Information of Priceless Value to Every Richmond Citizen.

How to act in an emergency is knowledge of inestimable worth, and this is particularly true of the diseases and ills of the human body. If you suffer with backache, urinary disorders, or any form of kidney trouble, the advice contained in the following statement will add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statement of Richmond citizens who have been permanently cured?

Martin Bulach, tailor, 433 S. Eleventh street, Richmond, Ind., says: "In the spring of 1902, I suffered from a weak and lame back and other symptoms of kidney trouble. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply at A. G. Luken & Co's Drug Store and their use brought me prompt relief. Since then I have had no further need of a kidney remedy, as my cure has been permanent. I gave a public statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, after I had used them with such good results and I still hold a high opinion of them.

PRESIDENT BROWN IN AN ODD PROPOSITION

President W. C. Brown of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, who declares that his company will raise the wages of its employees if it can be demonstrated that the price of living has increased. Mr. Brown is having an investigation conducted he says, through which he will be able to know just how much rent and food have advanced, if at all along the entire system. The conductors, brakemen and yardmen have asked an advance and have threatened strike if they do not get what they demand.

SHE LOST A FIANCE

Faith Moore Sues R. J. Voorhies for $20,000 Breach of Promise.

MAN MARRIED HIS NURSE

New York, Jan. 31.—Ralph J. Voorhies has been served with papers making him the defendant in a $20,000 breach of promise suit, instituted by Miss Faith E. Moore, daughter of David F. Moore, former superintendent of buildings in Brooklyn. The defendant is the nephew of Edmund W. Voorhies a prominent candidate for appointment as Postmaster of Brooklyn.

In her complaint Miss Moore alleges that she and young Voorhies became engaged three years ago. She was the nineteen and he twenty. It was agreed to wait three years before the marriage should take place. About a year ago Voorhies married Adele L.

Goufon, a trained nurse. They are now living at East Eighteenth street and Avenue Q, Sheepshead Bay. Miss Moore resides with her parents at 983 Weirfield street.

Friends of Miss Moore stated that she first met young Voorhies at a musicale in 1905, and a year later their engagement was announced. The match met with the hearty sanction of the Moore family and of Voorhies's father, Henry V. D., according to statements made. One acquaintance even went so far as to assert that Mrs. Voorhies assisted her son to select the diamond engagement ring which he is alleged to have given Miss Moore.

After they had been engaged nearly two years Voorhies was stricken with typhoid fever. He was removed to a hospital and there Miss Goufon nursed him through a long illness. While in the hospital the young man was regularly visited by Miss Moore. She called three times a week, and to all appearance the patient had lost none of his affection for her. The first Miss Moore knew of his attachment to Miss Goufon was when their marriage was announced last April.

Henry A. Powell, the plaintiff's lawyer, admitted that the action had been started but refused to discuss it further. He said Miss Moore would make a statement at the proper time.

EPIDEMIC DISAPPEARS

"The Power of the Press" Manifested in a Community Where Kidney and Bladder Disorders Prevailed Owing to Contaminated Water.

Paper Published Free Prescription Which Attained Gratifying Results.

In an eastern city of over one hundred thousand population, nearly every case of kidney disease has disappeared and physicians marvel at the "power of the press." It seems that the local paper copied a prescription said to be used by a German specialist with great success in the treatment of kidney and bladder derangements. Such magnificent results attended the publication that the paper continued it week after week, giving the symptoms and prescription as follows: Deranged kidneys and bladder are indicated by dry parched skin, hot and cold sensations, frequent burning or scanty urination, (especially at night) with bad odor, tender spots in back, loss of weight, morning weariness, swollen feet and ankles, backache, headache, inflamed eyes, etc.

Any or all indicate trouble, misery and danger. This prescription can be filled by any well stocked druggist: Fluid extract buchu 1 oz., compound fluid balmwort 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla compound, 4 ozs. Shake well and take a teaspoonful before or after meals and one when retiring.

No one ever fails to get benefit and everybody who has used it praises it above anything else.

That's the Trouble.

"Few people can talk on all subjects." "I know it. But most everybody does."—Exchange.

HURLED DEFIANCE TO UNCLE SAMUEL

Girl Defies the Government to Return Her to Her Sick Mother.

TO FIGHT DEPORTATION

A NATIVE AMERICAN WOMAN HAS FORFEITED HER RIGHTS AS AN AMERICAN CITIZEN BY MARRYING CANADIAN.

San Francisco, Jan. 31.—Marian Lenahan-Greig, "the most beautiful prisoner ever seen in the Alameda county jail," faultlessly gowned, is on her way to the Canadian border, to be deported from this land in which she was born.

The moment she crosses the line there will be a race with death in which the girl must battle not only against time and distance, but must reckon with the immigration authorities of the United States.

