

MODERN WOODMEN AT THE COLISEUM

Rain Interfered with Out of Doors Program, Necessitating a Change.

400 DELEGATES ATTEND

AND IF THE WEATHER HAD BEEN FAVORABLE THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN TWICE THAT NUMBER—TALBOT SPEAKS.

Despite the fact that the rain kept down the attendance of visiting delegations to the annual log rolling session of the Modern Woodmen of America of the Central Indiana district and necessitated a change in the program for the afternoon session, the enthusiasm of the meeting was not damped thereby.

With about four hundred visitors from the various lodges of the district present, the majority of whom were official delegates, the business session of the district meeting was held at the lodge rooms in the Red Men's hall on Wednesday morning. A busy conference was held by the officials and arrangements made with the coliseum management for the afternoon session to be held there, including the speaking program and also the prize drill contest by five visiting teams.

Business of the district meeting was proceeded with and Anderson selected as the 1911 meeting place, Crawfordsville and one or two other places were contestants for the honor but, inasmuch as Anderson has never received the annual log rolling meeting, that city was the unanimous selection of the delegates.

A Business Meeting.

Head Consul A. R. Talbot of the national association, a resident of Lincoln, Neb., L. W. Otto of Crawfordsville, member of the board of auditors of the national association and Mr. Vois, a state official were present. Short talks were made by different visitors in which the magnitude and possibilities of the order were discussed. Much interest was taken by the delegates in the report on the membership in Indiana. In eleven years the order has grown from 8,000 members to 42,000, considered a most remarkable showing and perhaps unequaled by any other order. It was also reported that in the world there are 1,200,000 members and the order is generally considered the largest in the world.

Leo E. Nussbaum presided at the meeting. He was elected president of the session by the local lodge. Prof. N. C. Helronimus acted as secretary and Freeman Haisley was treasurer. They made very encouraging reports. The roll was called by Secretary Helronimus. Delegates from Tipton, Indianapolis, Kokomo, Cumberland, Crawfordsville, Greenfield, Winchester, New Lancaster, Connersville, Martinsville, Muncie, Anderson, Noblesville, Max and Richmond were present. There were about three hundred delegates here. Many of the delegates were members of the visiting drill teams.

The afternoon session was held at the coliseum. President Nussbaum refused to call off the street parades until the last moment in hopes that the day might clear sufficiently for the different drill teams to give their street exhibitions. The meeting at the coliseum was not so largely attended as it would have been had it not been necessary to make eleventh hour arrangements for holding the meeting there.

Head Consul Talbot delivered the principal address. He discussed the organization in a general manner and reviewed to its membership strength and business reports. He also referred to the social obligations which the order had assumed. He dwelt at some length on the sanatorium erected by the national organization at Colorado Springs, Col., for the treatment of members who are suffering from tuberculosis. He declared that the results so far accomplished had been wonderful and had instilled greater enthusiasm in the work. The sanatorium was erected at great cost to the association.

Hitting the Judge.

Justice—You say that you did not know you were violating the law. Ah, but my dear sir, ignorance of the law is no excuse to any man. Prisoner—That's rather rough on both of us, ain't it, your honor? Clerk—Order in the court!

OLDEST RESIDENTS HAVE HOT CONTEST

Dispute as to the Oldest Living Native of the County Goes on Merrily.

IT LOOKS LIKE SEDGWICK

HE IS NINETY-TWO YEARS OF AGE WHILE HIS NEAREST COMPETITOR, CHAS. WIGGANS, IS ONLY 89 YEARS.

Five citizens of Richmond and all native born Wayne countians have accepted the challenge of William Rich, a well known retired farmer, living northwest of the city, as being the oldest native born Wayne countian. Those who have accepted his challenge so far include, Robert B. Dickinson, 85, Warren Sharon, 86, John Sedgwick, 92, Charles Wiggans, 89 and Mrs. John D. Wiggans, 84. Mr. Rich is eighty years old.

These six octogenarians are taking much interest in the celebration of the Wayne county centennial and if the weather permits will be in attendance at the exercises at the East Main Street Friends church on Friday as honor guests of the Fall Festival association. All well remember the early history of the county, in which they took active parts during their business lives.

