Cook's Brother Predicts He Will Try for the South Pole.

CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

New York, Sept. 3.—Confident of the ability of Dr. Frederick A. Cook to accomplish what he set to do, his brother, William L. Cook, when seen at his home, 749 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, said that "Fred" would undoubtedly set out to reach the south pole after a period of rest with his family here.

Plans to Conquer South. William Cook said that "Fred" would never be content until he accomplished this, as he had taken part in one antarctic expedition which had failed.

"I fully believe that he will attempt to reach the antarctic pole," said William Cook this afternoon. You remember that he was on an antarctic expedition first. It failed. Now that he has reached the north pole, I believe he will continue, and I am confident that he will reach it. I think he will merely come here long enough to meet his family and rest and then start out after the south pole."

Brother Is Calm. Mr. Cook was rather calm for the brother of a man whose name has been blazoned around the world. He is a hearty man, with four girls and two boys. He lives above his milk depot, on Bedford avenue, and while the sons and daughters could not restrain their enthusiasm for "Uncle Fred," the brother was smiling, but cool.

"No, I am not surprised by the announcement," said William Cook. "Of course, at first it was something of a sensation, but when I remembered Fred's capabilities I realized it was the thing I should have expected and have expected all along."

cal experts of the reliability of his observations and reports.

Puts it Up To Dr. Cook.

"We trust that when the proper time comes for a full and impartial examination of the record of the expedition Dr. Cook will meet with the fairness and consideration his particular case especially invites."

"If Dr. Cook," the Morning Post says, "has found a new track to the pole in so short a time as 35 days others can follow in his footsteps and verify his story for themselves. When the matter has been settled beyond all doubt the civilized world will acclaim Cook as one of the greatest explorers of all times."

Dr. Hugh N. Hill, former librarian of the Royal Geographical society, is rather skeptical, but says that great weight must be attached to the opinion of pole explorers in America.

"I should particularly like to know General Greeley's opinion," he said. "My own feeling is that our present information is insufficient to base any opinion upon."

END OF A RED NOSE.

New Flesh-Colored Product That Heals and Hides Skin Imperfections.

A peculiar feature of poslam, a new skin discovery, is that it is naturally flesh-colored and contains no grease, so that when used on the face for the complexion, or for pimples, red noses, or any other inflammations, blemishes, or discolorations, its presence cannot be detected. It can thus be applied in the daytime, the natural color of the skin being immediately restored and the actual healing and curing process accomplished in a few days. It can be had of any pharmacist who sells pure drugs. W. H. Sudhoff make a specialty of it. Fifty cents' worth will answer either for the troubles mentioned or in curing ordinary cases of eczema. Itching stops at once.

The Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York, are the sole dispensing agents for poslam in the United States and will send an experimental quantity free by mail in plain wrapper to all who write for it. This will show results after an over-night application.

SCHOOL AT CHURCH

Owing to the inability of the contractors to complete the Middleborough school house, located in Wayne township, about six miles north of the city, the school in this district, which opens Monday, will be held in the Middleborough church or in a nearby residence. Township trustee Howarth stated this morning that he would endeavor to secure permission to use the church and that he expected he would be successful. It will not be long until the school can be held in the new building, as the contractor believes that he will have it completed in the course of ten days or two weeks.

SENDS THEM CAKES

Miss Ella Quinlivan, who was married Wednesday morning to Mr. Schooley, was a bookkeeper for the D. L. Mather Lumber and Fuel company for ten years. She remembered the employees of the company by sending them two large wedding cakes which they greatly appreciated.

by an expert. The pin was valued at about $2, it is said. Mr. Kringer notified the police immediately but the case is a difficult one and it is considered very doubtful that the swindler will ever be apprehended.

PRICE STAYS HIGH

Stock buyers do not look for the present high prices of cattle and hogs to decrease for several weeks yet, or until the new corn is in condition to feed. This will be good news to the farmers, many of whom are feeding large numbers of swine. The best price paid for hogs by local stock buyers this year is $8 per hundred pounds, live weight. Local farmers who have been selling to buyers have not commanded this price in the past ten years.

SHE IS RECOVERING.

Mrs. Roy Stratton is rapidly recovering from an operation which she underwent at Reid Memorial Hospital, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Estelle of Dayton are guests in this city.

