

DEPUTY USED GUN IN MAKING ARREST

And Hunter Then Had the Game Warden Arrested for Pointing a Weapon.

CONSTABLE PLAYS A PART

HE ARRESTS DEPUTY GAME OFFICIAL AND THEN GOES ON HIS BOND, WHICH PROCEDURE IS CALLED ILLEGAL.

Owing to the alleged officiousness of William E. Lampher of Indianapolis a state deputy game warden, complaint probably will be made to the state warden and his dismissal asked and he will be prosecuted for drawing a deadly and dangerous weapon on Charles T. Jennings, a one armed man living in Center township whom he arrested on June 11, for alleged hunting of squirrels out of season.

Lampher was arrested last Monday by Constable M. B. Crump of L. C. Abbott's justice of the peace court. Crump, despite the fact that he is an officer, gave bond for $25 for his prisoner. The attorney for Jennings says that Crump, as an officer, has no legal right to go on a prisoner's bond. Jennings' attorney is demanding that Lampher be re-arrested and locked up unless proper procedure in filling out the bond is complied with.

Constable Crump this morning was very reluctant in admitting that he gave the bond.

Defending His Chickens.

Jennings and James Morgan were arrested last Saturday by Lampher and another deputy named Lail. Jennings says that he was hunting an animal which had been ravaging his chicken coop. In making the arrest, Jennings alleges that Lampher, who is a very large man, came up to him, pulled out a long pistol and said "Consider yourself under arrest." The two men were taken before Squire Abbott and released on $50 bonds, each.

When informed of the circumstances under which the arrest was made, Jennings' attorney refused to allow his client to be prosecuted unless Lampher was arrested and tried first. For every conviction which the state obtains for hunting out of season the deputy game commissioner is paid a commission of $20. It is said that the cases against Morgan and Jennings will be appealed to the circuit court and tried before a jury.

A BIT OF CHALK.

What It Shows When Placed Under a Powerful Microscope.

Few people know what a wonderful object a bit of chalk is when examined under a microscope. Take your knife blade and scrape off a little of the loose powder, catch it on a clean glass slide and place this on the stage of a good table microscope. Use a quarter inch objective lens and illuminate the field with a cone of light from the concave side of the reflector. The powder will be seen to consist of a confused mass of beautiful tiny shells, many of them of the most curious form.

A better way, however, is to rub down a portion of chalk with an old toothbrush in a tumbler half filled with water. If you desire to prepare several slides rub on about a teaspoonful of the powder. Shake the tumbler briskly, allow the sediment to settle for a moment and then carefully pour off the milky looking water.

Repeat this until the water remains clear, and you will then have left in the bottom only perfect shells or large parts of shells. Take up a small pinch of this deposit and spread it carefully over the center of a glass slide. Dry over a lamp and if you wish to preserve the slide for future use mount it in Canada balsam, pressing out the bubbles of air beneath the cover glass.

Mrs. Ford Escapes Prosecution

Mrs. Jeannette Stewart Ford and Charles L. Warriner, the convicted former local treasurer of the Big Four Railroad, Cincinnati. Three indictments were returned against Mrs. Ford several months ago, one charging her with blackmailing Warriner, another charging her with receiving stolen money, and a third charging her with sending threatening letters. Recently Judge Caldwell of the Common Pleas Court, sitting in Cincinnati, nolle prossed the indictments, an assistant prosecutor having recommended that the indictments against Mrs. Ford be dropped owing to Mrs. Ford's health being very poor. Mrs. Ford was tried on the blackmail charge, but the jury disagreed. She was to have been retired.

FIELD EXAMINERS ABOUT CONCLUDED WITH THEIR WORK

for it or paid no attention to the matter whatever. Such carelessness, it is pointed out by the examiners is inexcusable in a township advisory board, because it affords a trustee an opportunity to be crooked if he is so disposed. Under the law the board is required to examine the accounts of the trustee and then certify to the true condition of affairs as the board finds it. This practice on the part of some township advisory boards of certifying the amounts on hand without even trying to find out whether there is anything on hand or not is roundly denounced by the examiners whenever they have run across such a case.

Petty Graft Is Scarce.

Another gratifying development in the examination of the office of trustees is a fact that petty graft has almost entirely disappeared. A trustee that undertakes to do any grafting now is taking great chances and mighty little of it is done. In this respect the offices are different from what they were a few years ago, when it seemed that graft was one of the fixtures in any public office. Under the present law, however, where there is such an elaborate system of checking the accounts there is little opportunity for anything of this kind.

