

JOYRIDERS MAKE A BROADWAY DASH

And as a Result Three Prominent New York Men Are Seriously Injured.

COP CHASES IN AN AUTO

JUST BEFORE THE WRECK CAR SPED ALONG BROADWAY, MAKING A SERPENTINE COURSE, AT A RAPID PACE.

(American News Service.)
New York, Sept. 30.—Thomas McLoughlin, a wealthy real estate operator, Attorney Herbert Barnum and Attorney O'Brien, a nephew of former Supreme Court Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, were terribly injured today when Mr. McLoughlin's automobile, going about fifty miles an hour, crashed into the Sulloway structure at 230th street and Broadway and was wrecked. The three men were taken to the Fordham hospital in a dying condition.

When the crash occurred Sergeant Patrick O'Leary of the Kingsbridge police station, in an automobile which he had pressed into service at Moshulu Parkway, was chasing the three men as "joy-riders."

He says that McLoughlin, who was steering the machine, was pursuing a serpentine course along Broadway and was going at the rate of between 50 and 60 miles an hour.

Barnum and O'Brien, who were back in the tonneau were catapulted over McLoughlin's head, and they landed in the street unconscious. McLoughlin, held between the steering wheel and the seat, was imprisoned in the wreckage.

The surgeon who attended them found that McLoughlin had a fractured skull and internal injuries. Both of O'Brien's legs were broken and he was internally injured. Barnum sustained internal injuries.

GAVE EACH $5,000

To his thirty nieces and nephews, including Harry L. Gibbs and Mrs. W. M. Swayne of this city, George Lewis, a wealthy oil operator of Oil City, Pa., presented each with a check for $5,000 during the week. The welcome of the presents was accompanied by a letter in which Mr. Lewis made his presentation.

Both Mr. Gibbs and Mrs. Swayne discussed the affair very unwillingly. It is understood that their uncle made no requirements in his gifts. In one family which were remembered by Mr. Lewis there are 11 children, the aggregate amount received being $55,000. Mr. Lewis has made an immense fortune in the oil fields in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Swayne is the wife of W. M. Swayne, one of the foremen at the American Seeding Machine company. They live at 301 North Fifteenth street. Mr. Gibbs is employed at Gar Scott and Company and lives at 311 North West Third street.

HONORS TO ROBERTS

(American News Service.)
London, Sept. 30.—Earl Roberts, who has almost completely recovered from the recent illness which overtook him on his way home from St. Petersburg where he had gone as special ambassador to announce the accession of King George V., received a flood of congratulations today on his seventy-eighth birthday anniversary.

Free Remedy Helps Children

Many a mother has learned of a way of avoiding sickness in her family, especially among the children, by the use of a free sample bottle of the famous laxative, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This offer of the doctor's to send a free sample bottle has been responded to by thousands of women in all parts of America.

This Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a truly wonderful laxative and especially adapted to the needs of babies and children because it is pleasant to taste and no child will refuse it. Then, it is mild and never grips. It is all that a child's remedy should be, though it is a good laxative for the whole family because it is effective at all ages. It is simply not dramatic, it is safe, it is powerful cathartics, which should not be given to children anyway.

Nine times out of ten when a child complains and you don't know exactly what is the matter with it, it needs a laxative—the bowels are constipated. Syrup Pepsin will correct the trouble, tone up the child and soon it will be well again—over night wonderful results have been secured with Syrup Pepsin.

You can buy it of any druggist at fifty cents or a dollar a bottle, the latter being the family size, but you are invited to make a test of it first at the doctor's expense. Send him your address today and he will send you a free sample bottle—over night wonderful results have been secured with Syrup Pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him: Dr. J. C. Caldwell, 181 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

Fear of Asphyxiation Ends in Death When Gas is Lit

Premonition of Hammond Youth for Past Ten Years That He Would Die From Such Cause Is Fulfilled.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 30.—After undressing in the dark for more than ten years because of an unconquerable fear that he would be asphyxiated, Fred Glick, 19 years of age, of Hammond, Ind., lit the gas in his bedroom for the first time. Monday night and was found dead yesterday morning from the effects of the fumes of illuminating gas which filled the room. Because of an innate terror of death from asphyxiation which has possessed him ever since childhood, when a playmate died as the result of turning on the gas, Glick had never before in his life turned on a gas jet.

