Opposes the Tariff Law.

He stated that as the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill stands as a whole, he was against an indorsement of it in the platform; that in his estimation this tariff bill is not a measure drawn in the interests of all the people, and is a bill drawn in the interests of a special few; that he felt his stand in this respect reflected the attitude of at least the great majority of the republican voters of Wayne county, and, furthermore, Wayne county was not monopolizing that sentiment in the state of Indiana. He said he was for the strongest possible indorsement of Senator Beveridge on account of his great work in the interests of all the people and against the special privileges that have created a favored and powerful few; that here, again, he believed his stand reflected the sentiment of a great majority of the republicans in the Sixth district. He stated he believed President Taft should be indorsed for his splendid qualities, good intentions and for the dignity with which he was filling his chair of the highest officer in the land.

Wants His Position Known.

Mr. Leeds said he declared himself thus frankly so that the members of the entire Sixth district delegation might know what the man who desired their favor stood for.

The delegation is solidly for Judge Comstock, the Sixth district's candidate for the appellate court. It is also for Prof. Ferrell of Shelbyville, the Sixth district's candidate for state superintendent of public instruction.

The Wayne county delegation has engaged room 342 at the Claypool hotel at Indianapolis for its headquarters during the state convention.

RUINED BY CLOTHES

Desire for Finery Results in Arrest of Former Y. W. C. A. Secretary.

SHE OFFERS NO DEFENSE

(American News Service) Pittsburgh, Pa., April 2.—Her desire to wear fine clothes and jewelry has resulted in Irma Freeman, aged 22, who claims that she was formerly a secretary at the Young Women's Christian association, being held for court on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretense.

Last Monday afternoon she is alleged to have selected $107 worth of wearing apparel at a downtown store, and obtained the goods by representing herself as Mrs. J. E. Masters, of Coal Center, Pa. The firm became suspicious and investigated the case and had the girl arrested. She made no defense at the preliminary hearing. She said she came to this city last August from Kansas City.

It Is Said That Rev. White Will Be Presiding Elder of the Muncie District.

DECIDE AT CONFERENCE

The Rev. L. J. Nafziger, former pastor of the First M. E. church, but who at the present time is presiding elder of the Muncie district of the North Indiana conference, will probably be succeeded by the Rev. J. C. White of Logansport, at the conference session, to be held in Bluffton in April. An Anderson account says:

Methodists in this city, where the annual conference session was held two years ago, say they have reason to believe that the Rev. J. C. White, of Logansport, will be chosen to succeed the Rev. L. J. Nafziger, of Muncie, as superintendent of the Muncie district, North Indiana M. E. conference. It is also said here that in the event the Rev. Mr. White declines, the Rev. L. M. Kridler, of Alexandria, formerly of Noblesville, will be considered. His friends in this city understand that the Rev. Mr. Nafziger, whose time limit ends his service as district superintendent, will probably be stationed as an active pastor at Elkhart during the next conference year.

The annual session of the conference will take place at Bluffton next week. It is well understood that the Rev. Chesteen Smith, pastor of the First M. E. church in this city, will be returned.

BRIDGE CONTRACTS MURDER THEIR SON BEFORE THE BOARD

These Matters Will Engage the Commissioners at the Monday Session.

APRIL TERM STARTS THEN

REPORTS OF VIEWERS AND ENGINEER ON NATIONAL ROAD IMPROVEMENTS WILL ALSO BE MADE TO THE BOARD.

The April term of the Wayne county commissioners will begin tomorrow. There will be numerous important matters to come up for consideration during the month. Next Saturday the board will let contracts for the construction of the Middleboro bridge in Wayne township; the Weaver bridge and Weaver culvert in Dalton township and the approach to the Murray bridge in Jefferson township.

On the same day the engineer and viewers for the improvement of the National road west of Richmond are scheduled to make a report, though it is possible that there will be a delay, the engineer to ask for more money to complete the detailed specifications.

