

YOU MUST BEHAVE AT COUNTY FAIRS

Governor Informs the Sheriffs
That the Lid Must Remain Down.

GAMBLING IS BLACKLISTED

FORMERLY MUCH OF THE LAW
VIOLATIONS AT COUNTY FAIRS
WAS DONE WITH KNOWLEDGE OF OFFICERS.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 31.—That Governor Marshall intends to make good his announced intention to see that the laws are obeyed throughout the state has further been shown by letters which he has just sent to the sheriffs of the ninety-two counties of the state in regard to county fairs. In these letters he tells the sheriffs that they are expected to see that no laws are violated at the fairs.

In former years the county fair season meant the prevalence of gambling and other similar law violations and in nearly every instance the fair grounds were overrun with gamblers and sports. In many places poker and other games flourished, pools and liquor were sold on the fair grounds. Of course this is not so common now as it was in the old days, but the governor does not intend to take any chances on the sports taking fresh liberties.

Much of this law violation was done with the knowledge of the officers of the law in the various counties. This does not mean that these officers profited from it, but it is a well known fact that the officers were passive during fair week and did not enforce the laws. It seemed to be taken for granted that it was all right to gamble during the county fair.

Among other things which Governor Marshall said in his letter to the sheriffs was this: "I need not recall to you that you are the legally constituted police officer of your county."

In speaking of the matter yesterday the governor said:

"The coming of the county fair does not give any one an excuse for violating the law. There is no reason why gambling should be allowed during the county fair than that it should be allowed at any other time. It is a violation of the law at all times. But it has always been the case that many things are permitted during the fair week that would not be tolerated at any other time."

No Prize Fights. In his letter to the sheriffs the governor says also that no prize fights shall be allowed to take place. These are violations of the law, he says, and are not permissible in Indiana at any time.

This is the first time, so far as is known, that any governor has sent this kind of a letter to the sheriffs of the counties in the state, and it will be interesting to watch results. The governor believes that the sheriffs will follow his suggestions but if they do not they will hear from him with a request to explain why they did not. This has been his policy right along, and the letter which he has sent out is in line with the policy that he announced several months ago.

Beards in Russia. It is curious to note that in Russia the beard has always been an object of repute. An ordinance which Yaroalaf, son of Vladimir and legislator of Novgorod, then the capital of Russia, published in 1015 exemplifies this. By this law any one plucking a hair from a neighbor's beard was subjected to a punishment four times more severe than that inflicted for cutting off his finger.

Over a large extent of Russian territory German is the commercial language.

HAS DUGGINS FLED?

Eaton, O., July 31.—William Duggins, one of three persons against whom indictments were returned by the grand jury, has again disappeared from Eaton in order to escape the clutches of the law. It will be remembered that Duggins left Eaton the day upon which an indictment for arson was returned against him. After remaining away from Eaton a few days he reconsidered his situation and returned to suffer the consequences.

When given a hearing he pleaded not guilty to the charge and Judge Fishburn allowed him three days' grace in which to secure bond in the sum of $300. This he was unsuccessful in doing. No great effort will be made to apprehend him.

THE DEEP SEA DIVER.

His Calling About the Most Dangerous of All Occupations.

Beyond all question, the calling of a deep sea diver employed in examining and clearing away sunken wrecks is the most gruesome. Fathoms add to the fact that his life is in constant danger from the results of submarine enemies or accident to his diving dress and apparatus, the sights that he is called upon to see, and to see, moreover, amid the most horrible surroundings, exceed in ghastliness even those which the hospital or the army surgeon is called upon to confront. Nowhere else on land or sea are so many accumulated horrors to be found as in the hull of a ship which has sunk with crew and passengers.

The hideous condition in which the diver finds the victims of the wreck, some half devoured by fish, some standing upright and floating to and fro with a ghastly parody of living motion, some still locked together as though yet in the last agony of the death struggle, and some floating about the interior of a ship and knocking and rubbing up against him with a hideous lifelessness that is utterly indescribable. These are some of the horrible sights which deep sea divers have to work amid when they are employed on sunken wrecks. When to all these are added the awful gloom and silence amid which the work has to be performed, there will not seem to be much doubt that of all modern callings that of the deep sea diver is the most gruesome.
