

CAMBRIDGE CITY SPRUNG "RINGER"

Trotted Out Jesse Tannehill and Union City Was Simply Mowed Down.

PITCHER A LEAGUE STAR

PRIOR TO THE GAME, UNION CITY
FANS, INNOCENT OF ENEMY'S PLANS, TOOK ON ALL BETS AND LOST.

About the only person that can dally with the dope and get away with it is a Chinaman, and a majority of them receive an untimely calling to their ancestors. And of all the dope now on the market about the most unreliable is the baseball variety.

There are a few local fanatics who, today, financially realize this fact and when you say "Jesse" in their presence they emit low moans and retire to secluded spots.

All of which means that the parties referred to attended the Cambridge City-Union City game yesterday, at Union City and were foolish enough to bet against the Cambridge Grays.

When certain Cambridge individuals wandered through the grandstand prior to the game, displaying large bundles of hoolie the local Union City bugs produced their rolls and covered the Cambridge City money. The Richmond fans, remembering that the Union City outfit had defeated the Grand Rapids Central league team 2 to 0, joined in the stampede for the Cambridge City wealth. Then came the awakening.

A Crafty Individual.
A cool, crafty and cruel individual entered the pitchers box for Cambridge and promptly proceeded to display such an amazing delivery that the Union City sluggers stood petrified. They smote, for nine long innings, at the ball, occasionally rolling it gently along Mother Earth or hoisting modest, maiden-like flies, but mostly locating nothing but the atmosphere. When the terrible massacre was over the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of Cambridge City, the sporting fraternity of Union City was degraded of worldly goods and the local fanatics were financially crippled.

It was long about the seventh inning the Union City fans and their Richmond allies, awake from their trance and inquired as to who the whirling working for Cambridge was.

"Jesse Tannehill, formerly of the Pittsburghs and now of the Minneapolis American Association team," responded a Cambridge City bug with a hoarse chuckle, said bug having hoolies of currency sticking out of his pockets, shoe tops and shirt front.

START MATCH PLAY

(American News Service)
New York, July 23.—Interest among golfers in the metropolitan district this week will center on the Salisbury links near Garden City, where the annual championship tournament of the Eastern Professional Golfers' association will start tomorrow. The association voted this year to change from medal to match play. Contestants will qualify in an eighteen hole stroke round and then fight it out in flights of eight, according to the merits of their scores. Because nearly all the tournaments in which professionals take part are decided according to the monotonous medal play system the tournament at Garden City promises to be of more than ordinary interest.

TO BE GOOD RACING

(American News Service)
Kalamazoo, Mich., July 23.—Quar-tered at the beautiful racing plant at Recreation park are scores of trotters and pacers who are to furnish the sport that marks the first link of the grand circuit the opening of which is set for today, to continue until the end of the week. It is the first time in nearly a century that the circuit has held its inaugural meet outside of Detroit. The program here is a splendid one, made up of twenty events, but chief interest centers in the $10,000 Paper Mill purse for 2:11 trotters and the Hickman Hotel purse of $5,000 for 2:13 pacers.

A GOLF TOURNAMENT

(American News Service)
Minneapolis, Minn., July 23.—The biggest events in the golfing world in the northwest this year began on the links of the Minikanda Country club today and will continue through the week. This is the twelfth annual tournament for the amateur championship of the Western Golf association. The number and prominence of the entries, including well known amateurs from nearly a dozen states, are sufficient to insure the success of the tournament.

SHOOT IN DEFENSE.

"If it is defense-shoot," is the advice of the state fish and game warden to his deputies. The counsel comes as the result of the shooting of A. M. Giffin of Jasper county when arresting James Haynes a few days ago.

Two Hunters Fate Revealed In Dairy Just Discovered

Spokane, Wash., July 23.—Two drawnup, blackened bodies in the bunks and a few notations in a diary tell the fate of George C. Dorman and Clayton Shoecraft, trappers and hunters, in a lone cabin in the heart of the Bitter Root mountain wilds, about 150 miles southeast of Spokane. The news of their fate was brought here today by a member of the party which went in search of them.