In former years the supply man and the public contractor found easy picking among many of the township trustees. Examiners who worked in Marion county ran across an amusing entry in the accounts of one trustee. It read thus:

"Contribution from a supply man, $4."

The examiners asked the trustee about it and he explained that he bought a small bill of supplies from Charles Turner, a supply dealer at Plymouth, amounting to a little over $19. When he paid the bill Turner handed him $4. The trustee refused to take the money and Turner refused to take it back. Then the trustee placed the four dollars in the township fund and made the entry in his books. This shows the way the practice flourished at one time, but the trustee in question did not propose to bite at the cherry. He was highly commended by the examiners for this action.

In many townships the examiners find traces of such graft. They find where trustees have paid excessive prices for supplies, and this leads to the belief that the excess price was largely graft.

Of course, there is found once in a while a trustee who has been in reality a crook. Here and there is a case where a trustee has issued vouchers twice for the same claim. Or he would issue a voucher to pay a claim and later he would include the amount of this claim in another claim and issue a raised voucher for the whole amount, thus paying twice for the one bill.

Edward Hyatt, superintendent of public instruction in California in a recent report tells of the value of the automobile as a means of knitting a rural community into a strong school organization. The town of Imperial is the pioneer in the use of the motor car. It has a great, big passenger and freight automobile truck which cost $3,500. Every day it makes trips into the country, gathering up the older children for the agricultural high school and the younger ones for a grammar school in the town. The machine has seats in front and a freight compartment in rear.

GERMANY SUFFERS FROM BIG FLOODS

Cloudburst Flooded Berlin and the Loss Today Is Estimated at $1,000,000

LIGHTNING PLAYS HAVOC

MANY BUILDINGS WERE STRUCK BY BOLTS AND TWENTY PEOPLE WERE BADLY INJURED. FLOODS ARE GENERAL.

(American News Service)

Berlin, June 15.—Investigation of the havoc wrought in Berlin by the cloudburst which last night flooded the city today showed that the damage is more than $1,000,000. Several buildings were wrecked by flood and fires started by lightning. The twenty persons struck by bolts were nearly all today declared out of danger.

All night long fire engines pumped water from the subway and the cellars of many buildings, but this morning only a beginning had been made. The sewers were choked by the flood, and in some streets the water is higher than three feet today. It reached that depth on the principal thoroughfares in the cloudburst and in the low-lying regions lakes formed which may take days to drain away through the crippled sewer system.

The police have had to take charge of the tables and chairs swept from open-air restaurants. They are arrayed in police stations for identification.

Government is Frantic.

The result of the floods in the country is growing with each fresh report. The government is making frantic efforts to send out relief.

The destruction of many miles of railways makes the relief work extremely difficult and the fact that the floods have swept away telephone and telegraph wires in a wide area makes it difficult to secure details.

Advices received today indicate that the dead are more than 300 at least, an it is possible that the roll will exceed 400. At many points bodies have been recovered which have been swept miles by the flooded streams.

While the government today declared that the floods in the vicinity of Oberammergau were subsiding, it is known that the situation there is still desperate.

DOCTORS OF THE MASSES

is what one writer has termed proprietary medicines.

Good honest, proprietary medicines like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound succeed, and the homes of the masses are blessed by them, while those which are worthless or harmful soon drop out. Thirty years of success in curing female ills is the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

At Local Theaters

At the Murray.

Miss Margaret Ryan, who is so popular with the patrons of the Murray this week, when asked as to how she came to go on the stage says that it was really more through fright than for any other reason. "I was going to school one day in Chicago, where my parents were living, and stopped at the old American theater while a rehearsal was in progress of the stock company then playing there. I sat down to watch the actors and the actresses. Suddenly the stage manager let out what to me seemed an awful roar and pointing directly to me asked me what I meant by sitting out in front when my proper place was on the stage. I arose and looked for a way to escape but the door had been locked. With another roar from the manager as to whether I was going to keep him waiting all day I went up on the stage to explain but he shoved a book in my hand and told me to hurry as I had kept him waiting long enough. I mumbled the first few lines in a low tone but as I went along some of the confidence that I now have in my work came to my assistance and I acquitted myself to his satisfaction. He told me to be on time the next day that's how I went on the stage and have kept to it ever since."

Miss Shields and Company in an interesting comedy sketch, Faustus in feats of magic. Black Brothers with banjo music and dancing and the motion picture, a comedy film, make up the remainder of the big bill this week.

Good Reason.

"I wonder," began the man with the investigating mania, "what makes babies cry."

"Probably," butted in the practical fellow, "contemplation of some of the things they're in danger of being like when they grow up."
