

PROTESTANTS ARE COMING TOGETHER

Year's Trial of the Federated Council's Plan Meets With Success.

BENEFIT TO SMALL TOWNS

NEW METHOD REMOVES SURPLUS OF CHURCHES IN COMMUNITIES OF SMALL POPULATION—SOME FIGURES OUTLINED.

New York, Nov. 27.—The last year's work done under the completed plan of the federal council of the Church of Christ in America is pronounced successful. One aim of the federation, to which fully 18,000,000 Protestant church people belong, is to bring to an end the surplus of churches of small villages.

In some instances it has been Methodists and Congregationalists who have united; in others Methodists and Baptists; sometimes all three.

United in Some Towns. At Castleton, Vt., the Methodists and Congregational churches are working and worshipping together.

Recently it was agreed between the home mission committee of the federal council and the home missions council, the latter a union of the home missions boards, that a particular state should be selected for study and experiment.

Work in Colorado. Two lines of work are to be undertaken in Colorado. One is the prevention of overlapping, the other the avoidance of overlooking.

It happens also that some towns, not regarded as strategic or likely to grow are left almost destitute of religious administrations.

Federation Formed. Leaders of the council's work express gratification at the progress made since full organization was effected one year ago.

From December 3 to 9 the executive committee of the council is to meet in Louisville. This is its first meeting, the council itself having come into full power only a year ago.

$100 Reward, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages.

Dr. J. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

News of Surrounding Towns

WILLIAMSBURG, IND.

Williamsburg, Ind., Nov. 27.—Mrs. John Davis, who has been very low with pneumonia, died Thursday morning.

Mrs. John Laughlin and little son Ralph of Fountain City have been visiting Mrs. Mollie Coggeshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase Mausey and little daughter Emily of Rushville, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Davis.

Miss Eva King of Richmond visited Miss Edessa Kucendall Thursday.

Mr. Wilfred Griffith has gone to his home in Ghent, Ky., to spend his vacation.

Miss Lucile Helm of Rochester, Ind., is spending a few days with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Helm.

Miss Mae Green has gone to her home in Hanover for a few days.

Mr. Charles Duke of Muncie, spent the day here Thursday.

Mr. Linus Meredith and little daughter Janice of Richmond, were present at the big Thanksgiving dinner here yesterday.

Miss Hazel Oler is home for a few days.

The school here closed Wednesday for the Thanksgiving vacation, but will be open again Monday.

The Thanksgiving dinner held at the Masonic hall Thursday was quite a success, there being two hundred and five present for dinner and about eighty for supper.

Mrs. Louie Hite, 428 Outlen St., Danville, Ill., writes, October 1st: "Foley's Kidney Pills started me on the road to health. I was treated by four doctors and took other kidney remedies but grew worse, and was unable to do my housework, and the doctor told me I only could live from two to six months. I am now so much better that I do all of my own work, and I shall be very glad to tell any one afflicted with kidney or bladder trouble the good results I received from taking Foley's Kidney Pills."

CAMBRIDGE CITY, IND.

Cambridge City, Ind., Nov. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ulrich and daughter Katherine, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hallock, of Cambridge City, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elliot and son Robert, of New Castle, went to Liberty Wednesday evening to remain until Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. Kinsey entertained O. H. Beeson and family, Chas. Davis and family, with other guests, Thanksgiving.

Marven Mills, of Straughns, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ferris.

Mrs. Emil Ebert of Cambridge City spent Thanksgiving with her father and brothers, south of town.

Misses Margaret Connell, Miss Alice Connell, Mrs. Morris Connell, of Connersville, Mrs. Ed Maley, of Columbus, Ohio and Andrew Kerber spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Connell and family, south of town.

Miss Lula Faucett was entertained with Mrs. Chas. Hale, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Chas. Coffman, of Williamsburg, is also visiting her sister, Mrs. Hale.

Mrs. John North of Bluffton, is at her daughter's, Mrs. W. H. Brown.

