

THE RICHMOND PALLADIUM

AND SUN-TELEGRAM.

VOL. XXXIV. NO. 332.

RICHMOND, IND., THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 7, 1909.

SINGLE COPY, 2 CENTS.

INDUSTRIES OF RICHMOND WILL BE ON DISPLAY

At 12:30 O'clock Splendid Pageant, Showing the Prosperity and Wealth of the City, to Move.

THOUSANDS EXPENDED FOR THE SPECTACLE

Every Train and Interurban Entering the City Today Brought People to City—Orderly Crowds.

INDUSTRIAL PARADE.

Assemble on Main between 4th and river Thursday; parade moves east on Main to 20th, thence north on 20th to E, west on E to Ft. Wayne avenue, south on Ft. Wayne avenue to 7th and disband.

Even the weather man is in harmony with the spirit of the occasion and had the weather been made to order it would not have been possible to obtain more ideal conditions than now exist. When the grand industrial parade starts at 12:30 o'clock, it is thought it will surpass anything that has ever been attempted in this regard in this section of the country. Small floats from the simplest design to gigantic structures of the most elaborate sort will be entered in the parade. For weeks there has been rivalry among the business men of the city in arranging the prettiest float and some of them are magnificent specimens of workmanship and art. Large sums have been expended for the elaborate decoration of the entries and indications point to the far greater success of the enterprise this year than last.

Thousands Pour In.

Every train and interurban car entering the city this morning carried hundreds of happy, care-free humanity all eager to enter into the spirit of the occasion and witness the festivities of this colossal event. As the time for the parade approached thousands of persons were lined up on each side of Main street, waiting in breathless suspense for the coming of the gorgeous spectacle. Every available space, on which it is possible to stand, was occupied on the principal thoroughfares. The crowd surpassed even the fondest expectations of the executive committee. The offices and business houses which line Main street, were filled to overflowing by persons who desired to witness the parade from the windows of these buildings.

Never have the police seen a more orderly crowd, it is said. The extra squad of police which was put on, apparently was not needed, except for the purpose of reminding the crowds that they must keep back behind the ropes, which were suspended along the curbing on Main street. The Denver Brown Camp of Spanish War Veterans also helped the police in keeping the crowds back and their services were greatly appreciated.

Bugles Head Parade. The bugle corps will head the parade and will be followed by the soldiers in event they arrive in time. Miss Juliet Swayne, impersonating the poster girl, will be next in line, with her attendants, the Misses Mildred Gaar, Rose Gennett, Marie Campbell and Josephine Cates. Three sections of Smittie's band and the Y. M. B. C. band will take part in the parade and furnish ample music for the occasion. The parade will probably be at least two miles long and will eclipse in grandeur any similar event ever witnessed in this "Panic Proof City." Farmers from miles around forsook

PROGRAM FOR FRIDAY.

8:00 A. M.—Exhibits open.
8:00 A. M.—Horse show opens.
9:00 A. M.—Y. M. B. C. assemblies at Westcott to escort Governor to the station.
10:30 A. M.—Premium winners' parade.
11:00 A. M.—Airship flight.
2:00 P. M.—Burlesque athletic events and special features, South Tenth street park.
3:00 P. M.—Band concert.
4:00 P. M.—Airship flight.
5:00 P. M.—Band concert.
7:00 P. M.—Citizens in costume assemble for fantastic parade.
7:30 P. M.—Parade forms at Fourth and Main streets and moves on Main to Fifteenth, thence to South B street.
9:30 P. M.—Grand ball at Coliseum. (Tickets 50 cents.)

their fields early and at the first dawn of day headed their horses in the direction of Richmond and arrived in large numbers, with their wives and families. All roads lead to Richmond today. The latch string is out as evidenced by the enormous crowds, all anxious to pay homage to Richmond, the enchanted Quaker City of the West.

The lively men experienced a land office business. The hotel and restaurant keepers also are wearing the elastic smile. Everyone feels just like shouting for the mere joy of living. The magic spell is on all, and all glory in it.

