

ARE TO POSTPONE THE CORN SCHOOL

Next Event in This County to Be Held in Winter of 1911.

CAUSE OF POSTPONEMENT

OWING TO GREAT DEMAND FOR SCHOOLS OVER THE STATE, PURDUE COULD NOT SEND IN-STRUCTORS HERE.

There will be no short course of instruction in the judgment of corn, and animals at Centerville, or any other place in Wayne county this winter, as expected. It was decided at the meeting of the executive committee in charge of the arrangements of the school, yesterday afternoon, to wait until the winter of 1911 before holding another school. However, boys' corn clubs will be organized in all of the township schools this winter, which will be of practical benefit to the students.

The reason why the corn school will not be held this winter is due to the action of the authorities at Purdue University. They have so many calls for schools of this nature that they cannot accommodate all. It was at their request, since they could give no official attention to a local corn school this winter, that the committee postpone the event for one year. The officials of the university promise that Wayne county shall benefit from professional service of their instructors a year hence.

The Purdue authorities sked that if the school was discontinued for one year, that boys' corn clubs be formed in as many localities as possible. The university officials will furnish all information which they believe will be of benefit to these schools.

WHITNEY IS WANTED

Millionaire Sportsman Needed
To Settle Pole Controversy.

A STATEMENT BY EXPERT

(American News Service)
New York, Sept. 18.—"The importance of the position of Harry Whitney the millionaire sportsman, in the Peary-Cook controversy, can not be over estimated," declared a prominent supporter of Dr. Cook today, after he had read the following message received by wireless from the liner Oscar II:

"Since neither Harry Whitney nor the Eskimos who accompanied me to the north pole were at liberty to tell Commander Peary or his agents that we had been at the pole, all reports emanating from that source are necessarily incorrect.

"The argument of the equipment by one who has not seen or heard of the equipment is pure nonsense.
"The entire misunderstanding is due to the fact that Whitney has given evasive answers. When he returns all will be cleared up. Whitney will sail down the American coast, probably entering Hudson Bay to hunt big game."
—Dr. Frederick A. Cook.

"DR. FREDERICK A. COOK."
The message makes it apparent that Cook swore both Whitney and his Eskimos to secrecy before leaving northern Greenland.

Dr. Cook's message was forwarded to Commander Peary immediately after being received. Peary's friends in this city declared it as their belief that the commander would not reply to it until he arrived in New York.

GOES AFTER RECORD

Roy E. Harding will attempt to break the world's record Monday morning by playing the piano continuously for 36 hours and 33 minutes. Harding will begin the feat at 8 o'clock in the lobby of the Palace theater and will attempt to play until 8:33 o'clock Tuesday night without removing his hands from the instrument. In case Harding breaks the record, the Palace theater will give a cash prize of $50. About fifteen Richmond merchants will also give prizes to the young man if the feat is accomplished.

TO HOD SERVICES

Memorial services will be conducted this morning at 10 o'clock at the St. Paul's Episcopal church for the Rev. Dr. Wakefield, who died recently in California. The body of Dr. Wakefield will arrive in this city Wednesday for interment.

A CHAMPION WALKER

(American News Service)
London, Sept. 18.—Pedestrian Payne, of North Shields, won the 24 hour walking match in the stadium today, making 127 miles and 542 yards. The race was finished at 5 o'clock this afternoon and Payne was ready to stop from exhaustion at the conclusion. Fifty men started.

Baseball Results

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
	Won	Lost	Pct.
Detroit	89	49	.645
Philadelphia	86	52	.623
Boston	80	58	.576
Chicago	70	68	.507
Cleveland	68	72	.486
New York	64	76	.457
St. Louis	53	80	.401
Washington	38	100	.275

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
	Won	Lost	Pct.
Pittsburg	99	36	.733
Chicago	91	45	.669
New York	80	52	.606
Cincinnati	67	68	.496
Philadelphia	66	70	.485
St. Louis	47	84	.359
Brooklyn	47	86	.353
Boston	39	94	.293

RESULTS YESTERDAY.

