

RICHMOND SEES CONTESTANTS IN ENDURANCE TEST

Nearly One Hundred Motorcyclists Invaded the City This Afternoon Enroute to Indianapolis.

START AT CLEVELAND
YESTERDAY MORNING

D. P. Whitney Riding an Indian Car Was Only One Entering This City With a Perfect Score.

Richmond greeted the one hundred and five motorcyclists who passed through this city this noon and who are contestants for the medal offered for the best record established in the eighth annual motorcycle endurance and reliability run. The motorists started yesterday morning at Cleveland, Ohio and will reach Indianapolis this evening about 5 o'clock. The first man to check in at the Westcott hotel was D. P. Whitney, a well known racer.

The streets were thronged with people who witnessed the contestants arrive and depart. Much interest was taken in the event and more excitement than a little was furnished within the space of an hour by the fast departure of the motorists, a runaway and a narrow escape from serious accident experienced by one of the racers, and a smashup.

A single tree on the coach belonging to the Greene livery barn broke and the horses started up Main street at a fast rate of speed. However, before trouble or accident occurred, the team was stopped.

Racer Gets a Collar.
One of the racers started to cross the street car track at Ninth and Main street when he fell, sliding a distance of fifteen or twenty feet on the brick pavement. Bystanders who a moment before had rushed to get out of his way hurried to his assistance, expecting to find him seriously injured. However he jumped up, picked up his machine and started away to make up the lost time. At Sixteenth and Main streets a horse became frightened but did not cause any serious trouble. A Thor machine was wrecked at Foley's greenhouse on the Liberty pike. It was brought to the city.

Several of the men stated that the roads were bad, being very dusty and rough. This accounts for the number of accidents to machines the men have experienced. D. P. Whitney is the only man who entered this city who continued to have a perfect score. He was riding an Indian.

The worst part of the route was yet to come when the racers left this city. This was the hill country between this city and Liberty, and between Liberty and Connersville. The men were not expecting to get over these roads without suffering some more accidents to their machines.

A Few Accidents.
The trip so far has been made without serious accident to any of the racers. One man went over a ditch not far from Columbus while another ran into a buggy on the way from Cleveland to Columbus and broke his machine and damaged the buggy.

The hospitality accorded the visitors was commented upon by them. All arrangements had been made by the local officials. The Fall Festival association had a man distributing "turn-me-over" tags, advertising the festival.

The Westcott hotel was the headquarters. A stand was placed on the street, at which place the men had to register as they entered and also before they left. The racers had to check in and check out again at Liberty. The last place where they check in at Indianapolis, this evening, at which time the officials will score the cars and probably announce the results tomorrow. According to the rules the only repairs allowable without detracting from a perfect score, are tire repairs.

SHAMROCKS COMING

The Muncie Shamrocks will be the attraction at the Athletic park next Sunday, Aug. 15. They will be pitted against the Giants, an aggregation of colored ball players from this city and a fast game is promised. Seins and Benson will do the twirling for the Giants and Bromwell and Bailey for the Shamrocks.

HUNT MISSING GIRL

The police today were asked to keep a lookout for Berna Silver, a thirteen-year-old Dayton girl. She was said to have left Dayton on the 8 o'clock car. She was not aboard when the car arrived here. The police will keep watch for her, however, and if she is located she will be arrested and held as a runaway.

BEGGARS ARRESTED

Wade Bailey and Frank Turner, two Cincinnati youths, were in city court this afternoon for begging. The boys were arrested on complaint of a Main street merchant. He said a boy had visited his place and became rude when refused money. The merchant said neither of the two boys was the one who visited his store. The boys said they were stranded and the only thing they did was to go into a saloon and ask for a free lunch. Their stern defense and straightforward manner impressed the court favorably.

MILLER IS SECURED

Word has been received by Superintendent T. A. Mott from Prof. Guy D. Miller of the commercial department of the Braddock high school that he will accept the position of with the Central Business College of Chicago. Mr. Miller comes well recommended.

PETERS IS RELEASED.

Because he agreed to return the property and the injured parties did not care to prosecute, Otto Peters, a young boy, was released from police detention with a lecture. Peters stole a boat belonging to the son of Frank Fox. The Fox boy had left the boat on the river.

WHITESSELL DIES

AT THE HOSPITAL

Former Prominent Attorney Was Victim of Heart Disease.