COLLEGE MAN CROOK

Black Sheep of Prominent Family Held in the Newark, N. J. Jail.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY

(American News Service)
Newark, N. J., Oct. 7.—Eugene Schlande, formerly a wealthy resident of St. Louis, where he married Miss Schubert, who subsequently divorced him, is a prisoner in jail today charged with forgery while the police and Pinkerton detectives have started a wide investigation, tracing operations of the prisoner in various sections of the United States.
Schlande, a graduate of the University of St. Louis and of Cornell, came here after squandering an inheritance of nearly $75,000 and secured work as a bookkeeper for the manufacturing firm of F. Matts. The Union National Bank complained to Mr. Matts that his account had been overdrawn and the subsequent investigation led to the forgery charge against Schlande. The technical charge is based on an alleged $300 forgery.

PINCH A BIG CHIEF

Heap big Injun, Chief American Horse, obtained a quantity of fire water late last night and got just a sip too much for he became thoroughly saturated. His war whoops and pow wow dance in the vicinity of the Central House, attracted the attention of Sergeant McNally about 1 o'clock this morning and the red man was promptly pinched. Considerable difficulty was experienced by the big policeman in landing his victim without losing his scalp, but by the use of a little persuasion with the aid of the big mace, the Indian was successfully placed behind the iron bars. In the city court this morning the Indian was fined $1 and costs and the fine was paid by his employer. American Horse is one of the three Indians playing a feature act at a local theater this week.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE WORD PALLADIUM.

The Palladium—what a strange name for a newspaper you say? Fifty years ago you would not have said so, for the name Palladium had a great vogue among the early American newspaper owners. And so it is that almost invariably the name Palladium on a newspaper, when found today, stands for a long career dating from the early part of the century. (The Richmond Palladium itself was established in 1831.)

Those first pioneer newspaper men, who began in the towns which were springing up on the then frontier, had a real reason for choosing the name Palladium. It has a historic background of its own. Back in the days of old Troy, when the Greeks were besieging the city—(considerably before the time of Homer, who told the historic tale), the people looked to the statue of Pallas Athene in the temple for protection. Not only was she the goddess of wisdom but it was said that so long as the Palladium (her image) remained in the city—the town was safe. Subsequently the tale tells, that Ulysses the Crafty managed to steal the Palladium away and the Greeks captured the town.

It is a pretty fancy—but like all fancies has a remarkable amount of truth in it. A town without a newspaper is in a helpless condition. A town with a dishonest newspaper whose ideals are stolen or bought by some modern Ulysses is in as bad a way as the town of Troy. We are fond of that old name—The Palladium—the American heritage is pleasing—but particularly does the present management of the paper feel it owes to the citizens of this community the guardianship of the trust which devolves on every newspaper. We appreciate the faith of the people in the Palladium which adds force to what would otherwise be but a name of bygone newspaper days or a betrayal of trust to the citizens of Richmond. The Palladium's float in this industrial parade represents the historical significance of its name.

THE PALLADIUM.

LIKE BIG EAGLE BUMBAUGH SOARS IN HIS AIRSHIP

After His Failure of the Morning Noted Aviator Wins Back Lost Honors by Afternoon Flight.

THOUSANDS GAZED AT UNIQUE PERFORMANCE

Ascension Made on South H Street Lot on Scheduled Time and Without the Slightest Trouble.

Resembling a large eagle coming down from the crags to crown the "Panic Proof City," George L. Bumbaugh, in his dirigible balloon, made a beautiful flight over the city yesterday afternoon. With the airship under perfect control and with excellent weather conditions, Captain Bumbaugh flew for fully twenty-five minutes to the delight of 30,000 people.

At exactly twenty minutes of five, Captain Bumbaugh arose easily and slowly on the field at South H and Eighth streets. The balloon was started south and then turned to the north toward Main street. His assistants had left him and were in an automobile ready to follow. The large gas bag propelled by a four cylinder engine, started down Eighth street to a height of about four hundred feet. About two blocks from the starting point, the balloon struck an air current which turned it completely around and at the same time carried it out five blocks west to Whitewater river valley.

