

SMOKE NUISANCE TO BE TAKEN UP

Ordinance Regulating Firing
Will Be Introduced This Evening.

NEW OFFICE IS CREATED

IF ORDINANCE IS PASSED THERE
WILL BE A MUNICIPAL SMOKE
INSPECTOR—PERMITS FOR ALL FURNACES.

An ordinance to put an end to the smoke nuisance in Richmond will be presented at the meeting of council tonight. It provides that no "dense, black or gray smoke" shall be emitted from any chimneys in the city, and creates the office of smoke inspector and provides penalties for violation of its provisions.

After the passage of the ordinance permits must be taken out for the construction of furnaces. The smoke inspector, who will issue the permits, will be furnished with specifications and plans of all furnaces and the permit will not be issued without his approval of the specifications. He also will have supervision of tending of fires and the quality of coal or fuel used in the furnaces. In case of railroads violating the ordinance the general manager or superintendent is subject to fine. The owner, agent, lessee or occupant of buildings where the ordinance is violated are liable. The fine provided is from $10 to $100 with a jail sentence not to exceed six months.

Workings of Ordinance.
After an inspection of furnaces by the smoke inspector the owner will be notified how his furnace must be changed in order not to violate the ordinance. Three months time is given for rebuilding. If it is necessary to install stokers a period of six months is given.

When tubular boilers are built the period for the improvement is four months and in the case of water tubes the time is six months.

Many complaints have been made to council about the unsanitary condition in vogue in the west end of the city because of factory chimneys emitting great volumes of smoke. After discussion the matter was referred to the ordinance and franchise committee of council who after several months of work has modeled an ordinance. The ordinance is considered a complete one. It is similar to that of a number of Indiana cities. When up for consideration in council practically all the members approved an ordinance of this kind. It is not likely, however, it will be passed tonight.

Silk Culture in Italy.
About 500 A. D. Persian monks first brought silkworm eggs concealed in the head of a hollow staff to Constantinople. Thence silk culture spread into Greece. A little later conquest carried it to Sicily. From there to Italy it was but a step. Soil, climate, people, suited it. The industry took root, grew, thrived and continues to this day. The thrifty peasant manages to get silk and oil and wine from the same small holding. First he plants his mulberry trees, sixteen feet apart. Next he prunes the heads into a hollow cup and trains his vines all over them, and finally around the edge he sets a shelter of olive trees. So all seasons bring him labor and the reward of it.

DID YOU "BITE"

It is surprising how persons, particularly the women of the city, persist in "biting" on "bad bait" brought to their doors by numerous agents. Hardly a day passes that the "lady of the house" is not visited by one or more agents, persistent in selling some sort of wonderful invention or some kind of wonderful bargain. At present and for several weeks the town has been over run with agents selling Rogers Silverware, exhibiting as they say, a new pattern and "introducing it at a wonderful bargain price—a set of 26 pieces for only $12.50?" Inquiry reveals the fact that our leading jewelers, Jenkins & Co. sell this same identical outfit for $6.50. This is no special introductory sale rate, but the regular legitimate trade selling price. They also have 34 piece chests of knives, forks, spoons, etc., as low as $5.00. Don't be fooled into paying strangers two prices for goods you know nothing about, when your home dealers can sell you better goods for less money.

Have you trouble of any kind arising from a disordered stomach? Go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is positively guaranteed to cure you from heart burn, indigestion, etc.

Information Surprises Masons

Scandal at Spokane, Wash., Reveals Fact That a Fake Order Sells Degrees to Victims for a Small Sum.

(American News Service)

Spokane, Wash., July 18.—Investigations by Denton M. Crow, deputy prosecuting attorney of Spokane county, and Alexander Macdonald, a member of the city detective department, following the arrest here of Thomas Perrot of Seattle, state president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles in Washington, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses in bargaining to confer the degree of the Knights Templars in the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons for $60 has disclosed the fact that any of the degrees, from the first to the thirty-second in the alleged American and foreign Masonic orders, may be bought in the open market. Perrot's prices range from $35 for the blue lodge work to $175 for the more advanced degrees.

Major R. D. Gwydir, former Indian fighter and veteran of the Confederate army, now sidewalk inspector for the city of Spokane, and member of a local Masonic lodge, preferred the charge in the Spokane police court, where, after passing several hours in a cell, Perrot gave a bond of $500 for his appearance. Del Cary Smith, past worthy grand to president of the Eagles, who has been retained as counsel, says Perrot is a member in good standing of 12 secret and fraternal orders, adding that he holds a certificate signed by I. M. Howell, secretary of the state of Washington authorizing him to "do business" under the American Masonic Federation of Idaho, also that Perrot is an official of the American Federation of Masonic Lodges, incorporated under the laws of the state of Washington.

Documents found in an office occupied by Perrot show he is an agent for the Scottish Grand Council of Rites and is working here under the direction of A. E. Lucas of Tacoma, deputy grand master of Washington, while some of the stationery picked up in the raided quarters indicates that the "sixtieth" and the "ninetieth" degrees of Masonry were also dealt in by Perrot. The police found a ritual and a seal of the Order of the Scottish Grand Council of Rites and books and papers dealing with that organization.

