GRAND JURY GIVEN INSTRUCTIONS AND TAKES UP LABOR

should consider. Repairs and additions should be made without parsimony on the one hand or a needless extravagance on the other. An amount should be appropriated and expended by the proper authorities to provide comfortable and appropriate quarters for persons who are restrained of their liberty and confined in jail.

Building at infirmary.
"The suggestion has been made that a building be erected at the county infirmary in which to keep and confine insane persons. As far as insane persons who are committed to the custody and care of the sheriff, this plan is objectionable. The infirmary is located in the country, several miles from Richmond. To place insane persons who are in the custody of the sheriff at this point, would be to take them from his personal supervision and care and yet continue his responsibility for their safe keeping. Further, in the light of experience, it may well be inferred that the persons who would be placed in immediate charge, would not be experienced nor well qualified to discharge the duties that would be cast upon them, and this would be undesirable.

"It has likewise been suggested that a new jail and sheriff's residence be erected on modern lines on a site different from the present location of the jail. The objectionable feature to this plan is that it would greatly increase the county indebtedness and this is not desirable at this time. It would likewise result in an abandonment of our present jail and sheriff's residence, which is a valuable and substantial building, and is in many respects, well located.

The Best Plan Suggested.
"Still another plan has been suggested, and that is, to build an addition to the present jail, so constructed as to furnish proper accommodations for the insane, male and female, and also for the detention of juvenile offenders, when required. This proposed plan I direct your special attention and advise you to investigate it carefully. If this plan is practical and will be less expensive than the other plans suggested, it should, in my judgment, be recommended. When I say this, however, you will understand that I am speaking advisory only, as it is for you to make and report your own conclusions after carefully investigating the facts."

The Liquor Violations.
Concerning the alleged liquor violations in the county, the judge said: "Complaints are being made that the temperance laws of the state are being violated in different parts of the county. It will be your duty to investigate this matter as this court has jurisdiction in the premises. It is now well settled that the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage is a proper subject for legislation. Such use may be legalized and regulated or it may be entirely prohibited. It has been decided by a majority vote that the liquor traffic may, for the present, be licensed and made lawful in certain parts of this county. As to whether this is morally right or wrong is a question for the individual conscience, and not the courts to decide, as the courts must accept and enforce the law as they find it. A number of townships in this county have been made "dry" by remonstrance. Here the sale of intoxicating liquors cannot be licensed or made lawful. Without a license, no man can vend intoxicating liquors to be used as a beverage anywhere in the state. If a man obtains a license as required by law to engage in the liquor traffic, then intoxicating liquors become a legitimate article of merchandise in his hands within the limits of his license. The rights given him by his license, however, are restricted. He must confine his operations to the premises described in his license. He can sell nowhere else. He cannot sell between the hours of eleven o'clock at night and five o'clock in the morning. He is forbidden to sell on election days, legal holidays and on the Sabbath day. He cannot sell to minors nor intoxicated persons. He is required to conduct his place of business in an orderly manner. He must keep his place closed during the time he is forbidden to sell. These are some of the limitations that are imposed by the statute on the right to retail under a license. There are others that it is unnecessary to enumerate, as your legal adviser fully understands what they are. If a licensed liquor dealer does any of these forbidden acts he becomes a criminal and should be punished as such. If a person obtains and pays for a license and obeys the law, he has the right to demand and expect that persons who sell without a license and who habitually violate the law, should not come into competition with him. "Boot-leggers" and "blind tigers" are intolerable and should be vigorously prosecuted for they form a class that deserve neither respect, sympathy nor mercy. If a druggist or other person vends intoxicating liquors in his place of business without a license so to do, he is subject to severe penalties when prosecuted and convicted, and these penalties he should be made to suffer no difference who he is. The cloak of respectability should not protect him, for the law has no favorites.

AN ODD OPERATION

Sheep's Jugular Vein Was Grafted Into the Leg Of a Man.

IT REQUIRED QUICK WORK.

