Day and night men, were detailed on the case but reported this morning with no additional information. Officers were sent to Eaton, Cambridge City and the C. C. & L. and Pennsylvania railroad yards. They searched every box car, passenger coach and other hiding places but to no avail. Every interurban car out of the city as well as the freight and passenger trains on the Pennsylvania were stopped at Cambridge City and Eaton and searched by the officers detailed to these two points.

Townsend is either in hiding in this city or else has "biked" it to safety. No reports of either stolen wheels or horses and buggies were made to the police, which would furnish a clue as to his means of escape.

James Townsend, who spent considerable time in the jail last winter, stated today that he did not blame the boy for trying to escape. However, he says he feels badly about it because he does not know where the boy is or where he will go to.

and make a place for a man from the other side.

It is a question.

But who the successor will be, is a question that no one has yet been able to figure out. There is likely to be a scramble among the aspirants for United States senator for the privilege of naming the secretary of the committee, and if this comes to pass it will make a bad mess. One name mentioned in connection with the place as secretary of the state committee is that of Charles Greathouse, of Mt. Vernon, who was one of the chief routers for Major G. V. Menzies during the senatorial fight last winter. Greathouse is now a resident of Indianapolis, where he has engaged in the grain business. He was active in the campaign last year, and has a wide acquaintance with the party politicians throughout the state. Whether he would take the secretary's job or not it is not known, but there is some talk of him for the place. Much will depend, however, on whether he would be satisfactory to Governor Marshall and the rest of the fellows who will seek to reorganize the state committee on what they believe will be the right lines.

TURBYVILLE WAS HURT YESTERDAY

Injured Man a Star Player on The Earlham Football Squad.

PLACED IN THE HOSPITAL

ACCIDENT OCCURRED LAST EVENING AT THE ANNUAL "HOT HAND" RECEPTION GIVEN TO THE FRESHMEN.

Fred Turbyville, one of the star players of the Earlham college football squad, was injured at Earlham last evening, when several upperclassmen jumped on him and dislocated his left shoulder and left hip. The accident occurred during the annual "hot hand" reception to the freshmen boys in the college gymnasium. Mr. Turbyville was taken to the college hospital where he is under the care of a trained nurse. His injuries are not serious.

At the annual reception to the freshmen in the gym, a new "stunt" was introduced. Seniors, juniors and sophomores formed two reception lines, leaving a space of about two feet between through which the "freshies" were "asked" to pass.

Oh My, What Blisters!

At first, at the bid of the upperclassmen, they humbly walked on their feet and hands, "taking their medicine." Then all of a sudden the "freshies" thought that they would get one of the others and rush through the line, but this was unsuccessful. When the rush started the upperclassmen fell on the lower classmen and began to pile up in regular gridiron style. Turbyville was the unfortunate one, and when the men arose he was "knocked out."

Turbyville was immediately taken to the college hospital and a physician summoned. After a careful examination it was found that his left shoulder and hip were dislocated. When the physician called this morning he said that his patient was "getting along nicely," but would not state how soon he would be permitted to leave the hospital.

NESBIT IN TROUBLE

Brother of Evelyn Thaw Arrested in New Haven For Idleness.

TRIED TO SHIELD IDENTITY

(American News Service)
New Haven, Conn., Sept. 30.—The identity of Howard Nesbit, brother of Evelyn Thaw, who was arrested here last night, was settled this morning from a bank book on the American Savings Bank of New York City, was found on his person, bearing his name. At first he refused to admit that he was young Nesbit, but he finally confessed. No word has yet been received from his sister, Evelyn Thaw, or from Lawyer Dan O'Reilly, to whom he telegraphed last night, giving the name Howard Nesbit. He is held on the formal charge of idleness. His case will be heard in the city court some time today.

ON SATURDAY THE DECORATORS WILL ADORN THE CITY

American Tent and Awning Company Agents Will Have Charge of Work of Beautifying the Town.

COLOR SCHEME WILL TYPIFY FALL SEASON

Poles Will Be Wrapped in Bunting While Flags and Banners Will Be Used in Artistic Fashion.

John C. and A. V. Truemper of the American Tent and Awning company of Indianapolis will begin work on the decorating of the city for the Fall Festival on Saturday morning. Mr. Truemper stated that the decorations would be much more lavish and elaborate this year than last. He declared that more material would be used and that Richmond would be more attractively adorned than any other city in which he had ever worked.

The street car poles along Main, from Third to Twelfth streets will be draped in a column effect with pleats in yellow and white bunting, from the top to a box four feet high which will be built around the poles. The boxes will also be draped in bunting of similar colors. On the span wires stretching across Main street between the poles will be hung two large banners in yellow and white between which will be suspended a large American flag. A rope will be stretched between the poles along the sidewalk on which will be suspended yellow and white banners at frequent intervals. North E street from Eighth to Tenth and North Eighth street and Fort Wayne avenue from D to E streets will be decorated in a similar manner.