Messrs. and Mesdames The Crist and Elmer Weaver were at Richmond in the automobile, yesterday.

Christian Slonaker exhibits some fine corn that he raised on his farm north of Cambridge City.

A large congregation attended the union religious services at the Christian church, Thursday evening.

The Rev. Mr. Pinnick delivered an able sermon from the text "What Shall I Render to God for all His Benefits?" The Rev. Mr. Pinnick began with the thanksgivings of the Bible, brought it on up to the Pilgrim Fathers and carried on down to the present and spoke of the future. Our dead are laid away from our sight and we grieve. We should return thanks to God for all the joy and blessings they enjoy.

Mesdames Elias Scott, of Cambridge City and Colyer of Indianapolis and Miss Esther Burroughs, of Hagerstown, spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Will Scott.

Will Morris, of Pendleton spent yesterday with friends here.

Mrs. David Nugent went to Dayton, O., yesterday to attend the funeral of her cousin, Miss Esther Widner. The latter died Thursday night of heart failure, suddenly. She was aged upwards of sixty and well known here. She was principal of one of the largest schools in West Dayton, for over thirty years. She leaves two sisters, Mesdames M. E. McKiernan, of Indianapolis and McElhenry of Dayton.

The ladies of the M. E. church realized $64 from their Thanksgiving dinner.

Sunday services: Sunday school at the Christian, Friends and M. E. churches at 9:15 a. m. Endeavor at the Christian and Epworth league at the M. E. churches at usual hour. Junior league at 3 p. m. at the M. E. church. Preaching at the M. E. church morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Joslin of Cleveland, O., were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Lindsay.

Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Coffin and family were very pleasantly surprised when fifty or more of their friends unexpectedly entered their home Wednesday evening. The time was pleasantly spent with music and general conversation. It was noticed that as each guest entered a visit was made to the dining room before entering the parlors. A later call to that room revealed the fact that not only those present, but many others were represented by many substantial packages, in various parts of the room. In the short time that Rev. Coffin has been a resident of Cambridge City, both he and his family have gained a strong hold upon the hearts of the people, not only among the members of his own congregation but others as well.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Joslin of Cleveland, were the guests of Mrs. Catherine Wheelan and family Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. John Combs and Master Russell Strickler spent Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kirby, north of town.

Mrs. Joe Bender was among the guests at a card party given by Mrs. Elmer Weaver, of Milton, Tuesday.

NO CASE ON RECORD. There is no case on record of a cough or cold resulting in pneumonia or consumption after Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken, as it will stop your cough and break up your cold quickly. Refuse any but the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar in a yellow package. Contains no opiates and is safe and sure. A. G. Luken & Co.

A CARD. This is to certify that all druggists are authorized to refund your money if Foley's Honey and Tar fails to cure your cough or cold. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold, prevents pneumonia and consumption. Contains no opiates. The genuine is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. A. G. Luken & Co.

A Question. "Your mother-in-law's condition is more favorable, sir." "For herself or me?"—Exchange.

ECONOMY, IND.

Economy, Ind., Nov. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Deck Haxton gave a turkey dinner Thanksgiving day to the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Walker and daughter, Miss Bertha Walker and girl friend of Brownsville, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lamb of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Daugherty and son Robert of West River.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Culbertson and children of Webster ate dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hiatt Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Lamb entertained at dinner Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rakestraw of Loansville, Mrs. Amanda Lamb and Miss Ida Lamb of Economy, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lamb and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mendenhall were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fenimore of Carlos City, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fenimore entertained at dinner Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Harlie Lontz and children of Hagerstown, Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Fenimore and son Howard and Miss Cora Maloney of Muncie.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Williams served a big turkey dinner Thursday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Price and six children, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mullen and three children, all of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Macey of Hartford City, Mrs. Cora McCoy of Ohio, Mrs. Mary Ann Williams of Economy, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Williams and son, Mr. and Mrs. Macey will return to Hartford City Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fleming served roast duck Thursday to their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dunsenich and three sons of Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Zike of Morristown were Thursday guests of Rev. and Mrs. M. V. Bartlett.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman Mendenhall had as their guests Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. C. Mendenhall.

