For the Children

A Charming Little Girl
Is Miss Gloria Gould.

© 1910, by American Press Association.
MISS GLORIA GOULD.

Don't you think that a little girl of six is rather young to be interviewed by a newspaper reporter and to have her picture snapped by the camera man? Well, this experience happened recently to little Miss Gloria Gould when she was an interested spectator at a society circus given at Georgian Court, the magnificent home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, at Lakewood, N. J.

Miss Gloria was not at all scared at having the camera pointed at her; but, like many grownup people, she objected, just at first, to be photographed for publication. The picture shows what a charming little girl she is in her play clothes.

This little lady, who some day will have a splendid big coming out party like those of her older sisters, was very much broken up by the day this picture was taken over the sudden death of her pet dog, Buster Brown, which was her constant companion and the family pet. Miss Gloria and the fortunate Buster used to have many a fine romp on the lawn at Georgian Court, and the small heiress felt very much aggrieved that her comrade had quit her companionship for that of the other doggies in dog heaven.

Ships' Eyes.
In the olden days, when the science of navigation was not as well understood as now, it was the custom to carve in the bows of ships a pair of large eyes, with the notion that they would ward off the dangers of the deep and avoid catastrophes. Faith in such an idea has long been dead, but the eyes are still to be seen on ships. Through them pass the anchor chains when the ship is safe in port, and thus, though useless in the days of the old fancy, they fill a good purpose now.

The Rejected Valentine.
Sambo went a-courting
Of Miss 'Phelia Green.
'Phelia was the handsomest
Gal he'd ever seen.
Sambo with his banjo
Stopped to play a tune
'Neath Miss 'Phelia's window
In the light of the moon.
Played he there so softly,
Sang he song of love;
Then 't of a sudden
Cried voice from above:
'What you want dar, nighgah?
Stop dat noise, I say!
Why are you hangin'
Round 'heah away?'
Sambo, sort of frightened,
Lifted up his eye.
Saw Miss 'Phelia's mommer,
Thought that he should die!
Vain he tried to answer.
He couldn't speak at all.
So he leaved in anguish,
For strength against the wall.
'Gitt you off!' cried mommer
Of Miss 'Phelia, mind.
'For my daughter don't want
No come valentine!'

NOTICE! At my barn, corner South 6th and A Sts., I will have a load of Indiana horses, Monday, Feb. 13th, ages from 3 to 6 years old; some good farm mares.

The Voracious Cod.
So voracious is the codfish that it will swallow anything it sees in motion.

8879-8801—An Effective and Becoming Gown.

This illustrates a unique development of the "body and sleeve in one" idea, in the form of a yoke and cap sleeves trimmed with facings of contrasting material. The body portions of the waist (which is worn over a tucker) are joined to the yoke. The skirt has a shaped front panel and the back panel simulates a broad box plait. For silk, marquisette, voile, cashmere, satin or cloth, or for linen, lingerie, or other wash fabrics, these designs are very suitable. The waist pattern 8879 is cut in 6 sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 inches bust measure. The skirt pattern 8801 is cut in 5 sizes, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 inches waist measure. It requires 8 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for the Medium size.

This illustration calls for two separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10c for each pattern in silver or stamps.
