A COSTA RICAN VOLCANO.

Pen Picture of Poas and Its Dangerous Surroundings.

On the island of Costa Rica is the remarkable volcano of Poas. The crater has an altitude of about 8,500 feet. The traveler who makes the ascent on reaching the lip of the crater finds himself at the brink of a vast perpendicular sided pit, at the bottom of which lies a motionless pool of yellowish water. The sense of deadly stillness and desolation is undisturbed by any indication of life. The almost vertical walls are devoid of even a vestige of plant creation; not a bird wings its way through the air, the surface of the pool is without a ripple, and even the human voice sounds strange and incongruous. Suddenly the silence is broken by a great and startling underground rumbling, and a huge column of a dark colored liquid is thrown to a vast height from a spot near the center of the lake. The column ordinarily rises to a height varying from 250 to 500 feet. Almost instantly a vast cloud of vapor is evolved which surrounds the column and rises to an immense height. A thousand feet below the lip is the lake or pool, along the shores of which it is necessary to move about with care because of numerous concealed holes filled with a slimy substance, consisting mainly of sulphate of lime with a large excess of sulphuric acid. This hardens in a few moments when exposed to the air, and consequently the pits are covered with slight shells that render it almost impossible to distinguish between them and solid ground. If a foot goes through this thin crust it will be found that in a few days the shoe will be destroyed, as the seams cannot resist the acid action. The lake at closer view is discovered to be covered with clouds of vapor and it is impossible to see for any distance. Among other gases, sulphur dioxide is present in considerable quantities, and at times the smell becomes almost unbearable.

At close range the water is grayish in color, and it is so acid that it almost burns the tongue when tasted. Any dark cloth moistened with the liquid instantly becomes red and is ultimately destroyed. The temperature at the shore, while varying considerably, ranges around 115 degrees F. During one of the greatest eruptions known a tremendous column of dark liquid rose to an estimated height of 2,000 feet and was about 300 feet in diameter. The waves produced on the lake by such an outburst are formidable, and long after the eruption has ceased the whole crater is filled with the roar of the troubled waters.—Chicago News.

Many natives of the province of Ontario, Canada, are moving into the United States, principally into New York state. The population of the city of Kingston has increased only twenty in the last year. The emigrants are mostly young married couples.

Leventine newspapers report that Turkey has granted a conditional concession to an American syndicate for a 1,243-mile railroad through Asia Minor.

He was armed with a shot gun. The trouble had been quieted upon his arrival and he ordered the car to be run back to Cambridge. The injured Italian was taken to a physician and the others brought to this city. Later in the evening, the injured Italian was brought here. He had a bad night and was in a serious condition today. He was taken to Reid Memorial hospital this morning.

Motorman Hill and Conductor Butler were not arrested, nor will they be. They were highly praised by the passengers. The damage to the car, which leaves this city at 1 o'clock each day, was considerable.

years. A quantity of provisions, clothing and money were received, which will tend to brighten many poor homes tomorrow and bring joy to the hearts of more than one poor child, who will feel that he has something to be thankful for.

The Associated Charities have been busy for days preparing baskets of provisions for the poor and the business men, from whom aid has been solicited have responded readily to the appeal and contributed freely to the cause. The lid will be clamped down tight all through the day and the police do not expect to find any violations of the law in this respect. In fact tomorrow will be a day of great thanksgiving and rejoicing in Richmond and even the pessimist is forced to admit that there are many things for which even he should be extremely thankful.

and there was a general stampede of the women passengers and the less strong-hearted men. Strange as it may seem none of the passengers were injured in the least nor did any of the women faint until after they had alighted.

WATSON POEM CAUSES GREAT INDIGNATION

William Watson, whose verses, "The Woman with the Serpent's Tongue," have aroused indignation and much conjecture in England as to whom they are aimed at. Le Gallienne on this side answered Watson's verses with a poem, "The Poet with the Coward's Tongue," and now Wilson is as angry as any one else in England. He is coming to America in a few days and his meeting with Le Gallienne promises to be worth seeing. Le Gallienne has suggested the use of gloves.