The two men went into the Black Lead district on Cayuse creek last fall with traps, equipped and provisions for a stay of nine months. When they failed to come out this summer a rescue party was organized last week at Lewiston, Idaho, and after a long search the relief crew, headed by L. F. Williams found the bodies of the men, who succumbed to rheumatism and scurvy.

Dorman's diary, found by his side in the bunk, tells its own story in these words, inscribed with a stubby lead pencil:

"February 21—Do not feel well at all."
"February 22—Both of us badly troubled with rheumatism."
"March 6—Can hardly get around for rheumatism."
"March 11—I walked some on the bank next to the river then back to the cabin. My ankles hurt so I could hardly get back. This pain is fierce all over me. Clay (Shoecraft) thinks we have the scurvy."
"March 13—Clay in bed most all the day with cramps in his legs and cold chills all over him."
"March 15—Cut some wood. Walked to the river and back. Clay in bed again and I am worse. Can hardly get around. We are certainly ill."
"March 17—Clay had to crawl on his hands and knees to table and back again."
"March 18—Pains in my back and legs are fierce. Clay has to crawl. It's fierce!"
"March 20—Clay is still crawling. We are both getting worse."
"March 22—We can scarcely move."
"March 23—Clay cannot move."
"March 24—Clay can't get out of bed. I feed him in bed, but it is little he eats. He is worse than I am. Oh, this is awful."
"March 26—I can hardly move."
"March 27—It's awful."
"March 28—I can scarcely move at all."
"March 29—Worse."
The final entry is believed to have been the closing chapter of the suffering of the two men isolated in the heart of the Bitter Roots.

Dorman wrote in the diary that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dorman, live at Richmond, Kan. Little is known of Shoecraft, though miners in the Black Lead district recall having heard him say he owned a home-stead near Sandpoint, Idaho.

Mr. Williams and the officials of Lewiston are making efforts to locate the relatives of the two men.

JEFFRIES NOT TO FIGHT A. KAUFMAN

Former Champion Nails That Story by Making Blunt Statement.

IS SILENT AS TO JOHNSON

WILL NOT SAY WHETHER HE WANTS TO MEET NEGRO AGAIN
SAYS THAT HE DESIRES TO BE
"LEFT ALONE."

(American News Service)
Los Angeles, Cal., July 23.—If James J. Jeffries ever dons a glove again it will not be in a hurry. The former unbeaten champion is still downcast over his defeat by Johnson and has little to say regarding his future. He did, however, state that he would not fight Kaufman in Philadelphia. "I won't fight Al Kaufman in Philadelphia on Labor Day. About another fight with Jack Johnson I have nothing to say. I want to be let alone, that's all."

The decisive statement by Jim Jeffries today would seem to indicate that the big fellow is not going to mix up in the boxing game again soon. Jeff returned from a weeks' stay at Catalina Island, where in company with Tex Rickard and Jack Kilper he has been enjoying a short vacation putting in all his time fishing.

Billy McCarney's telegram offering him $200,000 to meet Al Kaufman in a six round no decision go at Philadelphia on next Labor Day was read to Jeffries.

"If you get any more telegrams offering me fights you just go ahead and answer them 'Nothing doing,' without consulting me. I don't want to talk fight," was the added announcement of the former fighter.

"There was something the matter with me. They sure did something to me and it will come out some day," continued Jeffries. The word "drugs" he did not use, but the deliberate mind of the big giant which has been slowly recuperating from the agony of defeat had come to that conclusion. He did not offer it as an excuse for his failure; he was simply thinking aloud, explaining it to himself.

CHAUTAUQUA WILL ECLIPSE OTHERS

Plat of Grounds Will Be Open to the Campers the Middle of August.

