

CONVENTION OF FRUIT GROWERS COMES TO CLOSE

Summer Session of State Society of Horticulturalists Adjourns Meetings at Centerville.

PREMIUMS AWARDED FOR BEST DISPLAYS OF FRUITS

Closing Hours as Full of Interest as Opening—Society Was Well Entertained by Town Folks.

Centerville, Ind., Aug. 6.—The summer meeting of the State Horticultural Society which has been in session at the town hall of this place for two days was concluded yesterday with the announcement of prizes for the best displays of fruits, vegetables and flowers and the report by the resolutions committee. The program yesterday was very high class, including addresses by prominent horticulturists from all parts of the state.

The session has been one of the most successful ever held by the society from all standpoints. The attendance was large and much interest taken in a very excellent program. The entertainment afforded by the residents of Centerville, who acted as hosts was also very agreeable to the visitors.

"How to Grow Large and Small Fancy Fruits" was the theme of an address by Mr. Lowell Roudabush of New Richmond, Ohio. He was the first speaker at the afternoon session. Fancy fruits, the speaker said, though bringing the highest prices in the market, required more constant care than the more common kinds. The subject was carefully discussed.

Protect the Birds.

Prof. C. E. Newlin of Irvington, Indiana, the financial secretary of the State Audubon Society, gave a delightful talk on "Our Bird Friends." He earnestly advocated the protection of native birds, from a horticultural point of view as well as from the pleasure they afford. A general discussion followed this interesting theme.

"A Talk on Bee Keeping" was then given by George S. Bemuth of Indianapolis, chief of the Division of Apiculture in the office of the State Entomologist. The speaker illustrated his subject by a frame containing a small colony of bees with their honey comb.

Letter of Regret.

A letter was read by the secretary from Prof. W. H. Ragan of Washington, D. C., who was for many years connected with the Indiana Horticultural society, regretting that he could not be present at this meeting on account of failing health.

Premiums Were Awarded.

The committees on awards made the following report:

Best collection early apples—L. D. Dougherty and son, Cambridge City.

Best plate early apples—S. A. Hazeitt, Greencastle, first and second premiums; Chris King, Rushville, third.

Best plate early pears—Wm. B. Flick, Lawrence, first; Mary J. Flick, Lawrence, second, and T. J. Quick, Columbus, third.

Best collection early peaches—T. J. Quick, Columbus.

Best plate peaches—W. B. Flick, Lawrence, first; W. C. Gates, Lyon's Station, second; and Mary J. Flick, Lawrence, third.

Best collection of grapes—Eliza Stevens, Centerville.

Best plate grapes—W. B. Flick.

Best collection garden vegetables—Eliza A. Stevens, Centerville.

Collection of Gladioli—Mrs. E. Y. Teas, Centerville, first.

Collection of Dahlias—Mrs. E. Y. Teas, first.

Collection of potted plants—Mrs. E. Y. Teas, first.

Flat Bouquet—Mrs. Mary J. Flick, first.

Resolutions Reported.

The committee on resolutions reported through the chairman, Sylvester Johnson in which thanks were tendered to the town council for the use of the town hall; to Mr. E. Y. Teas for his helpfulness in arranging for the meeting and all others that assisted in making the convention a success.

RICHMOND MEN IN LIST CONVICTED

Druggists of This City Among Those Fined for Selling Impure Summer Drinks.

SACCHARIN HAS BEEN USED

FOUR HUNDRED TIMES SWEET-ER THAN SUGAR, IT HAS NO PLACE IN PREPARATION OF FRUIT FLAVORINGS.

Indianapolis, Aug. 6.—The work of the food and drug department of the state board of health in regulating the sale of summer drinks which contain saccharin resulted in fourteen prosecutions and fines during the month of July. In these cases, bottlers and retailers were found guilty of selling such drinks as "the merry widow highball," strawberry pop, blood orange, "orchardade" and other concoctions which were sweetened with saccharin. The convictions were in Indianapolis, Vincennes, South Bend, Richmond, Kokomo and other cities.

"It is surprising," said H. E. Barnard, food and drug commissioner, yesterday, "that bottlers whose success depends on their ability to please the palate, will resort to the use of arti-

ificial coal tar sweeteners, the taste of which is so insistent and disgusting that the discriminating user would never again take a second bottle if he could help it.

Saccharin Destroys Business.

"Saccharin was formerly used by canners of corn and peas, who did not realize that they were damaging their business. But the desire for their goods was largely destroyed, and at the present time canned goods contain no such sweeteners and are again coming into public favor.

It is worthy of note that while manufacturers of saccharin insist on its use in this country, it is absolutely prohibited in England, Russia and Germany and not manufactured or imported into Belgium, France, Italy, Austria-Hungary and Spain.

"Not only is saccharin nauseating, because of its disgusting sweetness—it is 400 times as sweet as sugar—but it is a chemical preservative, and on that account, it has no place in food products.

"Sugar is a food of perhaps greater value than any other article of diet. A man might starve to death, if carried to extreme, while taking saccharin pop, and yet all the time he would be laboring under the delusion that he was taking sugar and being properly nourished."
