

PRINCESS THINKS DUKE IS LIVING

Louise of Belgium Says Arch-Duke Johann of Austria Is Not Dead.

THOUGHT TO BE DROWNED

SHE THINKS HE IS LIVING WITH THE WOMAN HE LOVES AND HAS NO DESIRE TO RESUME HIS ROYAL HONORS.

(American News Service)
Paris, Aug. 13.—Princess Louise of Belgium is another member of European royalty who does not believe that the Archduke Johann Salvator of Austria is dead.

The archduke disappeared mysteriously twenty years ago, and although it was believed that he was drowned in the wreck of the Santa Margherita, a sailing vessel many stories have been current in recent years regarding his alleged survival of the wreck and his subsequent life in South America. "If he keeps secret the place of his retreat," said Princess Louise, "it is because he no longer has any affection on earth apart from the woman who shares his exile."

"The last time I saw him was at the Castle of Luxembourg with the Archduke Rudolf, the late crown prince, who committed suicide."

He was just about to leave Europe after publishing the pamphlet in which he bitterly criticized the Hungarian army. The emperor had already deprived him of his military authority.

"I want no money," he said to the crown prince at lunch that day, when the latter intimated that he might yet regain the imperial favor.

No Room for Him.

"There was no room for a prince with his ideas in Austria, and he spoke to us of the new life which he wished to create for himself in another part of the world. He wished to live and think freely. Neither my sister Stephanie nor myself ever saw him again."

The mystery of the missing Archduke Johann Salvator has been revived by the statement of two witnesses who have come forward to testify to having seen him in South America. Application was recently made in the high chamberlain's court in Vienna for the registration of the death of the archduke, and the question of his disappearance twenty years ago was thus reopened.

He purchased the Margherita, an iron sailing vessel of 1,300 tons and sailed in her from Chatham with a cargo of cement for South America. The vessel arrived safely at Buenos Ayres, but after sailing from that port on July 12, 1890, ballasted with sand, for Valparaiso, was never heard from again.

An engineer named Reneaux who came forward recently asserts that he met "Orth" in Buenos Ayres, and with him saw the Santa Margherita leave the port. "Orth" had apparently settled on an estate in the disputed zone between Chile and Argentina.

M. Lecointe, who commanded the Pelagic in her Antarctic expedition in 1890, is the other witness who believes that he has seen Johann Orth after the date of his supposed disappearance. While traveling in the interior of South America M. Lecointe found a solitary European, apparently an Austrian or German, living on the slopes of the Andes, with his horses and dogs. He spoke many languages and was a person of distinction.

TO BE TRIED AGAIN

(American News Service.)

Columbus, O., Aug. 13.—When Chas. Clayton, alias Riley Price, is released from the Ohio state penitentiary here next Tuesday he will have little chance to enjoy his freedom, for a requisition has been granted for his return to Illinois to answer for a murder committed fifteen years ago. Clayton is now completing a four-year sentence for horse stealing in Franklin county. Some time after his arrival at the prison here he confessed to the authorities that he had committed a murder in Illinois many years ago and wanted to be tried for the crime in order that his conscience might be eased.

The crime in Illinois had been all but forgotten when a search of the records following Clayton's confession again brought the particulars to light. The victim of the murder was Clayton's sweetheart, a young lady belonging to an estimable family. Following a lovers' quarrel Clayton lured the girl to the woods, beat her to death with a club, according to his own confession, and then hid the remains in an abandoned well.

A FLORIST MEETING

A number of Indiana florists are preparing to attend the annual convention of the Society of American Florists and Decorative Horticulturists, which is to be held soon at Rochester, New York. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Gause and Charles Knapp, prominent local florists.

Several hundred Indiana people will attend the meeting, which is to be one of the largest in the history of the association. There are several important matters to be brought up this year, including a change in the by-laws and constitution and also in the time of meeting. It is said the exhibits will be the most beautiful ever held in connection with a convention of florists in the United States. The society is the largest of the kind in the world.

(American News Service.)

Hoboken, N. J., Aug. 13.—The noon bulletin today on Mayor Gaynor's condition stated he passed a comfortable morning and has taken sufficient nourishment and is steadily gaining in strength. His temperature, respiration and pulse are satisfactory. Mayor Gaynor slept eight hours during the night, six of which were unbroken.

James Gallagher, Gaynor's assailant, had a conference with his lawyer this morning. Gallagher opposes an insanity defense and claims he fully realized the enormity of the crime and the consequences.