Although not a believer in predestination, Glick lived in mortal terror that some day he would be asphyxiated, and often confided his fears to his relatives and friends. For a long time while he used a candle to undress by at night, but on several occasions he had fallen asleep, leaving the candle lit and fire had been narrowly averted. Then he undressed in the dark, refusing to have even a lamp in his room that might explode or cause a fire by being left lighted.

Monday night, on undressing, Glick dropped a piece of money on the floor and heard it roll across the room in the dark. He struck a match, which flickered and went out. He had only one match left and wanted to find his money before morning, for fear that he would forget it.

His relatives and friends had often laughed at his fear of gas and he determined that he would risk it just once and lit the gas with his one remaining match. He found the coin, and when ready for bed went to turn out the light.

Whether the awful dread that had pursued him for years suddenly gripped him and compelled him to do the very thing of which he was in mortal fear is not known. Some advanced the theory that the fear which had so long controlled his brain also controlled his muscles and on the crucial moment and made him turn on the gas again after he had turned it off. Then, too, he believed that Glick might have left the gas burning and the wind blew it out. He was found half across the room, having evidently struggled to reach the gas jet of which he had been so long in mortal fear.

IS BACK ONCE MORE ONLY UNPAID BILL

Earl Huntington, Police Character, Given a Stiff Sentence by Mayor.

HIS VACATION NOW OVER

Earl Huntington, Richmond's noted police court character, after enjoying liberty since August 9, with the exception of a workhouse sentence at Columbus, O., was arrested again this morning. He was sentenced by Mayor Zimmerman and went to jail about ten o'clock to serve 232 days. He was fined $100 and costs and 30 days in jail for public intoxication. Earl has also to serve out 90 days of a previous 140 day sentence.

Earl was released from the county jail August 9, after serving 50 days of a sentence for drunk. He wrote Mayor Zimmerman a pathetic letter at that time saying that since July 1906, he had spent 990 days in jail, or two years and eight months. Earl said he had been arrested on various charges 11 times since December, 1904, and he was tired of leading such a dog's life. Today's arrest makes the fourth time in 1910.

While he was in the work house at Columbus, serving a short sentence for petit larceny, Earl told the authorities there he was wanted in Richmond for a minor offense. The Columbus police notified Supt. Gorman they had Huntington, but they were notified to keep him. According to the local police Earl didn't like the work house, but wanted the snap he gets at the Wayne county jail. A similar letter was received from the Hamilton police a few days ago, although Huntington denies that he was arrested there.

Patrolman Westenberg got Huntington this morning at Thurman's saloon in the South End where he was causing a big disturbance and "damning" every one in sight, according to witnesses. He was brought staggering into police court and arraigned immediately.

AN EXCITING CHASE

Naked Babe Gave Its Mother, Other Relatives and Policeman a Lively Time.

YOUNGSTER ENJOYED IT

An exciting chase with all the interesting features of a motion picture film took place on North Ninth street on Friday morning when a naked babe led its mother, its other relatives and a policeman towards Main street. The child was the only one, with the exception of the policeman, who took part in the derby, who seemed to enjoy the flight.

The child had just been bathed by its mother and while she left the room to get something it started towards the door. Before the mother had returned the babe, who is three years old, was on the streets and headed toward Main. When its mother came back in the room and saw the open door, she gave a scream and called for help. Failing to heed the cries of its mother to stop, the child began to run as fast as possible. Its little legs only carried it to Sallor street when captured.

