The Manlove Comedy company rendered their play, "The Three Hats," at Falmouth, Saturday night before a good house. The play, which is a laughable farce comedy, is laid at the home of Mr. Selwyn's home and shows that gentleman as having had no sleep and who is in dire trouble because he has lost his hat and has another in exchange. He had been out to dine and on returning home meets a young lady who asks to be directed to a certain place. Mr. Selwyn attempts to do the honors and on coming down stairs is thrown up against a gentleman whose hat is knocked off as is Mr. Selwyn's. Then comes the exchange and the trouble. Mr. Selwyn does not want his wife to know, and as the story goes on, everybody is taking some one else to be another person, until it is almost impossible to be sure who is who by the audience.

The cast of characters is as follows: Sam Selwyn, Harry Manlove. Fred Bellamy, Edd Manlove, who is a friend of Mr. Selwyn's and the secretly made husband of Miss Ottilie Blithe. Capt. Cattsfield, is Paul Ferris, who is in love with Miss Grace Selwyn. Boscoe Blithers is represented by Harry Borden, who makes a capital old man and is the stepfather of Lottie Blithers. Dibbs, is Ivan Parkins, who is the servant of Mr. and Mrs. Selwyn. Mrs. Selwyn is taken by Mrs. Maude Manlove, who acts her part well. Grace Selwyn is Miss Blanche Moore. Miss Lottie Blithers is taken by Miss Lois McClung. At the entertainment at Falmouth, Ed Manlove gave some impersonations that greatly pleased the audience. Harry Doty, who also accompanied them to Falmouth, rendered some fine solos. The company will play at Raleigh October 23.

THEY WERE STUBBORN.

A Story Illustrating the "Setness" of the Cornishman.

Your Cornishman can be very "set" and stubborn. His determination of spirit is more remarkable than admirable at times, though it may be amusing.

Mr. Hook, the late royal academician, was once, says Mr. W. H. Hudson in his book on the "Land's End," on the sands at Whitesand bay, working at a marine picture, when two natives came up and planted themselves just behind him. There was nothing the artist hated more than to be watched by strangers over his shoulders in this way, and pretty soon he wheeled around on them and angrily asked them how long they were going to stand there.

His manner served to arouse their spirit, and they replied brusquely that they were going to stay as long as they thought proper.

He insisted on knowing just how long they were going to stay there to his annoyance, and by and by, after some more loud and angry discussion, one of them incautiously declared they would stand at that very spot for an hour.

"Do you mean that?" shouted Hook, pulling out his watch.

Yes, they returned, they would not stir one inch from that spot for an hour.

"Very well," he said and pulled up his case; then, marching off to a distance of thirty yards, he set it up again and resumed his painting.

And there, within thirty yards of his back, the two men stood for one hour and a quarter, for, as they did not have a watch, they were afraid of going away before the hour had expired. Then they marched off.

Franklin as a Swimmer.

In 1728 Benjamin Franklin was working as a printer at Watts', near Lincoln Inn Fields, and taught two shopmates to swim "at twice going into the river." With them and some of their friends from the country he paid a visit by water to Chelsea, and "in our return," he recorded, "at the request of the company, whose curiosity Wygate had excited, I stripped and leaped into the river and swam from near Chelsea to Blackfriars, performing on the way many feats of activity, both upon and under the water, that surprised and pleased those to whom they were novelties."—London Tatler.

Her Housekeeping.

Growells-Smith's wife must be a poor housekeeper. Mrs. Growells—Why do you think so? Growells—He declares he's perfectly comfortable at home every day in the year.—Chicago News.

Tree and Sea.

"By the way, what is the tree most nearly related to the sea?" "The beech, of course."

"Are you sure? Isn't the bay tree nearer?"—London Scraps.