S. Harry Rush, secretary of the Masonic Temple association of Spokane, said in an interview that no degrees conferred by the Idaho organization are recognized by the lodges in Spokane. "The Masonic order has no solicitors and it never solicits members," he added, "and it is not probable that Perrot has been authorized by any recognized body to sell the degrees."

Perrot declares he has the right to confer the first three degrees in Masonry by virtue of holding office in the American Federation of Masonic Lodges, saying also that the power to confer the degrees, from the fourth to the thirty-second, is vested by authority sent to him by the Scottish Rite Masonic Order of Scotland. He has been organizing Thistle Lodge No. 6 in Spokane and had applications from five men, each of whom paid $35 for membership.

"My arrest is the result of 'stool pigeon' work on the part of the Masons," Perrot said. "I expected it at the time I first met Major Gwydir, but I took his money, gave him a receipt and told him to call a few days later for the degrees. That would have given me time to ascertain if he is a member of the Masonic order in good standing and entitled to the work."

"This is not the first time I have had trouble. I have encountered opposition elsewhere, but the Masons learned it did no pay to fool with me. They will find the same thing in Spokane."

While officers of the Masonic lodges in Spokane decline to discuss the matter for publication it is known that an investigation is under way to ascertain if the credentials found among Perrot's effects are authenticated by any Masonic order in the world. Reports are also current that the arrest of Perrot is another brush in the battle between the American Masons and the western organizers of the Scottish Grand Lodge, but prominent Masons here deny there is any trouble among the recognized orders.

Richmond Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Richmond given below, you must come to this conclusion: the remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

Miss Sarah Hamilton, 27 North Ninth St., Richmond, Ind., says: "About eight years ago I began to suffer from acute pains in the small of my back, sometimes extending into my shoulders. I had an idea that my trouble was sciatic rheumatism, but finally after suffering for about two years, I found that my kidneys were diseased. I at once procured Doan's Kidney Pills at A. G. Lukens & Co's Drug Store and soon after I began their use, I noticed an improvement. I continued taking this remedy until I was free from my aches and pains and in much better health." (Statement given July 14, 1906).

On December 12, 1908, Miss Hamilton said: "I still believe that there is nothing as effective as Doan's Kidney Pills in relieving kidney trouble. I am just as willing to recommend this preparation now as I was two years ago."

MAN WHO WROTE OF MARITAL TROUBLES OF HARTJE AND WIFE EXPECTED TO MARRY
THE FAIR DIVORCEE.

Pittsburg, July 18.—After sitting in the game of hearts between Augustus Hartje, the multi-millionaire paper manufacturer, and his handsome wife Mary Kenny Scott Hartje, whose marital troubles have filled the columns of newspapers for the past five years with sensational disclosures, Charles Gillespie, a newspaper man, who was assigned to the story when the trouble first broke out, is expected to supplant the millionaire and become the husband of Mrs. Hartje.

According to the terms of divorce, agreed upon outside of court, Mrs. Hartje will receive from her husband the income from $100,000 during her life.

Mr. Gillespie recently retired from newspaper work and he is now said to be engaged in real estate business.

The divorce suit of Augustus Hartje who sought to be separated from his wife on the grounds of infidelity was one of the most stubbornly fought suits of its kind in the history of Pennsylvania. After repeated failures Mr. Hartje appealed his case to the supreme court, but there met with like result.

Mrs. Hartje had filed counter suit on similar grounds, and the hearing of this was postponed from time to time because of the failure of Mrs. Hartje to appear in court. Unexpectedly an agreement between the principals was secured by the attorneys, and Mrs. Hartje's attorneys insisted that she withdraw the graver charges and seek a divorce on the grounds of desertion alone. Mr. Hartje agreed not to oppose a divorce if sought on such grounds and the matter of financial settlement was readily agreed upon.

Mr. Hartje says he has heard of the arrangements for the marriage. Mrs. Hartje evades by saying, "I have had enough, anyway. Mr. Gillespie is a distant relative."

The first intimation that Mr. Gillespie's associates had of the affair came after nearly two years of the court proceedings, when Mrs. Hartje was in Florida, and Mr. Gillespie pleading ill-health, asked for leave of absence, and was supposed to be quietly recuperating somewhere in West Virginia.

Later his employers learned he had gone to Florida and joined Mrs. Hartje there.

Call Americans "Butters-In"

"Social Climbers" in London and Paris Disgust Foreigners and the Better Class of Fellow Countrymen.

BY LA VOYAGUEUSE.

Paris, July 18.—The "butter-in" is the latest name employed by the Americans in Paris and in London in describing those fellow men and women compatriots in the French and English capitals, who are otherwise known as social "climbers," and who are "breaking their necks" as the popular expression goes, to gain a foothold in and to be recognized by high society. The "butter-in" are often very nice people, quite as honest and respectable as those who possess no high falutin' social aspirations, but having been immensely successful in gathering the dollars at home at once become obsessed to be "taken up" by the aristocracy of England and France. Its all very ridiculous and tiresome to more soberminded and less ambitious Americans, who have no use for that sort of thing.

The latest "butter-in" in London is Mrs. Miller Graham, of Santa Barbara, Cal., who has made a social success in the English metropolis. Mrs. Graham's husband is very wealthy and not at all disinclined to see his estimable wife "butter-in" on the aristocracy "to beat the band," so she arranged months ago to go to London, accompanied by Mr. Graham, where she engaged a handsome house in one of the most fashionable parts of the city. But alas, for the social plans, well laid, which went astray to an extent, for while it had been arranged that Mrs. Graham should be presented at the King Edward, who was always graciously inclined to enormously rich Americans, would give his approval to her being received in high society, his untimely death changed these plans. The Graham "pull" was strong, however,—so powerful that the Gramahs succeeded in being given a place in the Royal box of King George, which was also occupied by well known members of the British aristocracy. So you see, that to be successful "butter-in" you must not alone have dollars and ambition, but perseverance as well.

While many Americans at home are fond of restaurant living, particularly in the large cities, yet they are as babes in swaddling clothes compared with the number of Parisians who prefer to dine where they can see and be seen rather than in the privacy of their homes.

Here everyone who is anyone dines in restaurants at least two or three times each week. There are fads in restaurants as well as in other things. The latest is an eating place of high class, which has just been opened at Bellevue, a suburb of Paris, on the Seine, where much of the romance in the life of Madame Steinheil—that woman of mystery and murder—took place. It is a twenty minute motor run from the heart of Paris, although many people go there by the cute little boats that ply up and down the river. The ascent to the restaurant which stands high on the hill, is made from the river bank by means of a cable railroad. It is decidedly the thing to dine there at present, view the panorama that is spread out before you.

Guarded His Beard.
As Sir Thomas More held his head on the block he begged the executioner to wait a moment while he carefully placed his beard out of reach of the ax, for, he said, "it hath not committed treason," which reminds one of the story of Simon Lord Lovat, who the day before his execution on Tower hill bade the operator who shaved him be cautious not to cut his throat, as such an accident would cause disappointment to the gawking crowd on the morrow.—English Magazine.

Small Audience.
Racon—Did you say the professor always counts ten before he speaks? Egbert—No; he only counted eight at yesterday's lecture.—Yonkers Statesman.

His Proof.
Mrs. Youngwife—What have you ever done to prove your love for me? Mr. Youngwife—Darling, I've contracted a lovely case of chronic dyspepsia.

Remember you must die. Let this not startle you, but let it soften you while there is yet time to do some good in the world.

WENT TO CUPBOARD TO GET THE COIN BUT IT WAS BARE

"and they wanted to leave us in a hole. If they had got in they would have borrowed a little money, raised the tax and patched things over and manage to get out. Their big 'blow' about lowering the tax rate was campaign material." Dr. Zimmerman said if the Richmond papers had any nerve they would "go after the democrats right." "They made a mighty poor showing and showed themselves poor business men," concluded the mayor. Inasmuch as coal was purchased at the beginning of the year to hold over until the warm weather, as the last administration did not buy enough, the present officials must pay for a year and a half's coal. $500 was appropriated for coal by the Schillinger administration and $100 of this transferred to another fund. The appropriation for public building coal was all used for paying for the city building coal. After a number of other similar facts regarding the last administration was brought out by the board the mayor said, "They never will get in again."

It was decided to lay the improvement of Center street over until next year, because City Engineer Charles stated a sewer might be built there soon. The resident property owners petitioned for graveling and grading the roadway and cement curb and gutter from Third to Fifth street.

The bond of the Richmond Coal company was approved. It was for $500, furnished by B. F. Drischel and George H. Eggemeyer. This company has the contract for furnishing the public buildings, hose houses and pest house with coal. A number of other routine matters were settled.

The bad condition of North Tenth street from the railroad to North F street was reported by the mayor. The mayor said it was the worst street in town. It will probably be picked and rolled with the street roller as soon as the South A street improvement is made. The condition of West Main from Second to Fifth streets will also be remedied. It was proposed to pave North Tenth street next year.

Honest Praise.
An honest compliment was that paid to M. de Vendome who, while commanding the French army in Italy, dispatched a young nobleman to announce to his master the victory which he had gained at Suzzara. The latter while attempting to describe the battle became several times much confused in his narrative, when, although the king preserved his gravity, the Duchess of Burgundy, who was present, laughed so heartily that at last the young gentleman said, "Sire, it is easier for M. de Vendome to win a battle than for me to describe it."

The Sunrise Of Life.
Infants and children are constantly needing a laxative. It is important to know what to give them. Their stomachs and bowels are not strong enough for salts, purgative waters or cathartics. Parents of babies. Give them a mild, pleasant, gentle, laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which sells at the small sum of 50 cents or $1 at drug stores. It is the one great remedy for you to have in the house to give children when they need it.