COULD USE MORE SPACE

ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN STARTED AND IT IS EX-PECTED THERE WILL BE IM-MENSE CROWDS ATTEND.

From present indications the 1910 Chautauqua to be held from August 26 to September 4 at Glen Miller park, will have a larger attendance than any of the seven preceding Chautauquas. Advertising was started last week in Wayne county and surrounding country. Secretary Goodwin says the ground at the disposal of the association will not be sufficient to meet the demands of the campers but it is impossible to enlarge it. The plat of the grounds will be open to old campers from August 8 to 13, and to the public August 15. The grounds will be ready for campers August 22.

Wayne county teachers institute will be held in the Chautauqua tent August 29 to September 2. Among the lecturers at the institute will be Dr. Charles G. Shaw, professor of philosophy in New York university; Miss Ethelyn Miller, art supervisor of Horace Mann Elementary school, Columbia university, New York; Dr. W. F. Barr, of Drake university; Miss Ella A. Rothe, an educator of Cincinnati, and Miss Zoe Pearl of Shelbyville, Ill., a well known musical director.

On the regular Chautauqua platform are Richard Yates, governor of Illinois, a statesman, orator and political leader; E. W. Hoch, governor of Kansas; Captain Richmond P. Hobson; Judge Ben B. Lindsey, whose work in the juvenile court in Denver has made him a national figure; Homer T. Wilson, national chairman of the Travelers' Protective association, and Nat Brigham of Kentucky.

In music the program is also strong. The companies are the Orpheum musical club, the Hinsaw Grand Opera quartet, one of the best of its kind on the Chautauqua platforms, the Chicago Glee club, the Real quartet, a negro organization, and the Greenwood Juvenile Military band, which will have its headquarters at the Boys' City.

ARE TO SELL STOCK

Men Who Bought Up Natural
Gas Stock Will Have a
Sale Wednesday.

IS A LEGAL REQUIREMENT

Richmond's cheap cooking fuel, it is believed in many quarters of the city is nearing the time when obituaries will be written about it. Henry C. Starr, Mr. Hooven of Anderson, and J. G. Goodrich of Winchester, who recently took over the Richmond Natural Gas company will offer the stock for open sale Wednesday. It is believed that this move is merely a legal requirement whereby the present holders come in absolute ownership of the concern.

Business men of the city believe that instead of 35 cent gas the long dreaded 1¢ vapor will be puffing through their pipes very soon. Rumors that natural gas from the south would be piped into the city have received no further verification. No apparent work on the laying of feed pipes beyond Hamilton, O., has been done.

The situation, in the minds of several seems to resolve itself into one of two propositions—either the Standard Oil interests will take over the property, or the Light, Heat and Power company will take it in.

Wooded, Won, Wed in One Day And then Spouse Loses Bride

Washington, July 23.—Wooded, won, wedded and parted all between the dusk of one day and the dawn of the next is the speed record achieved by the wife of Arthur D. Thomas of this city an employee of the Pennsylvania railroad, aged 26. She was Rena G. Jewell, a pretty North Carolina girl, who came to Washington Thursday under the chaperonage of her mother.

Miss Jewell and her mother stayed with relatives who keep a boarding house. Thomas was one of her boarders. It was a case of love at first sight. Thomas confesses that he knew he was a "goner" as soon as he noted the graceful turn of Miss Jewell's wrist when she passed the prunes.

Last night Thomas suggested to Miss Jewell that they go to Luna park and she assented. They took with them Mrs. Mar'orie Daly, ostensibly as chaperone.

Rockville, Md., is another Gretna Green, and thither Miss Jewell, Mrs. Daly and Thomas wended their way in a dilapidated taxicab which arrived at the little Maryland town at 2 a. m., after numerous accidents.

They rang up the county clerk and obtained a license. Then they routed out a clergyman, who performed the ceremony. The taxicab wheeled back to Washington, arriving about the same time as does the milkman and the newspaper carrier.