AT EATHAVEN 3 YEARS

HE HAD BEEN UNCONSCIOUS FOR FOUR DAYS AND HIS DEATH WAS NOT UNEXPECTED—WELL KNOWN MAN.

Samuel C. Whitesell, aged 63, who at one time was one of the best known attorneys in this county, died early this morning at the Eastern Indiana hospital for the insane where he had been a patient for about three years. Death was due to chronic myocarditis which is an affection of the outer wall of the heart. His death has been expected at any time as he has been unconscious for four days.

Mr. Whitesell is survived by his son Frank, of Hagerstown, his wife and several brothers. The funeral will be held at the old family home two miles north east of Greensfork Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in the Riverside cemetery near Cambridge City.

Mr. Whitesell was admitted to the Wayne county bar about 35 years ago. He started by reading law in the office of Judge Henry C. Fox, who was then practicing law at Centerville. Mr. Whitesell located in Cambridge City and afterwards moved his office to this city. At one time he had considerable practice. At one time he was in the newspaper business. It is probable that several members of the local bar will attend the funeral.

ARREST I. WINBURN

An affidavit has been filed in the city court charging Isaac Winburn, colored with pointing a deadly weapon. The complaining witness is Jennie Morris, wife of John Morris. The police were first told of the case this morning, when Morris appeared at headquarters. He claimed it was not the first time Winburn had attempted to terrorize his wife. The Morris couple lives at 433 1/2 Main street.

The police say that Winburn has been troublesome among the women. He has not been in any serious trouble and does not have a police record of any length. It is probable he will be arraigned in city court tomorrow.

BRUNSON RETURNED

Orville Brunson, secretary of the boy's department of the Y. M. C. A. who accompanied a party of local young men and also some from Kokomo and Marion to the summer Y. M. C. A. school at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, is expected home today. On the way back he stopped off at Lake Winona to study the organization of the boy's city there. As a similar organization is to be effected here, the information he secured will be of much interest.

A KEROSENE VICTIM

(American News Service)
Booneville, Ind., Aug. 11.—Mrs. Edward Day, living five miles southeast of Booneville, is dead of frightful burns received while rekindling a fire with kerosene oil yesterday. Her ten year old son Harold was seriously burned. Her husband's hands will have to be amputated because of burns received while trying to rescue Mrs. Day. Two other children asleep in bed were carried to safety before the house and contents were burned to the ground.

GOVERNMENT TUG GOES TO BOTTOM

In Gloucester Harbor, Craft Sinks and Four Were Drowned.

EIGHT ESCAPED IN BOAT

WIFE OF THE CAPTAIN AND HER YOUNG SON WERE RESCUED BY SAILORS AFTER BEING WASHED OVERBOARD.

(American News Service)
Boston, Aug. 11.—The government tug Nodinscot sank off Thatcher's Island, Gloucester Harbor, early today. Assistant surgeon Charles E. Cropper, of the navy service, Machinist Belle, Seaman Edwards and Charles White, the cook, were drowned. Nine persons including Captain Thomas Evans and wife were rescued by the life saving crews. The Nodinscot left Portsmouth at three o'clock this morning with a cargo, anchors, chains and a searchlight for the battleship Missouri. They encountered a tremendous gale.

Reached the Shore.
The captain's wife and their fourteen year old son and five members of the crew escaped in a boat and after rowing five miles in heavy seas, reached land in an almost exhausted condition. The Nodinscot was driven onto the rocks by a gale. The captain and his wife and son were washed overboard. The captain shouted to the seamen to save his wife and child which Seaman Bitters did by jumping into the sea and dragging them into a small boat. For the time being, Captain Evans, surgeon Cropper and Seaman Traylor were supposed to have gone to the bottom and were reported as drowned. Later they were picked up by a life saving crew three miles from the scene of the wreck. They were found floating on a piece of wreckage and were barely alive.

Those American Heroes.

An illuminating story of industrial warfare.

The other day I happened to see in a paper, meant only for the eyes of employers an interesting story of war.

It was a reprint of the annual report of the Chicago and Great Western railway, in which it gives an account of how it broke a strike. It says it "resorted to professional strike breakers who are willing to work during excitement and danger, but who refuse to work after the excitement and danger are over."

"They are poor mechanics," the report says, "and always demand high pay. The company paid them two months the wages which the strikers had demanded and, in addition, furnished them with board and lodging within the company's barracks."

