

PRISONER'S PLAN PROVES FAILURE

Huntington Appeals to Ministers, to Gain Release: Offered a "Cure"

SENT OUT MANY LETTERS

THEN THE PASTORS WAITED ON HIM BUT TO HIS DISGUST ONLY OFFERED TO SEND HIM TO A KEELEY CURE.

While an inmate of the county jail, serving an eleven days' sentence for public intoxication, Earl Huntington formulated a plan of release, which worked out in an entirely different fashion from what the schemer anticipated.

On the first day of his confinement to the jail Huntington asked for pen, ink and paper and addressed twelve page letters to all of the ministers of the city, playing upon their sympathies.

Yesterday afternoon a delegation of ministers, Mrs. Mary Frame Selby and others, visited the jail and had a long talk with Huntington. Although his letter was never given out for publication, it was learned that his plan was to have these persons visit Mayor Zimmerman and appeal to him, for his release.

However, a caucus had been held by the visiting delegation, before they talked with Huntington, and, it is said, they had planned to send him to some institution, either in Cincinnati or Indianapolis, at their own expense, and have him take the Keeley cure. After having made such an earnest appeal Huntington could not very well have objected to this plan and he apparently heartily indorsed it. After the pleased committee left, Huntington entered a very decided kick against such "outrageous" treatment.

The other inmates of the institution are making the best possible joke out of the matter. Huntington has been told that he will play the bass drum and that if he stays at the institution long enough for them to get out, they will be his guests and listen to the beautiful music.

SUFFERING AT END

Following an illness of tuberculosis of the spine, of several months' duration, Mrs. Eliza J. Holloper, aged 66 years, wife of William W. Holloper, died last evening at her home North Fourteenth street. Besides her husband, the deceased is survived by five sons, Horace, John, Roy, Paul and Clarence of Iowa. A daughter, Mrs. Mary Kelly, of Chicago, also survives.

Mrs. Holloper was prominently affiliated with the Woman's Relief Corps of the G. A. R., and the Penny Club, and was held in high esteem by her many friends. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, the Rev. S. R. Lyons officiating. The burial will be in Earlham cemetery. The members of the Woman's Relief Corps of the G. A. R., will meet at the home of Mrs. McMan, 413 North Fourteenth street, Thursday evening at 7 o'clock and will go in a body to view the remains and hold short services at the late home of the deceased.

STUNTED HER BRAIN

A petition was filed in the circuit court this morning to have Blanche May Kirkland, placed in the home for feeble minded at Ft. Wayne. It is alleged by the physician who examined the unfortunate woman, who is but 18 years old, that she is suffering mentally from an injury which she received when six years old by being struck on the head with a stick of wood. She can not count past twenty and in every way her actions are those of a very small child. It is believed by the attending physician that she will recover, or at least be very much improved, by scientific treatment. Owing to the crowded condition of the home, it will be impossible to admit the girl to the institution immediately.

CASE PATHETIC ONE

Pathetic conditions exist in the family of J. E. Rubey, of Indianapolis, formerly of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Rubey are in New Brunswick, Canada. One of their children is dead at Indianapolis from scarlet fever and two other children lie at the point of death with the same disease. The children were left in care of a relative, their parents having been in Canada for some time. Last evening local relatives learned of the death of George Rubey, the eight year old son. The body of the dead child will be brought to Richmond for burial in Earlham cemetery. The death of the other two children is momentarily expected, it is said. Mr. Rubey is well known in this city where he was reared. He is a brother of Mrs. De Witt Runnels of Randolph street.

FIGHT HONORS BEING SOUGHT BY J. DORMAN

Jack Dorman, the young lightweight who aspires to the top of the pugilistic ladder, and expects to leave the ordinary fighters with a jump through his approaching match with Jack Goodman, the New York fighter. Both boys are trained fine for the event, which is a ten-round bout before the Fairmount Athletic Club, and if either has championship possibilities they are expected to show.

LYONS TO LECTURE

Dr. S. R. Lyons tonight will give an interesting stereopticon lecture on astronomy, including the comet, under the auspices of the Brotherhood of the First M. E. church. The meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 at the church. There will be no admission charge, and every man in the city is invited.

CATHELL IS PASTOR

The church wardens of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church, have engaged Dr. J. Everett Cathehl to be in charge of the vacant rectory until another rector shall be called; and Dr. Cathehl has entered upon his duties as such minister-in-charge. He will conduct Sunday morning services and preach at 10:30 and hold himself in readiness for special duties as individuals or families of the congregation may require.

On Thursday next, Ascension Day, he will conduct service at 9:30 a. m.

