Yesterday was a great day for baseball. Double headers were played in most cases in both of the big leagues and local lovers of the sport are rejoicing over the fact that in practically every instance their favorites won. In no case did the teams split even in the double header, but one team won both games wherever two games were played. This is a very unusual feature in baseball and rarely occurs.

Perhaps the double header between Pittsburgh and Chicago yesterday caused greater interest among local fans than any other two games. The Cubs took both games from the Pirates by the scores of 6-3 and 6-2, thus increasing their fight for the National league pennant seventeen points. The race is very exciting between these two teams and the result will apparently be in doubt until the final game is played.

Cincinnati won a pair from St. Louis yesterday, 6-1 and 6-5. This puts the Reds in fourth place stronger than ever and practically clinches their hold on the first division. Washington lost two to Philadelphia at the Quaker City. In the afternoon game the Athletics, after apparently losing the game batted out three runs in the ninth inning, tying the score. Another run in the tenth won the game 6 to 5. The morning game was a walk away, 8 to 2.

St. Louis lost a couple to Detroit by the scores of 7-1, 9-8. Bush, shortstop for the Tigers, and a local favorite, made five errors in both games, the only errors made by Detroit. Owing more than made up for his errors by getting a couple of hits in each game. By the Athletics and the Tigers each winning two games, the rivalry between these two teams grows all the better.

Several Richmond people went to Indianapolis yesterday and saw Indianapolis take two from Louisville, 3-2, 7-1. The Champs have been playing consistent ball recently and have been steadily climbing the ladder. A short time ago they were in last place, but by winning two yesterday they now occupy fourth position.

PEARY HURRYING HOME WITH PROOF THAT HE ALSO HAS FOUND POLE

and figures and instruments to the Rector Magnificus and faculty of the University of Denmark, (the Royal University of Copenhagen,) a body of scientists thoroughly familiar with polar exploration.

Cook Still Confident.

"I know I am right and confident their verdict will sustain the accuracy of my observations."
"I decline to be held responsible for the varying stories of my interview with the correspondents at Copenhagen, and am sure that if the interview was telegraphed as given, it would be found to agree with and sustain in every detail my story of the discovery of the North Pole."

"While retaining the highest respect for the courageous explorers who are unconvinced, I decline to engage in a controversy with them, their friends or members of their families."
It was thought that Dr. Cook might show some bitterness against those who accepted the word of Commander Peary over his own, but he did not.

SKULL CRUSHED.

Old lady Anderson of Forbes St., this city was found with her skull crushed in. The cause of the accident was unknown but it is more than probable that, after years of back breaking work over the washboard, she had just heard of rub-a-lac and the information had struck her with unusual force. Rub-a-lac is the most talked of article on the market today. Better try it. For sale by all grocers.

Leading Writers Who Furnish the Winter Entertainment

These gentlemen are all well known playwrights, who forgetting professional rivalry, recently took part in the Lambs' Gambol in New York. They posed especially for this picture. From left to right, standing: Charles Klein, George V. Hobart, Edwin Milton Royle, George Broadhurst and Augustus Thomas; seated, on the left, Eugene Presbrey; on the right, David Belasco.

STOLE BASE; UNCONSCIOUS

Chicago, Sept. 7.—The strain of stealing to third base and the excitement attendant upon the play is believed to have overcome John Hosang, who is now unconscious in a local hospital. He is a member of the Hamburg amateur baseball team. During a game he dashed from second to third base, just beating the ball, which was thrown by the catcher of the opposing team. He was called safe, but instead of arising lay still on the ground. He was taken to the hospital, where his case has proved a puzzle, as an examination showed no signs of physical injury.

CATE'S REPORTS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 7.—Eli Cate, a former Milwaukee pitcher, and leader of the Winona baseball team in the Wisconsin-Minnesota league, has reported to the manager of the Milwaukee American association team for duty.

A Gentle Turndown.

