ENRAGED HUNYAKS RESENT ATTEMPTS MADE ARREST THEM

arrest the violators and break up the practice. They went, but they also returned—empty handed. The big policeman appeared on the scene and, just to show that there really was a violation, of course, bought twenty cents worth of beer. In order to be sure that it was the genuine article, and not "near beer," why of course they had to drink it, which they did. (Let it be understood that this action was taken merely in order to make a perfectly clear case.)

Then the Row Stars. After it had been proven that there was an illegal sale being conducted, the cops showed their badges and made known their intentions. The proprietors of the "grog shop" were told to come along like good little fellows, and not to cause any disturbance. And then the excitement started in earnest. With a howl of rage, and amid an incessant clattering of foreign tongues, the entire bunch of Hunyaks, numbering fifteen or twenty, swept down on the two policemen and drove them from the place, with beer bottles, rocks, clubs and everything it was possible to lay their hands on. The cops, realizing their peril and that their lives were endangered at the hands of the angry men, took to the "tail and uncut" in record breaking speed, Vogelonsing the while deploring the fact that he was unarmed.

Reinforcements Sent. The two policemen returned to this city and told Chief of Police Staubach of the indignity to which they had been subjected, stating that if he wanted to arrest that bunch he had better muster a strong force. A squad was formed in the afternoon, consisting of Sheriff Meredith, Deputy Sheriff Mashmeyer, Prosecuting Attorney Ladd and the following patrolmen: Chief Staubach, Little, Vogelonsing, Winters, Wierhake, Westenburg, Menke and Bundy, all armed to the teeth, and firmly resolved to make the arrests or die in the attempt. They chartered a special car and went over. The greatest tranquility presided in camp when the blue coats arrived, the two proprietors of the "tiger," whom the police wanted the worst, were no place to be seen. With tears in their eyes the few remaining foreigners saw two kegs of beer emptied on the ground. Nine quart bottles of beer and one quart of whiskey was also heartlessly destroyed by the cops, in plain view of the thirsty Hunyaks. The arrest of the two proprietors is expected within the course of the next few days.

OPENS NEXT MONDAY

ROOSEVELT GIVEN BLAME BY MORSE

Says Ex-president Used Him As "Scapegoat" for the 1907 Panic.

HAS PAID INDEBTEDNESS

CONVICTED MAN IS QUOTED AS SAYING THAT IT IS NOT YET TIME TO STATE WHERE AND HOW HE MADE MONEY.

(American News Service)

New York, Oct. 4.—According to a story published by an afternoon newspaper, Charles W. Morse has made $7,500,000 since he was released from the Tombs on June 17, cancelling all his indebtedness except $500,000, which he expects to clear away in a short time. He is quoted as crediting his indebtedness to Theodore Roosevelt's desire to find a suitable "scapegoat" for the panic of 1907, and its after effects, in which Morse's fortune of $20,000,000 was swept away.

To Extend His Bond.

The three supreme court judges who granted the application for bail, it was stated, are expected to consent to a two days' extension of his $125,000 bond. "It is too early to tell how I have made the money—and where—during the present summer," Mr. Morse is quoted as saying. "In fact it is too early to go into any detail at all. The score is not wiped out yet. When it is, then I can talk. Naturally, I am optimistic about my appeal.

"I have been made the victim, not in any bid for sympathy, but that exact justice be done, of a system under which national banks of the entire country operate. I did nothing wrong."

"To what interest or interests do you attribute your troubles?" he was asked.

"Were personal or financial enemies involved?"

"No," he said, crisply. "The time was ripe for the government to make an example of some one and I was chosen, I feel sure, at the personal direction of Mr. Roosevelt."

GIANTS ARE CHAMPS

Win the City Honor by Defeating Starr Piano Team Yesterday.

The colored population of the city won lots of liver yesterday as a result of the game between the Giants and the Starr Pianos. The Giants took the third and final game of the series by the score of 10 to 5 and can as a result of this victory, claim the city championship.

The Giants found the Starrs very easy money, hitting Marine, the Starr pitcher, frequently and timely. However, errors by the Starr infield threw the game away. The Giants ran in several ringers who proved their value. Of these Harris, the pitcher, was the star. The losing team did not find him until the last of the ninth inning when they made five runs. The runs of the colored team came early in the game.

STENCH IS AWFUL: DEMANDS DAMAGES

William H. Pickett Wants $5,000 from the W. S. Clendenin Company.

FERTILIZER PLANT CAUSE

PLAINTIFF AVERS IN COMPLAINT THAT ONE CANNOT LIVE NEAR THE PLACE—OUTCOME IS BEING WATCHED.

Charging that the operation of the fertilizing plant of W. S. Clendenin, north of the city, is a nuisance, William H. Pickett, through his attorneys, Robbins and Robbins, has entered suit in the circuit court for $5,000 damages. Pickett is a farmer, whose place adjoins the W. S. Clendenin farm, and he avers in his complaint that the stench is so great that it is almost impossible to live nearby.

The plaintiff and defendant have not been on friendly terms for some time. Recently, employees of Clendenin are said to have induced Carl Pickett, a young son of the plaintiff, to accompany them to the Clendenin factory on promise of a position. After arriving there, the lad was placed under arrest and charged with being an incendiary. He was released and the charges withdrawn afterwards. A barn on the Clendenin farm was burned a few days before the lad's arrest.

one in that community who makes serious objections to living within a short distance of the fertilizing establishment. The success of this suit will be watched by these others and should judgment be given the plaintiff it is entirely probable that other suits will be filed against the defendant.

In the complaint, Pickett avers that his residence is within twenty-five rods of the fertilizing establishment. He says that odor arising from the boiling, cooking, steaming, rendering and decomposing of the dead animals is such that he and his family are injured and the sale of his property is damaged. The stench has made his home unfit for residence purposes, he avers. He claims that his home has been damaged to the extent of $3,000, and he and his family to the extent of $2,000, making the total damage demanded, $5,000.

The case will be tried in the October term of court in all probability.

INDIANS WILL COME

Chief American Horse and his son, White Bear, the former of whom took part in the massacre of General Custer and his band of calvarymen in the battle of the Little Big Horn, will deliver a lecture on the battle Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at the Palace theater, in connection with the other numbers of the program. A war dance will be given by the Indians, and moving pictures, showing western life, will be offered.

"Johnny, leave me alone and don't ask me another question!" "Just one more, an' then I'll keep still." "Well, what is it?" "What relation is a cousin German to a Dutch uncle?"
