FINE SHEEP ARE SHOWN

THERE ARE THIRTY-SIX PENS OF HOGS, ONE SHEEP PEN AND A GOAT PEN—FARMERS THROUGH THE EXHIBIT.

Thirty-six pens of swine, one goat pen and one sheep pen make up the exhibit on the vacant lot at Fifth and South A streets. Samuel Dunlap, chairman expects temporary quarters will have to be provided for additional exhibits.

The judge for the display is Lewis Peterson of Spring Valley, Ohio. He arrived today but stated that he would not make the awards until tomorrow when the breeders will have their animals polished up like a hard wood floor. He said that the display was probably the best he had ever seen.

Hogs weighing in the neighborhood of eight hundred and a thousand pounds are not an uncommon sight but the majority, of course, are smaller, but of equal excellence in breeding. As hogs are probably the best paying stock on the farms at the present time, it is readily imagined what interest they attracted on the part of the farmers. Cash prizes are offered for the best hogs of all varieties, including Duroc Jerseys, Jersey Whites, Poland Chinas and other breeds. Ribbons will be given in addition. The goat and sheep displays will not be given cash prizes. However, ribbons, which are possibly of more value to the breeder, will be given.

FLOWERS ATTRACTIVE

When Exhibit Opened This Afternoon There Was a Grand Rush.

SCENE OF GREAT BEAUTY

When the doors of the flower exhibit, 824 Main street, were opened at 2 o'clock, this afternoon, there was a grand rush to pass inspection on the displays, including amateur and professional exhibits. It is almost impossible to give a description of the show, and in order to judge its excellence, one must see the display.

The judges for both amateur and professional classes are Irvin Bertermann, a professional florist of Indianapolis, and W. W. Coles, a florist of Kokomo. Both men have been national exhibitors in shows and are well qualified to act in the capacity for which they have been chosen. Mr. Coles and Mr. Bertermann both arrived in the city this morning and immediately started on their work. They expect to be so engaged for a day or two.

The amateur exhibitors do not show against the professionals. Only cash prizes are given to the amateurs, while the professionals compete for ribbons.

The display room, which is the largest display room of the festival is fairly well crowded with displays of potted and cut flowers. On the east side are shown the potted plants, while the Big Bumbaugh Dirigible Balloon Could Not Soar in Native Element Because of Internal Trouble.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE WERE DISAPPOINTED

When Gas Bag Was Ready to Soar Motor Began to Behave Badly and the Propeller Acted Poorly.

Up until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, Captain George L. Bumbaugh, the aviator from Indianapolis, who was scheduled to make a fifteen minute flight in his big dirigible balloon, had not arisen from the ground. He continued working with the motor, which he said was causing the trouble, and expected to make an ascension. He says that the ascension scheduled for 4:30 o'clock this afternoon will be pulled off on time.

A crowd of approximately five thousand people, who had assembled at South Eighth and H streets, the site selected as the place for the ascensions, were heartily disappointed at his failure. Mr. Bumbaugh was also greatly disappointed himself at the refusal of the motor and propeller to work properly. He says that this is the first occasion that he ever disappointed a crowd. He has made flights in a number of large cities, and used the same balloon, which he has here, in Indianapolis at the aerial exhibition, there last summer.

Pulled Out of Tent.

The balloon was pulled out of the big tent in which it is kept at night, at about 9 o'clock and Mr. Bumbaugh and his attendants started to fix the apparatus. By 11 o'clock when the crowd was assembled, everything appeared to be in ship-shape. By 11:30 o'clock, the scheduled time for the exhibition, the ballast was removed and the machine carried to the center of the field.

The day appeared to be ideal in every respect. There was no wind, but even under these ideal conditions Mr. Bumbaugh could not get the proper ballast, it being necessary to direct the nose of the balloon toward the wind. When the dirigible was placed so that it balanced properly there would be some trouble with the motor or the propeller, and by the time this had been fixed the wind had changed and it was necessary to get proper ballast again. This performance was repeated until 2:30 o'clock.

OPENING PARADE FINE SPECTACLE

This Morning Agricultural Pageant Was the Special Feature.

FINE HORSES A FEATURE

SELDOM HAS RICHMOND AT ANY ONE TIME SEEN SO MANY BLUE-BLOOD EQUINES—KUTH MAKES BIG HIT.

The formal opening of the second annual Fall Festival was ushered in by the splendid agricultural parade moving East on Main street at 10 o'clock this morning. Fully 25,000 persons witnessed the spectacle and of this number it is estimated that fully half were visitors. The success of the festival has already been assured.

