TWO CARS COLLIDE; FORTY ARE INJURED

Struggling Mass of Humanity Was Buried Under the Wreckage.

FATALITIES MAY RESULT

COSTLY WRECK ON THE ELGIN AND BELVIDERE TRACTION LINES IN ILLINOIS—AID SENT TO SCENE.

(American News Service)

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Forty persons were injured, many seriously and some probably fatally at noon today in a head on collision between two electric cars on the Elgin and Belvidere Interurban line near Huntley, Illinois. The cars came together without warning, burying a mass of struggling humanity under a veritable avalanche of debris. Aid was hurried from Huntley and physicians and nurses went to the scene from Elgin. The more seriously hurt were taken to private homes at Huntley, while the others were rushed to the hospital at Elgin in automobiles. It was impossible to get telephone communication with Huntley as everybody was at work extricating the injured.

The motormen in endeavoring to save their own lives, jumped after they realized the futility of attempting to stop the swiftly moving cars. One motorman was probably fatally injured. All those badly injured are residents of Chicago and surrounding cities and towns.

The cars were completely telescoped. Mrs. Walter Doan entertained with a dinner today at her home on Main street, in honor of Mrs. Seager of New York, Mrs. H. T. Lemon of Centerville and Mrs. Joseph Kern of Indianapolis.

A Forgetful Poet.

Mr. Arthur Coleridge, speaking at the London College for Working Women, related that the poet Coleridge once journeyed from Highgate to Holborn to visit a nephew, Sir William H. Coleridge. It was very cold weather and the poet had on a double breasted waistcoat which met just below his neck. It was discovered that he had got no shirt. His nephew remonstrated with him, to which the poet replied, "I'm very sorry, William, very sorry, but I've forgotten my shirt." Upon this Sir William kindly lent his uncle a shirt, "and," said the speaker, "I regret to say that very necessary garment was never returned to its original owner."—London Standard.

displacement of Chimneys.

Chimneys are modern; that is, chimneys with fireplaces and flues. None of the Roman ruins shows chimneys like ours. There is none in the restored buildings in Herculaneum and Pompeii. Roman architects complained that their decorations were smothered up. A kitchen in Rome was always sooty. Braziers were used in the living rooms. The chimney of antiquity consisted of a hole in the roof. The wealthy Romans used carefully dried wood which would burn in the room without soot. The modern chimney was first used in Europe in the fourteenth century. The oldest certain account of a chimney places it in Venice in 1547.

THE VALUE OF TIME.

Making Every Moment Count the Secret of a Successful Life.
The average woman does not appreciate the value of time.

She is rushed and heated and overworked because she does not make the spare moments count.

I have seen women sit a whole morning idle and then rush madly around all the afternoon, undoing all the good work of that rest.

When you sit down to chat with a friend, why don't you do some simple sewing, such as finishing seams, sewing on buttons or adjusting loose hems?

You will need to do all these things later on, and probably they will come up at the very time when you have an engagement to keep. If you are late for that engagement it puts you back for the entire day.

Before you go to bed at night lay out your clothes for the next morning. See that you have clean shields in your waist, a fresh tie and collar and that your shoes are polished.

And don't throw your things around. You take more time hunting for them than you would take in putting them where they belong.

Don't waste your days with people that do you no good. Associate with those who stimulate you mentally or aid you to rise in the world. It isn't necessary to be a snob or a climber to do this. The idea is not to make companions of those inferior to you. That is a sheer waste of time that had better be spent at home resting.

When you work don't allow people to walk in on you and make you lose precious minutes. If you must meet them do so at certain hours. Keep the rest of the day to yourself in order that you may concentrate fully and in that way finish your work quicker with less labor on your part.

Learn to make time work for you and you will always accomplish everything you have to do.

The women who are the most rushed and flustered are not the hardest worked. They are the ones who waste the most minutes.

WHY THEY PREFER ENGLAND.
American Women Who Find Society There More Agreeable.

The London Daily Mail has been interviewing some American women—social leaders in New York—as to whether they prefer to live in England and if so why so. All agree that English society is far more agreeable. "American society," said one, who stipulated that her name be withheld, "is a very badly ordered system. Indeed, it has ended in being no system at all. Every one in it is trying to get ahead of every one else. In England, on the other hand, social order is not questioned. This gives those living there a most restful feeling."

Still, this lover of English society sees "a certain restlessness" creeping into it, "due," she explains, "not to the influx of American millionaires, but to English parvenus of enormous wealth."

Another woman says that England is the best place for a mother with daughters to launch. "Presentation at court is such an excellent send-off,"

she says. "The English, too, are better mannered than Americans, and especially she likes their deference to older women."

Another reason for the liking wealthy Americans have for England is that most of them are brought up by English governesses, says the woman quoted. "English governesses are the best in the world and are to be found in all parts of the world," she said. "They are the greatest propagandists of English civilization."

Devilfish.
Devilfish weighing up to 200 pounds are sometimes caught in Japan. These fish are amphibious. They are often seen wabbling on their tentacles like giant spiders in search of patches of sweet potatoes. In the water they are caught in jars lowered to the bottom, which the octopus enters, thinking them a good retreat from which to catch its food.

"I hear," said Mr. Staylate, "that a genius is perfecting an apparatus by means of which a person's face may be seen miles away."

"Well," replied Miss Patience Gonne, "it will be a boon to see some faces a long way off, if they can only be kept there."