CASE IS CONFUSING

Somewhat confusing were the issues which were offered in the case of B. A. Kennepohl against Maria A. Gregory and others for ejectment, possession of real estate and $200 damages in the circuit court this morning. Judge Fox took the matter under advisement. Kennepohl claims that he is entitled to an irregular piece of property which is occupied by the defendants.

TWO ARE ENJOINED

George B. Harris and John M. Jarrett of Fountain City were both enjoined from conveying or encumbering their property this morning by Judge Fox of the circuit court on petition of the Fountain Bank of Fountain City. The bank claims that the defendants owe it about $2,100, this amount it being alleged was overpaid to them when they withdrew their deposits from the banking house. The injunction will stand until the final determination of the suit against Harris and Jarrett.

The Athletics have purchased Al Bonner, an eighteen-year-old pitcher, from the Spokane, Wash., club.

Houston fans have $3,000 all ready to hand to the Houston players if they cop the Texas league pennant.

It's tough luck for Bill Dahlen that the St. Louis Cardinals don't play 36 or 48 straight games in Brooklyn.

Shortstop Priest, who is touted as a wonder in the Virginia league, has been sold by Danville to the New York Americans.

The Cleveland club has asked for waivers on Neal Ball, the first American league player to make a triple play unassisted.

Russell Ford, the Highlander pitcher, has slapped the crusher on all the American league teams except Detroit. The Tigers have Ford's number in their book.

Seven players of the Kewanee Central association team went out on a sympathetic strike recently when Manager Connors resigned. Up to the time of going to Press the Illinois state militia had not been ordered to report at Kewanee.

BUSINESS AFFAIRS TO BE CONSIDERED

Will Receive Much Attention at the St. Paul Conservation Congress.

W. D. SIMMONS A SPEAKER

HE IS A ST. LOUIS MAN AND HEAD OF LARGEST HARDWARE FIRM IN AMERICA—A REPORT ON RAILROADS.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 13.—The business interests of the United States are to be well represented in the second National Conservation Congress in St. Paul, September 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. Considerable interest attaches to this portion of the program as valuable data is likely to come from the addresses to be delivered by some of the foremost men in the nation's commercial life.

Wallace D. Simmons, head of the Simmons Hardware company of St. Louis, the largest concern of the kind in the world is to be one of the speakers. The subject, "Our Resources the Basis for Business," has been assigned Mr. Simmons for discussion. Mr. Simmons is vitally interested in the supply of steel, iron, copper and other metals as well as the wood obtained from the forests and it is understood at headquarters in St. Paul that he will handle his subject in a way that will appeal to every business man.

Another of the speakers who is expected to deliver an address that will interest the commercial interests is Alfred L. Baker, of the Chicago Board of Trade. Mr. Baker is to talk on "The Stake the Business Man has in Conservation." This address, it is known, is to be a practical talk on the great question of conservation. Mr. Baker is chairman of the Chicago committee.

Reports from the conservation committee of fifty national organizations, among them the American Railway and Maintenance of Way association, are to be made to the congress. This railway organization is particularly interested in the saving of timber for fuel, the coal, iron and steel supplies and its report is sure to be of interest. Already the forest service and the geological survey departments of the government have lent valuable aid to the railroads.

Each college, university, agricultural school and experiment station is entitled to representation by its president and two delegates and this section of the program promises to be interesting. John Hope, president of the Atlanta Baptist college, Dr. Francis E. McVey, president of the University of South Dakota and Dr. George F. Swain of Harvard university are among those who will speak.

OSTRANDER ESTATE.

Mrs. Susannah R. Ostrander, administratrix of the estate of the late Maj. James S. Ostrander, a former mayor of the city, who died last year, filed final settlement report in the estate today in probate court. The report shows that the administratrix was charged with $1,181.50. There was no balance as the credits were used in meeting debts and distribution among the heirs.

WANTS HIS SUPPORT

Rather than ask a divorce Carrie L. Sharp petitioned Judge Fox of the circuit court to compel her husband, William, to support her, although she admits that they are separated. In the action for support which was filed this morning she jointly named the Dickinson Trust company as defendant with her husband and the Trust company was enjoined from disposing of $200 which William Sharp has on deposit there until the case is finally determined.

The Sharp woman avers in the complaint that her husband has been cruel and inhuman in his treatment and that on August 4 and 5 he threatened her life. On the occasion he threw her on the floor at her home and pulled a razor, she alleges. She left him on the alleged repetition of the attack on August 5. They were married July 30, 1908. He is a pressman and works at the J. M. Coe Printing company.

