. They'll sock you for 35 cents, but, by gum, it's worth it!—Chicago Tribune.