Hit by Strong Breeze. Here it again encountered a strong air current which made the balloon appear as if it was at the mercy of the winds. But Bumbaugh worked with the engine and the rudder and the balloon headed down Main street.

Captain Bumbaugh said afterward that at such a height he was unable to tell where Main street was, and turned south before he had intended to do so.

The word that Bumbaugh had begun his flight spread like "wild fire," and the streets and roofs of buildings were crowded with people. Nearly every resident of the city, both old and young, were out to see the wonderful flight. Many of the old inhabitants of Richmond who remember great discoveries and inventions admitted that they had never dreamed of the time when it would be possible for a man to fly and at the same time have perfect control of the machine.

The flight by Bumbaugh was a record breaking event for this city and for the Fall Festival. It will mark a milestone in the history of Richmond. In this day and age when so much is being accomplished and such great discoveries are being made the "Panic Proof City" can count as one of its achievements, the flight of a dirigible balloon. It is all the more remarkable since the man who is doing the work is an Indian.

The machine did not start on the evening owing to a broken bolt in the propeller. It was some time before suitable material could be found to hold the propeller to the rod from the engine. Finally, however, some large nails were secured and the flight begun.

PLENTY OF DANCES

The dancing at the Coliseum and Pythian Temple yesterday and today under the auspices of the Fall Festival, does not in any way mean that the big fall festival dance will not be given in the Coliseum Friday night.