She is being deported because, forfeiting her American citizenship by marrying a Canadian, she entered this country after being rejected by the immigration authorities, and without the required immigration examination given all foreigners.

She will race back to San Francisco to reach the side of her mother, widow of the late contractor, John L. Lenahan, whose physicians say that she may survive the shock of the daughter's deportation for two weeks. The mother is very ill and the girl has been nursing her at their home, 1506 Leavenworth street.

Rare Deportation Case.

The deportation is one of the most unusual ever known in the immigration service. One similar case has occurred here, that of Mrs. Nora Loat, who was sent back to Victoria, B. C., for coming into the United States after being rejected by the immigration authorities.

Marian Lenahan was born in Des Moines, but came here with her parents when she was a little girl. As she grew toward the end of her teens she adopted a life that led to an estrangement from her family and which came to the attention of the immigration bureau.

Still she was entitled to the rights of an American citizen. But in Seattle she married Harold Greig, a wealthy Canadian and thus became a citizen of her husband's country.

Believed Husband American.

The marriage with Greig was her second. Like her first, it was a failure. Money was lavished upon her, but she spent only two weeks in the country she had, so she claims, unwittingly adopted. She asserts that at the time of the marriage she believed her husband an American. She claimed yesterday that Greig gave her $50 a week for spending money, but that after leaving him she returned his checks.

In September, John J. Lenahan was killed here in a mysterious manner. He was found apparently drunk and was taken to the city jail, where he spent twenty-four hours. Upon his release it was found that several of his ribs were broken completely away from his spine, and it is thought he was run down and crushed by an automobile.

The daughter attempted to return to the United States by way of Blaine. Probably because of her past life, the immigration officials rejected her. But she went to Oroville, Eastern Oregon, and got across the line. Greig, meantime, had apparently tired of her, and it is said he is anxious for a divorce. The girl was traced to Seattle and to this city, and her case was placed before the immigration authorities at Washington.

Brother Goes Along.

Her arrest was ordered and she was informed that she was under sentence of deportation. She had evaded the law and must abide the consequences. She was taken north in charge of Matron Mrs. Kathryn L. Sabin of the immigration station.

A. Lenahan, Mrs. Greig's brother, accompanied his sister, and said that he would make a desperate fight for her admission to this country, that he might bring her back to her home, if possible, before his mother's death.

The prisoner is truly beautiful. Her wealth of hair is jet black. She has dark, deep eyes. Her attire was in the latest mode.

"Did your husband furnish you with your clothes?" she was asked. "My family is amply able and perfectly willing to take care of me," was her reply.

A CHAIRMAN WANTED

(Palladium Special)
Indianapolis, Jan. 31.—Since William M. Fogarty has declined to be re-elected as county chairman of the Democrats in Marion county, Democratic politics here where an entire county ticket and nine members of the legislature are to be elected, is up in the air. The element which wished Fogarty to take the place would like to unite on some man for chairman, but so far they have been unable to find a man on which they can unite. It seems that James E. Berry, township assessor, is to be the candidate of the Taggart element as Joseph E. Bell, attorney for the Terre Haute Brewing Co., and a representative of Taggart is already working for Berry.

BALKY HORSE CURED

Cedar Grove, N. J., Jan. 31.—"Now,

ye sleeper, look at your ugly mug and git up and git a move on ye!" said Gus Meier, who keeps the grocery, to his horse Petroleum. Petroleum was hitched to Gus's wagon, but, owing to the rain freezing as it fell, the roads were a glare of ice, and only skating horses could keep on their feet. Meier's Petroleum couldn't skate, so he squatted in the road and gazed cheerfully at his master. Meier couldn't get Petroleum to his feet by ordinary means. An idea struck him (ideas come to Jersey grocery men) and he ran into his house and consulted his book. "First Aid to Grocery Men." Turning to page 27, under H, he found "Horses—balky. As a last resort hold large mirror before animal's eyes. Seeing his image, he will proceed to follow it."

Meier took a big mirror from the wall, rushed into the road and held it before Petroleum's eyes. "Pet," Meier calls him "Pet" for short—gazed into the mirror, exposed the white of his eyes and the white of his teeth, scrambled to his feet, and, with Meier walking backward before him, started for the stable.

"Fine idea, this," said Meier to a crowd of admiring small boys who followed the novel moving picture. What

"Pet" thought of the idea the small boys didn't learn. Entering the stable Meier had to lower the mirror. "Pet" promptly sat down. Meier couldn't unharness "Pet" and hold the mirror at the same time, so he called for help. A neighbor came over, held the mirror up to "Pet," backed him into a stall and left the stable, muttering: "There, buzz ye, I'm tired of being a valet to a vain horse."

Unconventional.

"You spoke of Gloomer as being 'queer.' Is he mentally unbalanced?" "Not exactly that. He's merely eccentric and peculiar. He gives in his property to the assessor at the same figure he has it insured for."—Chicago Tribune.
