OFFICERS ELECTED

Woman's Auxiliary of Y. M. C. A. Held a Session Yesterday.

THE TREASURER'S REPORT

Officers for the ensuing year were elected yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. Practically the same officers as served last year were chosen, with the exception of the president, and first vice president. Miss Francis Robinson, former president, and Mrs. George H. Knollenberg, former vice president, changed offices in view of the fact that Miss Robinson intends being out of the city practically all winter. The officers now are as follows: Mrs. George H. Knollenberg president; Miss Francis Robinson, first vice president; Mrs. L. H. Bunyan, second vice president; Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, third vice president; Mrs. Horace Kramer, secretary; Mrs. Catherine Carpenter, associating secretary and Mrs. Richard Sedgwick, treasurer.

The treasurer's report showed that $901.04 was taken in last year and the expenses amounted to $104.54. This leaves a balance of $406.50 to begin the year's work and will be instrumental in doing a large amount of good to the poor and needy of the city, the coming winter.

It is the intention of the auxiliary to give a series of entertainments in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. this winter instead of the popular lecture course, which has heretofore been the custom. The gymnasium has a seating capacity of 500 and the season tickets sold will be limited to that number. The executive committee will meet again next Monday at the Y. M. C. A. building to make further arrangements for the work that is to be conducted this winter.

SESSION IS OPENED

(American News Service) Plainfield, Ind., Sept. 14.—Delegates to the Friends yearly meeting flocked to the city this morning to be present at the first session which opened at two o'clock this afternoon, which will be composed of ministers, elders and workers.

Tonight's session which will be called to order by the Rev. Willis Bond of Carmel, promises to be an interesting one. Rev. Fred E. Smith pastor of the Friends church at Danville, Mrs. D. Ella Leonard and Rev. Morion C. Pearson of Indianapolis are to deliver addresses. The first regular business meeting is to be held tomorrow morning.

WANTS IT REVERSED

Suit was filed in the circuit court today by Charles S. Farnham, a local coal and lumber dealer on South First street, through his attorney, Wilfred Jessup, against the city of Richmond. The suit is the result of the judgment of Judge Fox rendered in a suit filed by the plaintiff last year, in which he appealed the assessment made upon him by the board of works for the improvement of South First street by macadamizing the street and the construction of cement sidewalk and gutters. It is prayed in the complaint that the judgment of Judge Fox, which was against the plaintiff, be reversed.

On August, 20, 1908, Farnham brought suit against the city petitioning for the appointment of three freeholders to assess the amount which the property owners should pay. When the case was called in the circuit court September 18, 1908, City Attorney T. J. Study moved that the case be dismissed, which was done.

CONDITION IS BAD

Harry Yingling, who had his left arm ground off to the shoulder and his hip dislocated as a result of being struck by a train while walking along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks early Monday morning, near the North Nineteenth street bridge, is still in a precarious condition. The man has never fully regained consciousness since his arrival at the hospital, it is said. Yingling's memory is an absolute blank in regard to the accident and he is unable to remember anything of what occurred.

WORK IS SUSPENDED

(American News Service) Indianapolis, Sept. 14.—All work on the new city hall was completely tied up this morning owing to the action of the various unions calling out men as a result of differences between the painters' union and the local contracting firm. Mayor Bookwalter, while regretting the differences, declares that the work must be completed and hints that the labor leaders are attempting to use him as a "whip" to compel Fertig & Kevers, contracting painters, to employ union men on all contracts.

STEAMSHIP VERMIN.

The Way Ocean Liners Are Rid of Rats and Roaches.

Rat and roach catching at the steam docks and on ocean liners is one of the queer ways men have of making a living. And a good living they make at it, too—sometimes as much as $10,000 a year. The men who do it never advertise, because the business does not sound as well as it pays, and a man whose house is built out of dead rats and cockroaches would just as soon not have his neighbors know it.

Once a year docks and piers are turned over to the rat catcher for a night. The man who has made a fortune at the business in New York still works with his men, for the secret of the business is his and he trusts it to no one. Rats run everywhere, but roaches have a special liking for rope lockers, and here they swarm by tens of thousands unless the pier owners have a contract with the rat and roach catcher, who, after a thorough overhauling, guarantees freedom from the pests for a year.

Whenever an ocean liner reaches port, whether on the side or the other, it is turned over for a night to this same man. Cats do much toward keeping ships clear of rats, but, of course, have no effect on roaches. On this side of the Atlantic roach catching is the more important branch of the business, while on the other side wharves are almost as full of rat catchers as the ships are of rats.

These once worked with ferrets, but now they use chemicals. Large cage-like traps are used, in which lettuce leaves are placed after being sprinkled with a liquid—only the catcher knows what.

