FOR TWO MAN TEAMS IS PRO-
NOUNCED, WITH YOUNGFLESH AND GROTTENDICK LEADING BY A LARGE SCORE.

Affairs are very active now in bowling circles. Tonight the Entre Nous team plays the Phoenix in the city league and if the Entre Nous win, it will go to first place in the league. They are now tied with the Colonials. The Panhandles meet the Colonials tomorrow evening.

A picked team from the local league met defeat at Greenville. O. last night although it won two out of three games. There was an agreement that the total number of pins should count. The team lined up: A. King, Graham, Shephard, Martin and Youngflesh. The Greenville bunch will be here next Monday night for a game on the local alleys.

There is a two man tournament on now at the city alleys. Youngflesh and Grottenick posted the fine scores of 1,084, rolling five games apiece. Youngflesh got 919 and Grottenick 884, both averaging over 180. It is thought this score will win the tournament, which ends March 19. F. Lichtenfels and Reason got 1,574, and King and Elkenbery, 1,578. The other entries are Dr. Markley and Allen, P. Smith and Kennett, Graham and Moore, Mercurio and Hadley, Hunt and F. Davis, McCarthy and Porterfield, Crump and Dr. Bond, Feltman and Denny, Kennett and F. Meyer, Reason and F. Lichtenfels, Green and G. Mashmeyer, Lacey and Borton and Rockhill and Gardner. Prizes are being offered.

Several good scores have been posted this year. Arthur King has a high score with 258, the Phoenix high tea score 906, Graham and Markley are tied for high average with 179 and Runge and King tied for high score in three straight games, 711.

LACKEY SALE IS ON

A Good Entry of Classy Horses and Large Crowd the Features.

NAGS BRING FAIR PRICES

(Palladium Special)
Cambridge City, Ind., March 8.—The opening of the annual horse sale today held under the auspices of John S. Lackey, of this place, was very auspicious, fair prices being bid on the first horses put on the block, a large crowd of buyers being present and much interest being manifested.

The sale started this morning about 11 o'clock and the first horse put up, "Cabinet Jr.," owned by Curt Gosnell, of this city, brought $400. Before the sale closed for the noon hour, there had been 17 horses disposed of. The prices paid were only fair and ranged from $150 to $400, but it is expected that the prices paid will be much better when the choicer animals are placed on sale, later this week. The total amount paid for horses disposed of this morning amounted to $2,400. The sale is in charge of auctioneers John W. and George A. Bains of Lexington, Ky.

HELD FOR LARCENY

Charles Brant Faces Second
Charge When Released
From Jail Today.

FARMER MADE COMPLAINT

Charles Brant, who was sent to the county jail some time ago after being convicted in police court of vagrancy, was re-arrested this afternoon at the county jail charged with petit larceny, in an affidavit sworn out by Henry Toschlag, a farmer.

It is alleged Brant had been stealing merchandise from buggies and wagons along Main street, during the winter, and was arrested for this some time ago. He was sent down for vagrancy in order to hold him, as there was no case at that time.

It is alleged that he took some groceries and dry goods from a rig of Henry Toschlag, which was standing on South Sixth street, near Main street, January 15 and other rigs before that affair.

Brant has confessed the theft and will probably come up in police court tomorrow morning and enter a plea of guilty.

Victor Hugo.
Victor Hugo was the wealthiest of the nineteenth century authors and also the hardest. At one time he made less than 1,000 francs last him and his brother for eighteen months, and one chop would serve for lunch three days in succession. But this early abstinence did not spoil Hugo's digestion, for at the age of eighty-three he cracked nuts with his teeth and ate oranges as some folk eat apples—peel and all.

FIGHTS FOR RELEASE FROM INSANE ASYLUM

Harold Binney, a wealthy member of the New York bar, and also widely known in Philadelphia, who is confined in the Friends' asylum for the insane at Frankfort, a suburb of Philadelphia, and who is making every effort to be released, declaring his sanity. He has figured in a number of escapades, once running his yacht ashore at Atlantic City and causing the greatest consternation. He waded through the surf to dry land among the bathers and shortly after, on the petition of his sister, a commission was appointed to inquire into his sanity. His friends, however, declare he is sane, but eccentric.

WADE ELLIS CALLS ON TAFT TO LEARN WHY THE PRESIDENT
DISAVOWED SPONSORSHIP FOR HIM IN OHIO.

