

FORBES PARK WAS FILLED YESTERDAY BY IMMENSE HOST

Donovan Was in His Very Best Form and Compelled the Pirates to Feed Out of His Mighty Paw.

BRILLIANT PLAYS BY BOTH OF THE TEAMS

Schmidt, the Goat on Friday, Redeemed Himself by Slugging in Four of the Tigers' Seven Tallies.

(American News Service)
Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Oct. 9.—Detroit got its revenge today in the world's series before a wild crowd that smashed the attendance figures. The Tigers put up a fierce slugging game, making seven runs to the Pirates' two. Wilbur Donovan was in his best form and he let himself go. Ty Cobb performed one of the great feats of the day when he stole home in the third, making the fifth run for the Tigers. Wagner fanned the first time he was at bat and he was far from being the animal trainer the Smokeville fans expected.

Abstein's Great Play.
The Pirates got credit for one of the day's sensational plays when Abstein made a circus grab and pulled down Cobb's hot drive with one hand in the fifth, beating Cobb to the bag. Leach made a great run and got Bush's hot liner in the ninth.

Pittsburgh started out with a rush, scoring two in the first and then Detroit rolled up as many in the next and piled on three more in the third and two in the fifth.

Every corner of the park was jammed with as enthusiastic a crowd as ever raised its voice. The attendance was estimated at 35,000.

The Pirates were ten to six favorites in the betting.

Byrne scored the first run for Pittsburgh in the first inning. He had gone to first base on four bad ones. Then Leach sent the ball flying to right, doubling and bringing Byrne home. Leach himself, quickly brought the runs up to two. Clarke sacrificed and Leach took third. Wagner fanned, and Miller coming up, hit to deep right for two bases, sending Leach home.

Good Pirate Lead.

At the end of the first inning Pittsburgh had two runs and Detroit was still at zero. In the second inning Detroit evened the score, however. Moriarity drove a hot liner to left that Clarke could not hold and took first. Tom Jones singled and Moriarity added two more bases. Schmidt went to the bat and doubled with a swat to deep center, scoring Moriarity and T. Jones.

In the third Detroit rolled up three more in succession. D. Jones hit to Byrne, but Abstein muffed and Jones was safe. Jones took second when Bush and Cobb singled, both the other men moving up. Crawford filed to right with a short one and Delehan followed this with a double to center while both Jones and Bush completed the circuit. Cobb was on third and after Willis was put in the box for Pittsburgh, Cobb stole home.

In the fifth the Tigers ran up two more. Crawford doubled to left and Delehan drew a pass. Moriarity popped to Abstein. T. Jones walked. The bases were full and the crowd was on its feet. Schmidt gave the ball a swat that won him a single and cleared the way to home for Crawford and Delehan. The score stood even up for the rest of the game.

In the village of Foston, Suffolk England, stands a famous oak which the rector has proved to be 2,000 years old. The tree has a girth of thirty six feet and has been known always as the gospel oak, since under it the first Christian missionaries preached to the heathen Saxons thirteen centuries ago. This event is commemorated each year by a special service held under the tree.

"Frederick the Great"

While the baseball statisticians have made the fans conversant with the records of Hans Wagner, Nap Lajoie and Willie Keeler, who have been famed as batters for many years they have sort of overlooked Fred Clarke, the hustling and clever manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Clarke may not have the batting average for ten or twelve years that Wagner, Lajoie and Keeler were able to pile up, but just the same he is one of the few who have been in the big leagues for sixteen years and been able to bat over .300 for that length of time.

Clarke has now finished his sixteenth season as a big league player. In ten of those sixteen seasons he batted over .300 while in 1905 he missed by only one point. This year, his figure is .290, but it is not expected that he will land inside the mark in the short time remaining. He is also one of the few men who has been able to bat over .400 in the modern days of baseball. And he has also always starred as a run getter and base runner.

In figuring Clarke's record, it should also be borne in mind that for thirteen years he has been a club manager and it is a conceded fact that players upon whom the managerial duties have been placed do not play as well as they would if they had only their individual work to think about. Despite this handicap, he has taken a mark of .301 for sixteen years, having made 2,414 hits, scored 1,475 runs or ¾ of a run to a game and stolen 489 bases.

During the season of 1904 Clarke's days as a professional baseball player were nearly ended. He suffered a severe accident in stealing a base and blood poisoning set in. He was laid up for several weeks, the surgeons having to remove one of the muscles from the upper part of his leg.

It was thought then that he never would be able to play again, but he did manage to take part in the post season series that fall with the Naps and play each season since. But he really has not been the consistent batter that he was before his accident, passing the .300 mark but once.

QUAKERS ROLL UP TOP HEAVY SCORE

Pounce on Innocent Little Cedarville and Acquire 39 Points.

