A RABBIT DISPUTE

Hinges About Question as to Whether the Animals Are Game.

THE PROSECUTOR'S VIEWS

The position which sportsmen, who desire to shoot rabbits before the open season, November 10, hold is a peculiar one. Owing to the fact that there is a strong doubt as to whether rabbits are game and also that there is no reference to rabbits in the statute books, thus strengthening the claims of those who contend these animals are not game, it is probable that no prosecution would be made, should anyone shoot rabbits.

However, the rub comes in an entirely unexpected source as shown by the Indiana statute 2528, revised statute of 1908, and which Prosecuting Attorney Charles Ladd requested be published. The law is as follows: It shall be unlawful to hunt any kind of game except wild duck and other water fowl, at any time from October first of any year to November tenth of the same year. Any one guilty of violating any of the provisions of this section shall, on conviction, be fined not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each offense and every day this section is violated shall constitute a separate and distinct offense.

—Marriage Superstitions.
Matrimony is surrounded with superstitions, many of which apply only to the marriage ceremony. The wedding ring is made plain and thick only for the reason that its thickness and plainness secure it against breakage, for to break it is the very worst of luck for both bride and groom. White is the best color to get married in, but a widow may marry in any color save yellow. Should a bride drop one of her gloves we betide her! She must exercise great care in getting in and out of her carriage, and a false step is an ill omen which brings misfortune.

If you are troubled with sick headache, constipation, indigestion, offensive breath or any disease arising from stomach trouble, get a 50c or $1 bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is positively guaranteed to cure you.

Mother and Four Children Meet Death From Lamp Explosion.

WOMAN'S BRAVERY SHOWN

AFTER THE MOTHER HAD CARRIED ONE CHILD OUT OF HOUSE SHE WENT TO RESCUE OTHERS BUT PERISHED.

(American News Service)
Pittsburg, Nov. 2.—Mrs. William Marlow, a coal miner's wife, and four of her children, ranging in age from a baby to twelve year old boy, perished in a fire which destroyed their home in Penn township at six o'clock this morning. The fire was caused by an eighteen-year-old boy upsetting the kitchen lamp, which caused an explosion. The mother succeeded in carrying one child to safety in the yard, but lost her life in attempting to rescue the others. The charred body of the mother was found clasping her babe in her arms.

Old Time Quackery. The eighteenth century was the golden harvest time of the quack, against whom some of the fiercest shafts of Hogarth's satire were directed. The quack loved to surround himself with an atmosphere of mystery, which was calculated to impose upon the credulity of his victims. His room was bedecked with skulls and skeletons. A brisk trade in quackery was carried on by women. J. C. Wright in his book, "The Good Old Times," records the fact that in the year 1783 a Mrs. Joanna Stephens was awarded $5,000 by the English government for a proper discovery made by her for the cure of the stone. This "proper discovery," adds Mr. Wright, "consisted of a powder, a decoction and pills, the last named being formed from calcined snails, with carrot seeds, tips and haws, the compound being burnt to blackness and then mixed with soap and honey."

A Ludicrous Experiment. Holmes was one of the many eminent men who have attempted to solve the riddle of the universe. In his case the result was ludicrous. From the sublime thoughts that came to him while under the influence of chloroform he thought he might arrive at some solution. Placing himself in his armchair, with pen, ink and paper at hand, he inhaled the anaesthetic. As drowsiness stole over him the nature of things seemed revealed. By a vigorous effort he seized his pen and wrote—he knew not what, for before he had finished he fell back unconscious. When he recovered he turned with trembling anxiety to the sheet of paper, on which, written in scrawling characters, but quite legible, he found the awful revelation, "A strong smell of turpentine pervades the whole!"—London News.