The parade was marked principally by the display of horses, which were entered in the horse show, which opened on North Tenth street today. A few cattle and one or two wagon displays. The parade was about a half mile long, this length not being procured by "stringing" out the exhibits. The parade started from Fourth and Main streets and the line of march extended east and then down North street to the center of town, where the disbanded and the exhibits were taken back to the respective points of display.

An Immense Crowd.

Main street was literally crowded with people. The crowd is believed to be larger than that which was attracted to the industrial parade of last year.

The street was roped in order to keep the people off the street and the crowd was four to ten deep all along the roped section of the street. A fairly large crowd also assembled on North street and this, was swelled by those on Main street who wanted to see the parade a second time.

Nothing but favorable comment was heard on all sides concerning the parade.

The parade was in charge of Marshals Thomas Butler and John Taylor both of whom rode black prancing steeds. The marshals were assisted by aides Iredell, Bullerick, Wyatt of Eaton, McGriff of Greenville, and others.

Band Was Big Hit.

Following the marshals came Smith's band, which furnished music all along the route. The different numbers rendered were the most excellent ever heard in this city and admirers of the local bands took off their hats to the Cincinnati union organization.

Following the band came twelve big stallions, their manes and tails decked with festive colors. Back of these horses was a team of draft horses in harness. Following in order, came

Amusements"A Woman of Mystery."

In the nature of human beings, there are many sides. The serene, the sublime, the ridiculous, and a mind that leans toward any of these to an abnormal degree is not well balanced; as too much sadness brings on chronic melancholia, while too much polly makes sacred things appear to the too joyous mind in a light that is incongruous to the real truth of religion. A mind well balanced enjoys a picture of life that portrays all sides of human nature in its variations as they occur in our daily lives.

That truth is stranger than fiction is not true, to the author who understands humanity, there is no fiction, because he writes of human nature as he sees it, although the incidents may be drawn from his imagination, the emotion portrayed though the inci-

HORSE SHOW OPENED

One of the Greatest Displays Of Kind Ever Held in The State.

WILL FINISH SATURDAY

Approximately three hundred horses will be shown in the mammoth horse show, which commenced this afternoon at 1 o'clock on North Tenth street. The show will be the best ever held in the middle west, according to those who are familiar with such affairs.

The two expert judges secured to judge the animals are K. K. Kirk of Spiceland, and Charles Schnell of Union City. These two men have a reputation on which the best horsemen in the country base their judgment. The horse show will take all of three days and the awards will not be fully completed until Saturday. It is believed, from present indications.

Everyone seems to be taking the utmost interest in this show and the association officials who ordered the construction of seats for the accommodation of the crowd and for which a small admission was charged, were well pleased with the results.

The following were the first three prizes awarded at the horse show this afternoon:

Norman Stallion, first and second prizes, Albert Harmenson.

Four year old, Standard Bred Stallion, first prize, Charles Dagler, Rushville, Ind.; second prize, Edward Holder.

Three Year and under Four Standard Bred Stallion, George Amason first prize, and John E. Baker, second prize.

GOOD CATTLE SHOW

Surpasses Everything of Its Kind Ever Held in This County.

ARE MANY PRIZE WINNERS

The cattle display, in a large tent at Eleventh and Main streets, far surpasses anything of this kind seen in this city in many years. The quality is the best ever, including prize winning bulls, heifers and cows, and very promising calves, some of which animals are almost worth their weight in gold. Herefords, Shorthorns and Jerseys are the varieties shown. The owners of the exhibits are not all included among the breeders living near the city, as there are a number of cattle on display which came from a distance. The prizes offered are not large, but the breeders are glad to be given an opportunity to display their stock for the advertisement which results. This exhibit was a center of attraction for the farmers.

DEATH WAS SAD ONE

Particularly sad was the death of Mrs. H. A. Studebaker at Greensfork Sunday evening. Mrs. Studebaker, who was 23 years old, was the wife of the principal of the public schools and besides her husband she is survived by a two weeks old baby. Death was due to peritonitis. The deceased was a graduate of Manchester college. She had only resided at Greensfork for the past five weeks. The body was taken to Manchester yesterday for funeral services and burial at the home of her parents.

Where He Was Afraid.

Little Tommy and his mother, returning home in the dark, passed a large tree recently blown over. As they went by he grasped her hand with all his strength and backed around against her skirt, facing the tree. "Why, Tommy," she said, "are you afraid?" "Well," gasped Tommy, "my front jacket ain't, but my back jacket is."—Delineator