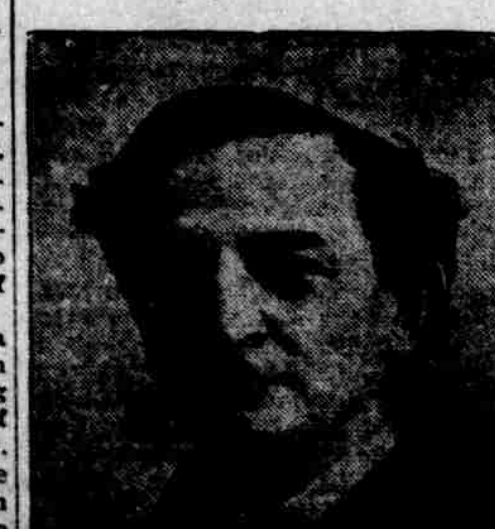

HURT IN A RUNAWAY

Claud and Miss Bertha Beeson, children of County Commissioner Robert N. Beeson, were injured in a runaway Monday. Claud Beeson had driven a team of horses, hitched to a hay wagon, in the barn and his sister was riding on the rack. The wind blew a buggy top, which was suspended to the apex of the roof, on the floor, frightening the horses. Miss Beeson jumped off and wrenched her knee while Claud sprained his wrist. The team ran through a closed gate and down into the lane, doing some damage to the fences but the horses were not injured.

Washington, May 4.—The senate passed a bill providing for the raising of the battle ship Maine in the Havana Harbor and for the burial of the bodies of the sailors in the wreck. The bill has already been passed by the house.

SENATOR DANIELS IS ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

Washington, May 4.—Representative Boehne of Indiana declined today to say whether or not he will accept the nomination for congress if tendered him by the Democrat convention of the first district this afternoon. It is understood among democratic members of the Indiana delegation here, however, that Boehne will run again if the convention nominates him.

Representative Barnhart has as his guest during the Medical convention here, Dr. S. E. Smith, of Richmond.

CAMBRIDGE WOMEN IN HAIR PULLING

Mrs. Fields Invades Home of Mrs. Dolan and Hostilities Resulted.

FORMER IS UNDER ARREST

MRS. FIELDS AT FIRST HAD BETTER OF BATTLE, BUT MRS. DOLAN MADE GAME RALLY AND USED TEETH WELL.

As the result of a fistic encounter in which two women of Cambridge City tried out their pugilistic ability with direful results to both parties involved, Mrs. Jennie Fields was brought from Cambridge to the Home for the Friendless yesterday, nursing a badly banged up head and an injured arm.

The fight occurred between Mrs. Jennie Fields and Mrs. John Dolan, but the cause for the controversy is not clear in the minds of the authorities. According to Prosecutor Ladd, Mrs. Fields went to the home of Mrs. Dolan in Cambridge City and started the trouble. After taking a few jabs at the latter and playfully puncturing various portions of the woman's anatomy with a dinner fork, the tables were turned and Mrs. Dolan obtained a strangle hold and half Nelson clutch on Mrs. Fields which boded no good to the latter. Rules were discarded and seeing her way clear to bite a huge chunk out of Mrs. Fields's arm, Mrs. Dolan took advantage of the opportunity and got busy with her ivory. From then on Mrs. Fields was sorry for her visit as her opponent, besides leaving the imprint of her teeth, had a most unpleasant way of using her victim's head as a battering ram against an adjoining wall. Fortunately neighbors interceded and stopped the melee.

If Mrs. Dolan desires it, an affidavit will be filed against Mrs. Fields, according to Prosecutor Ladd. Mrs. Dolan is freed from all blame, it is said, and was only defending her rights, as Mrs. Fields was the aggressor in the encounter.

LIMIT IS REACHED

Now Said That It Costs Too Much for Person to Die in Chicago.

BLAME THE UNDERTAKERS

Chicago, May 4.—High cost of dying in Chicago is charged to collusion between undertakers and cemetery officials, improper conduct on the part of officials of benevolent societies, collusion between undertakers and physicians of the less reputable class and hospital attendants.

The charge was made to the City club, in the report of an investigating committee of which Harry A. Smoot is chairman and today is being widely discussed by sociologists and others who are working to ameliorate conditions of the poor. Circumstances surrounding scores of funerals in many sections of the city have been investigated and the report shows certain reasons for the high price charged by the undertakers but urges a lower scale and further investigation to that end.

BIG MILL ASSURED

Omaha, Neb., May 4.—Governor Gillett of California, today cheered the pessimistic fight when he announced that he would make no effort to stop the holding of the Jefferies-Johnson fight to be held in his state on July 4.

The governor passed through this city at the head of a large delegation of enthusiastic Californians enroute to Washington, where financial aid from the government will be sought for San Francisco's exposition which is to be held in 1915.

