TRAIN HITS ROCK; FALLS DOWN BANK

Fireman Was Killed and a Number of the Passengers Were Injured.

DESCRIPTION BY PASTOR

AGED MINISTER, WHO WITHSTOOD THE SHOCK WELL, RELATES HOW THE ACCIDENT HAPPENED.

(American News Service)
Spokane, Wash., March 3.—One man, a fireman, was killed and many passengers and members of the crew were injured when the Oriental limited on the Great Northern crashed into a two-ton rock boulder twenty-two miles east of Spokane yesterday and plunged down an embankment fifty feet and carried with it five burning cars.

The Rev. Benjamin Winget of Chicago, a passenger, who is superintendent missionary of the Free Methodists, though 70 years old, sustained the shock well, and escaped with a few bruises. Describing the wreck and plunge of the flaming coaches down the 30-foot embankment, Rev. Winget said:

Seated in a sleeper. "I was sitting in the sleeper reading. Mrs. Winget was with me. Suddenly we heard passengers cry, 'Look there!' and I looked up soon enough to see some boulders sliding down the hill to the north of us. Almost at the next instant I was thrown over the seat in front of me and Mrs. Winget was thrown into the aisle. The engineer had put on the brakes. It seemed as if the end had come. The engine struck two tons or more of rock, piling up on the baggage and mail cars and partly telescoping the smoking car. All was panic in the car for a minute and then we began getting out, some trying the windows and others rushing screaming to the doors. Mrs. Winget and I were just leaving the car when the gas tank beneath us exploded, starting the sleeper to burning. By this time most of the passengers in our car, the fifth one back, were out, and the car blazed like so much waste.

Gas Tank Explodes. "The engine had started to roll down the bank. The mail and baggage cars were aflame, the smoker was enveloped in flames as the gas tank exploded, and then the baggage car started down the bank, dragging the smoker and tourist sleeper. A little later the entire train, except the last three cars, went down in a burning mass.

"Women screamed, but one, Mrs. Rogers, rushed with whiskey and towels to aid the wounded. She was the only one with presence of mind enough to give first aid to the injured. I saw the dying fireman, E. H. Miller, as he was dragged from beneath his engine. He was a horrible sight, scalded and crushed. The engineer was also badly mangled. The relief train came then."

get into the game, as they recognize that a representation from their number means a point gained that they have failed to make in all their past years.

For a city of 65,000, the interest manifested is great and the eyes of Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota are centered here. The outcome of the new system will be watched with interest.

The plan has worked favorably in Des Moines, Omaha and other cities, and is expected to prove popular here. Sioux City is one of the most promising cities in the Middle West, and with its various booster organizations, is stepping to the front rapidly. Can it attain a wider scope under the new style of government, is the uppermost question in the eyes of the citizens.

(Editor's Note.—Mr. Turbyville was formerly a reporter on a local evening paper. He is now connected with one of the Sioux City papers.)

BASEBALL IS RULED

Off the Streets by an Order Just Issued by Police Chief Gorman.

VOGELSONG TAKES A HAND

With the coming of spring comes the opening of the street baseball season, likewise an order from Chief of Police Gorman to the effect that the practice of indulging in exciting games of catch on the street and "Town ball" will not be tolerated for an instant by the police department.

Yesterday afternoon Paul Vogel song butted into a game on North Tenth street and "snatched up" on the ball at the same time dryly suggesting that the participants, two well known young men, indulge in a quiet little game of marbles as it was less dangerous. The out-of-door fever is prevalent among the small boys of the city now, and it is expected that many games will be stopped by the police if the present balmy weather continues. Pole is another game which the police do not permit to be played in the street and Chief Gorman's spring warning in regard to baseball covers contests of other kinds, also.

ICE GRAVE MENACE

(American News Service)
Albany, N. Y., March 3.—With the water more than eighteen feet above normal the flood situation at Albany this morning showed no improvement. Fresh menace lay in the fields of ice which gathered in the night.

The breaking of the gorge at Herkimer sent down a mighty volume from the Mohawk, bringing the level here to the highest point in the flood.

Orders were given today for dynamite in use by a powerful tug in an attempt to move the gorge at North Coeymans.

FILE SUIT ON NOTE

Claiming that on August 2, 1909 it issued a promissory note for $300 to Vajen-Bader company and Robert W. Stinson of this city, the Union National Bank of Indianapolis today filed suit in the circuit court on demand, claiming $325, which amount covers principal, interest, attorney's fees and court costs.

PROPERTY OWNERS MAKE A BIG KICK

Appear Before Board to Oppose Improvements on South F Street.

TWO PETITIONS ENTERED

ONE FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF NORTH D STREET AND THE OTHER FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF ELM PLACE.

The office of the board of works was the scene of some heated and exciting debates this morning between