American League.
	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	0	1	1
Pittsburg	6	10	3
Kucker, Marshall; Willes, Geleson.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
New York	2	8	2
Chicago	0	3	0
Ames, Meyers; Overall, Archer.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Boston	2	5	1
Cincinnati	1	5	1
Curtis, Graham; Frons, Roth.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	7	8	1
St. Louis	2	8	1
Moren, Doom; Beebe, Bresnahan.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	7	16	1
Boston	0	6	3
Walsh, Payne; Wood, Donohue.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	0	6	1
Boston	2	11	1
Smith, Owens; Cicotte, Carrigan.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	3	8	0
New York	5	16	3
Ottis, Easterly; Quinn, Kleinow.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	7	13	7
Washington	16	18	3
Kusel, Smith; Reising, Street.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	7	13	7
Washington	16	18	3
Kusel, Smith; Reising, Street.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

National League.
	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	0	3	3
Philadelphia	2	4	1
Donovan, Schmidt; Bender, Livingston.

A Varied Millinery Display — Shown in the Richmond Shops

E. R. T.
Hats! Hats! Hats!

And just to think there are so many different shapes and patterns that the "fair ones" can select most anything they desire, providing of course it is becoming. The newest ideas in millinery always delights the feminine eye. Yesterday at a local shop a prospective buyer was gazing at the gorgeous array of costly hats. After asking the price of several ranging from fifteen, twenty-five dollars and on up she exclaimed, "Oh, dear, what will John say?" And the observer echoed her refrain—"Poor John." But nevertheless these beautiful creations are necessary. The three predominant notes in the millinery display are the Cavalier, Gainsborough and the Tricorne.

In a variety of materials from heavy ottoman silk to beaver and marten, and even seal skin, the changes in these three prevalent styles were artistically and deftly wrought. Willow plumes and algebras, wings and silver braid, form the chief features of the trimming of these attractive creations.

One notable Tricorne is of sage green with a plentiful admixture of gold and a bunch of algebras set jauntily on one side. Another is built uniquely of sulphur color beaver, and edged with wide silk braid, which forms a flat bow at each of the three sides. An egret also completes this charming bit of millinery.

At what might be termed one of the most inexpensive millinery establishments of the city the keynote to the artistic display was simplicity and good taste. Small hats shaped like velvet and in some cases old fashioned plush revived from its contemptuous disuse, are the top notch of the fashion. A conspicuous place in the opening was given the little three cornered hat of the Napoleonic origin, trimmed jauntily with feathers and rosettes. Silver and metal braid is worked into the trimming of the hats and a notable feature is the saucy little algette which thrusts itself into prominence on many new creations.

Wings and feathers and unlimited velvet, bows galore and an absence of flowers, these positive and negative advance fashion notes were gleamed at the display. But, dear friends what woe! Madame La Mode has decreed the death warrant of the once popular peach basket hat and nothing with a tendency to droop "all the way round" will be tolerated in the fall's up-to-date hats.

Plumes are to be the thing and the hats will simply be loaded. One might say that the newest fashion in hats practically resolve themselves into three classes, the Cavalier, the Sorrell turban, and what is known as French colonial, in shape resembling the familiar Tricorne of four years back.

SHIP STROCK ROCK A FLORAL AIRCRAFT

(American News Service)
Liverpool, Eng., Sept. 18.—Cable advices received today say that the steamer Fantee of the Elger Dempster Line, struck a rock off Cape Palmas and that one of her holds is full of water.

MRS. ELIZABETH K. LEWIS.

A letter is received by Mr. George H. Smith from Blue Springs, Mo., near Kansas City, announcing the death of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lizzie Lewis, at her home in that place, after a very long illness.

She was the widow of John H. Lewis, of this county, and afterward of Randolph, whence the family moved to Blue Springs many years ago. Since Mr. Lewis' death, the wife and daughter remained at the home and there the mother was tenderly cared for. Mrs. Lewis had many friends for she was a woman of unusually engaging qualities, social and generous, and her home was a well known seat of hospitality.

She leaves three children—Charles L., of Hot Springs, Ark., Oliver M., of Oklahoma and Narcissa J., of Blue Springs. There are also six grandchildren.

GEORGIANA:
Our chef says Gold Medal Flour only. VERONICA.

Brown, assisted by Mary J. Winder, Eliza Smith King, who was assisted by Sarah Evans Hutton. Mrs. Hutton afterwards conducted the school alone. Many persons now living in Richmond remember their school days in Mrs. Hutton's school and all who remember her speak in terms of praise of her success as a teacher. She taught both before and after her marriage to John Hutton in 1857. Mrs. Hutton was assisted by Elizabeth E. Haynes and Rachel Ballard.

