

TODAY A RECORD FINE WAS GIVEN IN POLICE COURT

Young Man Who Stole $13
From His Room Mate to Start Bank Account, Draws
Year in County Jail.

$100 FINE IS ALSO
ASSESSED YOUNG MAN

After Getting Money A Newhouse Wrecked the Room and Told His Friends It Was Work of Thieves.

The heaviest fine ever assessed in police court by Mayor Zimmerman, and the heaviest in the Richmond city court for more than thirteen years, was that of $100 and costs and one year in the county jail, given Arthur Newhouse, an employee of the American Seeding Machine company, this morning for petit larceny. Newhouse admitted having stolen $13 from Lloyd Shoemaker, his roommate. Newhouse committed the theft to start a bank account.

According to Newhouse's statement the theft took place yesterday morning in the boarding house of Mary Eps, at 423 North Eleventh street, where he was rooming with Shoemaker. Both of the young men have been employed at the Hoosier Drill less than a week, having removed from New Castle. It is said they were friends there.

To Decieve Shoemaker.

Early yesterday Newhouse left the factory and went to his room, where he ransacked Shoemaker's suit case and removed $13. From this was done he wrecked the room, taking both his and his friend's possessions and throwing them around right and left. Having done this he sat down and waited for Shoemaker to return from work.

"Thieves have been here," he exclaimed as Shoemaker entered the room at noon. "They have taken all my money and your suit case looks like it might have been touched."

Shoemaker filed a complaint at police headquarters, while the young thief went to the Union National bank and deposited $12 of the stolen money, according to his own statement to the police.

The police looked for him all day and last night but he was not located until five o'clock this morning, when Patrolman Bundy arrested him at the boarding house.

Proud of His Record.

He told the police Shoemaker was such a grouch he wouldn't loan him any money so he decided he'd steal it. "I wanted to start a bank account," declared the defendant.

Although the fine was a heavy one the police say that had he been tried in the circuit court it would have meant from two to eight years in the state reformatory. Newhouse seemed proud to think he had been "soaked" heavier than any one for many years. Patrolman Vogelsong told him he was "king of police court," and he smiled gratefully.

CONGRESSIONAL WAR

Some Battles Royal Are Being Fought Out in Maryland
Primary Today.

ARE MANY CONTESTANTS

(American News Service.)

Baltimore, Mr., Aug. 30.—Some battles royal are being fought out today in the congressional primaries which are being held by both parties in the six districts of Maryland. The principal contests are for the democratic nominations in the Third and Fourth districts, and the republican nomination in the Sixth district. The democratic contest in the Third district is between Charles P. Goady and James McQuade, both members of the state legislature. The republican candidate in this district will be either C. W. Main, the organization candidate, or Charles J. F. Steiner, an anti-organization republican. Four democrats, two republicans and one independent are contesting for the Fourth district nomination. In the Sixth district Representative Pearre withdrew from the race at the eleventh hour and left three rival aspirants to fight it out for the republican nomination. David J. Lewis will probably be the democratic nominee in this district. In the Fifth district two democrats are engaged in a hot fight for the seat of Representative Mudd, republican. Representatives Covington and Talbott, both democrats, will be renominated in the First and Second districts respectively.

DEMOCRATS MEET.

Democratic ward and precinct committees will meet Wednesday evening at the Jefferson club rooms to complete arrangements for the sixty day poll.

this way moreover the credit of the special improvement bonds will be preserved for it might be difficult to market bonds of this kind hereafter when it is known that there has been a shortage in the fund out of which they are to be paid unless the city at once takes steps to make that shortage good. The special fund will thus start anew upon a solvent basis. The indebtedness of the city will not be increased, it will merely be a bonded indebtedness instead of a liability for money used. If the present system of incorrect bookkeeping be allowed to continue any longer it may finally involve the city in still further liability.

August 29th, 1910.

The merging of the Lutheran Standard and the Columbus Theological Magazine and the decision to publish another edition of the Lutheran Book of Confessions were questions of importance before the morning session of the Evangelical Lutheran joint synod of Ohio and other states.

Nomination and election of officers also took place but the results will not be announced until late this afternoon.

The two Lutheran magazines which were merged were of the same scope and character and it was on advice of the leading educators of the synod who entered into the debate, that the consolidation of the two was effected. Henceforth they will appear under one cover at $2 per annum. The work of editing will be in charge of an editor-in-chief and an associate editor.

The Clerical List.

The publication of the clerical list of America was abandoned for next year, but this list will be furnished by the book concern under the direction of the general council. An important resolution was passed in that the synod resolved to publish a new and classical edition of the Book of Concord in English.

The publication of the first edition of the synodical manual was announced and the book recommended to the delegates. An attempt to consolidate the two Sunday school papers, namely the "Little Missionary" and "Child's Paper," was voted down. The two magazines have a large circulation and are constantly growing in favor.

Three extra editions of the "Lutheran Standard," will be published in order to bring the elementary, the missionary and the educational departments more successfully before the people.

Announcement was made that Rev.

von Fischer of St. Paul, Minn., will preach the pastoral sermon, which is of particular importance to the ministers this evening at St. John's church.

Appropriations Made.

