An Excellent Style for Many Occasions

This smart skirt, 8718 and stunning waist 8,865 combine to make a "swell" gown, that is suitable for street or "dressy" wear, as may be desired. The blouse has body and sleeve cut in one. The Tucker or yoke is outlined by tucks in front and back, that simulate a broad fold or plait. The simple gored skirt is made on narrow lines, but with a view to comfort as well as fashion. The waist pattern 8,865, is cut in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 inches bust measure, and the skirt pattern 8718 is cut in 5 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 inches waist measure. It requires 9 yards of double width material for a medium size. This illustration calls for two separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10c for each pattern in silver or stamps.

When Lawyers Are Quiet.

One George Wilson, a lawyer, who had much litigation, in some of which he was personally interested as a party or as a trustee, finally passed away, and a short funeral sermon was delivered by a member of the bar in the presence of a few old personal friends. The lawyer told how the old man had been abused and maltreated, but that, in fact, he had helped the poor and unfortunate often and was not a bad man.

On returning from the services an old lawyer was asked by another lawyer about the services and what was said. The old lawyer replied, "For once old George could not file a de-murrer or motion to any of the proceedings which had taken place."

The lawyer who made the inquiry replied, "Well, this must be the first time George did not move for arrest of judgment."—Green Bag.

Taking No Risks. Henry Irving was intensely interested in criminology, and on one occasion this hobby of the famous actor made it rather awkward for one of his friends.

The two men were walking together on a lonely moor. The friend was a very nervous man, and unfortunately at a very desolate spot Mr. Irving glanced round and exclaimed, "What an ideal spot for a murder!"

"Now, suppose I murdered you here," Mr. Irving went on. The other started violently, but Mr. Irving was already deep in his nefarious schemes and paid little attention to the other's obvious dissatisfaction with the subject of conversation. Nobody, Mr. Irving explained, would ever be able to trace the murderer, and he explained at great length how he could cover up his tracks.

"Don't you think it might be done?" he asked, turning again to his companion. But his companion was disappearing in the far distance as fast as his legs could carry him.

The home of Mrs. Mary Walker on West Connersville street was the scene of a pretty event in the marriage of her daughter, Miss Carrie Slink Walker to Clarence Langston, of Straughn's, today. The ceremony was performed at twelve o'clock noon, the Rev. Chas. H. Pinnick, pastor of the M. E. church at Milton officiating. At the appointed hour, the bride and groom, wended their way down the stairway and through the room under the beautiful strains of the wedding march, with Mrs. Ernest Doty presiding at the piano, and made their way to the arch between the living room and the parlor, where beneath the drapings of smilax they pronounced the vows that made them one. The bride was tastefully but simply attired in a dress of white lingerie trimmed in lace. The guests who were present to witness the ceremonies were the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Langston of Straughn's, his brothers and their wives, Messrs. Leroy Mills, Mr. and Mrs. William Brenner, of Straughn's; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Langston, brother and sister-in-law to the groom, of Dublin; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Doty, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tempin, and the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Pinnick, of Milton. The house decorations were done in smilax, ferns and carnations, and made a pretty showing. A two course dinner was served. Soon after dinner Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Langston left on a wedding trip to Florida where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ferguson, at Daytona Beach. The bride was attired in a traveling tailored suit of blue cloth. She is one of the fairest young ladies, and prominent in the M. E. church, where she is organist, a teacher in the Sunday school, secretary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society and a worker in the Epworth League. Aside from these she is active in social affairs. The groom is a promising young farmer, living at Straughn's and a member of the Friends' society. On their return from Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Langston will make their home with the bride's mother, Mrs. Walker, and look after the affairs of her farm.

Lewis Strong and Harry Showalter, of east of Connersville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Passmore, yesterday.

Mrs. Marion Leverton is reported on the indisposed list.