Miss Hilda Shute will go to Williamsburg Monday, where she will teach school this year.

Baltimore Standard Oysters and New York Counts at Price's.

Miss Edith Bowman and Miss Ethel Thomas will go to Cambridge City Saturday.

Mr. Malcolm Robbins has gone to Hagerstown for a few days' visit.

Mr. Edward Harris, Mr. Will Reller and Mr. Charles Morgan were guests at Connersville this afternoon.

Charles Cogshall of New Mexico, formerly of this city, is the guest of friends and relatives in this city.

Price's are again handling fresh Oysters and they are nice.

CARD OF THANKS.

To our friends and neighbors who so kindly and generously extended help and sympathy during the sickness and death of our youngest son, we wish to express our thanks, and trust that your path through life may be strewn with the choicest of God's blessings, with but few of the sorrows that fall to the lot of many.

MR. AND MRS. C. S. TAYLOR.

KNOLLENBERG'S STORE

An advertisement may not always interest all the readers of a paper, but if it attracts the attention of a few who are interested, the advertiser may be amply repaid for his outlay and at the same time have pleased a customer.

This time we wish to say a few words about

SILKS

New, fresh Silks, just from the loom, some of the prettiest things of the season. We have been showing a few of the many styles in our large show window, but there are too many of them to show the large collection. However, we have them all ready for inspection in the store, and it will be our pleasure to have you step inside to see them. Such beautiful designs and colorings in suitable for Waists we have never before been able to show to the trade. We regard them exceptional good values at $1.00 per yard.

Fancy Taffeta Silks

Then we have some very excellent new things in Persian Effects; the colorings are choice and the price only $1.25 per yard.

In Plain Colored Taffeta, Messaline and other weaves, our assortment of Silks is fine.

Our Black Silks we regard the best values obtainable. Where to get them of better quality at the prices, we do not know. We have them in various widths and grades, prices always in keeping with width and quality of the goods. Now is unquestionably the time to buy in order to get the work out early.

Dressmakers will all soon reopen their work-rooms and be prepared to get the work out promptly.

We again invite inspection; we are at your service.

THE GEO. H. KNOLLENBERG COMPANY

WILL CLOSE EARLY

County superintendent of instruction C. W. Jordan stated this morning, that the teachers of the county district schools which open next Monday would be notified to close school early that date. This is due to the fact that Labor Day is a national holiday and it is the common practice to give the students of the public schools advantage of an additional vacation day on such holidays.

PAID FOR HIS SCARE.

Napoleon's Reward to the Maker of a Bullet Proof Coat.

Just before Napoleon set out for the court of Belgium he sent to the cleverest artisan of his dress in Paris and demanded of him whether he would engage to make a coat of mail to be worn under the ordinary dress which would be absolutely bullet proof, and that if so he might name his own price for such work. The man engaged to make the desired object, if allowed proper time, and he named 18,000 francs as the price of it. The bargain was concluded, and in due time the work was produced and its maker honored with the second audience of the emperor. "Now," said the imperial majesty, "put it on." The man did so. "As I am to stake my life on its efficacy you will, I suppose, have no objection to do the same."

And he took a brace of pistols and prepared to discharge one of them at the breast of the astonished artisan. There was no retreating, however, and half dead with fear he stood the fire, and to the infinite credit of his work, with perfect impunity. But the emperor was not content with one trial. He fired the second pistol at the back of the trembling artisan, and afterward discharged a fowling piece at another part of him, with similar effect. "Well," said the emperor, "you have produced a capital work undoubtedly. What is the price of it?" Eighteen thousand francs was named as the agreed sum. "There is an order for them," said the emperor, "and here is another for an equal sum for the fright that I have given you."

SAVAGE BLUEFISH.

They Act Like Sheep Killing Dogs Among the Ewes.

All unseen, a desperate tragedy was in full swing. A horde of blue thugs was harrying a crowding mass of helpless mutton bunks, as was attested by a greasy streak on the surface and floating fragments of the fish which had been chopped in two by powerful and merciless jaws, writes Edwyn Sandys in Recreation. This is the way of the blue. Among the schools of small fry he is like a dog among sheep; he seems to slay from sheer lust of slaughter. The slippers later declared that a bluefish was crum itself to the jaws with sections of its victims, then when there is room for no more, eject the mangled mass and begin all over again.