Paris, Sept. 7.—Professor Doyen, well known for his investigations into the origin of cancer, has created a sensation in the scientific world by successfully grafting the jugular vein of a sheep into a man's leg. This is said to be the first time that the operation in vein grafting has been carried out between an animal and a human being. Dr. Doyen's patient was suffering from an extensive arterial aneurism of the leg which was cured by an operation, but there remained an edematous condition of the limb, indicating the insufficiency of the deep venous circulation which the superficial venous circulation could not compensate for. Accordingly, Dr. Doyen decided to substitute a sheep's vein, twenty-five centimeters long, for the vein which had been operated on. After the patient had been chloroformed the sheep's vein was successfully put in position, and immediately the deep venous circulation was re-established and the edematous condition of the leg rapidly disappeared. The segment of the sheep's vein, before being grafted, was placed in an isotonic salt solution. Dr. Doyen, who has just left Paris to take part in the International Medical Congress at Budapest, where he will give a detailed description of this operation, says that it is one that must be done, Mr. and Mrs. Spurry, the Misses otherwise the transplanted vein dies and is useless.

Dickory, Dickory, Dock, Mama looked at the clock, "Only half past nine and the clothes on the line, I tell you washing with Fels-Naptha is fine, And every last piece, even to baby's frock, Is clean and white." Dickory, Dickory, Dock.

Ask any doctor if there is a quicker way to catch cold than to get all steamed up and then go into the cold air.

Some women folks get colds like that nearly every washday.

They do their washing in the old boiling way with a hot fire and steaming suds.

The Fels-Naptha way of washing is a wonderful health-saver.

It takes away all danger of catching cold.

The washing is done in cool or lukewarm water—no boiling or steaming, no hot suds.

It's much easier, too.

You don't wear yourself out because the Fels-Naptha does all the work—no hard rubbing.

There are other reasons why you should use Fels-Naptha Soap.

It doesn't take half as long as the old way; saves fuel; much easier on the clothes and makes them cleaner and sweeter.

But, if you value your health, that alone is good reason for doing your washing the Fels-Naptha way. In the Winter or Summer.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

LOCAL CARRIERS PRESENT.

The seventh annual convention of the Indiana Rural Letter Carriers' association, held at New Castle, was attended by four rural carriers from this city, the local representatives being John Elliott, W. L. Morgan, Harry Fisher and Henry Weisbrod. There were nearly six hundred rural mail carriers and more than three hundred city carriers represented by fifty-nine delegates from thirty-six counties. Postmaster James H. Jones of New Castle, delivered the address of welcome. Congressman Barnard attended the convention and also spoke.

HAS PRODUCTIVE ORCHARD.

Cambridge City, Ind., Sept. 7.—Deon Dougherty, residing north of this place, owns a young orchard of forty acres. He reports this year, a prospect of a yield of 1,500 bushels of perfect apples. Among the varieties of later apples are the Smith Cider, and Ben Davis, with a few Indiana Favorites and Wine Saps. The early apple crop was fairly good. Just now he has put on the market Cook's Favorite, a handsome white apple, much like the Maiden Blush. Mr. Dougherty cultivates his trees on scientific principles, and as a result, his orchard is a thing of beauty—the foliage perfect, the trees clean and vigorous.

FOUND A WAY

To Be Clear of the Coffee Troubles.

"Husband and myself both had the coffee habit and finally his stomach and kidneys got in such a bad condition that he was compelled to give up a good position that he had held for years. He was too sick to work. His skin was yellow, and I hardly think there was an organ in his body that was not affected.

"I told him I felt sure his sickness was due to coffee and after some discussion he decided to give it up.

"It was a struggle, because of the powerful habit. One day we heard about Postum and concluded to try it and then it was easy to leave off coffee.

"His fearful headaches grew less frequent, his complexion began to clear, kidneys grew better until at last he was a new man altogether, as a result of leaving off coffee and taking up Postum. Then I began to drink it too.

"Although I was never as bad off as my husband, I was always very nervous and never at any time very strong, only weighing 95 lbs. before I began to use Postum. Now I weigh 115 lbs. and can do as much work as anyone my size, I think.

"Many do not use Postum because they have not taken the trouble to make it right. I have successfully fooled a great many persons who have drunk it at my table. They would remark, 'You must buy a high grade of coffee.' One young man who clerked in a grocery store was very enthusiastic about my 'coffee.' When I told him what it was, he said, 'why I've sold Postum for four years but I had no idea it was like this. Think I'll drink Postum hereafter.'