(American News Service)

Washington, March 8.—The political situation in New York and Ohio are providing sources of deep concern to the administration. Following President Taft's action in taking a hand in New York republican affairs, many conferences have been held here at the white house; at the office of Senator Root and at Senator Root's home. Some of the leading politicians of New York have been called into consultation. As much attention, if not more has been given to the Ohio situation. Wade H. Ellis, new chairman of the Ohio republican committee, who is on his way back to Ohio today had a long talk with Taft just before his departure. The principal topics, it was learned today, were the president's recent letter to U. S. Marshall Davis of Cleveland, disavowing the sponsorship for Ellis, and its political effect, particularly the attitude of leading Ohio politicians toward the matter. The administration, which from the first has closely watched the situation at Albany, particularly with reference to the investigation of bribery charges against Senator Aldrich, is known to stand for the cleaning of the state in New York, believing that in this alone lies the possibility of the future republican success.

What Part Will Governor Marshall Play?

What Action Will He Take in the Construction of Democratic Platform?—Watson-Hemenway Gang Still Talk Tariff.

(Palladium Special)

Indianapolis, March 8.—Just what part Governor Marshall is going to have in the formation of the next democratic platform is a question which is occupying the attention of the politicians. The question of the most interest to the governor and his friends is the liquor question and it is this question on which there is a great diversity of opinion as shown by the meeting of big democrats at the Denison hotel last Sunday. The information came out today that in the meeting Sunday which was attended by members of the state committee and a number of candidates one eloquent member of the state committee moved that the question of a platform be considered, and he, it is said, was ruled out of order by State Chairman Jackson who was presiding. From that time forward the soft pedal was put on when it came to a discussion of the platform but there was no way of stopping platform discussion down in the lobby.

Statement Is Denied.

One man who is very close to Thomas Taggart made the statement that the democrats would reaffirm the platform of two years ago, declaring for township and ward local option. Today this statement was denied by a democrat who is a close friend of Governor Marshall. This democrat said that Thomas Taggart and his followers had not decided as yet what they would attempt to get into the platform but he said that it was his understanding from reliable sources that the brewers would keep hands off and that the democratic convention would merely declare against summary legislation. The brewers he said, would do all of their fighting in the state legislature.

However among those who attended the meeting at the Denison, the sentiment seemed to be for a reaffirmation of the old democratic platform and if Thomas Taggart has any other ideas he has not yet handed them down because most of those who attended the Denison conference were Taggart men. It seems to be a question of just how much trouble the governor can cause in case he is given no word in the affairs of the state convention. It is the general belief that if Taggart thinks he can get by with it he will have a reaffirmation of the old platform. If he thinks this will be going a little too far he will change his plans.

Favor the Governor.

In connection with the plans for the state convention it may be said that the friends of the governor believe he would be a good temporary presiding officer for the convention and that he would be the man to make the keynote speech. If this comes to pass, however, there must be some previous agreement as to what is to go into the platform in regard to the liquor question as the man who makes the keynote speech most likely will wish to touch on the liquor question.

It was said today that the state convention probably would be held some time in the week of April 25. It has been suggested that United States Senator Shively be the permanent chairman.

Still Hazy on Tariff.

The statement of James A. Hemenway former United States senator when he was in the city yesterday, together with expressions from Geo. B. Lockwood of the eleventh district and some other republicans of the state are taken to indicate that a desperate effort will be made when the republican convention is held to get into the state platform, a declaration in favor of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. Mr. Hemenway in his statement makes a heroic defense of the tariff bill. He says it is the best revenue raising bill the government has ever had and that the increase in the revenue raised is on luxuries and that the decrease is on necessities.

This is significant when taken in connection with the expression of Mr. Lockwood that he will be satisfied with a place on the resolutions committee of the state convention. Mr. Lockwood is one of the republican editors who in the recent meeting of the Indiana Republican Editorial association stood with Robert A. Brown of Frankfort for an indorsement of the Payne-Aldrich bill. There is little doubt it is believed but that a drastic effort will be made to get an indorsement of the tariff bill into the state platform.

It is interesting in this connection to note that one of the republican (stand-pat crowd admitted in a conversation a few days ago that 75 percent of the people of Indiana are opposed to the tariff bill. He said however, that he did not believe that that proportion would be opposed to the bill later in the summer. It seems to be the plan of those who believe in the bill to conduct a campaign of education.

To Consolidate Schools.