Robinson (to Jones)—I say, old man, have you a loose liver about you?
Jones—Why—er—would you believe it, I met Smith just now, and he had the nerve to ask me for it.
Robinson—He got it, of course?
Jones—No, he didn't. I told him I owed it to you.
Robinson—Ah!
Jones—But I did I was mistaken. I don't owe you a sou. I've paid up every cent I've borrowed of you and promise you here and now never to pester you again for money. It was a shame—a beastly shame—but don't be alarmed. It'll not occur again. Good day!
Robinson (dizzily)—Good day, sir!—Punch.

PICNIC A SUCCESS

The South Side Improvement association held a picnic yesterday afternoon and evening at the Bealview park. Despite the threatening weather a large crowd attended and engaged in the festivities. A merry-go-round afforded amusement for the children and did a thriving business. A sumptuous lunch was served at 6 o'clock.

One Virtue.

Among the prisoners brought before a Chicago police magistrate one Monday morning was one, a beggar, whose face was by no means unfamiliar one to the judge.
"I am informed that you have again been found begging in the public streets," said his honor sternly, "and yet you carried in your pocket over $10 in currency."
"Yes, your honor," proudly returned the mendicant. "I may not be as industrious as some; but, sir, I am so spendthrift."—Exchange.

CONDITION IMPROVES

George Sheets, Who Lost Both Legs, Getting Along Nicely at Hospital.

THE AMBULANCE CRITICISM

George Sheets, the young brakeman from Xenia, Ohio, who had both his legs cut off in the Pennsylvania railroad yards, Sunday night, is reported today as getting along nicely. Sam Roberts, driver of the ambulance, seems to think that the statement made by the physicians to the effect that the proper care was not given to Sheets when he was placed in the ambulance, applied directly to him. Such is not the case, however. Roberts is merely the driver and is not supposed to act in the capacity of a physician, as he was not even notified of the extent of the man's injuries until his arrival at the hospital. The physicians were simply deploring the fact that an extra man was not sent along to administer medical aid to the injured man and attend to his injuries while enroute to the institution.

Satire.

At a diplomatic reception in Washington a lady on being complimented on her exquisite French told a little story about a senator whose French (acquired in twelve phonographic lessons) is by no means exquisite.

The senator, fresh from one of his phonographic recitals, pounced upon an undersecretary of the French legation at a dinner.

"Monsieur," he said, "eska—ah—eska voo—eska voo voo—ly ma—voo voo—ly ma dunny."
"My dear senator," the secretary interrupted, "do, I beg you, stop speaking French. You speak it so well—ah, so very, very well—it makes me homesick."

Pigeon's word of wounded Mate.
A farmer standing outside his farm house saw a pair of his pigeons fly away. Shortly afterward he heard a shot, and the pigeons did not return in the course of the afternoon, as he had expected. In the evening, however, the cock pigeon returned in order to feed the young, and, having seen to this, he again flew away.

The following forenoon the same pigeon returned, helped itself to some corn strewn in the yard and again disappeared. Between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon both pigeons returned and it was then ascertained that the hen bird had one wing badly hurt by shot, but owing to its mate's care and perseverance it ultimately managed to return to its nest.—London Field.

WELL POSTED.

A Sermon That Won the Preacher a Warm Recommendation.
Dublin produces a type of old woman as peculiar to the city as its jaunting cars.

"Och, Biddy," says one pronounced specimen to another as they met in O'Connell street on a Monday morning, "were you not down at Arran quay chapel last night to hear the sermon?"

"No, jewel, I was not there. What was the sermon about?"
"Ah, the finest sermon on hell you ivir heard from a young priest called Father Clancy, the darlinest young man you ivir set eyes on, and him just ordained the other day!"

"Arrah, go on, woman! What would a young man like that know about hell?"

"Know about hell, is it? He knows more about hell than all the priests in Dublin. I declare, if you were listenin' to him, you would think he was born and reared in it."
