LENT OBSERVED.

Lent is being observed more and more in this city and especially this week will observers of this season be more stern in denying themselves social pleasures. It has been but a short time ago that only those who were members of the Lutheran Episcopal and Catholic churches gave up pleasure during the forty days of penance. However other denominations are now advocating the idea and so of course the social calendar is rather short and is especially so during Holy week. Only one large party, that of Miss Mary Gaar Friday afternoon, is scheduled for this week. As usual, though there will be some are held. A number of the clubs have decided to postpone meetings until after Easter. The opening of the Spring social season will be heralded by the large Easter Ball to be given March twenty-eighth, in the Pythian temple.

WHAT'S THE USE

Sticking to a Habit when it Means Discomfort?

Old King Coffee knocks subjects out tolerably flat at times, and there is no possible doubt of what did it. A Mich. woman gives her experience:

"I used to have liver trouble nearly all of the time and took medicine which relieved me only for a little while. Then, everyone in a while I would be suddenly doubled up with an awful agony in my stomach. It seemed as though every time I took a breath I would die. No one could suffer any more and live."

"Finally I got down so sick with catarrh of the stomach that I could not turn over in bed, and my stomach did not digest even milk. The doctor finally told me that if I did not give up drinking coffee I would surely die. But I felt I could not give it up."

"However, Husband brought home a package of Postum and it was made strictly according to directions. It was the only thing that would stay on my stomach, and I soon got so I liked it very much."

"Gradually I began to get better, and week by week gained in strength and health. Now I am in perfect condition, and I am convinced that the whole cause of my trouble was coffee drinking, and my getting better was due to leaving off coffee and taking Postum."

"A short time ago I tasted some coffee and found, to my astonishment, that I did not care anything about it. I never have to take medicine any more. I hope you will use this letter for the benefit of those suffering from the poisonous effects of coffee."

sity to the summer girl, and Paris sanctions the lace-trimmed white straw.

Large black hats are simply trimmed with huge bows, requiring from ten to twelve yards of crisp, glossy ribbon.

The black hat is not mourning, except when the mistake is made of choosing too dead a straw and too dark a ribbon.

Paris features the crown so low as to suggest a flat or plaque.

The more flaring the turn-up of the brim the more up-to-date is the hat.

Wreaths of simple white roses lie flat upon the broad brims of plain black hats for those who would avoid the flaring brim.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION.

Cannot be had with cosmetics. They don't go deep enough. A clear skin without blotches or pimples can be had only with pure blood. Certainly a prescription that cures even the worst cases of blood disease, clears up eczema and scrofula, and cures inflammatory rheumatism and catarrh will produce rosy complexion.

Dr. A. B. Simpson's Vegetable Compound has for forty years been known as the most powerful of all alteratives or blood purifiers. There has never been a case of blood-poison (even syphilis) or skin disease that it could not cure. Thousands of women take it regularly to keep their blood healthy and their complexion clear.

It is purely vegetable and harmless. It was originally the prescription of Dr. A. B. Simpson, who was one of the most celebrated physicians of the middle west. Inflammatory rheumatism, catarrh, scrofula, eczema, pimples, erysipelas and all troubles arising from impure blood yield to it readily.

Sold at $1 per bottle at all drug stores.

An Ancient River.

In Long Island sound, not far from the north shore of the island, is clearly defined the channel of an ancient river. As shown by the United States coast survey it is a gorge, having a depth of about sixty feet below the general floor of the sound on either side of it. The gorge or channel was cut into the bedrock of gneiss, the erosion of which is exceedingly slow.

A GREAT SINNER.

Even the Good Deacon Weakened on His Chances For Heaven.

Deacon Broadbent, a very honest and pious man, was conducting a religious revival with great success. In a word, his powerful exhortations had brought Calhoun White, the town's worst sinner, weeping to the deacon's bench. The deacon, gratified by this proof of his evangelical prowess, hastened to Calhoun's side.

"What is that?"

Mr. Kean replied, "That, my dear Wallack, is applause."

"God bless me!" retorted Wallack. "I thought it was some one shelling peas."

The message. At the end of the act there was slight suggestion of hand-clapping and exceedingly gentle foot tapping. James Wallack, who knew nothing of the message sent to the queen, hearing the mild demonstration, pricked up his ears and inquired,

"What is that?"

Mr. Kean replied, "That, my dear Wallack, is applause."

"God bless me!" retorted Wallack. "I thought it was some one shelling peas."

The Sturdy Infant.

At a performance of "Dora" many years ago, in a western city, when Mary Morrison made her exit to bring on her little Willie of four years she was shocked to find a lubberly boy of at least fourteen, and as he was the only Willie at hand on he must go, though he was well nigh as big as his mother. The Farmer Allan of the play, being equal to the emergency, instead of inquiring, "How old are you, my little man?" endeavored to remedy the matter by saying, "How old are you, my strapping boy?" But he failed, for the boy, who was instructed to say from "four to six," said it with such a coarse, sepulchral tone as to drive the good natured grandfather to exclaim: "Forty-six! You look it, my boy! You look it!"

Let Us Smile.

There is no room for sadness when we see a cheery smile.

It always has the same good look—it's never out of style.

It nerves us on to try again when failure has us down.

The dimples of encouragement are good for me and you.

It pays a higher interest, for it is merely lent—

It's worth a million dollars and doesn't cost a cent.

According to Rule.

Oberlin was the first coeducational college in this country. In the early days it had a rule that in case there were but one man and one woman in a room at least one chair should be between them. One evening an instructor, passing one of the small sitting rooms, was horrified at beholding a young man and a young woman occupying the same chair.

"Sir," he demanded of the man student, "what is the meaning of this outrageous behavior? Do you not know the rules of the college?"

"Why—er—don't they say that if a man and a girl sit alone in a room they shall have one chair between them?"

It Didn't Work.

A man who lives far up town in New York is not sure whether the joke is on him or on his wife. Here is how he tells it:

"One night last week I thought I heard some one prowling about the house, and as there have been a number of houses broken into lately I concluded that the noise was made by burglars. As I sat up in bed listening I chance to glance into the next room, the door of our bedroom being open, and there, sure enough, stood a burglar coolly examining our silver plate. With this startling discovery came the chilling thought that I hadn't such a thing as a firearm in the house. But I determined to see what bluff would do, so, turning to my wife, I said in a loud voice:

"Mary, where's my revolver?"

"John," she answered in a voice equally as loud, "there isn't such a thing in the house, and you know it."

"After that I closed and locked the door and blew a police whistle."
