

A CROWD ATTENDS SCIENCE LECTURE

Teachings of Mary Baker Eddy Are Expounded at The New Murray.

C. EATON THE LECTURER

HE REVIEWED THE TEACHINGS OF THE CHURCH AND SHOVED THE BENEFITS IT HAD DONE FOR HUMANITY.

The lecture on Christian Science, delivered last evening at the Murray theater, Tenth and Main streets, was attended by a large audience. Clarence C. Eaton, of Boston, Mass., a member of the board of lectureship, delivered the address.

After reviewing the history of the church, which he said was by no means a new one, other than it was lost to Christianity about sixteen centuries ago and again revived by Mary Baker Eddy, in the past century, Mr. Eaton said it was the reclamation of the saving Gospel of Love; even the divine method of forgiveness, pardon, redemption, which the great, loving and tender friend of humanity, Jesus Christ, revealed as the inevitable operation of God's eternal law of justice and immorality.

Promises of the Faith.

Relative to the promises of this religion, he said:

"In answering every need of humanity it declares and reveals a God of infinite love and goodness, proclaims an irresistible Christ or Savior, and an operative salvation, discloses the all-perfection of the real man and the harmony and eternity of his relation to his creator, and spiritually interprets and illuminates the sacred scriptures. It promises to establish a universal brotherhood, equalize the sexes, terminate strife between nations, impartially adjust and control civil, political and social conditions, extirpate criminality and whatever incapacitates, wrongs or curses mankind. Christian Science promises to wipe all tears away, heal the grief-stricken heart, release those in bonds to sin and sensuality, and sweep away the fear, want, misery, agony, sorrow, and woe which have desolated many generations. It promises to abolish forever the belief in evil, sickness, death and hell. All this, and even more than we can ask or think, it promises to do naturally, lawfully, scientifically."

In substantiation of its promises he referred to the already proven benefits saying that it had effected the moral, physical and spiritual regeneration of tens of thousands of people. He said that its believers included those who have suffered from almost every kind of disease, whose immorality was regarded beyond redemption and those whose mentality was regarded as beyond cure.

IS FOND OF ALASKA

Lynn Smith, Well Known in This City, Has Returned To New Castle.

BROTHER OF ARTHUR SMITH

Lynn Smith of New Castle, a brother of Arthur Smith of the Second National Bank, and well known in this city, who has been prospecting in Alaska for the past five years has returned to his home to spend the winter. Alaska is looked upon as an important part of the United States by Mr. Smith, owing to its mineral wealth. He himself has been fairly successful in the pursuit of riches.

He brought back with him a generous fund of good stories about Alaska and also several curios, most interesting of which was a sledge dog. The canine looks much like a wolf, is somewhat small and has a very heavy coat.

Since arriving in Alaska in 1904, Mr. Smith, with a friend by the name of Bond, of Wisconsin, has been prospecting in and about Fort Gibbons, a government post.

WHAT CLEAN BLOOD MEANS

They used to accuse Dr. A. B. Simpson, one of the famous physicians of Indiana, of having a cure-all because his great reputation was established largely on one prescription, the most effective alterative or blood-purifier known.

"No," he would remark, "will not cure consumption, nor typhoid, nor any one of a hundred common diseases. It simply purifies the blood, but it does that very thoroughly."

What are the symptoms of poisoned, impure blood? They range all the way from the dreadful syphillis to a muddy complexion. They include inflammatory rheumatism, catarrh, scrofula, eczema, erysipelas, pimples, boils, running sores, erysipelas, pimples, boils, and a number of similar afflictions. All these yielded readily to Dr. Simpson's treatment. And during the forty years this preparation has been on the market as Dr. A. B. Simpson's Vegetable Compound it has never failed in a single case. The very worst cases of syphillis have been cured as well as all the other blood diseases named above—and the same compound has always given clear, clean complexions to those, otherwise in good health.

It is sold at $1.00 a bottle at all drug stores.

Polite, but Suspicious.

Their table was against the wall. On the wall hung the hats and overcoats on big pegs.

"Why did you run after the man so?" she asked when he came back and sat down. "I thought he was awfully polite with his 'Pardon me.'"

"He was," he answered. "He said, 'Pardon me, may I get my hat? polite as you please. Then he was walking quietly off with mine.' —New York Press.