Foley's Kidney Remedy will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. Cures backache and irregularities that neglected might result in Bright's disease or diabetes. A. G. Luken & Co.

His Suggestion. The impetuous author passed over the manuscript with a faltering hand. The aged but truthful editor slightly started.

"Er—Mr. Wrightly," he said, with the air of a man who has become saddled with a great thought, "did you ever hear that Walter Scott received the suggestion of his first successful novel while he was washing his hands?"

"I—I believe I read of it," stammered the impetuous author, slipping his hands into his pockets, which obviously a faraway look came into the eyes of the aged but truthful editor.

"I was merely throwing out the suggestion," he said softly.—Exchange.

Very Polite. "Now, Robby, if you don't want to go to Bessie Huuks' party you must write a note and tell her so, and be sure to let it be polite. You will find some ideas of the proper thing in this book of etiquette," said Mrs. Carhart to her little son.

Robby struggled with the problem for an hour or more and then presented for his mother's inspection the following truthful but somewhat unconventional effusion:

"Mr. Robert Carhart declines with pleasure Miss Bessie Huuks' kind invitation for the 14th and thanks her extremely for having given him the opportunity of doing so."—Liverpool Mercury.

Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs quickly, strengthens the lungs and expels colds. Get the genuine in a yellow package. A. G. Luken & Co.

Wedding Horses. An old fashioned man who wanted to hire a team for the afternoon saw a nice pair of bays which he thought he would like to drive.

"Can't let you have them," said the liverman. "They are wedding horses."

"What's that?" asked the innocent pleasure seeker.

"Horses that won't shy at old shoes and showers of rice. Some horses seem predisposed against matrimony. Anyhow they lose their temper if they happen to be hit by any of the good luck emblems that are fired after a bridal couple and run away if they get half a chance. Every lively stable, however, keeps two or more horses that take a more cheerful view of the wedded state. They may be literally pelted with old shoes without resenting it. Those bays are that kind. They are slated to head a wedding procession tonight and are resting up for the job."—New York Sun.

Bed Good Enough For Him. "Son," called the farmer as the aroma of eggs and ham came up through the trapdoor, "why don't you get up?"

"What's the use?" yawned the college boy as he turned over for another nap. "Don't believe in early rising."

"Don't, eh? Well, how about the early bird?"

"Oh, that's a chestnut! The early bird caught the early worm, and the early cat caught the bird, and the early dog caught the cat, and the early dog catcher caught the dog. So there you are. What's the use of getting up early? It doesn't pay."—Chicago News.

Protecting Themselves. Extract from a letter from Bertie to his friend Percy: "Dear Percy—The Dauncys, with whom I am staying, are awfully decent and do everything they can to make my visit enjoyable. For instance, whenever we go shooting they give me the whole field to myself."—London Punch.

Exactly. We are studying synonyms in school, and I want to know the difference between 'cute' and 'sneaky.' "According to your mother, it is the difference between what you do and what Mrs. Jones' little boy does."—Puck.

FOSSIL CORKSCREWS

QUEER FREAKS OF NATURE THAT ABOUND IN NEBRASKA.

Gigantic Spirals of Mineral Packed So Mathematically as to Be Easily Mistaken at First Glance For Works of Art.

Nobody knows with certainty what the so called "devil's corkscrews" really are. They are found by tens of thousands in Nebraska, most particularly in Sioux county, and some of them are as much as forty feet in height, without counting the gigantic "roots" presently to be described. Quartz is the substance of which they are made, but how they came to be imbedded, numbers of them together, in the sandstone cliffs of that region is more than anybody can tell, unless, perhaps, one theory, to be mentioned later, is to be accepted as correct.