AGITATION STARTED

There has been some agitation by city officials to order the sheds and engines used in constructing the new Second National bank building from Main street, during the Fall Festival. The Board of Works will investigate the matter immediately to determine what to do in the matter. It is said it would be a great expense to move the engine. Some city officials claim that the contractor at the bank building has been very accommodating, and that he should not be inconvenienced any more than possible.

Found by Deputies Hunting Some of Chanler's Property to Levy Upon.

GIVEN A COLD RECEPTION

New York, Sept. 30.—Deputy Sheriff Sherer met with a cool reception yesterday when he visited the studio formerly occupied by Robert Winthrop Chanler, in the Windsor Arcadia, at Fifth avenue and Forty-seventh street to levy on such property there as belonged to Sheriff Bob. He was authorized to do this by reason of an execution issued on an unpaid judgment against Chanler for $1,062 granted Barnes, his Fifth avenue tailor.

The deputy sheriff found the door of the studio locked. By inquiry he learned that the door was opened only when Eugene Christian, a painter who shared the studio with Chanler, came around to get his mail. Sherer decided to wait for Christian to appear.

Shortly before noon Christian opened the door. Immediately the deputy stepped inside the studio.

"I come from the sheriff's office," he announced, "to attach all the possessions in these premises belonging to Robert Chanler. Here is the execution."

Christian, who is a tall, well-built Frenchman, with a black beard, scowled his disapproval.

"Chanler doesn't own even a paint brush in here," he exclaimed; "not one thing is his, so get out. All the property in here, including the paintings, are my own."

"Since when did you get the ownership?"

"I've had it for two months. Again I ask you to get out and leave me alone."

"Where is Chanler?" asked the deputy sheriff, as he moved toward the door.

"Where is Dr. Cook?" inquired the Frenchman.

Deputy Sheriff Sherer, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Hayes, then visited the former home of Chanler, in East Forty-fifth street, to attach all his possessions there.

"Chanler's property," gasped the landlady, "why he hasn't any here. But he has a bill for about $600 that I am waiting for him to pay."

The deputy sheriffs returned to their office and reported to Barnes' lawyer that they were unable to find any property.

An unusual record and perhaps one which will never again be equalled was established during the April term of the Wayne circuit court. There were 173 civil cases disposed of while there were 172 new cases filed. Ordinarily the number of new cases greatly exceeds the number disposed of. There still remains on the docket 145 cases which will be set for trial during the October term of court, which convenes Monday, October 3. The April term of court convened on Monday, April 6, and ended by special ruling of Judge Fox at 12 o'clock on Friday.

Among the cases filed during the term were fifty-two in which divorce was sought. There were nine cases of adoption of orphan children by childless married couples. There were also ten damage suits filed during the term.

A POOR PROVIDER SHE GETS DIVORCE

Mrs. Hoggatt, Freed Because Her Husband Was Not a Very Tight Spender.

SPENT $1 FOR GROCERIES

AND TRIED TO MAKE THEM LAST ONE YEAR, BUT HIS WIFE CAME TO HER GOODS, TOOK HER CHILDREN AND WENT.

Solved in a most unique way was the question of the high cost of living by Martin L. Hoggatt who, when he contracted to live with his wife through thick and thin, with his two children by a former marriage, and her five children by a former marriage. His solution was the purchase of a dollar's worth of groceries which he incidentally thought were enough to last for a year.

The mistress of the home, established near Carlos City, a few miles north of the Wayne county line, however, was of a different attitude in the matter and she picked up her belongings and accompanied by her five children came to this city to live with her father. This was about two years ago. In the circuit court Friday morning Judge Fox awarded her absolute freedom and even restored her name to Rachel A. Montgomery, as she had born the name of Hoggatt just long enough to abhor it.

The couple were married in Carlos City on June 2, 1907, after a courtship of about four months. She managed her brother's farm and had made a success of it which probably had its inducements to Hoggatt, as he was a poor poultry huckster. The relations between the two were not nearly as friendly after the knot that binds had been tied. His first ruling was that her oldest child, a girl, now fourteen years old, should not live with them. Then on requests by her for support he would answer, she testified, "Get the h—l out of here, if you do not like it."