Whatever it is, it is as irresistible to rats as the wailing piping of the piper was to the rats of Hamelin town. No matter how choice the food in the lockers and in the hold, the rats leave it instantly when they smell the mysterious liquid on the lettuce leaves. It does not kill the rats, and herein lies another secret of the profits of the business. Live rats are worth money in England, where they are used for training terriers. Dead rats are worth money, too, as their skins are used for gloves. At 5 or 6 cents apiece, forty or fifty rats mean something, and this is quite a usual catch.

For roaches a powder is used, but what puzzles all old sailors who used to have the job of clearing ships of roaches is that there are never any dead ones lying around next morning. The favorite way of the sailors when they had to catch roaches was to put a "cob" of bread on top of a coil of rope. Very quickly it would be covered with hungry brown bugs, and these they knocked into a well greased biscuit pan. The grease kept the roaches from crawling up the sides, and it was a poor roach catcher who would not have two or three inches of roaches when he was through, and in a few days he could begin and do it all over again.—New York Herald.

AMERICAN EXHIBIT HELD IN GERMANY

Local Manufacturers Are Informed by Secretary Charles Nagel.

TO BE NO LOCAL DISPLAY

HARDLY PROBABLE RICHMOND EXPORTERS WILL TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OPPORTUNITY—LETTER IS RECEIVED.

Secretary E. M. Haas of the Commercial club, is in receipt of a letter from Charles Nagel, secretary of the department of commerce and labor at Washington to the effect that an American exposition will be held in Berlin, Germany from May to July, 1910. The exposition will be confined strictly to American products and will be of material benefit in strengthening the prestige of American industries abroad and promoting the export trade of the United States. It is not probable that any local manufacturers will send exhibits of their products to the exposition. The letter in full is as follows:

Secretary Nagel's Letter. Dear Sir:—As you are no doubt aware, an American Exposition will be held in Berlin, Germany, from May to July, 1910. At the head of this exposition is a committee consisting of representative business men of the United States. A committee has also been formed in Berlin, whose honorary president is Prince Henry of Prussia. The conditions governing the exposition have been examined by the bureau of manufactures and appear to offer a great opportunity to American enterprise.

The central location of the city of Berlin, not only as the capital of the German empire, but also with respect to a great part of northern, central, and eastern Europe, assures a rare opportunity for showing American products abroad and for promoting the export trade of the United States. As the exposition is to be confined strictly to American products, it becomes a matter of national interest to have the exhibits thoroughly comprehensive and of exceptional merit, so that the exposition may serve to strengthen the prestige of American industries abroad. In view of the foregoing, I desire to bring this exposition to your particular attention.

The committee is no doubt prepared to answer all inquiries, but Mr. John M. Carson, chief of the bureau of Manufactures, will be glad to give further information whenever it is within his power.

Very respectfully,
CHAS. NAGEL, Secretary.

GOVERNOR TO COME

He Will Be Guest of the City During the Fall Festival.

OTHER NOTABLES COMING

Governor Thomas R. Marshall stated yesterday afternoon to Perry J. Freeman, chairman of the Fall Festival association, that he would positively be in this city, Thursday, October 8. Mr. Freeman was in Indianapolis on business and called upon the chief executive of the state. A letter from Congressman W. O. Barnard, of New Castle to Mr. Freeman says that he will be here on October 7 and probably remain over until Thursday night. Other notables of the state are expected. Ex-governor of Ohio, Andrew Harris, now residing on his farm near Eaton, is also expected to be present.

R. G. McClure, secretary of the Indianapolis Commercial Club, will present Richmond's invitation for Indianapolis business men to attend the festival in a body, at the next meeting of the club. Dayton's business organization is also expected to send a large delegation and if possible. Last year the visit of the Cincinnati club, proved to be one of the distinctive features of the day.

ROAST FOR PEARY BY THE BRITISH

Think Naval Officer Is in a Worse Predicament Than Dr. Cook.

ONLY TOOK ONE ESKIMO

EXPLORER ALSO TOASTED BECAUSE HE PREFERRED NEGRO TO WHITE MEN—LEFFINGWELL'S CREW DESERT HIM.

(American News Service) London, Sept. 14.—The general opinion of the scientists and geographers here today, is that Commander Peary, by making a final dash to the pole, accompanied by the single Eskimo, without preparing for the white man's corroboration to silence subsequent criticism, finds himself in even a worse predicament than Dr. Cook, inasmuch as Cook had two Eskimos with him at the time of the alleged discovery. Peary is also being criticised for taking a negro farther than white companions, his valet having accompanied him most of the way.

CREW DESERTED HIM.

San Francisco, Sept. 14.—Ernest Leffingwell, Arctic explorer, reached Point Barrow with a crew of picked white men who were to accompany him in extensive voyages into unknown regions of the north, only to be deserted by every man of the crew before preparations for the first trip out from Point Barrow could be finished. News of Leffingwell's predicament was received in a letter written early last month and arriving here today. Leffingwell became known to the world through his connection with the ill-fated expedition of Mikkelson on the schooner Duchess, of Burford, which was wrecked in the ice not far from Point Barrow.