You are traveling, let us say, on horseback through that part of the country, and, as often happens, you see, standing out from the face of a sandstone cliff, a gigantic spiral. If, as geologists have proved, the sandstone rock be chipped away a corkscrew shaped thing of quartz is exposed to view, fashioned so mathematically as to be easily mistaken at first glance for a work of art. The white spiral may be free, as a sculptor would say, or, in other cases, may be twisted about a sort of axis, as a vine would run around a vertical pole.

Somebody awhile ago gave to these spirals the name "devil's corkscrews" for want of a better and as expressive of the mystery of their origin. Scientists discussed them in vain, and many theories were formed in regard to them. There were authorities who declared they were fossil burrows excavated in tertiary times by gophers of a huge and extinct species. And, to confirm this notion, the bones of some burrowing animal were actually found imbedded in the substance of one of the "corkscrews." This seemed to settle the matter for awhile, until the controversy was started again by the discovery of the osseous remains, under like conditions, of a small deer. Nobody could assert that a deer was ever a burrowing animal, and so that notion had to be abandoned.

Other theorists declared that the "fossil twisters," as some folks called them, represented the prehistoric borings of gigantic worms that lived in the very long ago. Yet others suggested that they were petrified vines, though it was difficult to explain how or why the "poles" on which the alleged vines seemed in many cases to have been trained had been so admirably preserved, or, for that matter, originally erected.

In the midst of so many contradictory theories the problem seemed likely to defy solution indefinitely. The one that held out longest and gained most adherents was that of the extinct gophers. It accounted for the "root"—a shapeless appendage often nearly as big as the "twister" itself and attached to the lower end of the latter—which obviously, as it seemed, had been the nest of the rodent animal, the "corkscrew" representing the spiral hole by which it made its way to the surface of the ground. What could possibly be more easy to comprehend?

Professor E. H. Barbour, however, has declared—and his decision is accepted provisionally until somebody offers a better—that the corkscrews are of vegetable origin. They are, he asserts, the fossil remains of ancient water weeds of gigantic size, which grew millions of years ago on the bottom of a vast sheet of water that covered all of Nebraska. These must have been the biggest aquatic plants that ever existed, and when the huge lake that overflowed the region in question dried up the remains of many of the plants were left behind buried in the accumulated detritus at the bottom.

In the course of time—ages after the bottom of the ancient lake had been converted into solid rock—rivers plucked their way through the land, cutting this way and that and exposing to the view of the modern traveler on the faces of the cliffs the fossil casts of the prehistoric water weeds just as they stood when they grew hundreds of thousands and probably millions of years ago. Their tissues were replaced as they decayed by silica from the water, particle by particle, and thus, as if by magical means, their likenesses have been preserved for the wonder and admiration of the present survivors on the earth.

Such is the theory now pretty well accepted by scientists in regard to the origin of the "fossil corkscrews." Possibly it is not correct, but if otherwise there is room for the exercise of anybody's imagination in the consideration of this veritable romance of the ancient history of the world.—New York Herald.

PALLADIUM WANT ADS PAY.

Metal Art Crafting

The "Repousse" and "Pierced" Metal Art Crafting provides such an excellent means of solving the gift problem that we have added to our stock a line of metal working outfits together with raw materials such as may be needed for all branches of this work.

While this kind of work is a present craze, yet its creations are so worthy of admiration that such gifts as anyone can make, from copper, brass or silver, will be used and appreciated for a long time to come.

THE PATTERNS ARE SO VARIED, AND THE RANGE OF CHOICE SO WIDE THAT EVERY TASTE CAN BE SATISFIED BY SOME PIECE OF THIS WORK.

Lamp Shades, Match Boxes, Belt Pins, Fobs, Card Trays, Jewel Boxes, Tobacco Jars, Bracelets, Cuff Links, Stamp Boxes, Picture Frames, Candlesticks, and Comb Mounts are among the infinite number of creations which may be produced in Art Crafting Work.

Raw materials in any quantity. Complete working outfits—everything needed for turning out the finished product—may be had at prices ranging from 50c to $1.50.