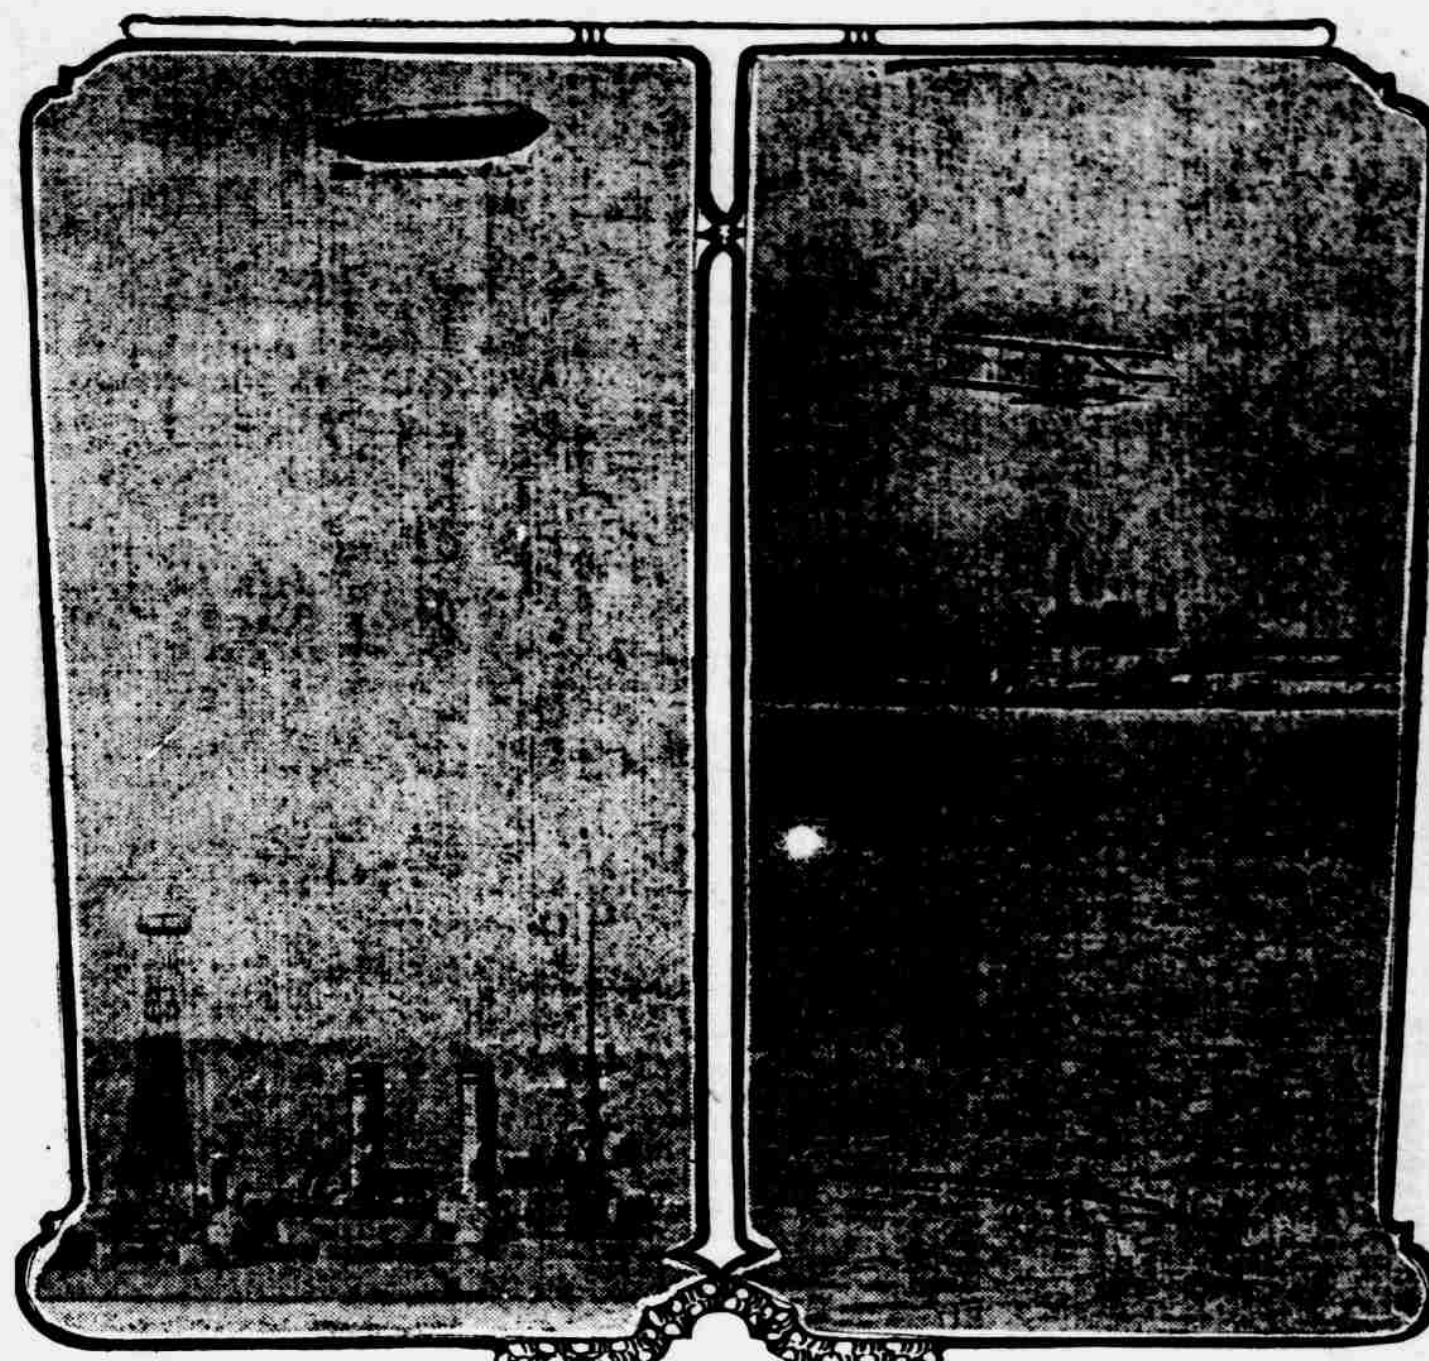

The dance Friday night has been well advertised, and a large number of tickets have been sold for it. Music will be furnished by Renk's full orchestra, and it will be the dance of the Festival by all means.