There seems to be an impression among some citizens that this improvement is still in doubt. As a matter of fact it is absolutely assured though it is not definitely settled, insofar as the public knows, just how the roadway will be improved. Whether the prayer of the petitioners will be granted by the viewers in all things or whether some of the features asked for will be "cut out" will develop when the report of the commissioners is made. Neither is there anything definitely known at this time as to the estimate of the cost of the improvement, though the petitioners have on the outset declared that at the outside the cost would not be such that the tax rate will be increased in a material degree.

The number of cremations in Great Britain last year was 855, an increase of sixty from 1908. The grand total of the twelve crematoriums since the opening of the Woking crematorium in 1885, to the end of last year was 8,121. In 1908 there were 6,508 cremations in France. Germany in 1909 cremated 4,779, making a grand total to that date of 23,000 for Germany.

William Travers Jerome once went down to Georgia to address the Georgia Bar association. Colonel Peter Melrider was showing Jerome around. "You see that man," said the Colonel pointing out a distinguished person who sat on the hotel porch. "I do." "Well, suh, that is a man in whom our state takes great pride. He is Judge — suh, the only man in Georgia, who can strut sitting down."

A BUSINESS REVIEW OF THE PAST WEEK BY HENRY CLEWS

New York, April 2.—The month of April opened with the stock market hesitating and depressed. Prices underwent a further reaction, and had it not been that stocks were generally in strong hands the decline might have been still more marked. Nevertheless the big holders had somewhat lightened their burdens and were indisposed to re-enter the market as buyers until concessions of importance could be obtained. It must be admitted that current developments were temporarily of an unfavorable nature. The advancing tendency in money was adverse to stocks. In London the stringency was particularly noticeable, the situation there being aggravated by the British budget difficulties. The quarterly and fortnightly settlements in London occurred this week; added to which the government was obliged to meet unusual financial obligations. This imposed a severe monetary strain upon London, the high rates for money there necessitating gold exports from New York. This movement would have begun some time ago had it not been seen that our adverse trade balance had been partly offset by liberal European takings of our investments estimated at about $200,000,000. The foreign demand for our securities, however, has suddenly subsided; and the adverse trade balance it is feared will continue until the new crops are available. Considerable quantities of grain and provisions are still held back and these may be exported later on, thus partially relieving the export situation. Another depressing factor has been a sudden rush to market new securities in unexpectedly large volume. The railroads continue in need of immense sums to keep facilities equal to demands, and a desire to take advantage of the first opportunity the market afforded has been accelerated by fear of federal restrictions upon the issue of new securities. The flotations during the month of March were unusually heavy and it is known that many other important amounts are suspended awaiting the next opportunity. The result is a much congested bond market. The new issues have been readily underwritten, but have not yet found successful placement with investors. Low rates bonds, moreover, are adversely affected by the better rates demanded for money, and the necessity of investors securing as large returns as possible in order to meet the increased cost of living. Short term notes are again coming into prominence as the most feasible method of raising funds for the railroads. One more element of weakness has been the labor situation. The railroads

MURDER THEIR SON THE GERMAN RULER

Polish Couple in Search of Wealth Kill a Stranger Whom They Identify.

IMPRACTICAL APRIL 1 JOKE

(American News Service) Vienna, April 2.—A tragedy without parallel is reported from the province of Galicia.

A Polish emigrant named Pzenkowski returned to his home in the village of Zielony after an absence of ten years in America. His parents did not recognize him immediately, so Pzenkowski pretended to be an intimate friend of their son's. He asked for a night's lodging.

The old couple gladly consented to keep him for a night, and piled him with questions. Pzenkowski told them their son had prospered in America, and said that he himself had $1,250 in his pocketbook, the result of his savings. After he retired for the night the old couple decided to kill him and steal his money. They strangled him in bed, and then went through his papers. They were horror-stricken to find a passport bearing their own name, and, after examining other documents and certain marks on the dead man, they discovered that they had killed their son.