Jones Hardware Co.

FIRST FLOOR, WEST SIDE.

PLAYED WITH A LION.

A South African Child Who Ran to Meet the Big "Doggie."

The infant son of one of the Dutch settlers in South Africa had strayed away. After some time a search party discovered little footprints leading in the direction of the bush. Following up these, the search party came upon a large open space, at the farther side of which they discovered the object of their search sitting hugging a little wooden doll and munching a piece of bread and butter. Before they could make their way through the thick, tangled undergrowth a large lion sprang into the clearing. "The little boy, far from being frightened, ran to meet the lion, holding up his bread and butter and said, 'Take a bit, doggie.'"

The father stood powerless to move or speak through fear, expecting each instant to see the child crushed under the lion's paw, but instead of doing as he dreaded the lion turned himself over and lay on his back at the child's feet, looking up in his face as a cat would do at play. Watching his opportunity, the father raised his gun and fired, hitting the lion in the leg. The animal sprang up, and leaving the child, rushed on the party, injuring two of the number before it was finally killed. From this circumstance the child was immediately christened by the settlers "Daniel."—London Family Herald.

If you desire a clear complexion, take Foley's Orino Laxative for constipation and liver trouble as it will stimulate these organs and thoroughly cleanse your system, which is what everyone needs in order to feel well. A. G. Luken & Co.

Dr. Johnson and Bagpipes.

Dr. Johnson's prejudice against the Scots stopped short just where so many Englishmen's toleration ends—at the bagpipes. Boswell records the great man's confession that he did not like music and had hardly any perception of it. He knew, he said, "a drum from a trumpet and a bagpipe from a guitar, which was about the extent of his knowledge of music," and he also said that it seemed to be "a method of employing the mind, without the labor of thinking at all and with some applause from a man's self." But in the highlands he appeared to be distinctly fond of the bagpipes "and used often to stand for some time with his ear close to the great drone."—London Chronicle.

LANDES SHEPHERDS.

French Peasants Who Are Experts in Walking on Stilts.

There is a vast district in France where the entire community goes about and transacts its business on stilts. This district is called "Les Landes."

The inhabitants, who are among the poorest peasants in France, gain their subsistence by fishing, by such little agriculture as is possible and by keeping cows and sheep. The shepherds make use of their stilts for two purposes—first, because walking is quite impossible on account of the sage and undergrowth of brush, and, second, because the height of their stilts gives them a greater range of vision.

The stilts generally are about six or seven feet high. Near the top there is a support for the foot, which has a strong stirrup and strap, and still reaches the top a band of leather fastens the stilt firmly to the leg just below the knee. Some stilts, especially those made for fancy walking and for tricks, are even higher than seven feet, and the man who uses these—and he must be an expert—can travel as fast as ten miles an hour. The lower end of this kind of stilt is capped with a sheep bone to prevent its splitting.

Some of these Landes shepherds are wonderfully clever in the management of their stilts. They run fences, step or jump over brooks, clear runs and walls and are able to keep their balance and equilibrium while stooping to the ground to pick up pebbles or to gather wild flowers. They fall prone upon their faces and assume their perpendicular without an effort and in a single moment after they have thus prostrated themselves.—Technical World Magazine.

Personal Beauty.

If either man or woman would realize the full power of personal beauty it must be by cherishing noble thoughts and hopes and purposes, by having something to do and something to live for that is worthy of humanity and which by expending the capacities of the soul gives expansion and symmetry to the body which contains it.—Upham.

A Man of Action.

Hicks: "There isn't a man in town who can keep the conversational ball rolling like our friend Gayrake. Wicks: "Nonsense! He never says anything worth listening to. Hicks: "No, but he does a lot of things worth talking about."—Philadelphia Ledger.

WASHBURN-CROSBY'S GOLD MEDAL FLOUR. Brings The Bloom On The Loaf. Image of a woman holding a loaf of bread.