

Shoes

Which are Worth

$4.00

Some shoes which sell at $4 are merely $3 and $3.50 shoes marked up to appeal to a certain class of trade. Our $4 shoes represent actual $4 values. We do not sell a shoe at $4 unless it represents more real shoe worth than our other shoes at lower prices.

Our $4 shoes are made of better, more carefully selected leather. A little more time is spent in the cutting of the leathers and the linings which go to make the shoes. A little more care is taken by each of the hundreds of workmen which handle their numerous parts. More skill is required of the men who design, construct and create them.

They All Represent More Style

a better fit, more character and distinction in their shapes. In short a higher value for your money than we can offer in any lower priced shoe and a higher value for your money than other dealers can offer you for the same money.

PLEDGES OF PEACE AND GOOD FEELING

Have Been Exchanged Between the United States and Japan.

SECRETARY KNOX SPEAKS

AND TELLS JAPANESE COMMISSIONERS THAT HE HOPES THERE WILL BE CLOSER RELATIONS BETWEEN COUNTRIES.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Stirring addresses bearing on the ties which unite the Japanese and American nations, the wonderful progress of the former country, and the importance of bringing about a perfect commercial understanding between the two, characterized the banquet given last night by the staff of the Japanese embassy to the visiting Japanese Commercial Commission, the members of which are making a tour of the country.

Tables were set for 130 in the banquet hall of the new Willard hotel, those present, including, in addition to the guests of honor, members of the cabinet and others prominent in the official, social and business life of Washington. Toasts were drunk to the President of the United States and to the Emperor of Japan.

Secretary of State Knox, in proposing the toast to the Mikado, remarked that it was most appropriate on this day of the Emperor's birth and in the distinguished company of Japanese present.

The addresses were made by Secretaries Knox and Ballenger, Mr. Natsui, the Charge d'Affaires of the Japanese Embassy, Baron Shibusawa, and District Commissioner MacFarland.

Toast to the Mikado.
Mr. Knox said: "Gentlemen I propose the health—most appropriately on this birthday and in this distinguished Japanese company—of His Majesty the Emperor of Japan.

"This is an opportunity of which I gladly avail to speak of the ties which have contributed to unite our two nations in amity and essential harmony ever since the days when, to American representatives first of all, you opened your doors for the reciprocal exchange of good will and civilization and trade. We have learned from you as you from us.

"But you already have and will expect keen, yet friendly rivalries which are only the stimulating competitions of the struggle toward excellence going on everywhere at all times. Commerce, exchange markets, trade extensions—these are the fields in which the friendly commercial rivalry now proceeding between the American and Japanese peoples finds expression. Each, indeed, furnishes a wide market for the other, and beyond their respective boundaries they engage in this friendly trade competition for the various markets of the world, and will continue so to engage. It is doubtless true that trade and trade extension are the foundation in practical life of most advances in civilization.

An Appeal for Peace.
"But the great modern movements of accord and good understanding between nations are, after all, the lofty achievements and the crown of all international relations. The controlling principle of these movements is peaceful and beneficial international intercourse and the peaceful settlement by arbitration of differences and controversies, extending that principle by friendly diplomacy as rapidly as possible to embrace an increasing number and variety of disputes, and ultimately by voluntary international compacts, making peaceful settlements of all differences compulsory, or practically so.

"I am confident that you will agree that it is altogether in accordance with the honorable and enlightened attitude both of Japan and the United States and that it should be the aim of true statesmanship to continue to keep abreast of these beneficial movements in which they have borne so distinguished a part."

Responses for Japan.

In his brief remarks Mr. Matsui said that his countrymen had been able to learn of the enormous potentialities of American enterprise, and he hoped that the meeting between them and the business men of America would conduce to a better understanding between Japan and the United States. Especially appreciative of the treatment that had been accorded his countrymen was Baron Shibusawa. Life to them had been perceptibly broadened by their visit to the United States, he said.

"Japan," he said, "wants to do the best she can within her power to pay the heavy debt she owes to America, and one of the most effective ways to do this, I believe, is in promoting the trade relations between the two countries."

The ambition of the Japanese, Baron Shibusawa declared, was to conduct commercial competition in such a manner and in such good temper as to avoid calling into use arbitration for the settlement of difficulties between the two nations.

Lost Temper.

"Lost temper does great harm," said a politician. "I once knew a man who held thirteen trumps at whist, and on account of his partner's temper he took only one trick with that ideal hand."

"Impossible!" sneered a reporter who conducted a weekly bridge column. "Impossible? Not at all," was the politician's reply. "You see, as soon as this man trumped his partner's ace on the first play his partner in a rage jumped up and kicked him out of the room."

Accounting For Patrick Henry.

It is related that Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase on stopping at the birthplace of Patrick Henry in Virginia exclaimed: "What an atmosphere! What a view! What glorious mountains! No wonder that Patrick Henry grew here! Whereupon an honest native dryly remarked that the atmosphere, the view and the mountains had been there for ages, but that only one Patrick Henry had been produced.—Macon Telegraph.

HOBOS—

Said the lady to the tramp, yes I gave you a piece of pie last week and you have been sending your friends here by twos and threes ever since. "O no, Mum," said the Hobo, "them was my enemies." After noticing his dirty clothes she gave him some rub-a-lac, telling him to wash his shirt with it. And now undoubtedly his friends will come in droves. Try it and see.

BENEFIT TO ROADS

Rainfall Recently Has Placed
County Highways in Good Shape.

IT ELIMINATED THE DUST

The recent rains have put the country roads in good condition and have settled the large quantities of dust that gathered on the rural thoroughfares, making automobilism, which has been almost unbearable for the past ten days, a pleasure again. The dust was several inches thick on the country roads last week and while the farmers of the country were wearing the elastic smile because of the fact that their corn was drying out, the "joy riders" were not there with the grin and were hoping for rain that they might take a few more enjoyable rides before the cold weather arrived.

Many of the country roads are being improved at present and large quantities of gravel stop the rapid progress of the big machines as they glide through the rural districts. Indian summer is now here and the beautiful weather is being taken advantage of by everyone who has an opportunity to be out of doors. The livermen are particularly busy at present and almost every evening for the past few nights a land office business has been conducted.

A PUNJAB CIRCUS.

Program, in "Punch and Jab" English, as Good as the Show.

The sun never sets on the English language. This overdose of sunshine sometimes warps it out of shape. In the Malay it becomes "pigeon," in the south seas it is either "sandalwood" or "beche de mer," and among the erudite along the water front at Yokohama it is "banzai." Here is a sample of a brand sometimes called "punch and jab" English. It was captured alive by a Calcutta exchange editor armed with his scissors in the jungle of advertising literature that threw its shadow ahead of a native Punjab circus:
