HISTORY OF COUNTY

Memoirs of Wayne county and Richmond from their settlement down to the present will be published within the next year by the Western Historical society if enough subscriptions are obtained in the county. Canvasers for the company are now working throughout the county and over two hundred subscriptions have already been secured. Four hundred are required.

Judge Henry C. Fox, of the Wayne circuit court, will be editor-in-chief of the manuscript, and the editors for special chapters will be as follows: John B. Dougan, banking and finance; Robert L. Kelly, education; Dr. Chas. S. Bond, medical history; W. D. Foulke, literature and journalism; Edward Y. Teas, horticulture and Walter S. Commons, agriculture.

The special occasion for the work is the centennial celebration of Wayne county to be celebrated this fall. In addition to the historical and literary occurrences considerable space will be devoted to family histories and personal sketches of men, who, by their activities in various lines, have contributed to the progress of the community.