A strong argument in favor of consolidation of schools and one which undoubtedly will be used in defense of the consolidation law next winter when the legislature convenes, is found in the report of Robert A. Ale, state superintendent of public instruction. Mr. Ale in a report of statistics just made public shows that in the school year of 1909 and 1910, the number of schools in which there were enrolled twelve pupils or fewer was 430; the number in which between 12 and 15 each were enrolled was 599 and the number in which between 15 and 20 each were enrolled was 1,838. In other words there were 3,167 schools in which there were less than 20 pupils each while the whole number having more than 20 pupils each was only 6,262.

On the other hand the report in regard to the expenses of the consolidated schools is not such good argument in favor of consolidation. The number of children transported was 19,233; the number of wagons used in transportation, 1,241; average cost of wagon a day, $1.86; total cost of wagons a day, $2,316.44; total number of pupils transported by school wagons or private conveyances 18,767; number transported by interurban cars, 470; by steam cars, 56.

Moore Enters Race.

Charles W. Moore is now in the race for the republican nomination for judge of the supreme court from the third district and it is probable that he will have strong support from Indianapolis and continuous territory. The only other announced candidate for this place is Judge Roby of the appellate court. Both are candidates to succeed Judge John V. Hadley. Mr. Moore has been a resident of Indianapolis all of his life or for 48 years. He has been United States commissioner for twenty-two years and has heard some important cases. He is a member of the school board of Indianapolis for ten years and the schools enjoyed great improvement under his administration. He is also a member of the University club. He has held no offices of an elective nature except that of school commissioner.

MANIAC RAN AMUCK

Killing a Police Officer and Fatally Wounding a Citizen.

ESCAPED FROM AN ASYLUM

(American News Service)

Bridgeport, Conn., March 8.—A maniac, said to have been writing threatening letters to the Vanderbilts and other millionaire New York families, ran amuck in Main street today and killed Policeman Dietz and fatally wounded another citizen. Dietz was shot through the heart while trying to wrest the revolver from the maniac. The second man who was wounded was a barber, Joseph Dougherty, who was seriously shot in the shoulder before the maniac, supposed to be Gustave Muller, was overpowered. He had recently escaped from an asylum.

YOUNG KNOX GIVES FATHER SURPRISE

He Leads a Department Store
Employee to a Very Mysterious Altar.

EXPULSED FROM SCHOOL

Providence, R. I., March 8.—Wearing a broad wedding band of gold and with a large diamond engagement ring sparkling on a finger of her left hand, Miss Mary Boler, aged 21 years, until recently employed in a department store of this city, last night coyly claimed Philander C. Knox, Jr., the twenty-year-old son of the secretary of state, as her husband.

"We were married in Burlington, Vt., Sunday evening at 7 o'clock by a minister," she confessed tonight.

The first revelation today of the romance proved rather disconcerting to young Knox. News of his efforts to obtain a marriage license preceded his return early yesterday after a three days' absence.

He Refused to Tell.

Refusing to tell Principal French of the Morris Heights Preparatory School, where he was a pupil, whether or not he had been married, he was at first confined to his room and later was expelled from the institution. At noon he had luncheon at one of the hotels here, but later departed.

With James E. Gillen, a youthful friend of Knox, the young woman, who says she is Mrs. Knox, Jr., returned to Providence yesterday in company with young Knox. Gillen and the young woman went to the apartments of Miss Boler's mother.

When Miss Boler, or Mrs. Knox, finally admitted having been married to young Knox, she said she did not know the name of the clergyman who officiated, or even that of the street on which the parsonage was located.

She refused to recount any of the details of her romance or of the wedding trip.

Young Knox did not appear at the house of his bride. When the young woman made her statement the only person visible, besides her mother, was Gillen. He also refused to tell of the trip.

The Federal express for Washington tonight carried Principal French and the bride and groom.

Talked With Papa.

Mr. French, who had had a long distance telephone talk with Secretary Knox, thought the young man had gone to Washington on an earlier train, and was indignant when he heard that the "woman in the case" was aboard. He said he would have the police at Westbury, the next stop, put her off.

At Westbury Chief Cornelius Bransfield wanted to know about the trouble, but was met by a smiling conductor, who told the officer that young Knox had boarded the train in Boston and had assured him that the secretary of state had expressed approval of the marriage.

The young people were speeding to Washington to receive the parental blessing, he said, so the police chief swung off the train.