IN PROBATE COURT

J. Debar and Company, wholesale liquor dealers of Cincinnati, have filed a claim of $116.25 against the estate of the late Matthew Shew of Cambridge City.

In the final report of Thomas J. Adelman, commissioner in the probate matter of the sale of real estate in the case of Lizzie Harvey against Louisa T. Wiggs and others he shows that $319.00 was distributed to twenty-seven heirs, and $159.90 to two other heirs. The total amount distributed was $478.90.

J. Elmer Rhodes, administrator of the estate of Mary Anne Elliott, deceased, has filed final report showing that he was charged with $515.10, and after debts were paid distributed $192.78 among the heirs.

The total value of the property of the late William Patterson is shown to have been $647.90 in the final report of the administrator W. C. Converse.

There is no medicine so safe and so effective as the one which cures the disease at its source, the positive cure for all diseases arising from a weak stomach. The price is very small—50c and 10c.

TWO ACTORS BROKE

DENIED TRANSPORTATION

So near "broke" that they couldn't even ride out of the city or get anything to eat, two of the actors who had accepted positions with the "Texas Steer Stock Company," organized by William Hoyt of this city, appeared at the office of Wayne township trustee, James Howarth, yesterday, and asked for aid. One wanted transportation to Terre Haute and the other to Indianapolis, also something to eat.

Being able bodied the trustee felt in no position to aid them; and they being professional actors were opposed to work. Nothing has been learned from Hoyt since he went to Indianapolis and telephoned back to his actors that he had been robbed of the funds which had been given him to purchase costumes. No action has been filed against him and the police anticipate nothing of the sort.

HAD REAL ROMANCE

Richmond Young Man and Greensfork Girl Elope to Cincinnati.

MARRIED IN THAT CITY

(Palladium Special)

Greensfork, Ind., Aug. 13.—An elopement case in which Miss Mary M. Brooks, daughter of Davis Brooks, was one of the principals, took place here Wednesday night. Miss Brooks is one of the most prominent young women of this part of the county. According to yesterday's Cincinnati Enquirer, Miss Brooks and James Clark Hazlett of Richmond, were given a marriage license. In the license Miss Brooks gave her address as 1632 Gilbert avenue, Cincinnati.

It is said that Hazlett met Miss Brooks at the old toll gate east of town and that they drove to Richmond in a buggy, and after staying at Hazlett's parents over night, went to Cincinnati to be married. There is considerable comment on the case here as Davis Brooks is very prominent and owns a large farm. He is a mail clerk on the Pennsylvania railroad.

A SHOE STORE SOLD

J. Will Cunningham has purchased the shoe store at 307 Main street, the old E. J. Humpe store, from Charles Feltman, who has been in possession since Mr. Humpe located in business at Kokomo. The consideration is not given. Percy Gray, who has been manager of the store for Mr. Feltman, and George Thomas, a clerk, remain with Mr. Feltman, going to his north side store. A. J. Ford, the shoe salesman, and Ray Wickemeyer remain with Mr. Cunningham, who has taken possession.

ACT IN SEPTEMBER

"There is plenty of time to act in September," declared a member of the board of county commissioners today in discussing the status of the petition of Washington E. Lowe for an extension of his contract to December 31 as tax ferret of the county. Lowe filed his petition several days ago, and this morning discussed the matter with the commissioners. They have found so much opposition to the tax ferret system in different parts of the county that they do not expect to act either in favor of Lowe's petition or against it in September. His contract expires on September 8.

PURCHASE PROPERTY.

Further enlargement of the local plant of the American Seeding Machine company was shown today with the filing of a deed to a lot on the east side of north Fifteenth street between E and the Pennsylvania railroad company. The company has also purchased adjoining properties and James Carr, the general manager, said this afternoon that it was the intention to use these properties for lumber yards. The company now owns practically all the land on E street from the alley between Twelfth and Thirteenth to the alley between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets and also considerable property across the railroad.

The consideration paid for the lot was $1,500. Sarah A. Chestnut was the owner.

CHAUTAUQUA PLANS.

The city engineer's department has completed staking out the Chautauqua grounds. The plan is practically the same as that of last year, but some change has been made on account of the new concrete steps built recently.

TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL.

State field examiner Winters of Indianapolis who has been inspecting the books of county recorder Will Robbins and former recorder Frank C. Mosbaugh became ill suddenly last evening and had to return to his home.
