

LOOK WHO'S HERE T. LAWSON ENTERS THE ARENA AGAIN

And Says a Titian-haired Beauty Has Been Used as Tool of Standard Oil to Ruin Our Senators.

STOCK MARKET ALSO AFFECTED BY WOMAN

Then the Remarkable Creature Has Played International politics and Has Pau-perized Rich Men.

(American News Service.)

Boston, Aug. 29.—A ravishing titian haired beauty—"The most remarkable woman in America"—used as a tool by the Standard Oil company, has wrecked millions, upset the stock market, made United States senators, and played a leading part in international politics, according to Thomas W. Lawson.

Mr. Lawson revealed the alleged story of this remarkable woman today in commenting on the charge made in New York by Mrs. Lillian Hobart French that "F. Augustus Heinze's secrets were betrayed to 26 Wall street by a woman whose blandishments won them from him. The woman according to Mr. Lawson, has played a leading role in more than one of the financial crises and her career has been more remarkable than that of many of the heroines of history who figure in the games of diplomats.

She Crushed Heinze.

"I am amazed that her personality has never before been brought into print," he says.

"She not only crushed Heinze," says Mr. Lawson, "but another rival fully as powerful and delivered him over to Standard Oil with all his carefully planned secrets so that it was child's play to outwit him. She made a United States senator. Just how and where I don't care to say but it was one of the most notable things she was able to do. The senator was of the Standard Oil making and naturally was an aid to the trust.

"Again, in an international complication involving the sale of foreign owned territory to the United States in which a large profit was involved and in which an international scandal had been started which threatened to involve a number of U. S. senators, this woman's remarkable ability, some might call it, blandishments, smoothed the troubled waters.

Was a Moving Spirit.

"Time after time she has been the moving spirit beneath many a Standard Oil coup and only those who had babbled their stories to her knew how the magnates at 26 Broadway were able to circumvent their carefully laid plans.

"I have not heard anything about this woman for some time. I do not know where she is now or anything about her. In fact I do not know her myself, but I know enough about her to have caused me many times to wonder how she possibly evaded the limelight of print so long. I am no friend of the Standard Oil company but I don't care to tell what her name is or much about her.

"This woman has been a power for Standard Oil. She has been able to lead men who were enemies of the trust when it seemed as though money and prominence could do nothing; to induce them to give over warring against 26 Broadway. And through it all she has kept out of the public press is a remarkable matter.

"I don't know this Mrs. Lillian Hobart French. I never heard of her before the sudden developments of the last few days and all that I know about her I have read in the newspapers. But as far as the events of the copper war between Heinze and the Standard Oil people go she certainly has been right in all that she has said.

Remembers Conference.

"I remember the conference Mrs. French tells about between Heinze, Rogers, myself and others at the Waldorf Astoria. It was in 1902, before I had broken with the system. Heinze was holding up the whole copper situation and was doing a great deal of damage. He controlled the whole state of Montana. They had a peculiar mining law. A man could claim a vein wherever it apexed. Heinze owned a section of mining property adjoining the Amalgamated mines. Under this law as the vein apex was on his property he claimed all this valuable copper mine property and began extensive litigation to secure it. He even secured an over-night injunction to take control of the Amalgamated property. This situation forced us to make terms with him."

PAID A RECORD PRICE TO WIN AN ELECTION

Joseph C. Sibley, who recently withdrew as a candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket in the Twenty-eighth Pennsylvania district, and was later arrested on a warrant charging "conspiracy to defraud voters." According to Sibley's own figures, submitted in his expense account as demanded by legislative act, his nomination caused him an expenditure of $17,000 in Warren county alone, and $32,500 in all the entire district. Checked up with the population of the district this would make an expenditure of about $4 a vote. Charles Crandall, D. M. Howard and George M. Dunn, three prominent politicians of the district, and Frank M. Taylor, secretary to Sibley, are included in the warrant of arrest served on Sibley.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

President Lynch has imposed a fine of $25 each on Umpires Klem and Kane for not being on hand to officiate in Chicago.

Magie's two home runs on successive days, scoring seven runs, put an awful crimp in Pittsburgh's pennant prospects.

Hughie Jennings had to betray himself in Boston the other day by giving his famous coaching cry when sitting in the grand stand. No one noticed it was the Tiger leader until he let out a yell.

The White Elephants have only fifteen home runs to play at Philadelphia this season. The count does not include the world's series.

Dick Cooley is the latest magnate to "can" all of his old players and go out after a bunch of youngsters. The Topkape team this year has been a joke, and no one has cared to see it.

Manager Chance has a new way of winning ball games. Before the game he tells every one that the opposing pitcher for that day is a hard man to beat, and then gives the same dope to his men.

Lord is keeping the outfielders busy gathering in his drives. Just a little less muscle behind his slams at the ball, and Briss' batting average would look better.

St. Joe, the newest member of the Western league circuit, has turned out so well this year to watch Jack Holland's team that there is no danger of the Western league wanting to get out of that city for a time.