CONTEST WAS SLOW ONE

EARLHAM DISPLAYED GOOD EARLY SEASON TEAM WORK BUT THE VISITORS' WORK WAS MUCH TO SANDPAPER.

Earlham (39; Cedarville (0)
Earlham defeated Cedarville by a score of 39 to 0 in the opening football game of the season on Reid field yesterday afternoon. The game was exceptionally slow. The Quakers put up some good team work while Cedarville showed a lack of knowledge of the game. During the progress of the game, Connelley, Haworth, Bruner and Larrance showed some fine playing.

The first half opened with Beebe making a gain of forty yards. Bruner got the ball and after three minutes of play, made the first touchdown. Turbyville failed to kick the goal and the score stood 5 to 0 in favor of the Quakers. After a few moments of play Palmer secured the ball, but Cedarville could not hold it. Haworth then secured the ball and made slight gain. Raegan then secured the ball and, assisted by Beebe, made a fifty yard dash and the score stood 10 to 0. The ball then went back and forth. Larrance was placed at left end, relieving Raegan and Hayes was placed at left guard. Haworth then secured the ball and made his second touchdown. Time was then called with the score 16 to 0 in favor of Earlham.

The second half opened with the ball again in the possession of Cedarville, and Williamson failed in a forward pass to Palmer. Cedarville could not gain and the pig skin went to the Quakers. Connelley was then placed at quarter and by some fast team work made one gain of forty yards. Haworth then made his third touchdown and kicked the goal. Eight minutes later Hughbanks again carried the ball back of the goal posts and Earlham had a lead of 34 points.

At this stage of the game, Coach Thistlethwaite tried out some of the new material and gave some of the second and third team men a chance at a scheduled game. Johnson, Denman and Wann were placed in the squad and after a few moments of play Bruner buried the ball back of the goal and Earlham had won.

ASKS RAILROADS TO SUPPLY DATA

Postmaster General Inquiring Into Heavy Mail Carriage Rates.

U. S. PAYS A HIGH PRICE

GOVERNMENT HAS TO RENT CARS AND IS ALSO OBLIGED TO SETTLE FOR THE SHIPMENTS AT POUND RATES.

Washington, Oct. 9.—An inquiry has been inaugurated by Postmaster General Hitchcock into the cost to the railroad companies of transporting the mails, for which the companies receive annually from the government $50,000,000. This is not intended necessarily to reveal any overpayments to the railroads. On the contrary it may afford the railroads a long-looked-for opportunity to demonstrate that they are underpaid.

This has been their claim at all times, and while no one has believed it, it has afforded basis for a spirited resistance in Congress of every attempt made to reduce the compensation allowed them.

Asked the Railroads.
Mr. Hitchcock has sent a circular letter to all the railroads, asking that each inform him in detail of the actual cost of the transportation of mails, including the terminal facilities provided and all other items of expense to which the roads are subjected. Inasmuch as the railroads can hardly be expected to give themselves any the worst of it in their reports, the information may not be so valuable as the department hopes for.

The inquiry was suggested by the second assistant postmaster general, who has charge of the railway mail branch of the postal service. While the department does not assert that the railroads are overpaid for the actual carrying of the mails, it is held that in the charges made for postal cars the government is required to pay higher rates than any other class of shippers.

Double Charges Made.
Long ago, in reports of several postmaster generals, it was suggested that the system of paying rentals for the postal cars and at the same time pound rates for all mail carried was a dual method of compensation from which the railroads derived all the benefit. The general suggestion made from time to time has been that the government should build its own cars and pay the railroads, for hauling them, the same rates as are paid by other owners of private cars. This system it has been shown, would cut down the expense of mail transportation very materially.

The purchase or construction of mail cars by the government would require a heavy expenditure at the beginning, and this expenditure Congress has been unwilling to authorize. Just what recommendations Mr. Hitchcock will base upon the result of his inquiry he does not know himself and cannot know until he gets the information he has asked for.

CLARK SHOW CASE CO., Columbus, O.

Outlook For the Football Season at Big Colleges

By TOMMY CLARK.
FOOTBALL warriors in the various colleges east and west are now hard at work practicing and developing their style of play. The month of September is always the scene of most pronounced activity among the coaches who direct the affairs of our college gridiron combinations. The most promising material must have as thorough a trial as possible before the candidates turn out in large numbers, and then it is usually the case that the physical condition championship. What Princeton will do this season is problematical. The Tiggers have splendid material to work on and may surprise you. Penn coaches are worried over the loss of so many veterans. The red and blue's great problem is to fill the back field. Captain Miller is the only veteran left from last year's team. Cornell's chances can be better answered after the first contest.