In 1858 the Hicksite Friends built the building now used for the business college, on the corner of North Twelfth and B streets.

William Jackson conducted an academy in this building from 1859-1876. He taught with his wife, Anna M. Jackson, Mary J. Turner, Elizabeth Mendenhall and others. High school subjects were taught. Many of our prominent citizens of today attended this academy, preparatory to entering college.

Public Schools.
It is probable that all the legislation until 1831 was of little or no avail to the people of Wayne county. In 1831 an important revision of the law was made. Trustees were to be elected in each congressional township, with subtrustees in the districts, whose duty it was to call meetings of voters who were to decide whether there would be a public school in the district or not, and to look after the building, if there was one, and the hiring of the teacher, etc. In 1834 The Common School Fund was established by the state. School sections were also being sold at this time. Both of which gave an impetus to educational affairs, and many new school houses were built over the county. It is supposed that Richmond took advantage of this law, and it is known that as early as 1833 a School Commissioner was elected to look after schools in the city.

In 1848 there was another revision of the school law which provided schools be maintained in each district for a term of three months each year to be paid from the School Fund.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Coach A. A. Stagg returned to the Midway with a 1909 football smile and some strenuous plans for starting the University of Chicago practice season next Monday at Marshall field. After his vacation in the far west, the Maroon general feels optimistic over his gridiron outlook, which he says is "at least fair." Stagg issued final orders soon after his return, calling every candidate to the initial workout on Monday. He sent word to his players that no tardiness would be countenanced and that the stiffest kind of work might be expected from the start. Despite the loss of a number of candidates from last year Stagg expects a somewhat larger squad than he had last year. Nine "C" men lined up, and the "subs" and last year's freshmen will raise the squad to a fair size. Scrimmages will begin earlier than ever this year, according to the coach and light scrimmage may be billed next week. The coach admitted that he had been working up a few new plays in addition to the ones he still has on hand. He will spring these behind barred gates Monday or Tuesday. It is probable that all of this year's practice will be secret, as the first game is scheduled with Purdue for October 2 at Marshall field. Stagg thinks his first games may be hard ones, as both Purdue and Indiana, which is scheduled for October 9, are expecting class teams. Purdue has a bunch of veterans and "Jimmy" Sheldon is looking for big doings with the Bloomington aggregation. "I can't say which game will be the hardest," said Stagg. "Minnesota on October 30 will probably be a corker and so will the Cornell game at Ithaca November 13. As usual I am going to take each game as it comes, for there is a chance of a slip-up against either Purdue or Indiana. The biggest problem I have just at present is the back field. With the quarterback position still up in the air, I cannot do much in the way of placing the backs. I have not decided on any of the back field positions. Page and Rogers might both make good quarters, but the place may be regarded as open at present."

Coach Stagg of Chicago Has Also Returned With New Plays.

HE CALLS ON CANDIDATES

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Coach A. A. Stagg returned to the Midway with a 1909 football smile and some strenuous plans for starting the University of Chicago practice season next Monday at Marshall field. After his vacation in the far west, the Maroon general feels optimistic over his gridiron outlook, which he says is "at least fair." Stagg issued final orders soon after his return, calling every candidate to the initial workout on Monday. He sent word to his players that no tardiness would be countenanced and that the stiffest kind of work might be expected from the start. Despite the loss of a number of candidates from last year Stagg expects a somewhat larger squad than he had last year. Nine "C" men lined up, and the "subs" and last year's freshmen will raise the squad to a fair size. Scrimmages will begin earlier than ever this year, according to the coach and light scrimmage may be billed next week. The coach admitted that he had been working up a few new plays in addition to the ones he still has on hand. He will spring these behind barred gates Monday or Tuesday. It is probable that all of this year's practice will be secret, as the first game is scheduled with Purdue for October 2 at Marshall field. Stagg thinks his first games may be hard ones, as both Purdue and Indiana, which is scheduled for October 9, are expecting class teams. Purdue has a bunch of veterans and "Jimmy" Sheldon is looking for big doings with the Bloomington aggregation. "I can't say which game will be the hardest," said Stagg. "Minnesota on October 30 will probably be a corker and so will the Cornell game at Ithaca November 13. As usual I am going to take each game as it comes, for there is a chance of a slip-up against either Purdue or Indiana. The biggest problem I have just at present is the back field. With the quarterback position still up in the air, I cannot do much in the way of placing the backs. I have not decided on any of the back field positions. Page and Rogers might both make good quarters, but the place may be regarded as open at present."