When asked whether it was true that he was contemplating closing the state to the professional pugilists because of the clamor made by ministers of certain denominations, he said that he would not interfere with the plans by calling the fight off.

FIGHT THE WAVES STUBBS CASE HEARD

But After Ten Hours Battle Saurio Struggles Into a Harbor.

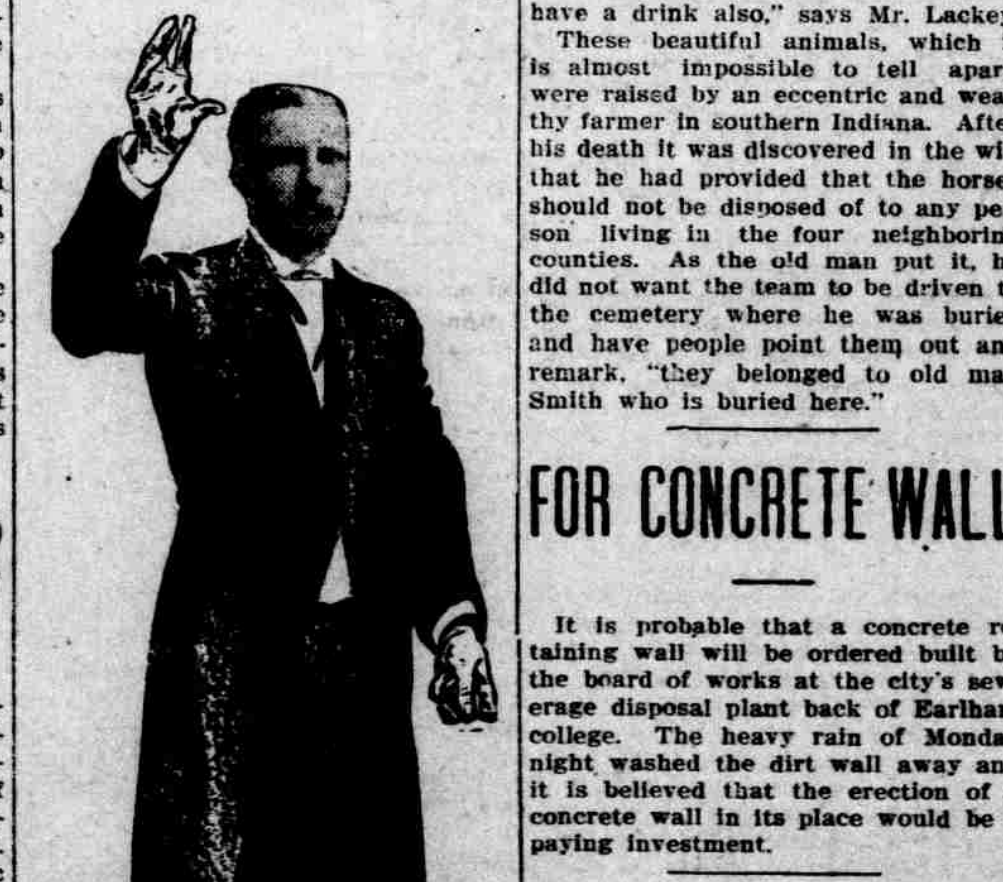

SHE WAS IN COLLISION IS HEARD AT CINCINNATI

(American News Service) Boston, May 4.—After a thrilling ten hour battle with the raging sea in a ship with a twelve foot hole in her side, steamship Saturnio which collided off Cape Cod with the oil tank steamer Ligonier last night, struggled into the Provincetown harbor and was beached half a mile from shore in a sinking condition. A wireless message from the Ligonier somewhere off the Massachusetts coast indicates she is safe with her crew of twenty-five and twenty members of the Saturnio's crew who left the sinking ship after the collision. Only Captain Foelker and half a dozen men remained on the Saturnio throughout the night, in the dense fog and darkness.

JACOB SAW DANIEL LACKEY HAS TWINS

Jacob Abel, a well known civil war veteran, who has been in the East on an extended trip, attended the twenty-third annual reunion of 127th Pennsylvania Regiment of which he is a member, at Campbeltown, Pa., this week. He was made a member of the committee on resolutions, following his motion condemning the action of placing the statue of Gen. Lee in the hall of fame. His motion was passed unanimously. He was in New York city and met several former Richmond residents, including Daniel G. Reid.

SENATOR RAYNOR IS A SARCASTIC ORATOR

It is probable that a concrete retaining wall will be ordered built by the board of works at the city's new sewage disposal plant back of Earlham college. The heavy rain of Monday night washed the dirt wall away and it is believed that the erection of a concrete wall in its place would be a paying investment.

