Music

FEW MUSICAL EVENTS.

With the summer season continuing so warm there is not much doing in musical circles although, as great events cast their shadows before, there is a rainbow of promise of an unusually interesting season ahead. A number of charming concerts will soon be arranged for by various managers who have representatives in this city.

TO DIRECT CHOR.

MUSIC AT CHURCH.

Special music will be furnished by the choir this morning at the First Christian church by the choir under the direction of Mr. Robert Wilson. Mrs. Wilson will preside at the organ. There will be no evening service.

A WORD ABOUT MUSIC.

The music loving stranger who visits New York at this season of the year finds the Metropolitan and the Manhattan opera houses closed, learns that the song birds of renown have flown to Europe and Australia, and that New York has settled down to enjoy what is termed "popular music." Grand opera is forgotten and laid upon the shelf.

It is a rare treat to visit theaters such as Hammerstein's, the American, the Plaza, Proctor's and Percy Williams' various vaudeville houses during the summer and hear the large audience "en masse" join in the chorus of some popular song. There are quite a number that have caught the fancy of the public, all compositions of American authors and composers.

One of the most popular at present is introduced in "The Yankee Girl" at the Herald Square theater, by that popular, jolly, sweet singer, Blanche

Panel Found in Egypt Tells Of the Siege of Jerusalem

(American News Service)

Cairo, July 30.—A record of very great interest concerning the celebrated siege of Jerusalem by Vespasian's army, under the command of Titus, has been discovered in Upper Egypt, consisting of a wooden panel, with raised borders, or frame bearing a Latin inscription of some fifty lines of which thirty-seven are still perfectly legible. Apart from its historical importance this relic, with the exception of the tablets found at Pampeli, containing some accounts of a banker there, is the most valuable specimen of Roman calligraphy extant. The contents of the text, however, are what will be considered the chief result of this acquisition, because they embody the formal enregistrement of the discharge, after long active service under the eagles, of a veteran, who, as one of the tenth Fretensis Legion, had taken a distinguished part in the Jewish campaign and was present at the investment and sack of Jerusalem, that city, Kiersolyma, being mentioned.

NEW SONGS.

It is expected that several new songs will soon be published.

PRaises MISS ROBIE.

The following clipping from a Petoskey paper is of interest to friends here:

"In June" is the title of the new song which has just been published in New York over the name of Bertha Grace Robie. The aria, written in the double waltz movement, has the dainty lilting swing of the music of the June song birds, and the poem is one of Miss Robie's most exquisite compositions. Both words and music are by this talented writer, who has chosen Petoskey as her summer home.

Miss Robie is a daughter of Col. Robie, of Richmond, Ind., and has been one of the best known and most popular summer visitors at Petoskey since her first visit here when a little girl.

ABOUT JANET SPENCER.

A communication from Janet Spencer to the Musical Courier states that the popular American contralto is resting in Bavaria for a few weeks. Since her last London concert she has been enjoying a real vacation motoring through England and visiting friends in Switzerland.

WEEK VERY QUIET.

The following from Chicago sent to the Musical Courier and published in the past week's edition is of interest to local musicians:

The past week has been unusually quiet in the Chicago musical field. Most of the artists are out of town, and those who are in the city are not doing anything of note. The Theodore Thomas Orchestra is at Ravinia Park, and judging from its Wagner program given during the week, it would seem as though the orchestra needs a rest in order to recuperate from its constant duties. The exodus of professionals this week has been the greatest since the beginning of the summer vacation. Catalogs and prospectuses have been sent out by all the schools and studios, most of which are similar to last year, and do not need to be reviewed.

cease. Many Roman military diplomats, somewhat similar to this one, have been found, but for some special reason the new document is more lengthy, containing many names of consuls and officials, and a fuller text and is also attested by the names of nine witnesses. Moreover it describes that the three children of Quadratus, who were all born during his military service, and therefore at a time when he could not be legally married, were accorded the valued right of Roman citizenship as if born in true wedlock. Other memorial inscriptions have been found of officers who took part in the famous Palestine campaign, usually styled therein the "Bellum Judaeum," but this is the first authentic contemporary document emanating from a soldier actually engaged in the siege of Jerusalem and referring to that event thus confirming the statements of Josephus and the classic historians.

SUSTAINS A DEFEAT

Canvass of Texas Returns Shows Prohibition Was Given Black Eye.

THE STAND OF COLQUITT

(Palladium Special)

San Antonio, Tex., July 30.—With Johnson and Poindexter having together not quite as many votes as Oscar Branch Colquitt, the anti-prohibition democratic nominee for governor of Texas, prohibition in this state has sustained a defeat that amounts to practically a rout. To say that the returns from the primary polls have proven a surprise to everybody is but half stating the case. Final counts show that Colquitt and Davidson got three votes for every two given Johnson and Poindexter. The latter two ran a neck and neck race on a strict prohibition platform with only the Bailey issue between them, while Colquitt and Davidson divided on the anti-prohibition issue with the latter favoring submission.

HORD SANITARIUM, Shelbyville, Indiana

It is believed that it was Colquitt's uncompromising and unflinching stand that gave him what amounts to a majority over the other three candidates. Briefly put his platform was an open deft to prohibition. He did not even go to the trouble of advocating a closer regulation of the liquor traffic, claiming that the laws now on the statute books, if enforced, would take care of the saloon. Submission he wanted none on the ground that the prohibition question existed mainly in the minds of certain reformers and politicians and that the people of the state were quite willing to leave well enough alone. His stand on the development of the state through letting down the barriers to outside capital also earned him many friends, so many in fact as to cause his opposition to call him a republican in spirit.

In the light of the present situation Colquitt will be elected governor of Texas by a large majority no matter what steps the prohibition forces may take. So far it is not known whether the prohibition camp will throw its support to either Poindexter or Johnson, but the impression prevails that the latter will be given the prohibition run next November, when the much of a stand he will make then is hard to foresee, but in view of the demerits he will not be able to shake the position of Colquitt, all the less so because his opponent will then have the support of the democratic state machine.