Robert Dickinson was born on old South Pearl street, now Fourth street in December, 1825. In 1861 he opened a jewelry store on Main street and only within the last year or two did he give up active business in favor of his son, Oscar E. Dickinson. He now lives at 410 North Ninth street.

Warren Sharon lives on North Fifteenth street. He has been retired for several years. He was a hatter by trade. John Sedgwick, who is the oldest of the sextet of citizens who have been residents of the county all their lives, was born about four miles south of the city in 1818. He now lives on North Fifteenth street and is a near neighbor of Mr. Sharon. Charles Wiggans who lives on South Fifteenth street is 89 years old and was a tanner before his retirement. Mrs. John D. Wiggans who, too, lives on South Fifteenth street is a native born octogenarian.

Mrs. Wiggans is a sister-in-law of Charles Wiggans and is a sister of Warren Sharon.

TRUEBLOOD ESCAPED

Ralph Trueblood, son of Prof. William N. Trueblood of Earlham college, who is an editorial writer on the Los Angeles (Cal.) Times-Mirror, escaped the horrible catastrophe which that paper experienced on Saturday by being blown up with dynamite. He had handed in his editorials for the day about fifteen minutes before the explosion occurred and was on his way home. His parents received a telegram from him in which he said the affair could not be traced to the accounts which were published.

RECENTLY KILLED.

Oct. 5.—George Thomas, formerly of this city, was instantly killed today while attempting to remove a broken wire, crossed with a live wire.

Invitation to Pioneers of County

Invitations have been sent to all the pioneers in the county whose names we have. Our lists are incomplete. Everyone is invited just the same whether he or she receives an invitation or not.

Some conflicting reports are out as to who are to participate in the parade. All persons eighty years old or over, that is, those born before 1831, are invited to ride in automobiles in the parade. They are to meet at Grace Church, 10th and North A streets, and be ready to start at 1 o'clock. The Pioneer Section is the first division of the parade and must start promptly.

RECORD OF POLICE

Sixty-one arrests were made by the Richmond police department last month. The arrests were as follows: Assault and battery 13, begging 1, disturbing public meeting 1, drunk 35, house breaking 1, larceny 1, malicious trespass 1, obtaining goods under false pretense 1, provoke 3, violating city ordinance 1 and child desertion 2.

HAWAII'S BIG VOLCANO.

Curious Relics of Lava It Has Left in the Forests.

Hawaii possesses one of the greatest natural wonders of the present day world—a live volcano as high as Vesuvius and twice its diameter.

Kilauea, on the island of Hawaii, stands thirty miles from the sea in a mountain range in which are three dead volcanoes and one partially alive. This last, called Magma Loa, from time to time sends streams of lava down its slopes. In 1881 three streams burst forth from the sides of this mountain, and one of them came within three-quarters of a mile of Hilo, the chief city of the island. There have been several outbreaks of Kilauea in the last hundred years. In 1840 there was a brilliant eruption of lava, the light of which, it was said, could be seen a hundred miles away, while at the distance of forty miles one could read print at midnight.

Where the lava flowed through the forest it has left curious relics in lava arches, bridges and great vases. These vases were formed by the lava piling itself about some lofty tree trunk, burning away the wood within and killing the upper part of the tree. In the course of time seeds were deposited in the open top, filled with decaying bark, until now there is a gigantic lava vase, holding ferns and flowers and vines—Exchange.

Preservative Post.

Peat possesses wonderful antiseptic and preservative qualities owing to the presence of tannin, iron and other substances in it. Here is an instance: At the time of the covenanters, in 1685, three men were shot at a place called Crossgelloch on the moors above Old Cumnock, in Scotland. In 1825, when a monument was being erected to their memory, the workmen came upon the corpses rolled in their plaids. The bodies were in exactly the same state as when they were buried. The moss had preserved them as if they had been embalmed.

INTERESTING RELICS AT COURT HOUSE

Articles, Some Over Two Centuries Old, Are Displayed—Exhibit Is a Small One, but Articles Are Very Rare.

As interesting an exhibit as any in the third annual Fall Festival is that of old relics in the office of County Superintendent C. O. Williams at the court house. While the display is not large, it is most select and includes articles four times as old as Wayne county.