On the front steps of the boarding house sat Mrs. Jewell and two of Miss Jewell's uncles, wearied with a night of vigil. Mrs. Jewell was on the verge of hysterics, but Miss Jewell's Uncle John, who is a member of the Washington police force was full of fight.

Uncle John, whose full name is John A. Edwards, reached into the vehicle and seized the newly made husband by the neck. He lifted him to the sidewalk and started to choke some of the romance out of him.

Mrs. Thomas nee Jewell, fainted and Mrs. Daly retreated to a neighboring house.

"Uncle John" finally let loose his hold on Thomas' neck. Mrs. Jewell then packed her trunk, led her daughter off to the union station and they are speeding home to explain matters to pap Jewell.

Before she departed Mrs. Jewell declined to say if she would ever permit her daughter to live with her new husband.

TWO MEN EXECUTED AT OSSINING N. Y.

But a Single Shock Needed to Kill Both Men, Which Is a Record.

ONE CARRIED CRUCIFIX

AND CHANTED A PRAYER AS HE WAS STRAPPED TO THE CHAIR
—EXECUTION WAS CALLED A
"SUCCESSFUL ONE."

(American News Service)
Ossining, N. Y., July 23.—A double electrocution, which broke all records in that but a single shock was needed to kill each man, was performed at Sing Sing prison this morning. The criminals executed were Carl Loose and Giuseppe Gambardo.

Loose died as the current had been turned on one minute and four seconds, and the other in 57 seconds, making an average of 1 minute and a half a second for both.

Each man died for killing a relative. Loose, on November 24, 1908 in New York City, shot his daughter to death, wounded his son, the Rev. Wm. Loose and attempted to kill himself.

Gambardo shot his brother, Vincenzo, on February 8, 1909, in New York because he believed Vincenzo had caused his dismissal from a glass factory of which the brother was foreman. A younger brother, Francesco, who testified against Giuseppe, was threatened with death in the court room by a mysterious emissary.

Loose Died First.

Loose died first. He entered the death chamber at 5:47:15 a. m., with the Rev. S. E. Jones, prison chaplain, and the Rev. Otto Graesser of New York.

He was pronounced dead at 5:50:30. Carrying a little crucifix, Gambardo went in at 5:54:10. With him was Rev. C. V. Mahoney, the Catholic chaplain, and the Rev. A. Scialla of New York. He chanted a prayer as he was strapped into the chair.

Prof. Copelin of Philadelphia, assisted at the autopsies. The verdict of the medical men present was that the affair was a "most successful execution."

FINNEY IS BURIED

Former Richmond Man and
Veteran of the Civil War
Laid to Rest.

HE DIED IN CALIFORNIA

Major Joel J. Finney, 81, one of Indiana's war men, was buried this afternoon in Earlham cemetery after family services at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Cammell, East Main street. The body arrived in the city this morning from Fresno, Cal., where Major Finney had been living with his youngest daughter, Mrs. Ida Mackrill.

Although Major Finney has not lived in Indiana for a number of years it was his wish that he be buried in the state to which he offered his allegiance during the rebellion.

He was born near Lockport, N. Y., October 3, 1829, and shortly afterward was brought by his parents to Middletown, O. After the death of his parents in 1849, Major Finney moved to Eaton, O., where in 1855 he married Miss Sarah Long.

Within a short time after his marriage, Major Finney moved to Richmond. To this union were born Mrs. Cora Jones, Denver; Mrs. Ida Mackrill, Fresno, Cal.; and Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell, Richmond.

Following the death of Mrs. Finney, June 1, 1900, in Washington, D. C., where the family had gone to live, Major Finney made his home in California.

At the outbreak of the rebellion, Mr. Finney enlisted in the 57th Infantry of Indiana as first lieutenant of Company B. Later he was transferred to the 124th regiment as major, where he completed his service.