Hundreds of Lights.

Hundreds of incandescent ebb lights will be attached to the poles on Main street and will present a very gorgeous and brilliant appearance. Flaming high powered arch lights will be erected at the tops of the poles and the principal thoroughfare of the city will rival that of the gay white way. When the shadows of evening fall on the street, the difference, so far as light is concerned, will not be perceptible, as Main street will be as light as day. These gigantic arc lights cast a brilliant yellow and white light, producing a very peculiar and pleasing effect.

The American Tent and Awning company will also furnish large tents for the live stock and the decorators began the erection of them this afternoon. The tents are unusually large and will be sufficiently ample to accommodate all of the exhibits. Work on the interior decorations of the coliseum began this afternoon. The yellow and white color scheme is being used and the big hall will be profusely decorated with American flags, banners, etc., which will be suspended from the beams with hundreds of yards of bunting. A number of colored electric lights, hung along the sides will present a spectacular appearance. The balcony will be draped in bunting of the festival colors, intermingled with American flags.

MILITARY PARADE
GREAT SPECTACLE

Twenty-five Thousand Troops March at the New York Celebration.

MILLIONS WITNESSED IT

LINE OF MARCH WAS GUARDED BY SIX THOUSAND POLICEMEN—SWAGGERING SAILOR MEN MADE A BIG HIT.

(American News Service)
New York, Sept. 30.—The military parade, including in its ranks 25,000 men as many as formerly made up the entire standing army of the United States, was the big feature of the Hudson-Fulton celebration today. Hours before the time of the start hundreds of thousands gathered along the line of march, taxing to the utmost the strength of 6,000 policemen. The parade was the second grand land pageant of the celebration and seemed to be almost as popular as was the historical parade of Tuesday. In the line of march today was representation from every branch of the army and navy, including cadets who came down from West Point early this morning. Marines from all the warships in the harbor and regulars from all the forts in the vicinity rounded out the line.

Squadron "A" in It. Besides the soldiers the various semi-military institutions paraded, headed by the Albany burgess corps and the Old Guard. All organizations were in full dress and squadron "A," as usual, was given the position of honor in the van as guard to the chief marshal, General Charles F. Roe. In the court of honor at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street were Governor Hughes and other notables.

to review the great line, more than seven miles long. Long before the starting hour the line of march was packed by a dense crowd, cheering and struggling for vantage points. Before 9 o'clock this morning Commissioner Baker had sent out his squadrons of guards, ordinary patrolmen, mounted policemen and the bicycle squad. The military aspect of the parade today lent a patriotic ardor which occasioned even more noise than the pageant on Tuesday.

West Pointers March.

Troops came all the way from Rutland, Vt., Ft. Meyer and Washington, D. C., to participate. The steamer Pilgrim came down from West Point this morning having on board a detachment of cadets. Jackies from the warships in the international navy filled in the color scheme.

An air of novelty was given by the foreign sailors. The French shouldered along beside the English, Mexicans, Americans, Germans, Dutch and English. The sea-powers had the best turnout in the entire line, according to popular opinion.

A BIG BLAZE TODAY

Big Manufacturing Building in New York Destroyed By Flames.

MANY FIREMEN INJURED

(American News Service)
New York, Sept. 30.—Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars in property went up in fire and smoke this morning when flames started in the big six-story building, extending from 373 to 377 Pearl street. Ten firemen were overcome by smoke and half a dozen others were cut by flying glass and debris, while a score of others had a close call for life.

The building was occupied by the Dunham Cocoa Manufacturing Co., a concern which supplied most of the candy manufacturers in the city with cocoa.

The fire started on the second floor and was discovered by policemen on the Oak station about the time the flames were shooting out the windows. Then came an explosion and the roof dropped to the first floor and crashed through to the cellar.

(American News Service)
New York, Sept. 30.—The steamer Roosevelt, upon which Commander Robert E. Peary made his successful quest for the north pole, arrived here today under command of Captain Bartlett, and was greeted in the lower bay with a chorus of whistles from the other steamships. Shortly after reaching Sandy Hook the Roosevelt dropped anchor and the steamships passing her were frantic in their welcome.

Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club, was immediately communicated with by Capt. Bartlett. As the weather-beaten hull rocked at anchor, many chartered tugs and steamers took passengers down the bay to get a glimpse of the craft. Captain Bartlett expects Commander Peary to come from Portland, Me., to command the Roosevelt in the river parade.