The Carlises are badly crippled. Only three veterans returned. They are Houser, the clever kicking halfback of last season, and Captain Libby. Thorpe will go to his old position at fullback. Cries-For-Ribs, a fast and strong Indian, depended upon to make halfback, is out of the game. During practice recently he injured his leg so severely he will probably be out for the season.

West Point has the nucleus for a good eleven this season, ninety candidates for football honors having reported in answer to Captain Pullen's call. In the middle west it looks as if Chicago and Wisconsin will again meet for the championship, although Minnesota will give them a hard tussle for the honors. The Gophers have many veterans left, while the others have lost several.

When Captain Ted Coy called together the Yale football candidates recently one of the strongest squads ever gathered reported. From last year's team he has the following top-notchers as veterans:

Ends, Kilpatrick, Naedele and Logan; tackles, Hobbs, Lilley and Brown; guards, Cooney, Goebel and Andrus; quarterback, Carey and Johnson; halfbacks, Philbin, Daly and Murphy; fullback, Coy.

At Princeton Field Coach Jim McCormick has many veterans to call on: Ends, Welsh, Cunningham, Sawyer, King and Meigs; tackles, Captain Seigling, McCormick, Hamman, Bissell and C. McCormick; guards, Waller and Buckingham, and MacFadden will be at center once more. It is a matter of conjecture who will be placed at quarterback.

At Harvard Captain Fish and Coach Haughton are badly handicapped at the start. By graduation last June the team lost its regular center trio—Burr, Nourse and Hoar—and the quarter Outler and Ver Wiebe, Denard and White in the back field. This took away the very backbone of the yardstick. Men may be found to take their places left vacant by Hoar and Burr, but a center like Nourse or back like Ver Wiebe or White will be hard to find at Harvard.

Chicago is sure to be a strong contender for the honors of the west. Although Coach Stagg has lost ex-Captain Steffen, Iddings, Schommer, Falk and Scott, he has six of last year's team left.

With Kelly, Eberhorn, Hoffman and Captain Page all back on the line and Cawley and Worthwine of the old of many veterans demands all the work possible before the regular autumn campaign on the chalk barbed field.

While the pigskin will not be sailing away from the kickoff by the big university players for awhile yet, nevertheless other teams will be in the field before that time.

Although there is no intercollegiate association with a round robin scheme, the chances for a determination of the intercollegiate championships are much better this year than last. Last year the honor of being the first lay between Harvard and Pennsylvania, but as they did not play each other and met but one common opponent, the Indians in preliminary games, the issue had to be fought out verbally.

Had Cornell played Harvard last fall, as she will do this year, there would undoubtedly have been something tangible with which to settle the controversy. This year Harvard plays Yale, Dartmouth and Cornell; Yale meets Princeton and Harvard, Princeton plays Dartmouth, and Pennsylvania meets Cornell. This schedule surely ought to leave some team with the championship proved.

In the middle west the old confederate combination, the "big nine," has not been fully restored and will not be until the University of Michigan returns to the fold. This Michigan shows no disposition to do, although the Wolverines have stolen a march on the rulers of the conference by arranging a game with the University of Minnesota. The rulers of the conference thought a few years ago that they had completely ostracized Michigan from the west when the Michigan delegates refused to swallow some of the foolish legislation worked out by the conference professors during those days of hysteria four years ago. But this year Michigan has secured a game with Minnesota.

Otherwise the conference colleges still consist of Chicago, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Purdue, Iowa and Northwestern. There have been several efforts on the part of Nebraska to take the place vacated by Minnesota. But Nebraska is not yet ready to subscribe to all the eligibility requirements in the conference code and be still a free lance in western football.

There will be even more intercollegiate football than there was last year. The universities of Pennsylvania and Michigan meet for the fourth time, while Chicago and Cornell play their second annual game, this time at Ithaca. Michigan and Syracuse also play again, their game taking place at Ann Arbor. Another unusual intercollegiate game scheduled is that between Illinois and Syracuse in the latter's stadium.

Reports from Harvard are very gloomy. The crimson has lost many stars by graduation, and many of last year's substitutes are not returning to college. But still Harvard has the nucleus of a good team left and should give Yale a hard tussle for the eastern guard as ground gainers, the rosters feel Coach Stagg will have a nucleus to work with, around which he can develop a team with all the strength and speed of last year's.

Coach Barry of Wisconsin, besides having several veterans, has a large squad of candidates from whom to select a strong eleven. The Badgers have lost Steinhilber, Messner, Rogers and Cunningham, but Oethel, Moll, Dean, Culver, Bunker, Bell and Captain Wice form a nucleus for developing a strong and fast aggregation. Minnesota has lost only two of last year's men, and with Johnny McGovern to lead them the Gophers should make things warm for Chicago and Wisconsin.