Tonight the Fall Festival will give a dance in the Pythian Temple as was done last night. The dance last night was splendidly attended. Music was given by Runge's six piece orchestra. The same orchestra will play tonight.

HORSE RUNS AMUCK

Much excitement was caused at Tenth and North A streets this morning at the opening of the horse show by one of the show horses performing antics which caused two runaways. The horse began to kick and jump and backed into the Model Grocery Company, delivery wagon, breaking the front axle. The horse then broke loose and jumped over a junk dealer's horse, hit on a street, causing that animal to run away and breaking up the wagon.

AEROPLANE AND DIRIGIBLE IN FLIGHT

TWO NAVIGATORS OF THE AIR UP IN THE SKY, IN NEW YORK. THE PICTURE AT THE LEFT SHOWS GEORGE L. TOMLINSON'S DIRIGIBLE BALLOON, THE "GELATINE," FLYING OVER ONE OF THE BATTLESHIPS IN THE NORTH RIVER, WHILE THE PICTURE AT THE RIGHT SHOWS WILBUR WRIGHT IN HIS AEROPLANE, EQUIPPED WITH A CANOE FOR SAFETY, FLYING OVER THE LOWER BAY. BOTH PICTURES GIVE A VERY GOOD IDEA OF THE AERIAL FEATS BEING WITNESSED BY MILLIONS OF VISITORS NOW IN NEW YORK.

AUTO PARADE WAS BEAUTIFUL SIGHT

Prosperity of the City Shown To Visitors by Great Spectacle.

M'CONAHAS WIN HONORS

WITH THEIR GREAT MACHINE DECORATED AS BATTLESHIP, TAKE CROWD BY STORM—DECORATIONS SUPERB.

With fifty uniquely decorated automobiles parading down Main street and an unequalled pyrotechnic display at the Warner school grounds, the first day of the second annual Fall Festival was fittingly closed. No less than 15,000 people were on Main street to see the pageant and no less than that number of people went to their homes satisfied with so excellent a climax to the first day's entertainment by the Young Men's Business club of this city.

Main street, with its decorations of yellow and white, together with the electric lights spanning the street, gave the appearance of a triumphant arch through which a portion of the prosperity of the "Panic Proof City" passed.

Superb Decorations. The parade was significant and interesting because of the variety of the decorations. From a large battleship to a floral display the automobile owners did not only do justice to themselves but pleased the visitors by their appearance.

Probably the most attractive design was that of the McConaha company. On their large Premier car they erected a miniature battleship and "sailed"

The Palladium and The World's Series

Every baseball fan in Richmond knows that tomorrow marks the beginning of the world's baseball championship series, to be played off by the Detroit Tigers, champions of the American League, and the Pittsburgh Pirates, champions of the National League. The first game will be played at Pittsburgh. The other games will alternate between that city and Detroit.

The Palladium has a leased Postal Telegraph wire and will put specials on the street every afternoon during the series, following the completion of the game. Each game should be over by 4 o'clock and by 4:30 o'clock the Palladium, through its base ball extras, will tell the anxious fans the story of the game, inning by inning, and the score by innings.

Keep your eye open for the base ball extra tomorrow. The streets will be flooded with them.

TO GREET GOVERNOR

This Afternoon Citizens and Visitors Will Be Reception Committee.

BANQUET THIS EVENING

At five o'clock this afternoon members of the Y. M. B. C. citizens and visitors to the city are expected to assemble at Tenth and Main streets, where a parade will be formed to march to the Pennsylvania station to greet the governor, who will arrive here from LaGrange about 6 o'clock, accompanied by Mrs. Marshall. He will be taken to the Coliseum, where at 6:30 o'clock a banquet in honor of him and the visiting newspaper editors will be served.

This afternoon at three o'clock the visiting newspaper men will assemble at the Festival headquarters, Tenth and Main streets, and will then be taken on an automobile ride over the city.

