

MARSHALL FAVORS MORE PUBLICITY

Plans to Make Public All Applications to the Pardon Board.

WILL IMPROVE JUSTICE

CASE CITED WHERE IT IS UNWISE TO PAROLE PRISONER UNDER THE SECRECY POLICY NOW IN VOGUE.

Indianapolis, Sept. 13.—Governor Marshall proposes that hereafter the state pardon board shall make public all applications and petitions filed for pardons for prisoners in the state prison and the reformatory. He believes justice will be better administered under such a plan than under the plan of secrecy which now prevails.

The pardon board never allows anyone but the interested person to know when a hearing is to be held on the petition for a pardon or a parole. The public never learns of the filing of the petition until after the board has considered it. Even then it does not become public unless the pardon or parole is granted. When a petition is refused nothing is said about it.

Plan of Secrecy.

This plan of secrecy in these matters and the fault that accompanies it was made plain to Governor Marshall a short time ago. A petition for the pardon of a man named Taylor, who was sent up from Switzerland county, was filed with the pardon board and after a hearing the board decided that Taylor should be released from prison and it so reported to the governor. The papers for Taylor's parole were made out, but had not yet been signed by the governor, when a Switzerland county man, who happened to be in the governor's office, saw them on his desk. He inquired as to the parole and then told the governor that it would be dangerous to release Taylor from prison. He said Taylor had repeatedly made threats while in prison that when he got out he would kill several of the persons who testified against him, and that he believed Taylor would do what he said he would.

When the governor got this information he made a further investigation on his own hook, with the result that he tore up the parole papers and Taylor will stay in prison.

Governor Marshall believes that when a petition for a parole or a pardon is filed the people of the county from which the prisoner was sent up should be notified and be given a chance to tell whether or not it would be dangerous to set the prisoner free. He says he will ask the next legislature to pass a law requiring the pardon board to advertise a legal advertisement in a newspaper in the county from which a prisoner was sent up, stating that a petition for a pardon has been filed. Then the public will have a chance to be heard.

TO GIVE BIG DANCE

A Fall Festival dance will be given at the Coliseum Friday evening, October 8, under the auspices of the Entre Nous Club. The club members decided to give a dance as they expect by this means to sell tickets to every citizen in the city who does not contribute to the festival in any other way. Tickets selling for 50 cents have been distributed among the members who are meeting with much success in their efforts. Renk's full orchestra will furnish the music. All the proceeds of the dance above expenses will be turned over to the festival association by the Entre Nous club.

OUR NATIONAL DISEASE.

Caused by Coffee.

Physicians know that drugs will not correct the evils caused by coffee and that the only remedy is to stop drinking it.

An Arkansas doctor says: "I have been a coffee drinker for 50 years and have often thought that I could not do without it, but after many years of suffering with our national malady, dyspepsia, I attributed it to the drinking of coffee, and after some thought, determined to use Postum for my morning drink."

"I had the Postum made carefully according to directions on the pkg. and found it just suited my taste."

"At first I used it only for breakfast, but I found myself getting so much better, that I had it at all meals, and I am pleased to say that it has entirely relieved me of indigestion. I gained 19 pounds in 4 months and my general health is greatly improved."

"I must tell you of a young lady in Illinois. She had been in ill health for many years, the vital forces low, with but little pain. I wrote her of the good that Postum did me and advised her to try it."

"At the end of the year, she wrote me that Postum had entirely cured her, and that she had gained 40 pounds in weight and felt like herself again."

RAPS PORTO RICANS

President Taft Rebukes Islanders in Letter to Regis Post.

COMMENTS ON CONDITION

(American News Service)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—The bureau of insular affairs of the War Department has made public a letter sent by President Taft to Governor Regis M. Post, of Porto Rico, following that officer's resignation. The comment is in part, as follows:

It gives the people of Porto Rico a sharp rap for their attitude toward the American government and their representatives:

"I am sure personal observation and most reliable information that in everything you have done you have an eye single favorable to the Porto Rican people and I have no doubt that the great majority of them know this. Should there be among them elements having a different view I can only assume you from my personal experience that one must, in seeking satisfaction for what he has done in striving to help a people like the Porto Ricans, depend on his own consciousness of vigorous effort rather than upon the grateful expressions of those whom he has sought with all his energy to aid. I note that you are insistent upon the time in which your resignation must be accepted and I shall have to ask you therefore, to delay for a few weeks until I can fix upon your successor and then accept your resignation."

The name of Mr. Post's successor, it is said, may be named this week.

GIVE UP CELEBRATION.

NO ONE MAN CAN CARRY ALL WORK OF E. H. HARRIMAN

So Declares Henry Clews, Well Known Authority in Stock Exchange Circles in Weekly Letter.

FINANCIAL INTERESTS WILL NOT PERMIT IT

Forthcoming Laws Will Make It Impossible for Anyone to Dominate Interstate Railroad Situation.