Pewter which came over in the Mayflower, Bibles which are printed in the old English type and now hardly legible, owing to their age, dolls eighty years old and dressed in the quaint fashion of that time, down to daily papers of more recent date, which were saved because they contained some item of historical significance make up a large portion of the exhibit.

Perhaps the oldest exhibit is a family Bible displayed by J. C. Gerber of this city. It is 330 years old and has been handed down from generation and was one of the articles brought over from the old country. To Mr. Gerber and his family the relic is priceless. It is well preserved for its age and is bound in leather, part of which has been eaten away. It is very yellow and in a delicate condition.

C. R. Tingle and family display the pewter platter which it has always been believed by its possessors to have been brought over in the Mayflower in 1620. Mr. Tingle secured it from the late Charles McPherson who was county superintendent of schools in Wayne county from 1876 to 1888. Mr. McPherson and his sister Miss Bulah possessed several articles of pewter all of which are thought to have come over with the Puritans. None of these are exhibited and the committee was unable to find where they are now. Both Mr. McPherson and Miss McPherson are dead.

Miss Mary and Miss Ruby Tingle have an exhibit of an old Adams china cup, saucer and plate. They are 125 years old. The china is much thicker than the variety commonly sold today. It is in excellent condition and has a beautiful old fashioned design. In designing the set the china painters used different colors.

Perhaps the largest exhibit in the point of numbers by an individual is that of century old relics, owned by Mrs. Louise Libbert, 410 South Tenth street, and which have been in the family all these years. Her oldest display is an iron frying pan which is 250 years old. It was made in Ossenbruch, Germany. It is now in daily use and perhaps is in better condition than any frying pan, even though new, which can be found in local stores. It has retained during its two and half centuries a bright lustre. It was first owned by her great-great-grand parents.

Barbers and individuals who are accustomed to wield the razor, will particularly be interested in an old bone which Mrs. Libbert exhibits. It is over a hundred years old and is a family relic. A copper "dial" as it is known in Germany, or a cooking pan as it is known in America is another interesting exhibit by Mrs. Libbert. The kettle is not large and is oblique in shape. It has a long copper handle.

In addition to the old Bible exhibited by Mr. Gerber there are a large number of others which are more than a hundred years old. There are fifteen or twenty old school books from which our grandfathers received their education.

Descendants of William Cheesman have a carpet bag on display which he used in 1818 in carrying the mail from Richmond to Indianapolis. There are a few other carpet bags which are prized relics of their possessors.

An old time doll, which is 80 years old, would be highly prized by almost any woman. The doll is about twelve inches long. The costume of the doll is almost as interesting as 'it is itself. It was given to Amanda DeWees Pryson, the exhibitor.

Probably as unique an exhibit as is displayed is that of an old time watchman's lantern of the eighteenth century. It belongs to A. W. Martin and is 180 years old.

It is made of old sheet metal and has a small door which was opened whenever one desired to light his way. When closed the lantern could not possibly have given out any light. It is punched full of air holes. Mr. Martin also exhibits a fork and stinner which are over a hundred years old. The articles were used in removing potatoes from cranes or from open fires. They are made out of iron and have handles eighteen inches long.

There are a large number of newspapers displayed including copies of the Palladium in 1831, the year it began publication. These papers are most interesting and in a good state of preservation. Some of the issues are less than fifty years old but nevertheless are as interesting as any of the older ones, as they contain articles such as the Bates hanging and the like. There are a number of articles of furniture over a hundred years old which are on exhibit.

It is expected by Joseph Bloose, who is in charge of the exhibit, that it will be enlarged before the festival closes. Several who promised to send relics were unable to do so because of the rain interfering on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Stop Women And Consider

This Fact—that in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years.

The present Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, was for years under her direction, and has ever since her decease continued to advise women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty causes them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. Such questioning and examination is unnecessary. Without cost you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

$2,500 TO EARLHAM

President Robert L. Kelly of Earlham college has announced that a friend of Earlham college and a former student at the old Friends' Boarding school had given the institution $2,500 for the liquidation of the college debt. The name of the donor was not made public by the college officials.

The largest enrollment in the history of the institution is reported by registry clerk, Mary A. J. Ballard, in favor of the fall term, which opened last week. The total number now enrolled is 254, which is an increase of 36 over the fall term of 1909. The number of new students is 163.
