No. 100

A FRIENDLY REMINDER

Complaints have recently come to this office about the speed of interurban cars entering the city from the east. It is not that we think that the letter of the ordinance on speed should be strictly enforced, but it is certain that the Dayton Interurbans Richmond bound do avail themselves of the steep grade from Glen Miller to the center of town in a manner which is dangerous to the safety of the public.

We are aware that schedules are difficult to keep up when traffic is heavy and that the motorman is under a temptation (if not orders) to make up speed. That this should be done at the risk of life and limb is an unfortunate state. This criticism of the interurban company is entirely friendly and we hope that something may be accomplished in this way rather than in an attack which makes for bad feeling.

THE JOY COMPANY

Now and again the serious discussion arises in the "silly season" (which we are now in) of what to read and what to do. Editorial writers wax eloquent on five feet shelves of books or venture theories on avoiding sunstroke. The average man will unbut-ton his collar, kick off his shoes, and pick up a current magazine in the breeze of an electric fan. But we must confess now and then that we grow weary of the magazines and wish that they would stick to their business of amusing people and putting them in pleasant spirits rather than publishing muck-raking articles which bother the subconscious mind. Therefore the public owes a debt of gratitude to "Life" and to William Allan Wood of Indianapolis, for the subjoined article. As Mr. Wood is the author of a standard book on corporation law, we think he has done serious minded folk a service. It must have been something of this sort which led Mr. Gilbert Chesterton to say that what people who believe in plain living and high thinking need is a little high living and plain thinking. For them we publish the article on the most advanced corporation we know of and it is the best public service corporation yet promulgated.

ARTICLE I. NAME.

The name of this association shall be The Joy Company, Unlimited.

ARTICLE II. OBJECT.

The object of this association, in furtherance of the rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness and in the interest of good comradeship, is to promote the use of the easy chair, the stein, the soothing weed, and the story; by means of crackling logs in a broad fireplace, to incite to the geniality that knits closer the group of hearty talkers and contented listeners; to induce boisterous laughter, merry songs, lusty choruses, and strange, brave and romantic stories; to journey in the world of imagination and, though there be snow and storm outside, to wander in green forests, to gather the blossoms of the peach and hawthorn, to hear the night birds sing, the streamlets purr, the far-off harmony of piano and voice, to gaze on stars as thick as leaves of Vallambrosa, to have fond sweethearts, and to enjoy the lunarian rights and privileges of an Italian night in June; to enjoy all these rights and privileges in their seasons; to use such nicknames, terms of affection, handclaps and caresses as will promote good feeling and show the love and regard in which companions are held; to give words of praise and encouragement to one another, to assist one another in every way possible not inconsistent with our mutual strength and our personal sense of justice and to foster one another's confidence in strength of manhood and one another's hope of living up to high ideals and attaining high accomplishments; to preserve pleasant memories—the swimming pools and sand heaps of our youth, the roasting hill of winter days, the Crucifix and Alices of Wonderland that whiled away our evenings, the games of ball and the athletic contests, the riding, hunting and fishing parties, the luring dances, the lyric thrills of first love, the poets that expressed for us the bright and happy colors of life and the beauties of crowded hours, and all those carefree or inspiring memories of larger experiences, deeper emotions, more vivid passions and more intellectual avocations that make life rich, colorful and epic in our majority; to do all these things, and to do them before the world, so as to invite competition on the part of all mankind, that the profits of this association may be cumulative and perpetual.

ARTICLE III. HOME OFFICE.

The home office of this association shall be any place where there are a sufficient number of good fellows, two or more, to create warmth and delight by their presence.

ARTICLE IV. CAPITAL STOCK.

The capital stock of this association shall be unlimited, but an amount necessary to create an atmosphere of good cheer shall be sufficient for working capital, and shall be contributed by the members in such ways and proportions as they may see fit—provided the total is always enough to keep the association alive—and the profits shall be distributed according to each member's capacity to contribute and enjoy. All surplus profits shall be turned over to the world at large.

ARTICLE V. SEAL.

The seal of this association shall consist of the expression of faith and love, showing through a cordial smile, and shall be used whenever it is necessary to validate any of the acts of this association or of any of its members.

Again we thank Mr. Wood and Life.

Items Gathered in From Far and Near

In the Harvest Fields.

From the Baltimore American.

If the floating labor units in the great cities could be diverted to the great harvest fields of the northwest there would be double benefit of eliminating surplus labor at congested points and concentrating it at points of demand. The cry is being raised in Minnesota for not less than 10,000 hands to harvest the crops of that state and its sister, North Dakota. Despite the fact that excellent induc-ments in wages and opportunity for open-air and healthful employment are offered, it is exceedingly likely that the agriculturalists will suffer loss on account of scarcity of labor. Men out of work or working for $1.50 a day can go west and get $3.50. The agent of the Great Northern railroad is the authority for the statement of the case.
Wanted, 10,000 laborers in the harvest fields! This sounds well for the basic prosperity of the country and seems to carry with it a whiff of the returning good times that are predicted in connection with various promising outlooks. Fine weather, good crops and plenty of labor to harvest them mean more contentment because of fuller food supplies for the country at large. The labor need in these two great states indicates a general condition throughout the ranges of the west.

