Gus Eichhorn, Leaves City to Assist Sister Disprove Murder Charge.

CASE HEARD YESTERDAY

Gus Eichhorn, formerly engaged in the grocery business in this city, accompanied by his wife, have gone to Milwaukee to assist Miss Frances Eichhorn fight the charge of strangling her four day old baby. Other relatives of Miss Eichhorn are at her side and every effort will be made to disprove the alleged crime. A Milwaukee account says:

The first day's testimony in the case of Frances Eichhorn, formerly of Richmond, Ind., developed evidence of Dr. Wilhelm Becker, medical expert and professor of infant pathology at Marquette University, that the babe which the Indiana girl is accused of murdering was strangled to death. Miss Eichhorn and George Hurst, a Milwaukee railroad man, are accused of murdering the child, which was found in a bureau drawer in a hotel.

The two admit that the child was born in the hotel, but say that the child died a natural death and that the body was left in the room until the girl could be given medical care after being taken to her home. Hurst was planning, it was said to dispose of the body after the mother had been cared for. Dr. Becker said the autopsy indicated that the child had lived three or four hours after birth.

After this evidence was given the case was postponed until Wednesday, when further medical testimony will be given. The relatives of the girl have come from Richmond to help her fight the charge.

DEVELOPMENTS OF IMPORTANT

Nature Are Expected at Meeting of Illinois Miners Today.

STRIKERS WANT ADVANCE

DECLARE THAT THEY MUST HAVE FIVE CENTS MORE ON THE TON ON SCREENED COAL—WATCHED WITH INTEREST.

(American News Service) Chicago, April 5.—Important developments are awaited from the meeting of the executive board of the Illinois Miners, which is meeting at Springfield today to consider matters which have developed in connection with the strike within the last twenty-four hours. Among the matters to be taken up will be the granting of permission to engineers and other workmen necessary to remain at work to protect the mines.

There seems to be a general feeling of lassitude existent in some quarters of the coal strike district. In the large cities and especially so in this city, there is an air of indifference concerning the outcome of the conferences as it is expected on all sides that the miners will return to work May 1.

Pleasant weather, resulting in a use of less coal, has also buoyed this feeling, but the result of the conferences will show whether this is confidence or carelessness. Many of the larger firms are continuing to keep their yards well filled with coal.

The conference in Chicago is set for April 11 at which the question of wages will be going into thoroughly.

The Indiana miners and operators will meet in joint conference at Terre Haute tomorrow. The miners have prepared a scale which they will submit.

The miners ask an advance of five cents a ton on screened coal which they believe the operators will allow. There appears to be little change in the situation reported from any of the other districts, except Colorado, where the operators refuse any advance and announce that they will open the mines with non-union miners.

DIVINE INTERVENTION

Drys of Illinois Select This Means Instead of Ballot For Results.

TEMPERANCE, STATE ISSUE

(American News Service) Chicago, April 5.—Miners in Illinois have a host of mighty foes today in their battle for existence in 240 cities and towns in the state as a result of the determination of women throughout the state to attend devotional exercises and ask for divine intervention to end the existence of the saloon, rather than rely upon the ability of the ballot to bring about the desired result.

The entire state practically is torn by the wet and dry issues wherever elections are being held.

This city is without any such issue but the anti-saloon forces are against annexing Oak Park and Morgan. Each district covers a large area and is opposed to the saloons. The chief concern of this city is the election of Aldermen.

In 101 cities and towns where elections are being held the dry and wet question is a new one. The other 139 are dry, but the saloon forces are waging a fierce battle to overcome what they call stubbornness and re-establish their saloons.

A VICTORY FOR

The Anti-saloon Forces at Detroit Have Cause for Rejoicing.

FORTY-SIX COUNTIES "DRY"

(American News Service) Detroit, April 5.—Anti-saloon forces here are rejoicing at the outcome of the election which has legislated out of existence 272 saloons, six breweries and which has won seventeen additional counties to the "dry" column of the state.

After May 1, forty-six of the eighty-three counties of this state will be dry. In the counties carried by the "wets" there are 875 saloons and nine breweries. The anti-saloon forces received their greatest setback, though not unexpected, they say, in Kent county which went "wet" by a majority of 8,000 votes.

Grand Rapids added 300 votes to this majority.

Lansing, the capital, voted to abolish saloons.

Jason Watkins was the fourth member of the party. He escaped by swimming the river. Guy will probably be tried tomorrow morning. The parties evidently had spent the night along the banks. The police say that they found a blanket, robe and overcoat.

PROPOSE NEW STEPS

It is probable that campers at this summer's chautauqua will not have to experience the discomforts of walking to the springs from the camping ground, through either a lot of mud or down a rough bank.