In order to support herself, her husband, and his and her children by former marriages, she shucked corn for her brother near Carlos City. She said that he spent his time in a restaurant in the town. Judge Fox expressed himself as favoring the dissolution of marriages so uncongenial and scored Hoggatt. The defendant defaulted appearance in court. He now lives near Lynn, Ind.

DISCUSS CONSUMERS

John Hall, representing a firm manufacturing smoke consumers, was before the Board of Works with a proposition to place a consumer in the boiler at the city hall. No action was taken by the Board, but the matter of a consumer will be further investigated.

Roumania's population is only $6,500,000, yet it could place 450,000 men in the field if war came.

WANT HIM "CANNED"

Medical Association Wants Dr. Smelzer Removed from the State Board.

DR. STEVENSON HONORED

(American News Service.)
Ft. Wayne, Ind., Sept. 30.—The following officers were elected today by the Indiana state medical association:

President, F. C. Heath, Indianapolis; vice presidents, J. N. Hurty, Indianapolis, S. Dickey, Tipton, and J. P. Salbof, Jasper; secretary, C. N. Combs, Terre Haute; treasurer, D. W. Stevenson, Richmond.

In a dramatic scene the association voted to endorse its councils' efforts to have Dr. S. G. Smelzer removed from the state board of medical registration and examination on charges of incompetency and to have a man recommended by the association, appointed in his place. Smelzer made a lame defense. The next meeting will be in Indianapolis.

HE WANTS TO KNOW

Just How Members of Congress Stand on the Army and Navy Question.

RUSSELL SENDS QUERIES

Professor Elbert Russell of Earlham college is sending to all candidates for congress in Indiana a card bearing the following questions:

"Are you a member of the Interparliamentary union?"

"Are you opposed to further increase of the United States navy?"

"If so what limitations of armaments through an international agreement?"

"Do you favor the early establishment of a permanent court of arbitral justice?"

The questions were prepared by the American Peace society of Boston, Mass., of which Benjamin F. Trueblood, a graduate of Earlham, is secretary. The society is making a campaign among all members of congress and their opponents and will make public the answers received. The society enclosed stamped envelope to the candidates even though congressmen have franking privileges.

Was Not a Fungus.

A certain worthy minister was a keen and accomplished naturalist. His specialty was a remarkable knowledge of different classes of fungi. His enthusiasm, however, was but indifferently appreciated by certain members of his parish, and one day when calling upon one of them—a sour old spinster—he was considerably embarrassed when she reminded him of the exact length of time that had elapsed since he had last paid her a visit. He began to make excuses for the delay, when she abruptly and curtly cut him short.

"If I was a toadstool," she said, with grim irony, "you'd have been to see me long ago!"—London Tit-Bits.

BURGLARY BOLD ONE

Ft. Wayne Man Told to Give Up His Coin or End His Earthly Existence.

THIEF ALSO HAD FEAST

(American News Service.)
Ft. Wayne, Ind., Sept. 30.—"Lie still or I'll blow your block off," said a burglar to Henry Diebold, a prominent local druggist as the latter lay in bed at his home last night. Diebold kept still and the marauder took a two hundred dollar diamond ring, a watch valued at fifty dollars and twenty-four dollars in cash in addition to a new suit of clothes. "Anything to eat in the house?" asked the burglar. "I don't know," Diebold managed to reply. "You'll have to look for yourself." This morning Diebold's rifled purse was found in a mail box where it had been dropped by the burglar. There is no clue.

An Eye Test.

Most people believe that same with both eyes. That the case one can easily convince himself by the following simple experiment: Cover one of the eyes with a hand or a bandage and let the experimenter attempt to sniff out a candle suddenly placed within a few feet of him. He will almost invariably miss the flame, either overreaching, under-reaching or putting the fingers too far to the right or left of the flame. With both eyes normal and open the accommodation for distance and direction is instantaneous.