New York, Sept. 13.—The general financial atmosphere has been greatly clarified by the death of Mr. Harriman. His illness had for weeks been the source of depression and distrust in Stock Exchange circles; his precarious condition was fully appreciated in well-informed quarters, where it was known to be only a question of time when science could do no more. The end came, perhaps, rather more suddenly than generally expected, but it did not come unawares; and Mr. Harriman's friends and associates, as well as those whose interests are tied up with his by the mutual responsibilities of finance, have had ample time to prepare safeguards against unnecessary excitement and demoralization in the stock market. When a market leader dies there is usually a popular disposition to look for liquidation of his security holdings. Experience has again and again proven this view to be erroneous. Men of large affairs like Mr. Harriman may always be depended upon to leave their estates in excellent shape and under competent direction.

On the other hand the passing of Mr. Harriman as a factor in the financial situation must of necessity differ from the passing of other noted market leaders, since he can have no successor. There cannot be and should not be a second Harriman; other financial interests will not permit it; and it is eminently desirable that this attitude should be maintained. Forthcoming laws will doubtless make it impossible for anyone to dominate the interstate railroad situation hereafter by his methods. Mr. Harriman as a great railroad reorganizer and upbuilder was magnificently successful, but his success was by no means greater than the risks he from time to time incurred in his epoch-making speculations in securities on Union Pacific's account.

Liquidation Not Feared. At one stage of the panic, it is reported, losses on these speculations figured into the millions, and it is appalling to consider consequences that might have accrued in the event of the turn from extreme demoralization not coming as promptly as it did. There is, of course, nothing to fear from liquidation of Mr. Harriman's personal holdings, nor in the immediate future, at least, of the holdings of the great railroad system of which he was the controlling influence. But beyond this is the fact that Mr. Harriman had in course of development a number of exceedingly ambitious plans for the extension of his railroad influence. These will probably not now be consummated on anything like the same basis he had in mind. Among these plans may be mentioned his proposed acquisition of the Vanderbilt holdings of the New York Central, by which the Harriman system was to be converted into a transcontinental one.

Effect on Union Pacific.

The death of this powerful leader may also have some bearing on the Union Pacific influence in connection with the Erie and the result in both these instances is likely to check the consummation of the change in control that appeared to be so quietly, though gradually developing. In a broad sense these conditions must be considered encouraging for the future of American securities and especially for the estimation in which they are to be held abroad. It is highly desirable that American railroad shares shall represent properties and not men, that such properties shall be managed not from the Wall Street standpoint nor from the necessities of personal speculations. They should be managed for the shareholders as a whole and for the development of the country they traverse and serve. The elimination of the personal speculative element may therefore be considered a favorable step, increasing as it promises to do the supply of sound investments for the future. The demise of Mr. Harriman means a railroad may differ very widely from what would have been printed had he lived a few years longer.

NOVELTY MAN AGAIN

The novelty man always eager for some new feature to introduce before the public has grasped the idea of the discovery of the north pole and souvenirs in the form of the "big nail" are now on the market. On the souvenir pole is printed "Peary or Cook—Which?" with the alleged date of the discovery of each and a small American flag proudly displayed at the top. Local dealers have not received a supply yet but state that they will as soon as the articles are reputed to be good sellers.

AN ENGINE TAKES HEADER OFF TRACK

Peculiar and Fortunate Accident to a South Bound C., C. & L. Freight.

PILES UP FOURTEEN CARS

AFTER HURDLING OFF RAILS, ENGINE PLOWS THROUGH THE GROUND FOR SEVERAL HUNDRED FEET.

What is regarded as the most fortunate accident that has ever occurred on the C., C. & L. took place yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock at Kitchell Station, when south bound, fast freight No. 91 jumped the track, turning the engine completely over and piling up fourteen cars back of it. Traffic was not delayed as the regular trains took the siding at this point.

The train was in charge of Conductor Crist and Engineer Bark and was going at a rate of perhaps 30 miles an hour when the accident occurred. Spreading rails are alleged to have been responsible. The train ran for a distance of several hundred feet after it had jumped the track, plowing its way through the ground at a terrific rate, it is said. Engineer Bark and his fireman, realizing that a catastrophe was imminent, jumped and escaped uninjured. The engine then turned over and four cars were piled on top of it. All of the fourteen cars were badly demolished and were loaded with meat and other perishable stuff. It will require several days to clear away the debris. The estimated loss is not known but it is thought it will aggregate into thousands of dollars at least. It is regarded as remarkable that no one was even injured.

IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Joseph Reddinghaus, who is serving a sentence in the county jail for public intoxication, was removed from that institution in the city ambulance yesterday to his home, 1317 South J street. Reddinghaus was arrested last week in the alley between South Fifth and Sixth streets. He had fallen on the cement pavement and cut an ugly gash in the back of his head but the injury was not considered serious at that time. However complications developed Saturday and the man is now in a precarious condition. It is feared the effects of the blow affected his brain.