Overwhelmed with horror, Pzenkowski's aged father wrote a letter informing the authorities of the circumstances, and then he and his wife hanged themselves. Their bodies were found next morning by a servant suspended from a beam in the living room.

FUNERAL OF PATTERSON.

Chicago, April 2.—The funeral of Robert W. Patterson, editor-in-chief of the Chicago Tribune, who died suddenly in Philadelphia last night, and his mother, Julia Patterson, will be held from the home of John M. Ewen, in this city, Monday at 2 o'clock.

During a furious storm in Paris a janitor was struck on the shoulder by a small but heavy tin box which had fallen from an upper story of a house in the Rue de l'Ouest. The box was found to contain $6,000 in gold and notes. It was claimed at the police station by an elderly woman, who said that the money constituted her savings which she had hidden by tying the box to the drainpipe outside her window.

Gastralgia, or stomachache in people past middle age can come from no end of things—from simple indigestion to gall and kidney stones. There are several types of severe forms of stomachache (abdominal crisis) that put the best surgeons at sea. For instance the pain and spasm of deadly angina pectoris, neuralgic spasm of the heart, may seem to start in the stomach. At any rate, stomachache past middle age can be a whole lot of things besides appendicitis.—New York Press.

JEW CRUISE WITH EYES ON NEW YORK

Nation Watches Political Fight Which Will Rage in Monroe County. WILL BE A FIERCE FIGHT

EXPECT PRACTICAL ADVICE

THE JEWS ARE SELF-MADE MEN, BUT ANTI-SEMITIC MERCHANTS ARE OPPOSED TO THESE GETTING A HAND IN AFFAIRS.

Berlin, April 2.—A great political sensation has been caused in the reactionary circles in Germany by the ostentatious invitations which the Kaiser issued to prominent Jews to accompany him on his cruise in the North Sea. This feeling is emphasized by the presence of popular excitement with regard to the demand for a more liberal franchise and the helplessness of the authorities to deal effectively with the recent socialist demonstrations.

His Majesty is now cruising in the North Sea and his guests include the most prominent Jewish financiers and merchants of Berlin. These are: Herr Paul Schwabach, head of the banking firm of Messrs. Bleichroeder; Herr Fritz Friedlaender, mining magnate; Herr Carl Fuerstenberg, banker; Herr Emil Rathenau, managing director of the Berlin Electrical Works; Herr Ludwig Delbrueck, banker; Herr Arthur Gwinner, director of the Deutsche bank.

All are Jews and are self-made men of more or less plebeian origin, and they are all anti-reactionists in politics.

When the list of names was made known a shudder ran through the ranks of the Prussian Junkers, not only owing to their intense anti-Semitism, but also because it appears probable that the emperor will take the opportunity of seeking the advice of these plain, practical men of affairs on the recent political situation, particularly in regard to the Prussian franchise question.

Obviously the emperor may receive advice from these leading citizens of Berlin which would prove extremely distasteful to the influential court cliques and reactionary political groups whose members desire to procure the Kaiser's support for their line of policy.

Anti's Old, And Arguments Weak

Miss Winsor Issues Challenge to Foes of Votes for Women, and Makes Some Tart Criticisms.

Philadelphia, April 2.—"Like a wolf on the fold" Miss Mary Winsor came down upon the anti-suffragist yesterday, at a meeting of "limited," "altogether," "not entirely" and "utterly opposed" suffragists in the Plastic Club house.

There was spice in the things Miss Winsor said about the women who think it would be unwomanly to vote. First of all, she likened them to Killenny cats; then she gave them a dig on the score of their advanced years and "elderly" methods of argument; and she accused them of banding together under the banner of Edward Bok, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, whose slogan is "the suffragist has a basic aversion to motherhood," and lastly, she pitted them on the ground of their limited education.