Appropriations occupied the attention of the delegates at the session yesterday afternoon. For the purpose of assisting in the care of consumptives in the Rocky Mountain territory, the synod voted an appropriation of $500. Consumptives who apply to the synod missionaries will be supplied with tents for the purchase of which the appropriation was made. Capital university received $8,000, while the Pacific seminary received $2,200. An appropriation of $3,000 for the Old Fouks' Home and the Orphans' home at Mars, Pa., was made. The Normal school at Woodville, O., received $4,000 and $7,188 was appropriated for the theological seminary at St. Paul, Minn. The largest appropriation of the day was $55,000 to the home mission board, to carry on its work.

The appropriation made for Wernle Orphans' home was $6,000. It will be equipped with manual training department and the appropriation was made to bear a part of this expense while the remainder will be used for the general running expenses of the institution.

During the convention $30,000 has been appropriated for different purposes. It is the largest amount that any one synod ever expended and will necessitate a great deal of work on the part of the different districts. Permission was given to the seminary board of St. Paul to raise $9,000 for the purchase of land adjacent to the campus and the construction of another building.

PORTO RICAN LAWS

(American News Service.)

San Juan, P. R., Aug. 30.—In pursuance of a call issued by Governor Colton the Porto Rican legislature convened in extra session today to consider and act upon a number of matters of importance to insular affairs. Foremost on the agenda is a drastic measure prohibiting the importation of diseased seeds and plants of the sugar cane. A proposition to lease the insular telegraph service to a private corporation and the necessary legal steps looking to the ceding of a site for the erection of a million-dollar hotel in San Juan are other matters that will receive attention.

good at once out of the general fund of the city. Still better would it be, we think, if the city would now issue its own bonds for as much of this deficiency of $21,396.62 as can be used in retiring these special improvement bonds. The city can borrow at 4 percent and less while these special bonds call for 5 percent so that 1 percent interest can be thus saved. In

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Canon City, Colo., is considering the adoption of the commission plan of government.

The independent democrats of Tennessee will hold their state convention in Nashville, September 14.

The republican state committee of Virginia has decided to nominate a candidate for congress in each of the ten districts of the state this fall.

Robert Hunter the well known author and settlement worker, has accepted the nomination for governor tendered him by the socialist party of Connecticut.

At the general election in November Florida will vote on the ratification of an amendment to the constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

Leagues are being organized in various parts of New England and the eastern states to boom ex-Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri for the democratic nomination for president.

Seven republicans and two democrats are contesting for the United States senatorship in the state of Washington. The nominations will be decided by the state primaries to be held this month.

The constitutionality of the primary law enacted by the last Idaho legislature has been upheld in a decision recently handed down by the state supreme court. The law provides for publicity of campaign expenses from the time the candidates seek nomination.

J. O. Terrell of San Antonio, whom the republicans of Texas have named for governor, belongs to an old pioneer family of that state. In his time he has played the roles of plowboy and cowboy, editor and lawyer. He is now president of two of the strongest financial institutions in the state.

James E. Martine, known throughout New Jersey as the "farmer orator," and a follower of the political fortunes of William J. Bryan, has formally announced himself a democratic candidate for the United States senate to succeed John Kean. He expects his name to go on the ballot in the state primary this month.

The new chairman of the democratic state executive committee of Texas is Colonel Shep Williams of Paris. Colonel Williams is a farmer and business man, and his election to head the state committee has brought to light, the fact that is the first time in the history of that body that its chairman has been chosen outside of the legal profession.

Colonel Samuel P. Colt, who is said to be slated by the republican party of Rhode Island to succeed Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, is of the millionaire class. In his early career he practiced law and for three years he was attorney general of Rhode Island. In 1888 he reorganized the National Rubber company, now known as the rubber trust, since which time he has been rated as many times a millionaire.

James R. Mann, representative in congress of the Second Illinois district, is mentioned for the speakership of the next house in succession to Mr. Cannon. Representative Mann is fifty-four years old and a native of Illinois. He was educated at the university of Illinois and began his public career as a Chicago alderman. He has been a member of congress since 1897 and is ranked as a "standpat" member.

At Local Theaters

The Fighting Parson.

The minister of the Gospel has been portrayed in theatrical productions in various ways, but up to the present time one of the most important and interesting Christian workers has been overlooked by the dramatic writers.

The doctor of divinity in question is that noble person who has selected the most needful field for his labors in the entire universe, the slum districts of a great city. The settlement worker about whom Lem B. Parker has written a story of heart throbs and thrills is called "The Fighting Parson," which is the title of W. F. Mann's newest melodramatic offering to be seen at the Gennett on next Monday, Labor Day.

Careless Methods Alleged to Prevail In Two Departments

To the Municipal Research Bureau, Richmond, Ind.

Your committee of Inventories and Accounts respecting the Street and Police Dept. begs leave to submit the following report:

After inspecting the City Comptroller's report for Dec. 1908, concerning the Police Department, we find that practically the same equipment is on hand today as then and is practically of the same value. The value of the property of this department as given in the December report of 1908 was $383.30. The present value will not exceed $375.05 as is shown by an accompanying inventory.

About the same condition exists with respect to the property of the Street Department. The property was valued in December, 1908 at $2223.50 and according to the estimate of your committee it is today in the neighborhood of $2085.44. This difference in part is due to the fact that scarcely any new property has been purchased and the wear and tear of usage has decreased the value of those things on hand.

Your committee learns also that at present there is not in file with the city clerk an inventory of the property of either the Street or Police Departments for the year 1908. While there seems to be no discrepancy in the departments at present it does seem more like a business way of doing things to file an inventory each year so that the citizens of our city could at any time know what they really possess.