JOB FOR YINGLING

William B. Yingling, a former city patrolman, was sworn in this morning by Harry E. Penny, county clerk, to serve as a deputy sheriff during the illness of Captain Trump, the Pennsylvania officer. Mr. Yingling's duties will be along the Pennsylvania lines.

A DELAY IN AWARDS

Owing to the fact that the Palladium went to press early today and there has been a delay in announcing the awards of the various exhibits, decorations and parades, a list of these awards cannot be published in this paper today. However, tomorrow all the awards made will be published in full.

THE WEATHER.

INDIANA—Continued fair Friday.

LAW ENFORCEMENT CONVENTION WAS NOT BIG SUCCESS

Various Meetings, Conducted By the Anti-saloon League, Attended by Not More Than a Hundred People.

ADDRESSES MADE WERE A REDEEMING FEATURE

It is Also a Fact That Those Who Attended Were Among Strongest Characters in the State of Indiana.

(Palladium Special)

Indianapolis, Ind., October 7.—The law enforcement conference which was held in this city under the auspices of the anti-saloon league this week, was attended by only about 100 persons. Five sessions were held and the attendance did not run above that figure at any time. So far as numbers were concerned the conference was a failure, but the character of the men present and the character and strength of the addresses and papers read at the conference more than made up for the lack of a crowd to hear them.

The conference, as was stated long ago, was called by the anti-saloon league, although it was given out that the conference would not be devoted exclusively to the saloon problem. When the addresses were made, however, and the papers were read, it was found that every one of them was based on the one question—the violation of the liquor laws.

From All Standpoints.

The question was considered from every standpoint. There was a congressman, a judge, two or three prosecutors, two or three mayors of cities, one or two chiefs of police and some state officers on the program, and they all took a whiff at the subject of law enforcement.

It was expected in advance that the conference would be attended by several hundred delegates from all over the state. Invitations had been sent to all of the church organizations as well as to civic leagues, commercial bodies and other similar organizations and it had been the hope of the promoters that the response would be large. So, when the small crowd turned out, it was a disappointment. Most of those present, outside of the speakers, were persons from Indianapolis.

Gave a Local Color.

This gave the conference rather a local color, and this had led the anti-saloon league people to the conclusion that such conferences can be held in all of the dry counties of the state. They figure that if a conference of this kind can be pulled off in Marion county it can be done also in other counties and that much good will come of them. The anti-saloon league people realize that there is much for them to do even in the dry counties, where they find blind tigers flourishing in many places and officials failing to do their duty in enforcing the laws. For this reason they hope, by means of these law enforcement conferences, to stir up interest in the subject and arouse the people to a point where they will compel the enforcement of the laws. No plans have been made yet for these conferences, but it is expected that the league officers will begin making the dates within a short time.

The Oral Argument.

The oral argument of the case before the supreme court in which the constitutionality of the county local option law is attacked, was originally set for yesterday, but it was postponed until November 3, the day after the city elections throughout the state. It is said that there was no political significance in the change in the date, although it is the general opinion that it was a good idea to postpone the argument until after the heat of the local campaigns had died away. All over the state, even in dry cities, it seems that the wet and dry issue is rampant, and that it is going to cut a big figure in the fights. To stir up the question further just at this time, it is admitted would be to intensify the feeling en-

(Continued on Page Five.)

King Carnival's Edict.

Wherefore it having been brought to my august attention that all Richmond will join in a Mardi Gras celebration on Friday night, the closing evening of the Fall Festival,

And wherefore this night is to be one in which everybody has a gloriously good time,

And wherefore this is to be a fantastic night, and as no one can be fantastic in their ordinary street clothes,

I therefore order and decree that NO MAN, WOMAN OR CHILD appear on the streets of Richmond Friday night unless they be costumed, and masked.

This order and decree must be obeyed. Those violating such order will be subject to arrest, imprisonment and fine in my court. Such order is given under my vested authority to rule this night of frivolity, and is officially stamped by my great seal of fun.

Signed, KING CARNIVAL.