Schiller.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The celebration of the 150th anniversary of Schiller's birth succeeds the celebration of a like anniversary for Goethe just a decade ago. Of the two, Goethe is immeasurably the greater figure. Schiller has faded from the literary horizon of the English-speaking world while his loftier companion grows on the world with every generation. Yet the direct contemporary influence of Schiller on the literature of the English world was greater than Goethe's. It was Schil-ler's protest which roused Byron. It was the mystic melody of the author of "The Bell" which gave Wordsworth and Coleridge their metaphysical meditation. Bryant's introspective view of nature and Poe much of his lyrical outburst. "The Bells" is in the direct lineage of the poem of Schiller, though poles apart in verse and rhythm, similar in the effort to read human life into inanimate nature.
Schiller, the poet of freedom, did more than free Germany. He aroused a new note in England, felt in this country, and ode, metaphysical verse and play still respond, often unconsciously, to the distant echo of the poet our German fellow-citizens have for two days been celebrating.

GOES TO NEW YORK.

Milton, Ind., Aug. 9.—Earl Atkinson, who will appear as "Uncle John Thornycroft" in the performance of "Don't Tell My Wife," at Hurst's opera house, Cambridge City, tomorrow night, will leave for New York, soon, to begin rehearsals with David Higgins in Capt. Clay of Missouri.

Publishers of the Richmond Palladium:

An article which appeared in Saturday's issue of the Palladium under the caption, "School Quarrel On At Cambridge City," etc., does great injustice to all the parties mentioned, and to the management of the schools in general. We request, as school officials, that you publish the following statement:

There is not now, nor has there been any quarrel between the superintendent and principal of the Cambridge City high school, nor between the superintendent and the board of present year it became necessary for the superintendent to call attention to what he considered laxness in the government of the high school, and the matter later received consideration on the part of the board, but resignations were neither discussed or asked, as was thought by all concerned that teachers had sufficient power to correct the faults observed.

The organization of the school board has not been disrupted on account of these or any other differences, but in all matters pertaining to the management of the schools, the action of trustees and superintendent have been perfectly harmonious.

Dr. Boyd did not take sides with the teacher against the superintendent, nor has he resigned or refused to accept reappointment because of the incident mentioned. He has always loyally supported the superintendent in his administration of the school.
At the time of their organization in June, 1908, he signified to the trustees his intention to retire from the board at the end of the year, and gave as reasons for his decision that his practice, together with a large amount of outside business so claimed his time and attention that he could not longer with justice to himself and those associated with him, consent to serve in any official capacity. The statement that he retires from the board rather than occasion embarrassment to the other two members is absolutely without foundation, and wholly unwarranted.

We deplore the necessity for making the above statement, but feel that we should not remain quiet while the circumstances are being grossly misrepresented.

TO TELL OF CUSTOM

The customs and mannerism of the early Friends will be discussed at the open meeting of the Men's Social Union of the East Main Street Friends church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. A marriage ceremony of the early days will also be illustrated. Papers relative to Elizabeth Fry, Margaret Fox, wife of George Fox and the Gurney family will be read. At the close of the meeting light refreshments will be served. The meeting will be for women as well as men.

The standard from which the English yard measure is taken was the arm of King Henry I, which was exactly three feet in length.

TWINKLES

(By Philander Johnson.)

Succinctly Put.

"He dances beautifully," said the summer girl, "but he hadn't been here a week before he was engaged to be married."

"Ah!" replied Miss Cayenne; "he two-steps better than he side-steps."

Ill-Timed.

"You say my remarks were ill-timed?" said the natural born orator.

"Yes," replied the colleague. "They lasted over an hour when they should not have occupied ten minutes."

Not in His Set.

Grows haughty on discovering that The good professor they employ Is not a member of his "frat."

"Some folks is born lucky," said Uncle Eben, "an de man dat is born wif plain common sense is one of 'em."

Financial Information.

"So you at last yielded to that man's importunities and gave him some tips on the market?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax.
"What happened?"

"Well, they turned out so badly that I'm mighty glad I didn't invest any money on 'em myself."

Rotatory.

He—Yes, you were living in a cheap flat when I proposed to you.

She (reflectively)—A girl living in a flat doesn't get many chances.

He—And your sitting room was so very small that I had to open the outer door when I got down on my knees and let my feet stick out in the hall.

She (dreamily)—It doesn't seem possible, but your feet look just as large now as they did then.

He tries to think of something bitter to say and fails, whereupon he goes out hastily and slams the door behind him.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE ONLY WAY

Many Richmond Citizens Have Discovered It.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected, is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys and cures these troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Follow the example of this Richmond citizen and you will be convinced that this is so.