"The strike breakers are recruited from all parts of the country by means of advertisements in the newspapers and through employment bureaus. Fully 90 per cent of the strike breakers," the report says, "knew nothing about machinery and had to be got rid of, but that was not easy."

"The first batch discharged consisted of about 100 men, who refused to leave the barracks, made themselves a fort within the company's barracks and, producing guns and knives, refused to budge. The company's fighting men after a day or two forced them out of the barracks into a special train, which carried them underground to Chicago."

After going into details about the incompetence of the strike breakers and the methods used for breaking the strike the report says, "The fighting men have been discharged and the barricades removed."

This is what is called law and order. It is not evidence. It is a gentle, peaceable effort on the part of the employers to protect honorable men seeking work from villainous union thugs who demand higher wages and better conditions of work.

That's what the papers tell us. The facts are the company refuses decent wages, puts up barricades, goes over the country and hires ex-convicts, prizefighters and lodging house bums, with guns in their hip pockets and knives in their belts. It employs these men to run their business and to incite war. The police, the militia and the courts, with the aid of ex-convicts, prizefighters and lodging house bums, stand by the company in the interest of property and civil war.

Honest workmen trying to better the condition of their families are met by this combination of capital, crime and government.

The strike breakers are not there to work, but to fight. They are the Bowery type, readers of dime novels, itching to use a gun. They have no wives and children. They have no interest in honest industry and have no intention of working a day longer than the excitement and warfare continue.

This is the type of man that President Eliot of Harvard university calls the American hero.

These thugs, ex-convicts and prizefighters he imagines are fighting for a great principle. They refuse to abide the tyranny of association with their fellows and stand up, as free American citizens should, to maintain the right to work when, how and where they like.

Isn't it delightful? And the best of it is that the railroads tell the story in their official report.

And what a combination it is of the predatory and the parasite! Think of idle stockholders, a capitalist government and professional criminals joining together in this holy war against the tyranny of unions of decent, hard-working, honorable men who by their labor produce the wealth of the world.—Robert Hunter.

TRIES A LONG SWIM

Montague Holbein Tries to Cross English Channel Again Today.

WEBB IS RECORD HOLDER

(American News Service)
Dover, Eng., Aug. 11.—Montague Holbein, the famous long distance swimmer, accompanied by another swimming expert named Stearn, started today to swim across the English channel. This was Holbein's fifth attempt to swim the channel and on some of his previous trips he had narrow escapes from drowning. In his most recent attempt he was in the water 22 hours, but became so weakened that he lost consciousness and his guides could not make him understand directions.

Capt. Matthew Webb who is the only man who ever held the record for swimming the channel, although Holbein has been trying for ten years to make the journey.

The fact that the famous swimmer would make another attempt today was not generally known but the news leaked out at the last moment and a great crowd gathered to see him. His body was greased and his head encased in a queer-shaped helmet designed to keep the water out of his eyes and ears.

JOHN TAYLOR DEAD

John W. Taylor aged 68 years, who was the oldest man in the railway service of the Adams Express company from the standpoint of service, died this morning at 1 o'clock at his home 314 North A street. Mr. Taylor retired from the service last spring. He has been in feeble health for some time. He was prominent in Richmond lodge of Odd Fellows.

PYTHON BITES HIM

(American News Service)
Peru, Aug. 11.—A monster python, twenty-seven feet long, escaped from his den here this morning. Gus Lambrigger of Orville, Ohio, banker and showman, attempted to capture the reptile. He was bitten on the arm nine times and nearly crushed to death. It required seven men to rescue him. The scene created consternation among the large crowd in the tent.

ORATORY IS TO END

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Articles were signed this afternoon for a heavy-weight championship fight between Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson. Twenty to a hundred rounds is provided. The side bet is five thousand dollars. Division, sixty and forty per cent, or seventy-five and twenty-five per cent of the purse at the option of Jeffries.

FIND TWO BODIES.

(American News Service)
New Kensington, Pa., Aug. 11.—Clasped in each others arms the bodies of Frankie Gardner, eight years of age and Henry Hartwig, the same age, were found in the waterworks reservoir today. Indications are that one boy lost his life trying to rescue the other.

W. L. BAKER MAKES

DEFENSE FOR SELF

School Supply Agent Issues Publication on the Local Case.

JORDAN RECEIVES A COPY

AUTHOR STATES THAT THE WAYNE COUNTY INCIDENT HAS BORNE GOOD FRUIT—APPROVES HIS SYSTEM.