SNOW CRYSTALS.

They Invariably Conform to the Rule of Six.

What magic is there in the rule of six that compels the snowflake to conform so rigidly to its laws? Here is a germ bestrewn realm of nature possessing the charm of mystery, of the unknown, sure richly to reward the investigator.

Much wonder has been excited because the snow crystals exhibit such a bewildering diversity and beauty. They form within a very thin gaseous solvent, the air, and this allows freedom of motion and adjustment while arranging themselves in crystal form. The fact doubtless largely explains why the crystals of snow far exceed other crystals in complexity and symmetry. Snow crystals, like all crystals of water, develop under the hexagonal system and invariably divide into six. Nothing absolutely certain is known as to why they grow thus except as it is assumed the number and arrangement of the attractive and repellent poles possessed by the molecules of water impose this habit of growth on them. This dividing into six is necessarily discussed and best explained in somewhat technical sounding terms. We may assume each water particle or molecule possesses two opposite primary poles, positive and negative, corresponding in direction with the main tabular axis of the crystals, and in addition three or six equidistant secondary poles arranged around what may be called the equatorial diameters of the molecules. Water, being a diamagnetic substance and susceptible to polar repulsion, presumably has a tendency to arrange itself thus in a position between and at right angles to the primary electromagnetic poles. This alignment of the lines of growth opposite to the lines of greater magnetic force would compel the crystals of snow to grow mainly outward in the directions of their equatorial diameters and secondary poles. This theory would perhaps best explain why the crystals grow upon thin tabular or in the hollow columnar form and increase so little in the directions of their main axes—that is, in the direction in which, it is assumed, their main positive and negative poles lie.—Technical World Magazine.

A PATHETIC DUEL.

Sad Sequel to a Meeting in the Days When Middles Fought.

One of the most pathetic duels in the early history of the American navy was that between two young midshipmen whose names are not given in the record, according to a recent writer. Their ship was in the Malayan waters. One but eight they quarreled over the question of leaving open the scuttle. The dispute was finally settled amicably by the exchange of coats. A superior officer who had overheard their heated words made it plain to one of the midshipmen that he would have to "call out" his friend if he wished to retain the respect of his friends. To avoid ostracism and to conform to the standard of honor imposed by his superiors the unwilling midshipman challenged.

The meeting occurred on the seashore. He wrote of it afterward as follows: "Upon the signal we both fired. I found myself wounded and was about to leap upon my second's arm when I perceived my opponent fall upon the sand. My own wound was in the fleshy part of the thigh. It did not prevent my running to the prostrate figure of my old friend, whose face exhibited intense pain, and, kneeling down by his side, I implored his forgiveness, which he instantly granted."

"My despair at his fate knew no bounds, and, accusing myself of his murder, I upbraided with the bitterest reproaches those who had urged me to seek the challenge. For weeks after his death was attended by his late opponent, whose greatest joy was to anticipate his wants."

The wounded youth recovered, but had a battered arm, and, leaving the service, died of a broken heart.

America.

It was an Englishman who after traveling from New York to St. Louis was asked in the latter city if he was going west. "Heavens, what a country! Here I am, a thousand miles from the sea, and I'm asked if I'm going west!"

It was an American who, alighting in San Francisco from a trip across the continent which had been impeded by heavy traffic, grasped his friend's hand at the station and exclaimed, with pride, "What an empire, where a man, though moving all the time, can be twenty-four hours late on a railroad train!" It is an empire and powerful as vast.—Washington Star.

BIRD MAN COMING

Will Lecture at Earlham Tomorrow Night on the Feathered Family.

PRaised BY PROF. DENNIS

"I have met Dr. L. S. Keyser, who is to lecture on birds at Earlham college on Thursday evening in the woods and fields and I know he is well acquainted with the songs, habits, characteristics and services of our native birds. No one interested in our birds can afford to miss hearing him. His pictures are colored photographs," states Prof. D. W. Dennis.

The chief features of his exhibition are:

A lecture on the birds and their attractive ways; how to study them with the glass and not the gun; their economic value and their beauty; how and why they should be protected; the wonders and mysteries of migration; bird songs imitated by whistling; bird songs represented on the musical scale; original bird poems aptly illustrated; over 125 stereopticon pictures showing: (1) the rambler in his outdoor toggery and in various poses; (2) the titles, publishers and prices of the best bird manuals; (3) the best field glasses for bird study; (4) insects, weed-weeds and rodents that the birds destroy; (5) beautifully colored pictures of about 100 species of birds; (6) a few Rocky Mountain birds added for variety and comparison; (7) some touches of humor thrown in for good measure.