This may or may not be true, but certain it is that the blue is possessed of an appalling voracity, which the fragments of its victims do not seem to satisfy. The terms know this, hence their close attendance when the carnage begins. While nature often seems to work in a savage mood and to impel her creatures to what may look like outrageous slaughter, a little of close observation seldom fails to discover a method in the apparent madness. The terms and other sea fowl are grateful for all scraps that float, while on the bottom hide the slow moving scavengers, ready to take care of whatever sinks their way. Nothing is wasted, and the lobster, crab and other bottom feeders must bless the name of the bluefish.

Succulent Gum Drop is Real Conqueror of the North Pole

New York, Sept. 3.—The succulent gum drop, the kind for which the youthful heart and tummy yearns, and the despoiled confection of days of discretion, the kind that the suburban grocer sells three for a penny and the wholesaler will practically give away, was the vehicle on which Dr. Frederick A. Cook rode to fame and fortune when he planted the Stars and Stripes at the north pole.

Had it not been for the gum drop, Dr. Cook would probably still be wander-dering about polar regions wondering how he could get back and the coveted point would be still impatiently awaiting the advent of Peary or some other explorer who had found a substitute for the candy.

At least that is what John R. Bradley of New York says, and he ought to know. He financed the Cook expedition and bought the gum drops that discovered the pole.

Mr. Bradley said today: "This was no haphazard expedition, no intensified joy ride undertaken on nerve. We went about our preparations for this thing quietly and without bands, but every contingency was provided for."

"Dr. Cook knew that for him to be successful he had to completely win over the Eskimos of Ellesmere Land, from which he was to make his final dash. By his long arctic experience the doctor knew that there is but one thing that will completely win an Eskimo. He will do much for a box of axle grease, and a can of kerosene will be as much appreciated by him as a jolt of Bourbon by a confirmed toper on the morning after, but the finality of Eskimo happiness is achieved when he can wrap his teeth about a gum drop."

"We ordered two barrels of the confection and were positive that whether the dogs gave out, the sledges broke down, or the ice melted, as long as the gum drops lasted, success was assured."

"Dr. Cook evidently gorged them on gum drops. When the Eskimos gave signs of falling the sight of a big, jelly-like, scarlet-hued gum drop made them make Edward Payson Weston's walking record look like a June bug in a flock of ducks. 'Two gum drops if we do thirty miles today,' Cook would promise, and the Eskimos would break a record."

THE THEATER

"The Red Mill."

Such howls and roars of laughter as those which greet Bert O. Swor and Frank Woods when they appear in the opening of the second act of "The Red Mill" dressed as two Italian troubadours, with the hand organ and monkey, have probably never been duplicated in an American city, and when they commence their wrangling over the lost sixty cents the audience is so rapt in attention that the fall of a pin might be heard.

"Heiress of the Lindens."

Mr. Elwyn Eaton has gathered a company of much merit in support of Miss Bessie Wright who is appearing in the title role of "The Heiress of the Lindens" which plays a matinee and night performance at the Gennett theater on Saturday. Popular prices prevailing.

Snake's Sense.

That the snake bite has a sixth sense by which it finds its mate in the woods and unerringly trails its prey is the belief of a man who is a special student of snakes. The seat of this sense of direction is supposed to be the curious forked tongue, which can have none of the uses to which the tongue is usually applied, but is a feeler and more and is incessantly darting about as the snake travels. A lizard was seen to come from beneath a house in the woods, take a zigzag course and disappear under a box ten feet away. Two minutes later a black snake appeared, passed over the lizard's exact course, keeping the tongue constantly seeking the trail, and, darting under the box, quickly emerged with the lizard in its jaw. Many other observations seem to prove that the tip of the tongue is the guide.—Exchange.

CARD OF THANKS.

Friends that are so ready to assist and give aid and comfort to those whom the grim reaper of death has visited and taken from our home the most precious jewel of all, our dear wife and mother, and when the heart is wrung with anguish, friends that are then ever ready and willing to render such kindly aid and assistance as all our neighbors have so readily and willingly done, to all these kind friends we offer our heartfelt thanks and lasting remembrance.