Coach Stagg of Chicago Has Also Returned With New Plays.

HE CALLS ON CANDIDATES

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Coach A. A. Stagg returned to the Midway with a 1909 football smile and some strenuous plans for starting the University of Chicago practice season next Monday at Marshall field. After his vacation in the far west, the Maroon general feels optimistic over his gridiron outlook, which he says is "at least fair." Stagg issued final orders soon after his return, calling every candidate to the initial workout on Monday. He sent word to his players that no tardiness would be countenanced and that the stiffest kind of work might be expected from the start. Despite the loss of a number of candidates from last year Stagg expects a somewhat larger squad than he had last year. Nine "C" men lined up, and the "subs" and last year's freshmen will raise the squad to a fair size. Scrimmages will begin earlier than ever this year, according to the coach and light scrimmage may be billed next week. The coach admitted that he had been working up a few new plays in addition to the ones he still has on hand. He will spring these behind barred gates Monday or Tuesday. It is probable that all of this year's practice will be secret, as the first game is scheduled with Purdue for October 2 at Marshall field. Stagg thinks his first games may be hard ones, as both Purdue and Indiana, which is scheduled for October 9, are expecting class teams. Purdue has a bunch of veterans and "Jimmy" Sheldon is looking for big doings with the Bloomington aggregation. "I can't say which game will be the hardest," said Stagg. "Minnesota on October 30 will probably be a corker and so will the Cornell game at Ithaca November 13. As usual I am going to take each game as it comes, for there is a chance of a slip-up against either Purdue or Indiana. The biggest problem I have just at present is the back field. With the quarterback position still up in the air, I cannot do much in the way of placing the backs. I have not decided on any of the back field positions. Page and Rogers might both make good quarters, but the place may be regarded as open at present."

Coach Stagg of Chicago Has Also Returned With New Plays.

SHOW CASES

We make all plate glass inside and outside cases, also several styles of wood rim floor display cases. References: Ross Drug Co., Dickinson Drug Store, Miss Austin, Miss Nelder, Milliners; Feltman Shoe Store, Ed. Feltman Cigar Store, and others. Your inquiry, please.

CLARK SHOW CASE CO., Columbus, O.

practice will be secret, as the first game is scheduled with Purdue for October 2 at Marshall field. Stagg thinks his first games may be hard ones, as both Purdue and Indiana, which is scheduled for October 9, are expecting class teams. Purdue has a bunch of veterans and "Jimmy" Sheldon is looking for big doings with the Bloomington aggregation. "I can't say which game will be the hardest," said Stagg. "Minnesota on October 30 will probably be a corker and so will the Cornell game at Ithaca November 13. As usual I am going to take each game as it comes, for there is a chance of a slip-up against either Purdue or Indiana. The biggest problem I have just at present is the back field. With the quarterback position still up in the air, I cannot do much in the way of placing the backs. I have not decided on any of the back field positions. Page and Rogers might both make good quarters, but the place may be regarded as open at present."

Coach Stagg of Chicago Has Also Returned With New Plays.

HE CALLS ON CANDIDATES

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Coach A. A. Stagg returned to the Midway with a 1909 football smile and some strenuous plans for starting the University of Chicago practice season next Monday at Marshall field. After his vacation in the far west, the Maroon general feels optimistic over his gridiron outlook, which he says is "at least fair." Stagg issued final orders soon after his return, calling every candidate to the initial workout on Monday. He sent word to his players that no tardiness would be countenanced and that the stiffest kind of work might be expected from the start. Despite the loss of a number of candidates from last year Stagg expects a somewhat larger squad than he had last year. Nine "C" men lined up, and the "subs" and last year's freshmen will raise the squad to a fair size. Scrimmages will begin earlier than ever this year, according to the coach and light scrimmage may be billed next week. The coach admitted that he had been working up a few new plays in addition to the ones he still has on hand. He will spring these behind barred gates Monday or Tuesday. It is probable that all of this year's practice will be secret, as the first game is scheduled with Purdue for October 2 at Marshall field. Stagg thinks his first games may be hard ones, as both Purdue and Indiana, which is scheduled for October 9, are expecting class teams. Purdue has a bunch of veterans and "Jimmy" Sheldon is looking for big doings with the Bloomington aggregation. "I can't say which game