Supt. Jordan has received a copy of a publication put out in the interest of the W. L. Baker School and Road Supply company in which attention is called to the recent episode concerning school supplies in this county. It will be remembered that Mr. Baker engineered the attempted coup whereby bidders were to agree upon a uniform scale of prices in bidding for township contracts. The attempted combination failed and Baker became nonplused by the result of his effort. He resented the publicity afterward given the affair and wrote letters to the trustees and superintendent protesting against such publicity.

Baker's Statement.
In his paper Baker attempts to put the stamp of approval on his scheme by asserting Governor Marshall aids the attempt to prevent overbidding and underbidding. He says the Wayne county incident has borne good fruit. The article is a criticism on the blank forms now being furnished the trustees. These forms are held up for ridicule through the use of satire. It is the class of forms specified by the state to which Baker takes exception.

Touching upon the question of newspaper publicity, as an evident reflection of the affair in this county, the paper says: "Many prominent citizens participate in the sentiment that it is exceedingly bad taste for the board to act on the gossip of a newspaper report or to deal with the public through the columns of a newspaper. The law requires the township to pay over $45,000 per year for printing their annual reports in a newspaper and this should be sufficient and it is generally deemed sufficient publicity without transacting all of the public business through the columns of the public press especially as it is. It cannot be presented in a manner the public can understand even if interested."

Was Vicious Horse
"Let 'em kick." Tom Butler, the horse shoer lives up to his reputation. This afternoon in an attempt to shoe a horse belonging to O. H. Little, liveryman, it required Butler, with the aid of three men, three hours to shoe the horse. It kicked, bucked, bit and did every other mean stunt which it knew how to do.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

The Combined Municipal Research committee will meet this evening for the purpose of considering the franchise of the Richmond City Waterworks Company. The committee includes Pettis A. Reid, Timothy Nicholson and William Dudley Foulke of the Commercial club, R. G. Leeds of the Young Men's Business club, Prof. N. C. Heinonius of the West Richmond Improvement association, and John Hanseman of the South Side Improvement Association.

DYNAMITE WAS USED

Stumps at the Chautauqua Grounds Are Being Removed Now.

PREPARE FOR WHITE CITY

In order to clear the chautauqua grounds of stumps for the seventh annual assembly, which opens in Glen Miller park August 20 and remains in session until August 29, dynamite is being used. One very large stump was removed this morning by such means. It was necessary to put in an extra heavy charge to remove it, owing to its size. When the load was set off the stump was blown in fragments some going as high as the tops of the surrounding trees.

The floors for the tents are being laid today and the tents will be set in position tomorrow. Campers will be permitted to move into their summer homes next Monday and thus be given opportunity to enjoy two weeks camping privileges.

ALLISON A SCOTCHMAN

Robert Allison, who says he is Scotch and that he came from the old country was released in city court this afternoon upon promise to leave the city within an hour. He was arrested for drunk.

KILLED RESOLUTION.

The board of works this morning killed the resolution providing for a cement roadway in the first alley south of Main between Eighth and Ninth streets.

Industrial Education.
John Golden of Fall River, president of the United Textile Workers of America, speaking on "The Educational Need From the Viewpoint of Organized Labor," said in part: "I served on a commission a few years ago, appointed by Governor Douglas of Massachusetts, composed of representatives from the state board of education, employers' associations, trades unions, agricultural associations, etc., its duties being to make a thorough investigation as to the needs of industrial education in Massachusetts."

"Whatever doubts I might have had in my mind as to the need of such education were dispelled very quickly after we started to make our investigation. For instance, we found that 55,000 persons in Massachusetts alone were seeking to acquire knowledge of this character through the aid of the various correspondence schools."

Want a World Federation.
The executive committee of the American Federation of Labor, recently in session in New York city, adopted the following: "Resolved, That the international trades union congress recommends to the trades union centers (general trades union federation or congresses) of all countries the discussion of the proposition of establishing an international federation of labor, the autonomy of the trades union movement of each country being ordained and guaranteed, the purpose of the federation being for the protection and advancement of the rights, interests and justice of the wage-workers and the establishment of international fraternity and solidarity."

The Compelling Power.
Through all the years of trades union effort it has been well known that in solidifying the ranks of labor the lash of the employer has been more potent than the preaching of the organizer.