Mrs. James Henry Brokamp, 62
Sherman street, Richmond, Ind., says:

"Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family off and on for at least six years and they have brought such good results that we always keep a supply on hand. Whenever an attack of backache or any other symptom of kidney complaint appears, Doan's Kidney Pills are used and they never fail to bring relief. I have no hesitation in recommending this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

UNION PRINTERS

NOW IN SESSION

Members of the Ancient Guild Holding Convention at St. Joseph.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM

REPORTS OF PRESIDENT AND
SECRETARY-TREASURER SHOW THAT THE ORGANIZATION IS IN GOOD CONDITION.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 9.—The fifty-fifth convention of the International Typographical Union convened today in the Coliseum, St. Joseph's big convention hall. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Clayton, President Burnham, of the local typographical union and others, and a response by President Lynch, of the International Typographical Union, after which the convention began consideration of a large volume of business, ultimately adjourning until Tuesday morning to hear the report of the credentials committee on contested seats.
The reports of President Lynch and Secretary-Treasurer Hays show great progress made by the union during the last year.

Is 57 Years Old.

The International Typographical Union is fifty-seven years old, and with the present gathering has held fifty-five conventions during its lifetime. In 1896 and 1898 biennial conventions were held. The International Typographical Union claims to be the oldest national or international organization of skilled labor in the world.
Its sessions here this week are attended by three hundred delegates and eight hundred visitors.

Matters of importance that are to come before the convention are propositions for the establishment of an insurance feature, and certain changes proposed in the pension policy that was made effective by the union one year ago. The relations between the union and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association will also be up for consideration.

Has Many Features.

Union has many features that are unique with labor organizations, and which stamp this union as one of the most progressive in the labor field.
The pension policy, for instance, is distinctive with the International Typographical Union. Under the pension law, members who have reached the age of 60 years and are unable to secure sustaining employment at the trade are paid $4 per week. The payment of pensions has heretofore been considered the function of the government, but in this instance the union evidently believes that its veterans should be taken care of independent of state or nation. The payment of pensions began with the first of last August and up to May 31, when the union's fiscal year closed, $67,580 had been paid pensioners, while the administration of the fund had cost only $2,000.

Conducts a Home.

The union also conducts a home at Colorado Springs, and contributed during its fiscal year to this institution $86,518.31. The actual expense of conducting the Union Printers Home was $72,598.94, and there was a balance in the home fund of $32,337.63. The receipts and expenditures of the home from its inception to May 31, 1909, were $867,801.20 and $835,463.66. The home property at Colorado Springs is valued at $1,000,000.

The union pays a burial benefit of $75.

During the fiscal year there were amounted to $38,175.

For advertising its union label the union paid out $7,617.48.

The expenditures of the International Typographical Union during its fiscal year were $161,544.45.

From the year 1891 to 1909 the union received $6,188,045.75, and expended $5,950,898.90, this sum including the expense of conducting the Union Printers Home.

The union has a membership of 47,174.

The union also conducts a technical school at Chicago for the benefit of its members and apprentices who desire to perfect themselves in their trade.

The sessions of the convention will continue throughout the week.

TARIFF FIGHT ON CLEAR TO FINISH CUMMINS ASSERTS

said. "Of course the last contest in the house over the rules, which involved the speakership in a way, was a part of the general line of action of the republicans who believe as has been indicated here."

"It is hardly necessary for me to reiterate my personal position," the Iowa senator said. "That was covered fully and at length in a speech made during the closing hours of the tariff debate. My vote tells that story. I do not believe the tariff bill maintains the pledges made by the republican platform formulated in Chicago."

"Is the tariff law such a one as can be indorsed by an Iowa republican state convention?" he was asked.

Wants Pledge Fulfilled.

"That is hardly a question for me to answer at this time," he replied. "I have every confidence in President Taft. I believe he has an administrative policy thoroughly progressive.
The tariff law is a republican law and superior to any one that could be framed by the democrats. In my judgment President Taft will demand that it be administered fairly and equitably. With his cooperation and experience, the tariff commission can be secured which will furnish absolute and un-challengeable figures upon the actual cost of production of commodities in the United States and in foreign countries. Upon these figures the tariff schedules can be revised systematically where revision is necessary, always maintaining the protection principle."

"What immediate steps will be taken by the progressives?"

States the Issue Flatly.

"We shall present the issue flatly to every republican convention between the present and the national convention of 1912, where it is possible for the issue to be presented. That issue is: Shall the men now in control of party destinies be permitted further to disregard plain party declarations?"

Senator Cummins was emphatic in declaring that President Taft had exhausted every resource at his command in attempting to obtain honest tariff revision, such as had been offered in the Chicago platform, and that no blame justly attaches to the president because of the failure of congress to enact a law different from the Payne law.

The senator will depart for Des Moines this morning. It is his first trip to Iowa since he was elected to the senate for the long term last January. As to Iowa politics, he said:

"Never has there been a greater spirit of harmony within the republican party of Iowa than at present. The party is thoroughly united. There will be no factional attempt to defeat me because they are progressives or because they are standpaters. Iowa is in a state of absolute political peace."

Senator Cummins dined with Senator Borah of Idaho. During the evening in his apartments he was visited by several western congressmen on their journey home.

Lou—I declare, since I came back I'm quite another woman.

Sue—Oh, won't your husband be pleased!