Ted Anderson, first baseman of the Flint, Mich., team, but who belonged to the Quilby (Ill.) team, has been purchased by the Chicago American league club. He will report at the close of the Southern Michigan season.

INSURGENTS WILL NOW RECEIVE AID

Letter of Pres. Taft Changes
Attitude of Campaign

WHAT DEMOCRATS THINK

SAY PRESIDENT HAS ESTABLISHED A PRECEDENT BUT WILL AVAIL NOTHING—CONCERN FELT BY RADICALS.

(American News Service.)

Washington, Aug. 29.—As a result of President Taft's letter to Congressman William B. McKinley, chairman of the republican congressional committee, in which he characterized factional fights in his party as different "complexions of republicanism," the congressional committee today is ready to fight hard in the fall campaign for insurgents and regulars alike, according to the opinion of national leaders here. Mr. Taft by his letter, the leaders declare, counteracts the stand taken before the adjournment of congress by the regulars controlling the congressional committee. The latter then declared that the insurgents could look for no aid from the general party in their campaigns. The president has made it clear that such an attitude was entirely unanctioned by him, say the leaders. At democratic headquarters it was remarked that the president had established a precedent in thus laying down the party platform plans, but prominent democrats declared they could foresee little in the way of results from it. The recommendation of further tariff reductions, though expected, is looked upon here to a great extent of concern by the more radical republicans, in view of Mr. Taft's previous defense of the Payne-Aldrich law.

Her beautiful 20-year-old daughter, Miss Marion C. Adriance, who has been abroad at school and returned with her mother, was also ordered to appear.

In the hands of the authorities is a second necklace found upon Mrs. Mary S. Doughty, who accompanied the Adriance party abroad.

SULZER BOOM FOR HIS NOMINATION LAUNCHED

Congressman William Sulzer, whose boom for the nomination for governor of New York at the hands of the democratic party, has just been launched by some of his enthusiastic constituents of New York. By many Mr. Sulzer is considered a remarkably strong man. He has been in public life a number of years and was at one time speaker of the assembly of his state. His boom took the form of the adoption of resolutions urging the democratic state convention, which meets in Rochester September 29, to name him as standard bearer. General Daniel E. Sickles of Gettysburg fame, was one of the prime movers in the launching of the boom.

Conductor Tells of Experience with Illinois Central Officials.

HIS EXPOSURES IGNORED

BUT WHEN HE TALKED TOO MUCH, OSTERMAN CRACKED HIM ON THE "BEAN" WITH DOORKNOB—OTHER TESTIMONY

(American News Service.)

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Ten more subpoenas were issued today from municipal court for witnesses in the Illinois Central car repair graft cases, against Frank B. Harrison, John H. Taylor and Charles L. Ewing. Most of them were for car repairers and workmen wanted to testify of the grafters' methods in tearing apart a good car to repair others and then charging for the stolen parts as well as both jobs of repairing. Theophilus Osterman, an Illinois Central conductor, told how Harrison, the "spender," induced him to take stock in the repair company and afterwards hit him over the head with a door knob when he exposed the graft and withdrew from the company. Reuther visited his superior, finally getting as high as Frank B. Harrison, the general manager, but they all told him to keep his mouth shut, he declared. Finally he reported to President Harahan in a roundabout way.

J. HARTLY DROWNS

Well Known Muncie Man Met Death While Fishing in Carp Lake, Mich.

CAUGHT IN HEAVY STORM

J. J. Hartley, a prominent manufacturer of Muncie and well known among the business men of Richmond, was drowned in Carp lake, near Bayview, Mich., last week. D. L. Mather and others from here assisted in dragging the lake in an ineffectual effort to secure the body.

Mr. Hartley had gone on the lake in a row boat late Monday afternoon to fish and was having very good luck. A storm arose and he was advised by fishermen to return to shore, but he declared that he was going to remain while his luck was good. When the storm broke, it is thought that he suffered an attack of heart disease with which he has been troubled for several years, or that a wave washed him from the boat.

The next morning the boat was found anchored where he had been fishing. It was about half full of water and in the stern was found his string of seven bass. The lake was dragged but the body was not discovered until Thursday morning, when it was washed ashore.

He was a thirty-second degree Mason. He was buried Saturday at Muncie.

MRS. GOODWIN, NO. 4 IS PERFECTLY HAPPY

Edna Goodrich, the actress, or off the stage, the fourth wife of Nat C. Goodwin the comedian, who has just arrived in the United States on a six thousand mile journey to rejoin her husband. Mrs. Goodwin scouted the idea of holding any malice against her husband Nat because he hurried away from her in England to see the Jeffries Johnson fight. She declared she and her husband were just as happy as when first married and in proof of it showed a very affectionately captioned epistle said to have been just received. The gossips have been having the Goodwins divorced several times during the last few months and a fifth wife in readiness for Goodwin.
