A Stubborn Husband.
A most interesting phenomenon is the stubborn husband. He is not a bad man. He is contrary, and he has to be managed. He is usually married to a clever little woman, who is constantly devising schemes to accomplish the things which make their joint lives a success.

He has no suspicion of this. If he had he would be so mad he could undoubtedly eat her. So all through life she goes on swinging a turnip ahead of his nose to make him go the same as though he were a balky mule. She is a cheery little body, and she grows plump with every year, and she does her smiling behind the door or she chuckles in her sleeve when he is not by. The stubborn husband is as interesting as a bug—London Standard.

The Artist and the Critic.
Sidney Cooper, the English artist, happening one day to visit the Royal Academy, where some of his works were on exhibition, while a couple of critics were examining the pictures strolled up to where they were standing. At that moment the younger of the two critics exclaimed, "Any man who could turn out sheep like that!" Mr. Cooper put his hand in his pocket, produced his card and, handing it to the newspaper man, said, with gravity, "If you will kindly send that machine to this address when completed I'll send a check for $1,000 to the Institute for decayed journalists."

Sermons at All Prices.
"Brethren," said the visiting preacher, "I've got a eight dollar sermon, an' I've got a six dollar sermon, an' I've got a five dollar sermon, an' a three dollar one, an' den I've got one I kin let you have for jes' one dollar. Now, I want you fur to take up the kerlection right now, an' we'll see which one of dese sermons you want."—Exchange.

Growing Corn For Cob Pipes.
Probably not one smoker in a hundred who likes the "real American pipe"—the corn-cob—is aware of the fact that many acres in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri and Nebraska are devoted to raising corn for the special purpose of producing cobs suitable for fashioning into pipe bowls. The grain itself is marketed, of course, but the cob on which it grows is the real harvest and is cut carefully into proper lengths, smoothed and polished, the soft inner pulp being gouged out by specially constructed machinery. The corn-cob pipe goes to every country in the world where men smoke and is especially in favor in Australia and New Zealand, where it is regarded as characteristically American, because it suggests the idea of Yankee ingenuity. The briar is the favorite with Englishmen, who are probably the greatest pipe smokers in the world.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

FREEZING CAVERNS.

Subterranean Caves That Are Lined With Crystalline Ice.
There are deep cavities and tunneled recesses in the earth far away from sunlight and held in the tight embrace of rocky strata where secret boards of glittering ice find habitation all the year round. Yet down in these queer places the ice is as clear and crystalline as the ice that nature maintains in the open air. Moreover, it occurs on a truly grand and massive scale.

Imagine thick underground ice walls and floors and carefully fissured columns beautiful in shape and color streaming from roof to floor of lofty rock chambers! And under the slow drip, drip, drip of percolating water this same ice learns to fashion itself into cave adornments—frozen water droplets, curling stalactites and stalagmites of fantastic shape and rainbow hues.

Subterranean cold waves, or "glaciers," as they are frequently called, crop up in some 300 scattered localities in Europe, Asia and America, but all with rare exceptions, deeper true ice caverns or grottoes and winter true ice caverns of these continents—that is, to places where there is a sufficiently low temperature at some portion of the year to reach freezing point and render snowfall possible.—Pearson's Magazine.

THEY SIT AND LOOK.

Women Who Watch For Celebrities In a New York Restaurant.
"I always wonder," said a New York woman who lunches out a good deal, "what satisfaction the women get out of life who flock to a certain fashionable uptown restaurant at lunchtime just to see celebrities."

"They look as if they cannot afford to be there, and the truth is they do not apparently go there for food. I have watched them ordering and eating what was brought them, and almost invariably it is some such thing as a cup of tea or a cup of chocolate and a sandwich."

"They sit and look. The moment some stage celebrity comes in there is a craning of necks, and you hear excited whisperings. 'Oh, there's So-and-so!' mentioning an actress or a matinee idol, and the neck craning keeps on until a fresh subject for scrutiny comes in."

"You can see this sort of thing every lunchtime at this restaurant. There is a regular contingent of these rubber-neckers, and they are not visitors from the far west, either."—New York Sun.

Waiting For the Note.
An English churchman tells the following: "One of our cathedrals the minor canon was ill and could not sing. A suffragan bishop had a good voice and volunteered to sing the litany. 'Go,' he said to the vergers, 'and tell the organist that I will sing the litany and ask him to give me the reciting note.' 'Please, sir,' said the vergers to the organist, 'the bishop has sent me to you to say he will sing the litany.' 'All right,' said the organist. 'Seeing the vergers remain, he said, 'You need not stay.' 'Please, sir, the bishop asked me to say to you if you would give him a something—I didn't quite catch—note.' 'You mean the reciting note.' 'That's it, sir; that's it.' Seeing the vergers still remaining, he said, 'You need not stay.' To which the vergers said, 'Please, sir, shall I take it to his lordship?'"

The Druggist Lost in Ibsen.
Some one in Scandinavia unearthed the report of the examiners on Dr. Ibsen's papers at his examination for the degree of bachelor. It runs as follows: Norwegian, good; Latin prose, good; Latin essay, fairly good; Latin conversation, moderate; Greek, bad; arithmetic, bad; German, very good; French, good; religious knowledge, good; history and geography, good; Hebrew, good; geometry, good. General remarks: A young man not to be despised. In spite of many "goods," however, Ibsen was panned owing to his deficiencies in Greek and arithmetic. He aspired in those days to be a pharmaceutical chemist and, failing to satisfy the examiners, had to seek some other opening in life.

EIGHTEEN DIE IN FIERCE RACE RIOTS

News of Big Championship Battle Precipitates Trouble All Over Country.

WHOLE SOUTH IN A CHAOS

THREE ARE KILLED NEAR NEW ORLEANS — ONE DEAD AND MANY INJURED IN RIOT IN NEW YORK CITY.

(American News Service)
Chicago, July 5.—As a result of race riots and conflicts between the whites and blacks brought on by Johnson's defeat of Jeffries, a total of eighteen persons are dead and more than three hundred injured, many seriously. Most of the serious conflicts occurred in the southern states, according to today's reports. There were numerous riots in all large cities and in many smaller ones as well. One hundred arrests, principally blacks, were made at Louisville alone.

THREE AT NEW ORLEANS.
New Orleans, La., July 5.—Three negroes have been killed and a dozen whites and blacks seriously injured in riots in northern Louisiana, resulting from the Jeffries-Johnson fight, according to dispatches received here today. Fighting is general at many points.

RIOTING IN NEW YORK.
New York, July 5.—When Jack Johnson knocked out Jim Jeffries at Reno, 2,800 miles away, he started a wave of rioting in New York that kept the negro sections in turmoil throughout the night and past daylight this morning. Not until after dawn, when scores had been injured, one man killed, and a negro saved from lynching as he was strung up by a drunken crowd of whites, did the police, heavily reinforced restore quiet.

In twelve years no such scenes have been enacted in New York—not since the race war broke out on the west side and mobs chased negroes through the streets while police guns blazed. When the tally of the known victims was made today, it was declared by the authorities that several of the injured probably would die, besides George Crawford, a negro whose skull was crushed in lower Eighth avenue.