Challenges Two 'Antis.' Miss Winsor, who speaks with tart emphasis and who is not afraid of stinging invective, when it can be applied to an "anti," let loose the vials of her sarcasm on Mrs. Horace Brock and Mrs. J. Gardner Cassatt, leaders of the opposition. She challenged them both to make good their "ambiguous" statements about suffragists, and advised a "closer adherence" to facts and statistics in their speeches.

"In one breath," she said, "Mrs. Brock tells us women should be subordinate to men, their slaves and servants at all times; in another, she quotes Wordsworth's 'a perfect woman, nobly planned to warm; to comfort and command.' How can a woman be a slave and command at the same time. Perhaps this comes with in the scope of the anti-suffragist whose argument teeters up and down."

"They tell us our places are by the fire-side, but they spend most of their time on platforms and in clubrooms, distributing literature about the danger of the ballot, because it will take

OPERATION WAS NOT SUCCESSFUL

Robert Shoop's Leg Badly Affected With Deadly Gangrene Poisoning.

HIS LEG IS AMPUTATED

THE ATTENDING PHYSICIAN STATES THAT THE VEINS ARE AFFECTED AND GIVES SLIGHT HOPES FOR RECOVERY.

So badly infected with gangrene poisoning is the left leg of Robert Shoop, the county infirmary inmate, who underwent an amputation of the leg just below the knee, last week, at Reid Memorial hospital, that the attending physician does not extend much hope for his recovery. The poisoning has developed in the leg at the point where the operation was made and it seems that the veins are infected.

It is said that the medical authorities could continue to amputate sections of the leg and possibly, by that means the man's life might be prolonged. How the man contracted the poisoning is not known, but it is a case of long standing and one which did not receive proper treatment, when he and his wife were patients of the charitable institutions of the city, simply because he would not permit proper attention.

He is an old rag picker and it is believed, that while engaged in these duties, he contracted the poisoning. Considerable sympathy for the man, who is said to be 78 years old, is felt. Always a strong and robust man, until affliction overcame him, he steadfastly refused to accept medical attention. In addition to this, he and his wife refused to go to the poor farm, until forced to leave their hovel on South High street. They left the city temporarily, but the trustee of Harrison, Ohio, where they went, refused to assist them and they came back to this city. He was removed to the poor farm and induced to undergo the operation. Mrs. Shoop would not go to the institution and took up her residence with friends in Centerville.

GIRLS ARE WALKERS

Milton, Ind., April 2.—The Misses Helen Pfau, Mildred Rieman and Mary Rieman of Connersville, tramped from Connersville to this town, a distance of ten miles in two and a half hours, yesterday morning. The young women have been indulging in morning walks and had made a wager that they could walk to Cambridge City, two miles north of here. After some bantering they took the "dare" yesterday morning. On finding that if they continued their journey to Cambridge City they could not return home until late in the afternoon, they gave up their plan here and took a train for their homes.

EXCAVATE IN RUINS

(American News Service) Berlin, April 2.—The walls of Jericho have been excavated under the direction of Professor Sellins, who has sent home to the German Oriental society particulars of his important discoveries. He says that he brought to light the ruins of the fortifications of the pre-Israelitish city, consisting of an inner and outer wall. This inner wall was double and appeared to have been strengthened at intervals with towers. The remains of dwellings of three different periods were discovered, and underneath them all were quantities of flint implements probably dating back to 4,000 years before Christ. Some distance from the city were traces of Jewish settlements belonging to about 800 B. C. Many ancient relics were found here, and lower down the foundation of a palace of extremely ancient date was discovered.

HARD ON OYSTERS

Washington, April 2.—Oysters can no longer be fed—or as the trade terms goes "floated in brackish water"—before they are offered for sale. The department of agriculture has ordered that the practice must stop at once. The order affects all the oyster trade in the United States, and is of immense importance to dealers. Recently the department gave a hearing to the oystermen who maintained that the quality of the oyster is improved by the floating process. The department of agriculture, however, holds that to float an oyster after it is taken from its bed, provides means for the oyster to take in contamination from the water and offers risk of typhoid.
